SCHOENHERR—COBB

A very pretty June wedding took place on Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Evans Cobb of 10 Lloyd street, when their only daughter, Miriam Goodspeed, became the bride of Mr. Frederick August Schoenherr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. E. Schoenherr of Dunster road, Jamaica Plain. The wedding march from Lohengrin was played by Mrs. William S. McLean, aunt of the bride. The double ring ceremony was used, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Howard J. Chidley, D.D., pastor of the First Congregational Church.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin and a tulle veil held in place with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. Her matron of honor, Mrs. Rodger M. Tolman (Frances Barnes), of Rochester, N. H. was gowned in peach-colored taffeta with silver lace and carried butterfly roses and larkspur. The bridesmaid, Miss Harriet M. Murdock of Milton, wore nile green georgette trimmed with sequins. Her bouquet was of Briarcliff roses.

Mr. Schoenherr had as his best man his brother, Mr. Louis C. Schoenherr. The usher was Mr. Harold Mock of Jamaica Plain.

Palms and gladioli formed a very effective background for the newly married couple when they received the good wishes of the many friends who were present. The decorations in the dining room consisted of pink roses and snapdragons.

After a motor trip through the Adirondacks, Mr. and Mrs. Schoenherr will make their home on Avalon road, Milton.

The bride is a graduate of Winchester High School and Framingham Normal School. For the past three years she has been a teacher of Domestic Science in Milton. The groom is a graduate of Lowell Institute and teaches Manual Training and Mechanical Drawing in Milton High School.

McGOWAN—REGAN

Miss Katharine L. Regan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Regan of 83 North Union street, Arlington, and Thomas P. McGowan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McGowan of 19 Canal street, were united in marriage on last Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock in St. Agnes Church, Arlington, by the Rev. Mathew J. Flaherty.

The bride wore a wedding gown of white satin. Her veil of tulle was confined with a coronet and caught up with orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

Accompanying her as maid of honor was her sister, Miss Helen F. Regan of Arlington, while little Miss Katherine M. Mills of Arlington was flower girl. Miss Regan's gown was of pink crepe trimmed with satin and she wore a large pink picture hat of lace with a crown of velvet. Her bouquet was of butterfly roses. The little flower girl wore a frock of ecru net over blue silk with a silver wreath and carried a tiny basket of flowers.

Mr. McGowan had for his best man John Gilgun of Woburn, and the ushers were Edward C. Regan of Arlington, brother of the bride, and James R. Sheehan of Wellesley.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents which was decorated for the occasion with roses and carnations. In the receiving line with the young couple were Mr. and Mrs. Regan and Mr. and Mrs. McGowan.

Upon their return from a motor trip to Canada Mr. and Mrs. McGowan will make their home in Hartford, Conn., where the groom is associated with a business house as salesman. The bride is a graduate of the Arlington High School and has been employed as secretary with the firm of F. S. Mosely & Co. Mr. McGowan is a graduate of the Winchester High School and is well known here.

MALDEN CITY HERE TOMORROW

St. Mary's has booked another real attraction for tomorrow afternoon when it will have as its opponents on Manchester Field the strong Malden City Club which has been rolling up an impressive string of victories in the independent semi-pro ranks.

Manager Ralph Wheeler writes that he has lost but one game thus far this season and will put his very best lineup on the diamond Saturday in an effort to even up the reverse handed his club last season by the locals.

Numbered among the stars he will bring to Winchester are Angie Di Mott, all scholastic catcher and captain of Everett High; Joe Mirley, B. C. High pitcher; Wilfred White, ex-Somerville Twi hurler; McCusker of St. Anselms; Brewer, former Wakefield High star; Forgione, ex-Cornet player; McCuish, Knowles and "Bud" Edgerly, the latter all-scholastic outfielder of Medford High. With this array of talent to which will be added several others of equal ability, but less known hereabouts the Malden Club will be a hard nut for St. Mary's to crack. Game will start at 3:15 and Frank Melly has announced that "Crib" Conlon, brother of the famous "Jocko" and one of the best ball players ever produced by Woburn High, will handle the umpire's indicator.

ISABEL THORNE

Mrs. Isabel Thorne, for many years a resident of Winchester, died Tuesday morning at the home on Myrtle street of her daughter, Mrs. Michael Queenin, after several months of failing health.

Mrs. Thorne, who was widely known and universally respected, was 72 years of age and was born in Ireland, coming to this country when a young woman. She had been long a member of the Married Ladies' Sodality of St. Mary's Church.

The deceased was a widow and is survived by six children: Mrs. Emil Beauchamp, Mrs. Owen Queenin, both of Woburn; Mrs. Michael Queenin, Mrs. Thomas Fallon, Mrs. Fred H. Scholl and Albert E. Thorne, all of Winchester. One brother, James Grimes of Winchester, also survives her.

Funeral services were held from the late residence on Thursday morning with a solemn high mass in St. Mary's Church at 9 o'clock. Four sons-in-law served as bearers, including Emil Beauchamp, Owen Queenin, Michael Queenin and Fred H. Scholl with two grandsons, Arthur Beauchamp and Emil Beauchamp, Jr. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

DAY—BLAKE

At a nuptial high mass celebrated Wednesday morning in St. Charles Church, Woburn, Miss Alice Blake of Woburn became the bride of Walter L. Day of this town, son of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Day of Ridgefield road. Rev. Fr. John P. Gorham, pastor performed the ceremony and there was special music by Miss Mildred Ruth Reardon of Lynn and William F. Kelley of the Cathedral Choir, Boston, who rendered the "O Salutaris," "Ave Maria" and "Ti Prego O' Maria Mai." The Wedding March from Lohengrin and Mendelssohn's Wedding March were played by the church organist, Miss Esther G. Duffy.

Miss Blake wore a wedding gown of white satin and lace, her veil of tulle being caught up with orange blossoms. Her shower bouquet was of white roses and sweet peas. Accompanying her as maid of honor was Miss Margaret Doherty of Woburn who wore a gown of peach georgette with picture hat to match and carried pink butterfly roses. The bridesmaids, Miss Dorothy Day of Winchester and Miss Edna Rooney, Miss Statia Nolan and Miss Martha Kerwin of Woburn, were gowned in georgette in shades of pink, orchid, nile green and yellow, their bouquets of sweet peas and roses harmonizing with the colors of the frocks. Little Jeanne McGonigle of Woburn was a charming flower girl in a princess style frock of old rose crepe de chine and carrying a basket of rose petals. The ring bearer who was dressed in white was Arthur Cavanaugh of Woburn.

Mr. Blake had for his best man his brother, Arthur Day of Winchester, and the ushers were Michael Barry and William Cavanaugh of Wilmington, William Grannan of Arlington and Ronald Day of Winchester.

The bride's gift to her maid of honor was an attractive, rhinestone bag, the bridesmaids receiving sterling silver vanity cases. The groom's gifts to his ushers were gold cuff links.

A reception was held following the ceremony at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Blake, at 627 Main street, Woburn. Roses, peonies, palms and ferns made most attractive decorations, a wedding breakfast was served by a caterer and a musical program enjoyed.

Upon their return from a motor trip to Canada Mr. and Mrs. Day will make their home at 22 Burbank road, Medford.

KENT—SOUTTER

One of the attractive June weddings was that of Miss Dorothy Alberta Soutter of Brookline and Richard Kent of Brookline and Exeter, N. H. at the Harvard Church at 11 o'clock on Wednesday, the 15th. The wedding was a quiet one, only the immediate members of both families and a very few friends being present. The pastor of the church, Dr. Ashley Day Leavitt, was the officiating clergyman.

The bride, formerly a resident of Winchester, was given in marriage by her father, John C. Soutter. The matron of honor was Mrs. Kenneth M. Lane of Ridgewood, N. J., a sister of the bride.

Hervey Kent, brother of the bridegroom, who was to have been best man was unable to be present and the bride's brother, John Laureston Soutter filled his place.

The dignified little ring bearer, Ralph H. Hatch, Jr., and the winsome little flower girl, Nancy H. Soutter, nephew and niece of the bride, filled their respective roles in a charming manner.

The bride looked particularly beautiful in a white satin gown trimmed with rose point lace which was worn by her mother when she was married.

Following the reception and breakfast held at the home, Mr. and Mrs. Kent left for New York. From there they sailed for a month's honeymoon to Porto Rico. Upon their return they will be at home at 141 Fuller street, Brookline.

Mrs. Kent is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Soutter. She is a graduate of Miss Wheelock's Private School and has been a teacher in the Milton Preparatory School.

Mr. Kent is the son of Mrs. Adelaide Clark Kent of Exeter, N. H. He graduated from Holbrook Academy, New York and attended the Stone School of Boston. He is one of the directors of the Exeter Manufacturing Company and has been connected with the Merchants' National Bank of Boston.

EMBLEM CLUB AFFAIRS

The party at the home of our Treasurer, Mrs. Caroline L. Coakley, at 2 Russell road, Thursday night was in line with other joyous occasions and the amount of the contributions extracted proves that these "frequent repetitions" appeal to the sporting element of the Club.

Our Vice-President, Mrs. Annie M. Hanlon, gave a most encouraging report of the Food Sale, sponsored by her in the W. W. McLean paper store last week. Members were very generous in their donations of pies, cakes, etc., and everything was all sold out at 5 p. m. The Club extends its grateful appreciation to Mr. McLean for the use of his store for this sale.

Announcement is made of a change in the date of the next home-social. It will be given by Mrs. Elizabeth T. Hines at her home, Broadway, Stoneham, on Wednesday evening, July 6. Those who wish to arrange for transportation should consult with Vice President A. M. Hanlon. All are cordially invited.

The next rehearsal of the drill team is scheduled for Wednesday evening, July 13, in Lyceum Hall at 7:45 o'clock. Prompt attendance is required by the instructor, Mr. Martin McDonough, who is giving his time freely to this project. With the flags and other regalia ordered, the team will make quite a colorful addition to the floor-work of the organization. Later on, Winchester may be proud of its ability to enter the lists against other Emblem Clubs of the National Order.

Plans for the beach outing at Salem Willows, July 27 are now in progress. Special efforts are being made to make this year's program attractive with games and entertainment as representatives of other Emblem Clubs have signified a desire to be present.

Escorted by N. M. Nichols and G. H. Lochman, officers of the local Lodge, B. P. O. E., President Emily A. Scholl, Vice President Annie M. Hanlon, and Past-President Anna W. Lochman attended installation exercises of the Emblem Club at Watertown on the evening of June 23. The ritual was exemplified by the Supreme Emblem Club of Providence, and the ceremony was of unusual interest to the delegates from other Clubs insofar as this it is the initiatory movement for a National organization.

The sympathy of the Club is extended at this time to our President, Mrs. E. M. Scholl, Chaplain K. E. Fallon and Sister Isabel A. Queenin in their recent bereavement.

ENTERTAINED AT "GREAT-HALL"

"Greathall" the home of Mr. Jere A. and Miss Elizabeth S. Downs on Myopia Hill, and also the grounds and clubhouse of the Winchester Country Club, were the scene last Monday of a very enjoyable outing given to the entire organization of the banking house of Hayden, Stone & Comany, of whom Mr. Jere A. Downs of this town is the senior Boston partner.

Over 250 guests from Boston, New York, Springfield and Portland offices were present. The day was devoted to sport activities, golf, tennis, quoits and clock golf for attractive prizes serving to keep the interest at a high pitch. In the early evening a buffet supper was served in the "Barngalow" of the Country Club, following which Mr. Downs presented the prizes to the winners of the various sport events, and also made a speech of welcome to his organization.

A program of dancing, with music by "Jimmie Gallagher's orchestra" followed until late in the evening—interspersed with various "stunts" and special features. Mr. Edgar A. Doubleday of the New York Office sang a 25 verse "parody" featuring the personalities of many of the prominent members of the organization that was very entertaining, and in addition—a generous sprinkling of very fine talent made the evening most enjoyable.

The young couple are to make their home in Wollaston where they will receive their friends after Sept. 15.

INDEPENDENCE DAY PROGRAM ANNOUNCED

Winchester to Have Safe and Sane Celebration

Winchester's program for Independence Day as announced last evening follows rather closely those of others held in town since the war.

As usual the day will be ushered in with the ringing of the Town bells at 7 in the morning, repeated at 12 noon and at 6 in the afternoon.

The big feature of the morning will be the Children's Party in the Town Hall, commencing sharply at 10:30. This never fails to attract large crowds of young folks and those in charge of arrangements have taken pains to provide a bang-up entertainment program with those special features which the kiddies particularly enjoy. Included will be Fox and Fox—Punch and Judy artists; Minstrel Morris Comic Novelty and Wally Dare—Acrobatics and Stunts. Miss Lucy Wilcox, who gave so much pleasure a year ago, will again preside at the piano.

Following the entertainment each child will be presented with a ticket which may be exchanged for an ice cream cone at Randall's.

The afternoon program will include a Band Concert, played at 3 o'clock from the Band Stand on Manchester Field by Stiles Military Band of Boston and a ball game in which the St. Mary's B. B. C. of Winchester will meet the Arlington Town Team on the same playground. Stile's Band is better known locally as the Winchester Post, A. L. Band which played such satisfactory programs on Memorial Day.

In the evening there will be a second concert on Manchester Field from 7:30 until 9:30 at which time the display of fireworks will commence.

The programs of the afternoon and evening band concerts follow:

ST. MARY'S TO PLAY TWO ON HOLIDAY

Arrangements have been completed for home and home base'all games on the holiday between the St. Mary's B. B. C. of Winchester and the Arlington Town Team. Winchester will play at Spy Pond in the morning at 10:15 and in the afternoon at 3:15 the battle will be staged on Manchester Field.

The Arlington Town Team is the same club which is playing in the Mystic Valley Twilight League under the name of the Middlesex Sportsman's Association, though it will very probably be materially strengthened for the Fourth.

With the natural rivalry which has always existed between this town and Arlington a keenly contested game is sure to result and a big crowd is expected both morning and afternoon.

Daniel Fletcher Barnard of this town was an usher at the Wason-Hall wedding which took place Wednesday evening in Christ Episcopal Church, Plymouth.

Many of Winchester's motorists took advantage of the opportunity to have their brakes and lights tested free by experts sent out by the Boston Automobile Club of the A. A. A. last Saturday forenoon. The work was done on Church street between the extremeties of Common street. Sergeant William H. Rogers and Officers Farrell, E. O'Connell, Noonan, J. Dempsey and C. Harrold were in charge of traffic. Local garages reported a brisk business in adjusting brakes during the entire day.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

At a tea given on Saturday afternoon at the home of her parents, announcement was made of the engagement of Audrey Elois Goddu, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Goddu of 16 Chestnut street, Winchester, to Alvin Macaulay Litchfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sherman Litchfield of 555 High street, West Medford.

The pourers were Mrs. Richard Tatem, Mrs. Charles P. Dow, Miss Marion Dow, Mrs. Herbert Stone, Mrs. Frederick Alexander and Mrs. Arthur F. Dow, all of Winchester, and Mrs. Lewis A. Maker and Mrs. Merle E. Abbott of Taunton. The servers were Mrs. F. A. Preston, Miss Eleanor Dow, Miss Hazel Goddu, Miss Sally Burns, Miss Aleda Goddu, Mrs. Guy B. Howe, Mrs. Paul Goddu, Miss Eda Goddu, all of Winchester; Mrs. Robert P. Clark of Springfield; Miss Anna Francis Litchfield of West Medford; Mrs. Carlisle B. Elliott of Wellesley; Miss Elizabeth Hurd of Melrose; and Miss Betty Dingley of Taunton.

Early Tuesday afternoon as James F. McClellan of 5 Blindbridge street was driving an Essex coach from Swanton street onto White street the machine struck a baby carriage in which the young child of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Nowell of Clark street was being trundled by Ruth Budreau also of Clark street. The carriage was badly smashed and the child was rushed to the hospital by Officer White of the police and Anthony Barbaro. There it was found that no injuries had been sustained. McClellan stated that the accident occurred when Mrs. Budreau wheeled the carriage into the path of the machine and stopped without warning.

FEWER CLOTHES FOR THE CHILDREN

The fewer clothes for children the better, especially during the summer, says Dr. Champion of the State Department of Public Health. The tanned, rosy-cheeked, tomboy of the town with her bare knees, big straw hat, and play-suit is far better off than the "poor little rich girl" across the way who looks like a fashion plate in tight patent leather shoes, white silk socks and a ruffly dress.

A light weight bathing suit or romper makes an ideal garment for little children during the summer months. It provides for the freedom of movement with plenty of the body exposed to air and sunlight which are necessary for the health and happiness of every child. Socks are quite unnecessary but it is important to have the feet covered with comfortable shoes or sandals. Children should also wear a light weight straw hat with a large brim to protect their eyes and keep their heads from becoming overheated when paying in the sun.

It is a selfish mother who dresses her children to look like picture dolls. Children are like plants—they need plenty of freedom, air and sunlight to grow. The dictates of style and fashion will reach them soon enough. "Dress them for health" as long as you can, advises Dr. Champion.

HIGH SCHOOL SUMMER STUDY NOTICE

All High School students who are planning to study during the summer will have an opportunity to take make-up examinations in any of the regular High School subjects which have not been successfully completed. The examinations will be given in the High School building at 9 o'clock in the morning and at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, Sept. 6, 1927.

Students will receive a full year's credit in any subject in which the make-up examination is passed. In order to be eligible to take examinations, students must notify the High School office before Sept. 3 what examination they wish to take and submit evidence of summer study in preparation for the examination.

Textbooks may be secured for summer use at the High School office by making a cash deposit. je24-3t

William "Bill" Lynch, sturdy guard on last season's high school football team, stopped a runaway horse on Swanton street last Saturday. The horse hitched to a wagon owned by the Hathaway Baking Company of Cambridge took fright and bolted when approaching a load of hay. The driver jumped and allowed the animal to run for it. Hearing the cries of several children in the street Lynch ran to the rescue and succeeded in stopping the horse before anyone was injured. These Winchester line men sure could work on a dry field.

SILVER WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

A very pleasant social event took place at the parsonage of the Methodist Episcopal Church on Friday evening of last week when a large company of parishioners and friends surprised Mr. and Mrs. Hook in their home.

June 25 marked the 25th anniversary of the marriage of Rev. H. W. Hook and Edith R. Hurd, also the birthday of Mrs. Hook. When this became known, the people desired to celebrate it in an appropriate manner. Accordingly, on Friday evening they quietly gathered at the church and marched in a body to the parsonage. Although Mr. and Mrs. Hook were taken by surprise, they had a round of welcome and a cordial greeting for each one.

Miss Winifred Rent in a short and witty speech presented the gifts among which were a sterling silver carving set, a crystal console set, a special birthday gift for Mrs. Hook and a purse of money. Mrs. Hook, in her own charming way, expressed her appreciation and when Mr. Hook had recovered his breath, he, too, thanked his people for their love and loyalty. Messages were read from Mrs. Rachel Hawes and from Dr. Albro, who were not able to be present. Among the visitors was Mrs. Nora W. Davis, a former member of this church, who was warmly greeted by her old friends. Delightful music was furnished by Miss Gertrude Felber, violinist, accompanied by Miss Mary French.

Refreshments were served by young ladies of the church and a happy social time was enjoyed by all.

Mrs. A. P. Welburn had charge of the affair, assisted by Mrs. J. W. Moran and Mrs. C. A. Dodge.

BOWDOIN SQUARE THEATRE

What promises to be one of the big shows of the year will be offered at the Bowdoin Square Theatre beginning Monday. The top card for the week will be John Barrymore in "Don Juan" in which the great lover of the screen will be viewed in his most attractive role. As "Don Juan" he is the ideal of all screen lovers and later while women are simply toys in his hands in a short time he is enslaved by an innocent maid. The cast is particularly good and contains such stars as Estelle Taylor, Warner Oland, Montagu Love, Helen Costello, Helen Lee Worthing, Phyllis Haver, June Marlowe and John Roche. It is a dashing story of a dashing youth with all the fire of youth and is sure to find a favor with all patrons. Still another picture of worth will be that offering Tom Mix in, "Outlaws of Red River," a story of the Texas Rangers with Marjorie Daw in the cast. Then comes Mabel Normand in, "One Hour Married" a feature of merit. The Pathe News together with five selected vaudeville acts will make up the bill. Opportunity night Friday with extra acts and concert Sunday at 3. Free parking service is offered to all patrons.

TWO ALARMS FOR FIRE AT BAIRD PLANT

Two alarms from Box 45 at noontime last Friday summoned the entire Winchester Fire Department to the fire which threatened the truck body manufacturing plant of William B. Baird at 1017 Main street near the Woburn line.

The fire started in a shed adjoining the plant which is housed in a one story building. Several men were unable to check the flames with hand chemicals and the alarm was pulled in summoning all local first run pieces. Upon arrival the men found a hot fire in progress in the shed and with the flames beginning to spread through its side to threaten the main plant a second alarm was sounded as a precautionary measure.

The fire was confined entirely to the shed, though there was smoke and water damage in the main plant to some extent. The amount of the damages was not estimated.

ENGAGEMENT OF FORMER WINCHESTER GIRL ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Charles DuBois of Englewood, N. J., formerly of Winchester, have announced the engagement of their daughter to Elmer I. Phillips, son of Mrs. Elmer I. Phillips of New Castle, Penn. Miss DuBois graduated from Rosemary Hall in 1923 and from Vassar this year. Mr. Phillips was prepared for college at Culver Military Academy and graduated from Dartmouth in 1923, receiving his degree in law from Harvard this year. His is associated with a law firm in Cleveland, Ohio.

While in Winchester Mr. and Mrs. DuBois made their home on Everett avenue. Mrs. DuBois is the sister of Mrs. John Abbott of Arlington street.

Why we sell the DUNLOP TIRE

FOR 39 YEARS Dunlop has been building the world's supreme tire. Dunlops wear longer because Dunlop knows how to build better at each vital point.

Take the hidden carcass beneath the tread. Dunlop owns its own cotton mills for no other purpose than to spin the best long-fibre cotton into the famous cable-twist cord that goes into this carcass.

The extra strength in these cords means an added factor of safety against constant load and pounding of roads—longer life and greater mileage.

The extra "stretch" enables the carcass to give under severe blows, and to come back into its original position without internal injury.

The Dunlop tread—the toughest rubber development known—wears slowly and smoothly, making sure that you get out of your Dunlops, all the extra mileage that added care and longer experience have built into them. We recommend that you put Dunlops on your car.

ST. MARY'S WON IN TEN INNINGS

It took St. Mary's B. B. C. ten hectic innings to dispose of the Medford City Club last Saturday afternoon on Manchester Field. The largest crowd of the season was on hand for the game and was well repaid, plenty of real thrills being crowded into the 10 frames.

In the first place there was a prodigious home run swat in the first inning by big "Jim" Fitzgerald, playing his first game of the season in a St. Mary's uniform. There was a beautiful triple by Odams, visiting second sacker, and other effective batting scattered through the matinee. On the defensive side there was a snappy double play by Ambrose, O'Donnell and Fitzgerald that saved a couple of runs in the 6th inning and some mighty fine relief hurling by Francis Tansey who went in when Mark Kelley wobbled badly in the 9th. Splendid pitching was not Francis's only contribution to the game's features. In the 8th while playing left field he doubled Skinner off first on Cook's long fly to left, making a rifle-shot peg of which a big leaguer might be proud.

St. Mary's got a big lead in the first. "Tommy" Dolan singled sharply to left and Tansey bunted safely. O'Donnell sacrificed both runners along and the decks were cleared for "Jimmy" Fitzgerald who stalked to the rubber waving a heavy mace, much as though it was a toothpick.

The crowd gave the big boy a royal send-off and by all the laws of baseball he should have fanned or popped out to the pitcher. Instead he landed upon the very first ball pitched, knocking it clear out of the picture and into the river for a home run, scoring two ahead of himself. It was not the routine type of four-base blow, one which rolls down the hill to the left of the bandstand. The ball was in the air when it left the playing field and went to the right of the stand, landing in the river on the first hop.

In the 4th O'Donnell was safe when Wardman dropped Cook's throw. Fitzgerald was purposely passed moving him up and when Flaherty's rap got away from DeCarpis "Spike" made third. The run was over as Odams threw out Ambrose.

Medford had meanwhile scored in the second on Murphy's double to left center. Hanley's sacrifice and DeCarpis's single. In the 8th a mighty triple to right center by Odams, followed by Skinner's one-shot brought in another run for the opposition and in the 9th Medford went into the lead.

Murphy drew a pass and moved up on Hanley's scratch single through the infield. Sargent rapped to "Jomma" Dolan and everyone was safe when O'Donnell lost the throw on an attempt double killing. Kelley then went bad in real earnest and after passing DeCarpis, Wardman and Odams to force in three runs walked out of the box voluntarily and into left field, Tansey taking his place on the hill.

No one was out and the sacks were loaded. It looked like some more runs for Medford but Francis never faltered. Bearing down very, very sharply he fanned Skinner and Cook and made Wells roll out to Fitzgerald.

St. Mary's tied things in its half when O'Donnell got on on an error and stole second on a short passed ball. "Fitz's" sacrifice sent him to 3rd and he scored when Flaherty bunted past Sargent.

In the 10th Cook's poor throw gave Melly a life and he stole second. Kelley hit to DeCarpis and when the latter tried to catch Melly off second both runners were safe. J. Dolan walked, filling the bases. T. Dolan rapped to Odams and Melly was ruled safe on a close play at the plate.

RECEPTION FOR WALLACE WOODWORTH

Members of the Chancel Choir of the First Congregational Church were guests last Friday evening at a reception for their organist and director, G. Wallace Woodworth, given by the church music committee at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Howard J. Chidley on Myopia Hill. Mr. Woodworth sails this summer to spend a year in study abroad, making the affair rather in the nature of a bon voyage party.

A buffet luncheon was served at 7 upon the spacious veranda of the Chidley home from which the party could enjoy a beautiful panoramic view of the surrounding country, including the Mystic Lakes and winding Metropolitan Parkway. A fete sponsored by the Somerville Kiwanis was in progress at Tufts Oval and the parachute jump from a captive balloon was clearly discernible to the interested group on the hill. Mrs. Chidley poured during the luncheon assisted by Mrs. Christine Green, Mrs. James S. Allen and the Misses Barbara and Betty Chidley.

Adjourning to the music room of the house the choir furnished the first surprise of the evening when Miss Cornelia Smith, acting for its members, presented Mr. Woodworth with a folding kodak in a handsome leather traveling case. It was also voted to devote the choir's share of the proceeds from the recent production, "The Gondoliers," toward the expense of the children's cloister which is to be included in the new Parish House as a memorial to George S. Cabot.

An informal "sing" was then enjoyed with Mr. Woodworth at the piano. Included in the selections sung were three which have become favorites of the choir; the "Mother Moscow," "Swansea Town" and "Bacchante Choral." Miss Estelle Simonds also contributed several solo dances which were much enjoyed.

In the midst of the festivities Mrs. Chidley suddenly entered the room with the announcement that some one was upstairs in the house apparently ransacking the room in which members of the party had left their wraps and personal effects. Considerable excitement and some consternation prevailed and each was augmented tremendously when the figure of a man, masked, was seen to dash down the stairs and rush from the house. A hue and cry was raised at once and finally with much difficulty the burglar was returned to the Chidley residence by a most formidable appearing policeman in full uniform.

Under the lamplight the latter turned out to be James S. Allen while his trembling captive resolved himself into none other than Wayne B. Thompson. Mr. Thompson had succeeded in getting away with a small handbag and its contents were duly noted by Mr. Allen who found several purses, a jewell case belonging to Mrs. Chidley, a pair of Mr. Chidley's dress shoes and last but by no means unimportant, $100 in gold, the gift of a group of church people to Mr. Woodworth.

After things had returned somewhat to normal a history of the choir, written by Mrs. Allen with incidental adjectives supplied by Mr. Chidley, was read by the latter to the great amusement of all. General dancing rounded out the evening.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

Jack Mulhall, jovial and handsome is appearing at the beautiful Granada Theater in Malden the last half of this week in his new screen hit, "See You in Jail." "See You in Jail" can be recommended for its entertainment value and for the perfection of the production as well as the superior acting of the cast. The five act vaudeville bill for Thursday, Friday and Saturday is headed by Thatcher, Deveraux and Adams who offer what they call "A Peach and a Pair." Littleton and Spellman, in a novelty surprise; Ferris and Rome, instrumentalists with a good line of comedy; the St. Onge Trio, presenting their own origination, the "flip-flap-somersault-toe-to-toe catch," a most unusual feat, are others on the variety bill now playing.

Pictures that offer a version of the Jewish-Irish feud seem to have taken a great hold on the fancy of the average picture fan. The latest of this type of picture is "Pleasure Before Business," which the Granada will offer for three days starting Monday, the holiday. Pat O'Malley, Virginia Browne Faire, Rosa Rosanova and Max Davidson are the featured players in "Pleasure Before Business." The usual five act program of vaudeville will be presented the first half of next week with the holiday shows running continuous.

BENEDICT LOST TO ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

The Benedict Tennis Club of this town was able to win only one of its matches from the Arlington Heights Club last Saturday afternoon on the latter's courts and was defeated, 6—1. Riley, playing number one singles for Benedict succeeded in defeating Sharpe of Arlington in straight sets, 6—2, 7—5. The remaining Winchester players were unable to win a set from their opponents.

The summary follows:

SINGLES

Riley, Benedict, defeated Sharpe, Arlington Heights, 6—2, 7—5.

Murphy, Arlington Heights defeated Blatchford, Benedict, 6—1, [illegible].

Lynah, Arlington Heights, defeated Carr, Benedict, 6—1, 6—2.

Boswell, Arlington Heights, defeated Batters, Benedict, 6—2, 6—1.

DOUBLES

Cutler and Gately, Arlington Heights, defeated Riley and Batters, Benedict, [illegible] 6—4.

Moakee and Evans, Arlington Heights, defeated Blanchard and Carr, Benedict, [illegible] 6—2, 5—7, 6—1.

Sackissian and R. Sampson, Arlington Heights defeated Grindle and Parish, Benedict, 6—3, 6—1.

Miss Mabel Wingate of 8 Stratford road is visiting her sister, Mrs. H. A. Knudsen in Oakland, Cal. In July she will visit the section of Oregon around Baker, where last year she gave several successful violin concerts, returning to Winchester in the Fall.

FITZGERALD LED TUFTS TEAM IN HITTING

Big "Jim" Fitzgerald of this town, former High School and Huntington star athlete, in his first year of varsity competition at Tufts College had the distinction of leading the hard-hitting Brown and Blue nine in batting during the season just past. Tufts numbered five players among the first 80 college batters, more than any other team could boast of, and "Fitzy" with an average of .373 led the Jumbo parade. Only 7 college players finished ahead of the local boy and four of that number played in several less games, giving them a better chance of amassing a higher total.

"Hughie" Duffy is reported as stating that "Jimmy" is not to even think of a professional baseball career, but will become a fan following his graduation two years hence. Naturally Mr. Duffy's word carries much weight but from the way the big fellow has maced the American apple during his first year of college ball playing he may have to consider a professional career whether he wants to or not. He has about everything necessary to make good and the personality to be a real attraction.

ANNOUNCE NEW ASSISTANT AT FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Announcement was made last Sunday that Rev. Morris J. Butler of New York is to become the new assistant pastor of the First Congregational Church, succeeding Rev. Lisle S. Burroughs who leaves Winchester the first of August to become executive minister of the Third Church at Rochester, N. Y.

Mr. Butler is a graduate of the Yale Divinity School and for the past three years while studying there has been preaching at Christian Church, Clinton Corners, N. Y. He is to begin his duties here Sept. 1.

At the same time the announcement was made that Claire C. Leonard, formerly organist of Shepard Memorial Church, Cambridge, is to be organist and choir director at the First Church here during the absence of G. Wallace Woodworth who is sailing this summer for a year's study abroad. Mr. Leonard has recently returned from a year's study in Europe and is an instructor in Music at Harvard.

ROMANO—TODESCA

A wedding of interest to residents of both Winchester and Woburn took place last Sunday afternoon in St. Mary's Church when Miss Florence Todesca, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Todesca of 45 Tremont street, was united in marriage with Joseph D. Romano, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Romano of 92 Green street, Woburn. The ceremony was performed at 4 o'clock by the Rev. Fr. George H. Quigley.

The bride was attired in a wedding gown of white georgette and satin, trimmed with rhinestones and a veil of Spanish and Dutchess lace. Her shower bouquet was of white roses and lillies of the valley. Miss Helen Todesca of Winchester, her sister, was maid of honor, wearing a gown of beaded maize georgette with picture hat to match and carrying pink roses and lilies of the valley. Anthony Todesca, cousin of the bride, was groomsman.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents and a wedding supper was served to about 75 guests. Upon their return from an extended wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Romano will make their home at 92 Green street, Woburn.

MILK CHART FOR MONTH OF MAY 1927

Published by the Winchester Board of Health

The bacteria count in this chart gives the number of bacteria found in one c. c. taken from the center of the sample after it had been well shaken. It should be remembered that another c. c. taken from the same sample might give a somewhat different count, but the difference would rarely, if ever, exceed 10 per cent.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

RULES FOR ENJOYING A GROUCH

1. Fall out of bed and be sure it is from the wrong side.

2. Don't bother to say good morning to anyone, if it is mentioned to you, just say it is not your fault.

3. Don't have anything to do with folks who smile, they are laughing at you, but never mind, you will get even with them some day.

4. Eat heartily of food that disagrees with you, it may give you insomnia, then you'll be in good trim for tomorrow's grouch.

The town committee which is working on the cleaning and beautifying of our river and ponds appears to be making material progress in line with the adoption of a comprehensive program for this work. It is expected that a report will be presented at the next annual meeting which will cover the whole situation and allow the work to be done in accordance with the money appropriated. As an incidental investigation of conditions and the first step in the work, the channel leading from Wedge Pond to Black Ball Pond is now being cleared, a small appropriation being expended under the direction of the Board of Health. This channel will take care of high water conditions. In the short space cleared thus far, no less than 63 loads of refuse of every description has been carted off. Messrs. Lewis Parkhurst and George M. Bryne have not been idle in the matters by any means, and Herbert Kelloway, the noted landscape architect, designer of our two bridges and dam, is working on a comprehensive lay-out which will provide a foundation for immediate steps upon its adoption. Probably no civic improvement in Winchester today holds the universal attention as that of beautifying our river, and it is gratifying to know that progress is being made in the matter toward what appears to be a most satisfactory outcome.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Bottger and family are spending the summer at Monmouth, Me.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

The program for four days beginning Sunday at the University includes Raymond Griffith in "Wedding Bills" and Louise Dresser with Jason Robards in "White Flannels." Raymond Griffith, famous as the high hat comedian, is a much harassed "best man." He wearies of weddings and society and decides that he will never marry when he suddenly meets "the girl" and all bets are off. "White Flannels" is from the story which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post written by Lucian Cary.

For the last three days of the week the feature pictures are "The Night of Love" with Ronald Colman and Vilma Banky, and "Quarantined Rivals" with Robert Agnew and Kathleen Collins. "The Night of Love" is one of the most glorious of screen romances. It is a dramatic picture of days of old when Dukes were all powerful and gypsies were much in evidence. Ronald Colman wins sympathy as the hero, a gypsy. Vilma Banky does the finest acting of her career. Montagu Love plays the part of the villianous Duke.

"Quarantined Rivals" is fun, fast and furious, from the famous comedy classic by George Randolph Chester. The cast includes in addition to Robert Agnew and Kathleen Collins, John Miljan Veora Daniels, Ray Hallor and "Big Boy" Williams.

M. C. W. G. NOTES

The members of the local Branch of the M. C. W. G. extend their heartfelt sympathy to Sisters Emily Scholl, Katharine Fallon and Isabel Queenin in their recent bereavement.

While the business sessions have been discontinued for the summer months, it is planned to continue our socials. The next social will be at the home of Regent Ambrose under the direction of Director Carroll on Wednesday evening, July 6.

Invitation is again extended to the members and their friends to visit the Sunset Vacation House at Nantasket and see the wonderful work that the Catholic Charitable Bureau is carrying on there in providing vacations for little folks who would otherwise have no vacation. The several Guilds throughout the Diocese assist in this work to a very liberal degree and it is for this reason we would appreciate the members and their friends visiting the Vacation House.

The First Doll's House

What may prove to be the earliest British doll's house has been discovered in an old country house in Chelmsford. It is a two storied house about five feet high, built of solid oak, and contains four large rooms, attics and a table on top. The legs on which the house is mounted and the paneling and the mirrors, are, it is said of definite Queen Anne design and workmanship.

WINCHESTER POST HAD LINDBERGH NIGHT

The final meeting of the season for Winchester Post, 97, American Legion, was held Wednesday evening in the Legion House on Washington street.

There was a large attendance present to listen to the reports of the By-Law and Carnival Committees which were given by Past Commanders William E. Ramsdell and Vincent P. Clarke respectively. Reporting for the latter committee Mr. Clarke stated that the carnival was very successful and the Legionaires thereupon voted to devote the entire proceeds to the permanent welfare fund of the Post.

As a result of the balloting for delegates to the State Convention of the Legion at Fitchburg, Commander Arthur S. Harris, Adjudant George F. LeDuc and Past Commander Nathan Thumim were elected to represent the local body. The convention is to be held Aug. 11-13 and promises to be one of the best in recent years.

Following the business meeting the Post was treated to several reels of motion pictures, shown by Herbert M. Horne of Lowell, depicting the magnificent reception accorded Colonel Charles Lindbergh upon his return to New York from abroad. The pictures were personally filmed by Mr. Horne and showed Lindbergh's arrival from Washington; the wonderful escort of tugs, river steamers and yachts, 18 abreast stretching out for four miles into New York Harbor and the arrival at Battery Park. The triumphal procession uptown was faithfully portrayed with many intimate details which delighted the audience. Perhaps the most interesting of the closeups was that of Lindbergh laying a wreath on the "Eternal Light" in Madison Square Park.

Mr. Horne was warmly congratulated upon his success in reproducing so many of the history making scenes attendant upon the return to his native land of America's young genious of the air. The former was the guest at the Legion Post of Past Commander Nathan Thumim who assisted him in displaying the pictures.

Refreshments were served and a social hour was enjoyed following the display.

Language of Bees

Scientist says the bee language is a kind of dance performed with their feet. As we recall, the only bees that have ever tried to communicate with us have sat out the dances.—Arkansas Gazette.

Keeping Switches Clear

Many a train delay in winter weather used to be due to snow and ice choking rail switches. Oil fires once were burned on the ground around important switches to keep ice melted out. Nowadays it is done by laying lengths of electric heaters between the ties so that switches can work in winter with as little interference as in summer.

WINCHESTER MAN WON NEW HAMPSHIRE HONORS AT TRAPS

Mr. Clarence S. Henry of this town, who summers at Nashua, N. H., won the New Hampshire State singles and all-around championships at the annual two-day clay target shoot of the New Hampshire Trapshooting Association held last Friday and Saturday under the auspices of the Manchester, N. H., Gun Club.

In addition to winning the most worth while titles contested for in the shoot Mr. Henry was elected to the presidency of the association and was selected to be the eastern zone representative of the American Trapshooting Association. As the Manchester, N. H. "Union" puts it, "When all was over Mr. Henry called it a day." We might add that everyone else designated it as a big day for the Winchester sportsman.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Among the Winchester youngsters who have been competing this week in the Junior State Tennis championships at the Longwood Cricket Club at Chestnut Hills are Louise Packer, Charlotte Snyder, Ellen Kennedy, Carolyn Mercer, Nancy Bradlee, Virginia Merrill, Bara Baugher, Maribel Vinson, Dorrance Chase, Peggy Kneeland, Helen Bidwell, Deborah Gilbert, Mary Armstrong, Frances Pettingell, Catherine Bryden, Lawrence Freeburn, Francis Smith, Frank Carleton and William Wood. Many of the local players advanced beyond the early rounds of the play and in general made an excellent showing. The team of Helen Bidwell and Carolyn Mercer in doubles was looked upon as strong enough to capture top honors in its division and was seeded number one in the draw.

Many residents have been interested in the activity on Mystic Lake during the past 10 days displayed by the "model yachters." During this period elimination races have been held for the selection of the American boat to sail in the International regatta in England next August. Although except [illegible] high winds have prevailed on almost every race day, the "yachters" have been out sailing their beautiful boats regularly, and Sunday and Monday will see the final contests. Messrs. John Black and Louis Champlain are leading and the remaining [illegible] will decide which boat will take the honor.

THE QUESTIONNAIRE

A wise and famous college sent out this funny quiz.

They bothered busy housewives with questions such as these:

Now what do you use for canned goods, corn or beans, or peas?

And where do you buy all these?

What do you buy for coffee, and what is your choice in teas?

What do you wear for corsets (or is it a brassiere)?

What basement do you shop in when you go after clothes?

Where do you have a charge account and what do you wear for hose (wool or cotton, or rayon or silk that shows your toes)?

How do you buy your flour, or do you eat bakers' bread?

Strange they didn't ask us what we were using for thread?

And do you make your own clothes, or buy them ready to wear?

What is your husband's business or has he some sort of a trade?

And when he gets a suit do you have to go with him or not, to see that he gets something proper and something that will not spot?

Do you own a piano, or radio; a victrola or percolator; a cleaning machine, or washing machine, or any machine at all?

Do you have any hired service, and is your house rented or bought?

Have you any sort of an auto to go in when you feel that you ought?

Some questions I may have forgotten (it taxes my memory sore).

I hope I'm forgiven for saying I thought it a terrible bore.

Now that I've answered the questions as politely as I could I wish that someone would tell me how it will do any good.

For our money's our own and we spend it for the things we wish to buy.

And it seems to me we shan't change much because of this "hue and cry."

BYRD PLOTS NEW OCEAN ROUTE

Commander Richard E. Byrd, will fly a route from St. Johns' Newfoundland to Valencia Island, which will enable him to cover the transocean distance with only one compass setting.

Commander Byrd is an aerial navigator of note, aside from his achievements as an explorer, and if this new navigation method works successfully scientists believe he will have made a major contribution to the science of transatlantic flying.

Commander Byrd in working out his proposed route has had the cooperation of the National Geographic Society and its chief cartographer, Albert H. Bumstead, inventor of the sun compass which helped Byrd in his Polar flight.

In explaining the new navigation technique involved in Byrd's flight the National Geographic Society issued a bulletin today which said:

The irregularity of the compass bends the line Commander Byrd will take approximately toward a great circle. His route is only 11 miles longer than the shortest route he could possibly take between St. Johns and Valencia Island.

The difficulty in flying along the great circle is that the flyer would have to change his compass setting, according to the declination of the place where he is flying at the time. If he miscalculates his location he eventually would deviate from his course.

The merit of the course Commander Byrd will follow is that he does not have to know how far he has advanced on his route in order to know how to steer his course.

Commander Byrd will follow a route to St. Johns which will afford him the greatest number of land marks and emergency landing fields. He will follow the navigation method described above in his transatlantic flying. He will use the earth-inductor compass and a standard magnetic compass to carry out this plan, and also will use the sun compass in flying to check upon his other compasses. He has been using the sun compass already in getting the deviation chart for his magnetic compasses.

There are some fine views of Winchester in the new post cards now on display at the Star Office.

SCHOOL DEPARTMENT NOTES

The School Committee have made the following appointments for the school year 1927-1928:

Miss Dorothy Shurtleff, teacher and supervisor of art.

Miss Iona M. Lezotte, Highland School, Grades 3 and 4.

Miss Mildred Thomas, Grade 1, Lincoln School.

Miss Mary S. McCarron, Grade 2, Lincoln School.

Miss Julia Joy, Grade 4, Lincoln School.

Miss Estelle Reed, Kindergarten, George Washington School.

Miss Agnes Garvin, Grades 1 and 2, Wyman School.

Miss Marjorie M. Chapman, Grade 5, Wyman School.

Other appointments will be made later. There has been practically no transfer of our teachers to other communities. Most all of the vacancies have been caused by resignations due to retirement, marriage and in one case because one of the teachers expects to study in France. Due to the increased enrollment in the schools one or two new positions have had to be created.

The schools will officially open on Wednesday, Sept. 7.

The High School will probably have an enrollment of 525 in the fall, at least over 500. This will be the largest enrollment which the High School has ever had.

The Superintendent of Schools knows of a few boys who are desirous of obtaining summer employment. If anyone has work, it is suggested that he communicate with the Superintendent of Schools, calling Winchester 1780.

The Department calls the attention of the parents to the days and hours for the special mental tests given to pupils who are underage. The Department's ruling is that a child to be admitted to the kindergarten must be 5 years of age on or before Jan. 1 following the opening of school in September. A child to be admitted to the first grade must be 6 years of age on or before Jan. 1 following the opening of school in September.

If the parent has a child who is not of age to enter, but who believes that the child is more advanced mentally than his age would indicate, he may arrange with the office of the Superintendent of Schools for an appointment for a special mental examination.

The only days upon which the examinations will be given will be as follows: Sept. 1, 2, 3, 6, and 7. Appointments will be made from the hours of 9 to 12 and 1 to 5. The School Department must insist that the tests be given on these days.

All pupils must be vaccinated before entering school.

WILLIAM MASSEY SMITH

William Massey Smith, for the past 27 years a resident of Winchester, died Monday afternoon at his home on Church street after having been in poor health for about a year.

Mr. Smith was born in Boston 51 years ago, the son of James M. and Ellen (Batterman) Smith. He prepared for college at Noble and Greenough School and was graduated from Harvard in 1896. Since coming to Winchester he had engaged in the business of real estate and enjoyed a wide circle of friends and acquaintances.

In 1907 Mr. Smith was married to Harriet Wakefield who survives him with two sisters; Mrs. Frank Wilkins of Bronxville, N. Y., and Mrs. Jessie Henderson of Arlington and two brothers, James M. Smith of New York City and George B. Smith of Winchester.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon at the late residence and were conducted by the Rev. William S. Packer, acting pastor of the Church of the Epiphany. Nelson Hawley and John Marston of Winchester, William A. Cram of Belmont and Chester A. Howe of Chestnut Hill were bearers. Interment was in Forest Hills Cemetery.

THOMAS J. BULMER

Winchester lost another of its residents of long standing when Thomas J. Bulmer died last Sunday evening at his home on Maxwell road after a six months' illness.

Mr. Bulmer was 70 years of age and a native of Amherst, N. S., the son of William and Eunice (Mills) Bulmer. At the age of 30 he came to this country, settling in Winchester where he had since remained and where he had become widely known through his many years in business as a painter and decorator.

In 1885 Mr. Bulmer married Florence Smith who survives him with two sons, Harry and Clarence Bulmer, both of Winchester.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon at the late residence and were conducted by the Rev. H. W. Hook, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, of which the deceased had been a member. The bearers were Forbes Smith, Robert W. Dover, Norman Osborne and Theodore Hartley, all of Winchester. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

FATHER ROGERS' APPOINTMENT OF INTEREST HERE

Many in Winchester were interested to learn of the appointment of Rev. Fr. Frank E. Rogers, for the past four years senior curate at St. Charles Church, Woburn, to the pastorate of the new Watertown-Belmont parish, recently formed by Cardinal O'Connell who announced Fr. Rogers' promotion Monday evening.

The new assignment is an important one since the organization of the new parish and the construction of a church to serve its needs are problems which must be met.

Fr. Rogers will have in his new field the best wishes of his many friends in Winchester where he was formerly for 18 years curate at St. Mary's Church. He is to start upon his new duties the first of July.

Harry N. Putnam of this town was graduated with honors in English from Phillips Academy at Exeter, N. H., on Tuesday of this week.

PLAN AN OUTDOOR SUMMER!

Take a vacation at home this summer and get out of the house more. Even if you have dinner at noon and can't go any farther than the front porch or a corner of the yard, take some sewing and stay outdoors. Your upstairs work can be finished when you go up to take a nap in the drowsy part of the afternoon.

The oven control gas range will look after your dinner. Here's the program—

	Minutes
Prepare meat and vegetables for oven dinner (Place in oven and forget about them)	20
Prepare dessert	15
Leave the kitchen
Just before serving
Prepare salad	10
Set table	5
Bring bread, butter, water, etc. to table	7
Make beverage and serve dinner, hot from oven and perfectly cooked	8

The total time spent in the kitchen is only 65 minutes. You don't enter the kitchen once to "see to the oven" as the heat control regulator on the gas range does this for you. Why not let one be at work helping you? Thousands of other women are doing it.

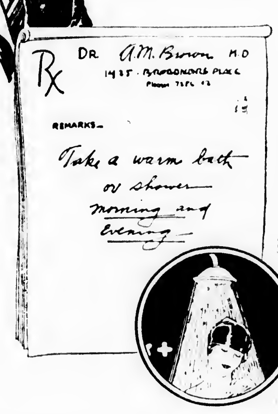
"To Cool Off—Take a Warm Bath"



For hot weather health and comfort, take a warm bath or shower. Warm water is more refreshing in the summer than cold because cold water is stimulating, starts the blood to circulating and thus makes the body actually hot. Warm water evaporates quickly, hence is soothing and cooling.

And I like the way it stays on the job. No sick spells. No whining or whimpering. And the car lubricates itself from end to end the moment you press a plunger with your foot!

SECOND CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH FETE

Last Saturday proved to be a very successful day for the 5th annual Field Day of the Second Congregational Church in Winchester Highlands.

These Field Days are very much enjoyed in the community.

The quick lunch and hot dog booth was very popular under the supervision of Mrs. Ralph Sims and Mrs. Elmer Huber. The Bethany Society had charge of the Food Booth with Mrs. Fred Saunders as chairman and the Apron and Fancy Article booth with Mrs. Amy Twombly as chairman. The grabs were in charge of Miss Margaret Parker. The Candy booth was in charge of the Eureka Sorority with Miss Olive Robinson, Chairman. The tonic booth was in charge of Miss Margaret Copland. The ice cream booth was under the management of Mr. Arthur Belville. Several young men managed the grocery booth, with Ralph McAdams as chairman. The balloon and novelty booth always attractive, especially to the children was in charge of Mr. Fred Saunders. The pop corn booth was well handled by the Church School under the supervision of Mr. Arthur Kendrick.

There was plenty of sport provided on the field by the young men and boys of the Church all during the Field Day. A ball throwing game with balloons as targets was managed by Paul McElhiney, Howard Saunders and Warren Morrow. Another game was in charge of Reginald Derby and Robert Ward. The Junior Pathfinders also had a contest in charge of Morley Robinson. Two other games were in charge of Ernest McAdams and Harold Saunders.

One of the most important parts of the Field Day program was the splendid supper served in the Assembly Hall of the Church. This supper was in charge of Group 2 with Mrs. John E. Whitley as Captain. The tables were filled several times to capacity during the supper hours and great credit is due the ladies in charge.

A most interesting entertainment was held in the Chapel on Cross street, both afternoon and evening under the direction of the Music Committee of the Church, Mrs. John Fields, Chairman. Several fine moving picture reels were shown by Mr. Ernest Richardson, supplying plenty of humor and interest.

The audience was priviledged to see and hear Mr. Clarence Collins, familiarly known as "Hiram" to the radio audience who listen in to "Whitings' Merry Milk Maids," and he received enthusiastic response to his songs and stories.

The electric lights strung through the Field and the gay decorations of the booths made a very attractive display and brought many passersby to the field who mingled with the patrons of the Community and everyone enjoyed a good social time and at the same time contributed a goodly sum toward the campaign to pay off the debt on the new Second Congregational Church.

Advertising for Field Day was in charge of Mrs. Ralph Sims.

The Building Committee thanks everyone who worked or contributed in any way to make the Field Day a success and appreciate the co-operation so cheerfully given by all.

FLED AFTER CAMBRIDGE STREET CRASH

The police are trying to locate the occupants of a Hudson coach which was in collision with an Essex coach on Cambridge street north of Wildwood street last Sunday afternoon shortly before 5 o'clock.

According to the story which the authorities obtained from those who were riding in the Essex the accident was caused when the driver of the other machine cut out of line while going south on Cambridge street and was unable to avoid the first named, striking it head on.

The occupants of the Hudson ran to the nearby home of H. G. Aplin and requested that the family telephone for a doctor. Meanwhile the police had arrived and found that the Essex was owned and operated by John D. Barry of 74 Concord avenue, Somerville. In it with him were his wife and four children.

Mrs. Barry was found to have sustained injuries to her head and was taken to the home of William Twombley on Wildwood street and treated by Dr. Cunningham for a broken cheek bone, abrasions on nose and right hand and contusion over right eye. Both machines were badly wrecked and had to be towed to the Metropolitan Garage.

During the excitement it was not noticed that the occupants of the Hudson were nowhere to be seen, but when things quieted down it was found that they had left after requesting that the doctor be summoned. The police found that the machine was registered to John H. Finnegan of 178 Brighton avenue, Allston, who upon being notified of the accident stated that he had rented the car to some young men whom he thought he could locate. In the meantime the police are working on the case and if the men can be found they will be summonsed to court for leaving the scene of an accident without making themselves known.

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

At a meeting of the Board of Directors held Thursday evening, June 23 a number of new members were voted into the club. Still others who are spending the summer at home, are making application for membership. The season has been a very active one up to the present time and all indications point to many more very pleasant events.

The paddlers are now out nearly every evening practicing for the races to be held in the Charles River Basin on the morning of July 4. These races are an annual event, and are held under the auspices of the New England Amateur Rowing Association. Years ago the meet was devoted to rowing races exclusively. Canoe events were later included in the program and today the canoists share the meet on a nearly equal footing with the scullers. All of the Charles River clubs participate and some years paddlers come from as far as Providence to compete.

Winchester hopes to enter into four of the races, namely the club-fours, single blades, club-fours, double blades; tandems, single-blades and tandems, double blades. Due to this out of town meet, no regatta is scheduled on home waters, for the afternoon of the holiday.

U. D. OF A. NOTES

Mrs. Mary Kelley entertained the members and their friends last evening at a social whose size taxed the capacity of her home. Mrs. Kelley proved a charming hostess and all present declared the party a most delightful one.

On next Thursday the Court will celebrate its 16th anniversary, it being founded in Lyceum Hall on July 2, 1911 by D. D. Annie Reynolds of Stoneham. Mrs. Reynolds will be an honored guest at the anniversary.

Plans for the anniversary are shaping up in great style and there will be another rehearsal of the "Show" tonight at the home of the director, Mrs. F. T. Conlon.

Preceeding the supper there will be a one-act play entitled, "O'Keefe's Circuit." This is guaranteed to interest and amuse the most world-weary. And the local hits, always a part of the Daughters' Shows, will be unusually snappy.

The affair is for members only. Following are the parts and those who will take them:

Mr. O'Keefe of O'Keefe's Circuit — Mrs. Wm. F. McDonald, Jr.
Maggie Hennessey, a pert stenographer — Mrs. Thomas W. Conlon
Bill the office boy — Mrs. M. G. Moffett
Mose and Charlie, Colored Performers — Mrs. Thomas Cassidy, Mrs. Benton Walsh
Minnehaha, Indian Dancer — Mrs. Harry E. Brown
Spiritualla, a medium — Katherine F. O'Connor
Three Old Fashioned Girls — Mabel M. Coty, Mrs. James McGrath, Mrs. Joseph O'Connor
Deacon Small — Mrs. Thomas Kean
Mrs. Small, his wife — Mrs. John Murray
Ruth Sandy-Knee — Miss Mary O'Melia
Carmencita, a Spanish Dancer — Mrs. James Magone
The Hippity-hop Twins
Mrs. Nora O'Melia, Mrs. James McDonough
Black Brothers, colored orchestra Mrs. John Hanlon, Leader, Mrs. Edward McKenzie, Mrs. Arthur E. A. King, Miss B. Young, Mrs. Timothy Donovan, Mrs. Mary Kelley, Mrs. Joseph O'Neil, Mrs. Charles McHugh, Mrs. William Crilley, Mrs. Marion McLaughlin, Miss Mary Hanlon.

The members went in a body on Wednesday evening to the home of Sister Belle Queenin where a rosary was recited for the repose of the soul of Mrs. Isabel Thorne, the mother of two of our members, Mrs. Queenan and Mrs. Emily Scholl.

The next house party will be announced at the anniversary supper. Also, on that evening the committee will be appointed to take charge of the annual outing.

Miss Barbara Ritchie of Wedgemere avenue left Wednesday for Camp Aloha at South Fairlee, Vt.

MESKELL—MULLIN

Many in Winchester attended the wedding solemnized in St. Joseph's Church, Wakefield, last Saturday afternoon when Miss Margaret Mullin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Mullin of 70 Bennett street, Wakefield, became the bride of Bartholomew J. Meskell, son of Mr. David J. Meskell of 3 Clark street. The officiating clergyman was Rev. Fr. John F. Meheran.

The couple were attended by Miss Katherine F. Mullin, sister of the bride, and Michael P. Meskell, brother of the bridegroom. The ushers were William S. Mullin and David Meskell. The music during the ceremony was under the direction of Mrs. Kathryn Connelly, organist, and Ray Dugan, violinist.

The bride wore an ivory taffeta frock trimmed with tulle, and a wedding veil of rose point, banded with orange blossoms and tulle, her bouquet was of roses and lilies of the valley.

The maid of honor was gowned in orchid georgette and silver lace, with hat to match, and carried pink roses and sweet peas.

More than 200 guests witnessed the ceremony and attended a reception at the home of the bride's parents. An orchestra furnished music. A supper was served [illegible] lawn tables.

Mrs. Meskell is a graduate of Wakefield High School, [illegible]. The bridegroom graduated from Winchester High in 1917 and served in the Aviation Corps during the World War.

Following a tour by automobile to New York and Washington the couple will make their home in Wakefield at 70 Bennett street.

Last Friday evening at 8 o'clock while the Ford sedan of W. F. Ramsdell of Sunset avenue was parked on Main street facing north nearly opposite Thompson street the machine was struck in the rear by an Overland sedan, also headed north and driven by Robert Hussey of Intervale street, Woburn. One of the rear mudguards of the Ford was badly damaged.

Situated on the West Side of Winchester off of Cambridge Street nearly opposite Calumet Road. A tract of 20 lots of land varying in size from 7000 to 12,000 square feet in area. Every lot affords a beautiful panoramic view of the most attractive part of the town. In addition to the four houses already erected thereon, the Fairmount Associates have purchased five uncompleted houses adjoining their property at a mortgagees sale. This in order not only to conserve the high type of construction originally planned for this tract, but more particularly to control the disposition of these houses, in order to maintain the high class neighborhood to which we set out to create. These aforesaid five houses are nearing completion and will be offered to satisfactory parties at reasonable prices and possibly one or two of these houses may be obtained for rent.

WINCHESTER OBSERVED FOURTH

Celebration Quiet and Orderly—Excellent Band Concerts

Winchester observed Independence Day in the manner to which it has become accustomed since the inauguration of the "safe and sane" policy throughout the district. Its program did not differ materially from those of its last few predecessors and went off with equal smoothness. The weather, though a bit unseasonable, was nevertheless fine, adding to the pleasure of the day for those who had planned an outdoor respite from the daily grind.

Things were very quiet about town, many taking advantage of the three day holiday to take extended motor trips while the closing of schools had already taken many to their summer homes.

At police headquarters there was little of interest. Three men were arrested during the "night before" celebration, but two of them were later released while the one held was charged only with drunkenness.

There was one new feature of the celebration of the Fourth, or rather, if you will, the resumption of a custom which dates from the "good old days" of cannon crackers and police records. Winchester ushered in Independence Day with four good sized bonfires in various sections of the North End, all of which aroused considerable interest.

Probably the largest of the four was that on the Town dump off the shore road where a good sized pile of sleepers and barrels was soaked with oil and burned under the direction of Eugene P. Sullivan and John Lynch in the presence of a large crowd. Another good fire was that in the Bowery in charge of "Pat" Kennedy and M. J. Foley while Patsek Dempsey sponsored a third in Nelson's gravel pit. Bill street will be the fourth near the Boston & Maine freight yard. Everything was done in an orderly manner, the crowds giving no trouble in any instance.

The day's program was ushered in with the long established custom of ringing the Town bells at 7 o'clock, Janitor Edward J. Callahan supervised this feature of the celebration, repetitions coming at 12 noon and at 6 p. m.

Many in town were interested in private activities, the usual holiday golf contests attracting many to the links of the Winchester Country Club. Baseball fans followed St. Mary's B. B. C. to Arlington for the first of two games between the locals and the Arlington Town Team while the tennis bugs were busy on the courts where was an opportunity to eat a ball.

Mystic Lakes were deserted except for individual canoeists, the club paddlers having journeyed to the Charles River to participate in the regatta of the New England Amateur Rowing Association.

For the stay at-homes the big event of the forenoon was the annual children's entertainment in the Town Hall. The usual large crowd of kiddies was on hand and judging from the constant laughter and applause thoroughly enjoyed the program furnished by capable professional entertainers.

Unfortunately one of those billed to appear was unable to be present, but the entertainment as it was turned out to be plenty long enough, lasting until 11:15. Fox and Fox with their Punch and Judy Show and Minstrel Morris in comic novelty cutups kept the children amused and gave the older "kids" in charge of the arrangements many a chuckle.

The program was impressively ushered in with the "Salute to the Flag" in which the children were led by George H. Lochman, Exalted Ruler of Winchester Lodge of Elks. This was followed by the singing of America with Miss Lucy Wilcox at the piano. Miss Wilcox furnished the incidental music for the entertainment and her playing was greatly enjoyed. It was noticeable that the kiddies were thoroughly acquainted with the patriotic pledge of allegiance to the National Colors while their singing of America was no less effective.

At the conclusion of the entertainment the children were lined up to march from the hall each being given as he left a ticket good for an ice cream cone at "Randall's." Needless to say this was the red letter feature of the party and Selectman Walter Dotten and his assistants were given a busy time keeping the youngsters in order. Numerous others also lent a helping hand were George H. Lochman, Fred H. Scholl, John H. Powers, Thomas T. Fallon, Howard Cosgrove, Harry Dotten, Napoleon Goddu, James F. Farrell, George White and Edward J. Callahan.

The afternoon program included the return ball game between St. Mary's and the Arlington Town Team, this time on Manchester Field, and the band concert played from the band stand at the river by Stiles Military Band of Boston.

One of the biggest crowds for some years was on the playground with the majority watching the ball game. With such a background it was unfortunate that St. Mary's could not have had a stronger team on the diamond. As it was the locals lost both of its holiday starts, patched up lineups having much to do with the reverses.

The big crowd was very orderly and the police had little trouble either afternoon or evening. The afternoon detail at the field was in charge of Sergt. Thomas Cassidy and included patrolmen John Regan, John Dempsey, John Hogan and Henry Dempsey.

In the evening Stiles Band played its second program of music and the usual display of fireworks brought the evening to a close. In general the fireworks were satisfactory and a more perfect night for a display would have been hard to find, even if the wind was a bit chilly.

WINCHESTER HOSPITAL NOTES

June has been a very busy month in the operating room at the hospital, as there have been many major operations and many cases of children having tonsils removed. Nineteen babies have been born during the month.

Contributions of flowers from Mrs. Fitts; books for the nurses from Mrs. Arthur Winn and strawberries from Mr. George Harrington have been very welcome.

The season of vacations is at hand and the nurses are taking their turns at being away. Miss Ryder has been at Bingham; Miss McIntosh has been taking short motor trips; Miss Dorothy Ladd and Miss Frances Kean have returned from Vermont and Miss Abbie Davidson from Maine. Miss Ione Spencer and Miss Vera Haley are at present in Maine and Mrs. Dorothy Perkins in Melrose.

The nurses on duty have enjoyed two picnic suppers and are anticipating with great pleasure an evening excursion to Nantasket, made possible by the generosity of one of the doctors.

MARRIED LAST DECEMBER

According to announcements recently made and confirmed by the parents of the young people Miss Phyllis Esther Thayer, daughter of Mrs. Linda Dexter Thayer of 47 Central avenue, Newtonville and Harry Oscar Blaisdell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis O. Blaisdell of 68 Fenway, Back Bay, formerly of this town, were married on Dec. 30, 1926, at Boston by Rev. George A. Gordon of the Old South Church.

The marriage was kept a secret and Mrs Blaisdell returned to complete her studies at the Choate School in Brookline. Mr. Blaisdell has many friends in Winchester where he was born and attended school. His parents, who have recently moved to the Back Bay, were for many years residents of the town, Mr. Blaisdell until last winter having conducted a market in the square for 25 years.

DISCOVERED MACHINE ABANDONED ON HIGH STREET

Officer George White of the police, while patroling Tuesday evening, discovered a badly wrecked automobile abandoned on High street near the residence of Mr. Edward H. Stone of 102 Cambridge street.

Headquarters was notified and an investigation found that the car was registered to Miss Leonora McCarthy of 722 Commonwealth avenue, Boston. Notified and having not had occasion to miss McCarthy stated that her machine had been in charge of Frank M. Carter of Swan road with whom the police at once communicated. Mr. Carter claimed that he had parked the car in front of his home and that it had been taken without his permission. The authorities are investigating.

WINCHESTER PARTY SAILS SUNDAY

Mr. F. J. O'Hara, of Mystic avenue, vice-president and director of the Winchester National Bank, with his daughter, Miss Agnes O'Hara, and his grand-daughter, Miss Miriam Donahue of Highland avenue, is sailing on Sunday on the Cunard Line from East Boston for Queenstown and Liverpool. The O'Hara party has a most attractive itinery planned, taking them to Paris and through Switzerland and England before going to Ireland in time for the Tailteen races at Dublin, Aug. 4. After touring the "Emerald Isle" its members will return to this country, arriving about Sept. 1.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Gacomo Pantlo are the parents of a son, born July 1 at their home, 95 Irving street.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Clement Welch of 10 Baldwin street are the parents of a son born June 27 at the Winchester Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Jameson S. Slocum of 21 Appalachian road are the parents of a son born June 23 at the Winchester Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Biase Garbino of 718 Main street are the parents of a son born June 23 at the Winchester Hospital.

VISITED MATINICUS LIGHT

Cynthia Larraway was one of a party of girls who spent last week at Matinicus Rock Light Station, which is situated about 25 miles out to sea from Rockland, Me.

The invitation to visit this light house came through correspondence with the members of the families of the different light houses by means of radio station WEEI.

The trip down and back and the visit at the rock were full of thrills for all, from beginning to end.

Mrs. A. J. Larraway acted as chaperon for the party.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Frank Melly, manager of St. Mary's ball club, has joined "Jim" Fitzgerald on the roster of the Somerville Twilight team. According to reports the former caught two nice games for the club this week. He was behind the bat for the Tufts frosh this season.

Mrs. Alexander McIsaac and her daughter, Mrs. Mabel A. Murray, are visiting relatives at Halifax, N. S.

Shortly after 1 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon a brush fire was discovered in the Fells at the North Reservoir. The men of the Water Department assisted by mounted officer Ned Shea had the fire out before the arrival of apparatus from the Central Station, summoned as a precautionary measure.

Miss M. Alice Mason of Main street is spending the month of July at Eagle Mt. House, Jackson, N. H.

EDWARD A. SMITH

Edward A. Smith, well known to older residents of Winchester, died last Saturday evening at his son's home 10 Park avenue. His death followed a long illness.

Mr. Smith was born in Salem, on March 8, 1847. His parents were Edward Amos and Isabel (French) Smith. His ancestors, Hugh and Mary Smith came from Rowley, England to settle in Beverly, in 1638. A second cousin, the Rev. George Phillips Smith, was the first Pastor of the First Congregational Church of Winchester, of which Mr. Smith was a member and one time Treasurer.

He had always a keen interest in Town affairs. At one time he served as Town Auditor and in other offices. Through his active efforts in the work of the old time Village Improvement Society, of which he was Secretary, he contributed to many of the benefits that the present generation enjoys.

In his early life he entered the employ of Wilder Co., paper manufacturers and for 53 years remained associated with the Wilder interests.

He came to Winchester in 1873, and in the year following he married Miss Esther G. Small, then a resident.

He is survived by Mrs. Smith, by a son Lowell R. Smith of Winchester and by William F., Esther Clement F., and Edward G. Merrill of Warwick, N. Y., grandchildren by his daughter, the late Bertha Isabel Merrill. He leaves also a sister, Mrs. Sylvanus C. Small and a brother, Warren A. Smith.

The services on Tuesday afternoon at 10 Park avenue were conducted by Rev. Sydney B. Snow, son of the late Capt. and Mrs. William A. Snow long time residents of Winchester, and for many years neighbors and close friends of Mr. and Mrs. Smith.

The bearers included Mr. E. Henry Stone and Mr. Wilbur Sargent Locke of Winchester; Mr. Frederick P. Campbell of Wilder, Vt., and Mr. Everett E. Kent of Newton. Burial was in Wildwood Cemetery.

EMBLEM CLUB AFFAIRS

If the party Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth T. Hines is a fair augury of the success of future out-of-town affairs, then the club's quota towards local welfare work is as good as made, for the usual number of guests attended and contributed generously. Besides the special line of entertainment, it was a pleasure to inspect Sister Hines' new home on Farm Hill which is one of the most desirable locations in Stoneham.

All are reminded of the fact that Mrs. Kathryn T. Griffin will entertain at 72 Washington street, Woburn, next Thursday evening, July 14. As the hostess has quite a reputation in the vaudeville line much is expected of her program for the evening. A cordial invitation is extended to members and their friends.

The entertainment committee will meet at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Annie M. Hanlon, 5 Cutting street, next Tuesday evening, July 12. Plans for the beach outing scheduled for July 27 will be matters for discussion and arrangements for transportation to Salem Willows will be made. A series of games and sports will be features of the program and there will be no dull spots in the prospectus, if the committee in charge can help it.

Rehearsal of the drill team will be held on the regular meeting night of the club in Lyceum Hall Wednesday evening, July 13. Any member unable to attend should arrange for a substitute or telephone Mrs. J. E. Hanlon, Win. 1649-M. It is of the utmost importance that every position on the team be filled at these rehearsals, and that members be at the hall at 7:45 o'clock promptly.

President Emily A. Scholl started Thursday afternoon on her two-weeks' trip to Cincinnati accompanied by her husband. Mr. Scholl is the official delegate to the Elks' Convention to be held in that city this year. Many expressions of bon voyage are extended from members of the club and it is expected that she will have a wonderful story to relate at the club session in September.

The sympathy of the club is extended to Mrs. Elizabeth M. O'Connell in her recent bereavement. Members were hoaded to hear that her husband, Charles O'Connell for 18 years a member of the police force of Cambridge, died suddenly Wednesday afternoon.

HUMPHREY—McKINNON

Miss Mary T. McKinnon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. McKinnon of Pond street and Arthur A. Humphrey, son of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Humphrey of Cambridge road were united in marriage Tuesday evening at St. Mary's Rectory by the Rev. Fr. John P. Sullivan.

Miss McKinnon wore a gown of white georgette with a large white picture hat and carried bride's roses. Her honor attendent was her aunt, Miss Grace McKinnon of Pawtucket, R. I., who wore coral pink crepe de chine with hat to match and carried pink roses. John McHugh of Winchester was groomsman.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents which was attractive with cut flowers and ferns. A wedding supper was served to 150 guests and an orchestra furnished the music during the evening. Many guests came for the occasion from Hartford and New London, Conn., and from Pawtucket, Central Falls and Providence, R. I.

Upon their return from a wedding trip to New York, Mr. and Mrs. Humphrey will make their home in Winchester at 232 Cambridge road.

POLICE CAPTURE THIEF

Officer Donaghey Makes Arrest as Man Tries to Leave Town

Thomas R. Mitton, 31, of 228 Newbury street, Boston, was arrested shortly after 1:30 p. m. Wednesday in the square by Officer James P. Donaghey of the police as the former was attempting to make a get-away after stealing $60 from the home of James Chefalo at the corner of Swanton and Cedar streets.

According to the police account of the affair Mitton had been about the Swanton street section of the town earlier in the day, posing as a magazine agent. He had made a purchase at Pental's Grocery on Swanton street before approaching the Chefalo home.

Arriving there he found the door closed but according to reports unlocked. Mrs. Chefalo and her daughter Carmilla were at home, the former asleep upon a lounge.

Mitton entered without awakening her and took a pocketbook, containing about $60, from a table, making his escape, but not until he had been seen by the Chefalo girl.

The latter quickly awakened her mother and asked what the man had been doing in the house. As soon as Mrs. Chefalo was awake she missed the pocketbook, and ordered her daughter to notify the police of the incident.

Miss Chefalo at once called headquarters and was able to give the police a good description of the thief. Immediately all officers were notified to be on the watch and the police motor cars covered that section of the town in which the thief was thought to be.

Meanwhile Mitton had succeeded in avoiding the searchers and had made his way to the square where Officer James Donaghey was doing traffic duty. The latter noticed him approaching as if to take a car and believing his description fitted that of the wanted man placed him under arrest at once.

After Mitton had been taken to Headquarters by Officer Donaghey and the missing pocketbook and money had been found on his person Chief McIntosh is said to have gotten a confession from the young man who was well dressed and of an attractive appearance.

Several other articles of value were found upon him, including another sum of money, a gold wrist watch and a diamond ring.

Believing that Mitton was no ordinary sneak thief, Chief McIntosh investigated and found him to be the possesser of an interesting police record. He had already served 6 months at Deer Island in 1925 for two breaks in Brighton and later an additional 6 months in the Lawrence jail for burglary in Peabody. Two previous breaks in Quincy had been laid at his door and the police of that city took him into custody at the expiration of his term at Lawrence. At Quincy he was given a 6 months' suspended sentence from which he was paroled when arrested by Officer Donaghey.

After learning of Mitton's activities the local authorities believe he may have been responsible for the disappearance of several sums of money from the Italian section of the Town this spring.

The prisoner was finger printed and locked up, charged with breaking and entering in the day time and with the larceny of $60.

Following this Sergt. William H. Rogers with Officer Donaghey visited Mitton's room in the Back Bay where aside from an unusual quantity of clothing nothing of a suspicious nature was discovered.

Mitton appeared in the District Court at Woburn Thursday morning. He offered no defense and was found guilty as charged, being sentenced to serve 9 months in the House of Correction. He was committed later the same morning and commenced the service of his sentence at once.

His capture was characterized as a good piece of police work by authorities everywhere around Boston and Chief McIntosh was especially pleased at the efficient work of his men. To Miss Carmilla Chefalo, the 15 year old girl who furnished the police with the description, much credit also is due.

WON HENRY FORD'S BOOK

Cynthia Larraway was one of a group to receive "My Life and Work," by Henry Ford, as a prize offered by the Radio Broadcasting of WEEI for one of the best written debates in a contest held by the club. The book was personally autographed by Mr. Ford.

In the fall these same winners will have an opportunity to go through the Ford plant in Somerville, personally conducted by Big Brother "Hap" Emery.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin E. Baldwin of Branford, Conn., announce the engagement of their daughter, Ruby to Mr. Winfield D. Mansfield, son of Mrs. E. A. Mansfield of Winchester. Mr. Mansfield has been for the past two years Physical Director and Athletic Coach at the Winchester High School. He is a graduate of Springfield College and has made his home in town with his mother on Park avenue. No date for the wedding is announced.

Last Tuesday evening as John T. McKeowing of 37 Middlesex street was driving an automobile east on Swanton street he struck and knocked down the four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore Marchesi of 6 Holland street. The child was taken to her home where an examination disclosed no injuries.

LATE GEORGE E. SEXTON FORMERLY COACH HERE

Many of Winchester's sports followers learned with regret of the sudden death on Tuesday night in a Boston hospital of George E. Sexton of 276 Washington street, Salem, for the past nine years director of physical education and athletic coach at Lynn English High School.

Before accepting his last position at Lynn Mr. Sexton was for four years football coach at Winchester High School, succeeding Ralph E. Gunlow "Doc," as he was affectionately known, was very successful here and in the fall of 1915 turned out an eleven which was good enough to win the Mystic Valley League title. "Yappa" Culler, "Pat" Murphy, Frank Black, "Splicker" Ledwidge, "Fat" Locke and Ralph Bradley, among others, helped to make his team's records successful.

Mr. Sexton was born in Boston, Sept. 28, 1885, and was graduated from Boston English High School and the Harvard Summer School of Physical Education. He also studied at Mercersburg Academy, Milton Academy and Harrington School. He was an athlete of note and for three years was an instructor at the Harvard Summer School of Physical Education.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Catherine M. Sexton, two daughters, Marguerite and Dorothea; his mother, Mrs. Mary Sexton; a sister, Miss Mary E. Sexton, all of Salem, and two brothers, Thomas H., Walter E., Albert J., John G. and Frederic B. Sexton, all of Boston.

Funeral services were held this Friday morning with a requiem mass at the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Salem.

CRADDOCKS HERE TOMORROW

The Craddock Club of Malden will be the attraction tomorrow afternoon on Manchester Field at 3:15 and should furnish the locals with plenty of competition. This team has been going along nicely in the independent ranks and has enough to win easily if St. Mary's tosses the same lineup that it used the Fourth against Arlington. Manager Melly was by no means satisfied with the showing his club made on Independence Day when he was up against it for playing strength. He expects to put a much stronger lineup on the field tomorrow and will leave no stone unturned to get back into a winning stride at the expense of the Malden boys. The fans should remember that with the regular lineup on the job St. Mary's was able to beat both the Malden City Club and the Woburn "Pals," two stronger clubs than the victorious Arlington nine. It was questionable judgment playing four games in three days, and this sort of thing should not be repeated with the present resources of the local club. With the regular lineup on the job St. Mary's can hold its own with any in the independent league. Anything less than its best will not get the boys far with the local fans.

THREE WEDDINGS TOOK PLACE LAST SATURDAY

Last Saturday was evidently considered an auspicious one by three young couples whose weddings are of interest in Winchester.

At Bedford Miss Edwina Marion Bean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin H. Bean of South road Bedford, was married to Wilfred Lawson of this town, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lawson of 37 Brookside road, were married by the Rev. Frank W. Thompson. Miss Antoinett Gaglnormella daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Gaglormella of 4 Ebenezer court and Ernest Staffieri of Everett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Staffieri were united in marriage at St. Mary's Church by the Rev. Fr. John P. Sullivan.

The marriage of Miss Frances Conway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Cozzo of Woburn, and Paul Pecora of Winchester son of Mr. and Mrs. Ignazio Rantone of 106 Swanton street was solemnized in Woburn by the Rev. Fr. Richard Boland.

CHASING BALL BOY STRUCK BY MOTOR

Arthur J. Sephson, 9, son of Nicholas J. Sephson of 63 Brookside road, while chasing a ball on Washington street near Leonard Field Tuesday was struck by a Ford sedan driven by Bertil S. Knutson of 309 Washington street, Woburn.

Officer John Hogan on duty in the Highlands, was notified of the accident and at once took the boy to the Winchester Hospital. Mrs. Knutson's machine. There he was treated for cuts and bruises by Dr. Roger M. Burgoyne who found it necessary to take several stitches in an ugly gash on his lip.

Tuesday morning as Gordon C. Hill of 228 Warren street, Allston, was driving his Auburn brougham on Cambridge street the machine was side-swiped by a Stearns-Knight registered to Claude L. Howe of Brookline.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

The cool and comfortable Granada Theater in Malden is offering an especially notable program today and Saturday, with "The Sunset Derby," as the feature picture, together with five acts of selected vaudeville. Crammed with swiftly moving action, interspersed with a delightful vein of light comedy, and possessing two mile-a-minute horse races unsurpassed on the screen for realism, speed and thrills, "The Sunset Derby" is entertainment plus.

The vaudeville bill now being presented at the Granada boasts of two acts that are outstanding in the vaudeville field. The Brown & Dennet Revue, with six people, who offer a snappy routine of singing, dancing amid Dixie settings, are the headliners on the bill. The Columbia Comedy Four is the second big act. This quartet offer what they term "The Sidewalks of New York," which is 20 minutes of good singing and fun which have made them favorites all over the country. Flaherty & Stoning, presenting "Vaudeville Tid-Bits"; Lelia Shaw & Co. in the comedy hit, "Personality Plus"; and Fulton & Mack, skilled equilibrists, complete the five act bill for today and Saturday.

"Paving the Prairie," a picture that presents Mary Carr in one of her famous "mother" roles, is coming to the Granada for three days starting next Monday. "Alaskan Adventures," a wonderful camera record of Alaska, with some of the most beautiful photography and scenes ever presented will be an added screen feature for the first half of next week. The usual five act program of Granada vaudeville will be shown in addition to the screen subjects.

WINCHESTER OBSERVED FOURTH

Much favorable comment was heard over the playing of the band and all seemed agreed that the programs selected were both long enough and varied enough to satisfy any one.

There was the customary large press of automobile traffic and the police were kept busy both in the square and at the playground. Chief MacIntosh was in general charge with Sergeant Cassidy and officers John Regan, John Noonan and James Donaghey in the center. Sergt. William H. Rogers was in charge of the detail at Manchester Field and with him were officers Henry Dempsey, Mark Kelley, John Hogan and James Farrell. The Metropolitan Police detail of five patrolmen, handling traffic on the Parkway, was in charge of Sergeant Chaney.

No accidents of any importance were reported during the day and evening and there was but one fire in town. At 5:23 on the afternoon of the holiday an alarm from Box 63 summoned the department to the residence of Mr. Edward A. Tucker at 220 Highland avenue where only slight damage was done by an over heated electric iron.

Traffic was not characterized as especially heavy for a holiday though there were times when the police were given plenty to do by parties of picnickers, bound for Thompson's Grove in Wilmington.

The entire Board of Selectmen was in charge of the day's arrangements with Selectman Walter H. Dotten heading the committee as chairman.

The band selections were as follows:

AFTERNOON

BOWDOIN SQUARE THEATRE

In keeping with its progressive policy, the management at the popular Bowdoin Square Theatre will on Monday offer Mike Sacks and his famous Musical Comedy company with "Mike" in the leading role of comedian. He has surrounded himself with 16 people, mostly girls who will delight in a merry festival of fun and humor. The singing and dancing chorus is sure to find instant favor with all Bowdoin patrons. New scenery and electrical effects will add to its presentation. The picture bill will offer, "One Increasing Purpose" with Edmund Lowe, Hurley Gordon, May Allison and Jane Novak in the big roles. The story is one of real value. Another picture will be, "Winners of the Wilderness" with Tim McCoy, Joan Crawford and Roy D'Arcy in a romance of the golden west. Billy Dooley will delight in the fun-feature, "Dumb Belles" while the Pathe News will please with its timely interesting facts. Opportunity night comes Friday with extra acts on the program. Concert Sunday at 3. Free parking service to suburban patrons.

Have you ever made good on one job.. for 39 years?

THE extra mileage you get from Dunlop tires starts with the fact that Dunlop has had thirty-nine years of tire-building experience—more than any other tire-maker.

Each part of each Dunlop is built right. Dunlop owns its own cotton mills to spin selected long-fibre cotton into the special Dunlop cable-twist cords.

These cords mean extra strength—an added factor of safety against constant load and pounding of roads—longer life and greater mileage.

They mean extra "stretch"—so the tire carcass will give under blows, and come back to its original shape without the slightest injury.

Every Dunlop you buy has extra miles built into it because Dunlop knows each part of its job. That is why we recommend you put Dunlops on your car.

AMAZING PERFORMANCE

LaSalle Runs 951 Miles at 95.2 Miles Per Hour

"Truly amazing; the most astonishing automobile performance I have ever witnessed—and I have seen the outstanding events in the motoring world in this country since the industry began."

This was the opinion of John H. Bates of Woburn, a veteran in the automobile business, clearly and deeply impressed after seeing a LaSalle roadster, driven by Willard Rader, hurtle the test track at the General Motors Proving Ground, Milford, Mich., on June 20, for almost 10 consecutive hours at the remarkable average speed of 95.2 miles per hour, covering over 951 miles.

In saying this, he voiced the opinion of all those assembled there to witness what was previously believed to be an impossible feat, but who left the track after witnessing a performance never before approached.

The roadster was one taken from the production line with the windshield, lamps, fenders and running boards removed, the camshaft slightly altered for high speed work, the high compression head and the 3½ to 1 gear ratio used, and muffler removed. Otherwise the complete engine and chassis were standard in every respect.

The performance, as read in cold print, probably does not express what a brilliant achievement the car actually put up, but in the light of logical analysis, it can be seen how truly remarkable this run was.

At the Indianapolis Speedway this year the classic racing event was won by a car specially designed and specially built for the race, which attained an average speed of 97.5 miles per hour for a distance of 500 miles.

"Wonderful," you say. And truly wonderful it is, but how far more remarkable for a car not built for racing purposes to do practically double that distance at almost the same speed!

For the entire run was accomplished with no stops other than for tire changes, water, oil and gasoline. No mechanical adjustments of any nature were required during the run.

The idea of staging this run was planned by the officials of the company to determine the amount of sustained speed the LaSalle could stand.

It was not intended to establish speed records at all but was purely an engineering test of durability.

Before the run, there was considerable scepticism as to the ability of any passenger car to endure such a terrific ordeal but the company's engineers had faith in the car and this was not faith misplaced, for the car was driven for 252 laps making 951.87 miles, averaging 95.2 miles per hour, the fracture of a small copper oil suction line terminating the test.

This performance can be expressed without fear of contradiction as epoch making, not only in the history of the Cadillac Motor Car Company, but in the industry itself.

This One Is Noisy

Douglas pine squirrel is darker and browner than its relatives, for it inhabits the moist, coniferous forests west of the Cascades in the Pacific Northwest, says Nature Magazine. It is a noisy little animal, scolding or singing as the mood of the moment indicates. Any edible thing will do for a red squirrel's meal. Average length is 14 inches.

ST. MARY'S SPLIT EVEN IN FOUR GAMES

Defeated Strong Malden and Woburn Clubs—Dropped Two to Arlington

An ambitious program of four games in three days over the past week-end and holiday found St. Mary's B. B. C. breaking even; defeating the strong Malden City Club on Saturday at Manchester Field, winning from an all-star Woburn outfit Sunday at Library Park and dropping both its holiday starts to the Arlington Town Team sponsored by the Middlesex Sportsman's Association.

Both teams which the locals took into camp were stronger than Arlington, but St. Mary's minus several of its first string players and up against it for pitching was unable to meet the Spy Ponders on equal terms.

Ralph Wheeler brought a fine collection of ball tossers to Manchester Field last Saturday and the resulting game was a good one all the way. "Joe" Tansey, the same old "Muggins" of high school fame, was on the mound for Winchester and pitched a very effective ball game, holding Malden to 4 hits while fanning 6 and walking 2. Tansey has been a member of the Norwich University pitching staff this past season and should make a welcome addition to the St. Mary's hurlers.

While the elder of the Tansey brothers was keeping the Malden bats in check the locals, led by "Jim" Fitzgerald and "Jackie" Hevey, were belting 9 solid safeties off the slants of Lupien, the visiting pitcher.

Five large tallies in the opening inning were more than enough to win the game for St. Mary's. "Tom" Dolan and Hevey got on via base hits and moved around into scoring position in time to count on Fitzgerald's smash through DeFina. Flaherty belted out a single and aided by some wild heaving the locals got over three more runs for a total of five.

Malden counted in the 3rd, getting three runs on a pass, a couple of errors and Edgerly's hit.

Winchester got two of them back in its half when "Harpy" homered with a mate on base. The four ply whallop was one of the longest seen on the field since Frank Hogan was last in Winchester. "Bud" Edgerly was playing on the running track in left center field for "Fitzy" but the big boy put the ball over his head and into the river by the swings.

Not to be outdone "oldtimer" Jack Hevey got hold of one in the 8th, belting the ball into the river by the bandstand for the circuit.

Sunday's game with the Woburn "Pals" at Library Park turned out to be one of the best of the season with Francis Tansey pitching the same brand of shut-out ball he always shows against any Tanning City outfit.

Olny two hits were garnered off the slants of the chunky southpaw by "Doc" Doherty's hired men and for 7 innings the Woburnites went hitless.

"Cressy" McElheney hurled for the "Pals" and bar a couple of frames held St. Mary's pretty well in check.

"Mex" Kelley drew a pass in the 2nd and stole second, scoring on Flaherty's single. Manager Melly brought "Flats" across with a safety.

In the 4th Hevey singled and was advanced by J. Dolan's safe bunt. "Tommy" Dolan sacrificed both along and both counted on Melly's double to center. The "Pals" never stopped trying, but Tansey was too good for them and with the exception of the two hits he allowed the Woburn batters were unable to hit the apple out of the infield.

Winchester was away up against it for playing strength on the holiday and went to Arlington with a makeshift lineup which proved easy for the "Townies," playing good ball behind the pitching of Stoker, former Arlington High School star.

The latter was very good out there, getting 15 of the locals on strikes while allowing four singles. "Jomma" Dolan, an infielder by trade, was on the hill for Winchester and to his credit was not hit especially hard. His support was wobbly at all times and in the 4th frame five errors in a row accounted for 5 tallies, plenty to win and then some. St. Mary's lone tally which came in the 9th was unearned, a base on balls, a stolen base and an over-throw of third accounting for the tally.

The afternoon game was much too one sided to be interesting and it is a pity that with such a fine crowd present the locals could not have presented a stronger front. Mark Kelley, after a tough night of patrolling, was on the pitching rubber and was hit to all corners of the lot, allowing 21 bingles in the nine frames. His support was nothing extra and to make a bad matter worse, St. Mary's was unable to do anything at all with the slants of old "Red" Cadigan who worked for the "Townies." Cadigan held the locals to a couple of hits, obtained by "Tom" Dolan and Mark Kelley, "Red" wisely refraining from putting the apple anywhere near the bludgeon of large James Fitzgerald.

O'Rourke, who succeeded Cadigan, evidently decided to give the fans a run for their money and pitched to "Fitzy" the latter showing his appreciation by belting one of his offerings to the bandstand for a triple. Kelley also got a double off O'Rourke. But it was all in a lost cause, the old ball game going the way of its predecessor of the morning.

YOUR VACATION

"Change and rest are the essentials of a vacation," says the Massachusetts Department of Public Health; change from the everyday surroundings and routine duties of the other weeks of the year. Your vacation will doubtless provide the desirable element of change but have you considered the equally important factor of rest? Will it be necessary for you to spend the first week back on the job recovering from your vacation? Give a bit of consideration to your accustomed life and don't attempt to become an athlete overnight. In other words, make moderation, moderation in exercise, food and rest, the slogan of your holiday period.

If you have been wise in making preparation for your vacation you have already been vaccinated against typhoid fever. In any case pay attention to the source of the milk and water that you drink.

Choose your food with increased carefulness. This is your best opportunity to reinforce your body and to build up your reserve. Remember that plenty of fresh vegetables, fruit, milk and dark breads are your best bets.

You are about to invest money in a vacation. Make it the kind of an investment which will pay a high dividend throughout the year. Make the dividend from your "moderation" vacation money renewed and increased energy, greater powers of resistance and a keen sense of the joy of living.

English as It Is Spoken

In the grade school a little girl was working a problem on the blackboard. A sidelong glance showed the teacher that she was placing the figures in column form. He asked: "Doris, are you subtracting or multiplying?" "Neither one, sir, I am 'plusing,'" was the reply.

Ground Hog Fasts

North America has several species of marmots, but the common eastern woodchuck is known to everyone as the ground hog, says Nature Magazine. Woodchucks do not store up food but eat heavily during the early fall and become excessively fat. In October or November they retire to their dens for a long hibernating sleep which lasts until spring. Length about twenty-three inches, weight eight pounds.

LARGEST PHONE DIRECTORY YET

Delivery to Commence July 9

Manager Crotty announces the start of the delivery of 3100 Summer 1927 telephone directories for the use of subscribers in the Winchester exchange on July 9.

It is requested that subscribers make a habit of checking their listing to determine its correctness. This is emphasized with the intention of giving the best service and obtaining notification of errors as soon as possible, so that proper arrangements may be made for correction. Getting any notice that the directory was not received will be received with pleasure, because again the service is helped by such knowledge, and the Telephone Company is always pleased to provide the subscribers with the copy that he failed to receive. As soon as received, the use of the new directory will prevent confusion and annoyance caused by using numbers in the old directory that may have been changed since the issue of the last directory.

The new directory consists of two sections, a white and a yellow section. The white pages contain an alphabetical list of all the subscribers in the Metropolitan Division exchanges, while the yellow pages contain a complete list of all business subscribers, arranged alphabetically by types of business. This innovation has proven to be an additional service which is considered very favorably by the public who use it frequently as a buyer's guide.

Some interesting facts in connection with the 11,000 calls made daily from the Winchester Central Office show that 80 per cent of these calls indicate that the directory has been consulted. Not only is the directory used in obtaining telephone numbers, but the "Classified Ad" section is often consulted in getting street numbers, firm names, and other information. The list of trade mark advertisement users in the advertising section has been increasing rapidly. The present arrangements for advertising space have greatly improved the advantage that this medium is to the subscriber and makes its use popular with business concerns. Many business houses in Winchester have been eager to advertise in the "Classified Ad" section, and have been quite enthusiastic in expressing their opinion of the results obtained.

To give an interesting picture of the material used in preparing the 460,000 directories for Metropolitan Boston the following facts are given. Each book weighs 4 lbs. 5 oz. The total weight of the books for Greater Boston is 2,340,250 lbs., or 1170 tons. An even carload of ink is used in completing the printing. Two cars of cover paper are necessary to provide the cover and 16,000 lbs. of glue are used in completing the binding. It takes 67 cars of paper, 21 rolls to a car, 1500 lbs. to a roll, to provide the pages for all the directories. There are 325,000 listings, averaging 500 listings to a page, and in order to bring the new directory up to date, 150,000 changes were necessary since the last issue.

The increase in the size of the new issue was made necessary by the popular demand for telephone service, particularly in the Metropolitan Division, and this, of course, includes the Town of Winchester.

C. D. OF A. NOTES

Last night the Court celebrated the 16th anniversary of its institution with a supper and entertainment in Lyceum Hall. At 7:45 a delicious supper of cold meats, salads, escalloped oysters, escalloped potatoes, coffee, rolls and ice cream was served by Sister Katharine F. O'Connor and a competent committee.

The table decorations of purple and gold combined with field daisies, bachelor buttons and brown eyed Susans were in keeping with the colors of the order.

At the conclusion of the supper, Grand Regent Minnie O'Connor gave an address of welcome thanking the members for the generous support that has been given her during her term as Regent and asking all to continue in their good work during the years to come so that the Court may always occupy the splendid place that it now does as a power for charitable good in our community.

Following the address of welcome, P. G. R., Elizabeth C. McDonald took charge of the meeting and introduced various speakers who gave interesting reminiscences of the 16 years of the Court's existence.

Then came a one-act play O'Keefe's Circuit, directed by P. G. R. Frances T. Conlon with Organist Mabel M. Coty at the piano, and the following taking part:

Mr. O'Keefe . . . Elizabeth C. McDonald
Maggie, the stenog. . Frances T. Conlon
Bill, the office boy . . . . . . Nellie Moffett
Three Old Fashioned Girls Mabel M. Coty, Mary McGrath, Minnie O'Connor.
Carmencita, from Spain . Mollie Maguire
Mose and Charley, dark town boys
Sarah Cassidy and Katharine Regan Welch
Spirituella . . . Katharine F. O'Connor
Deacon Small . . . . Katharine Kean
The Deacon's Wife . . . Mrs. John Murray
An Irish Colleen . . . Mrs. Harry E. Brown
A Dramatic Actress . . . Frances T. Conlon
Ruth Sandy, Knee-dancer . . Mary O'Melia
The Hippity-Hop Twins
Mary O'Melia, Abby McDonough
Blow Brothers, the band Annie Hanlon, Mary Kelley, Margaret Donovan, Jane King, May O'Neil Mary McKenzie, Mary Hanlon

During the show the following selections were given:

Solo Selected . . . . . Mabel M. Coty
Duet Whispering Hope
Minnie O' Connor, Mary McGrath
Solo Annie Laurie . . Mary McGrath
Carassima . . . . Mollie L. Maguire
Honolulu Moon . . . Mollie L. Maguire
Good-bye, Eliza Jane
Katharine Reagan Sarah Cassidy
Little Annie Rooney . . Abby McDonough
Bridget O'Flynn . . . . Mrs. H. E. Brown

All in all the affair was a tremendous success from start to finish and reflects great credit on the committee in charge.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

"Senorita" with Bebe Daniels and "Vanity" with Leatrice Joy and Charles Ray are the feature pictures at the University for four days beginning Sunday. The story of "Senorita" is a rollicking romantic comedy of love and adventure in South America. Bebe, herself, is in the role of a North American girl of Spanish ancestory who visits her paternal grandfather at the ancestral home in South America. Upon her arrival she learns that her grandfather has always understood her to be a boy and that for her to appear in other guise would break his old heart. With characteristic impulsiveness she masquerades as a boy and appears to her grandparent in that guise.

"Vanity" deals with a young society woman who is to wed a rich young man. She accidentally meets a sailor whom she had encountered in France during the war and on the night before the date set for her wedding, he contrives to entice her aboard the vessel of which he is the skipper. When it is too late she realizes that she has been trapped and the subsequent scenes are intensely dramatic.

For the last three days of the week the pictures are "The Love of Sunya" with Gloria Swanson and "Quicksands" with Richard Dix.

The police are on the look-out for some boys who it is believed are responsible for the breaking of the street light at the corner of Washington street and Prince avenue seven nights out of the last ten. It is likely to go hard with the youngsters when they are caught.

John B. Wills received eight awards this year for roses at the annual rose show of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society at Boston. Among the exhibits was a basket of the climbing hybrid Wichuraiana rose, "Silver Moon," which received a gratuity. Those interested in roses are invited to see the garden.

Kilbreth J. Barrows, Phillips Academy '27, son of Professor and Mrs. H. K. Barrows of 319 Highland avenue, will sail from New York July 23 on the Scandinavian-American Line for Denmark. He is going as a representative of Phillips Academy, Andover, with a party of a hundred made up from the various preparatory schools of the country. They will be guests of the Danish government for about a month and incidentally give demonstrations of the various activities and sports common in this country.

A passer-by at the electric car turn-out on Washington street near the telephone exchange was hailed by a California motorist yesterday forenoon. "How much longer do I have to stand here for that d—n light?" was the question. The light referred to was the red signal light at the turn-out marking the approach of a Stoneham car. Explanations revealed the wholesome fear of Massachusetts traffic laws which had been instilled into the heart of the visitor, and he felt that no red lights should be passed, although he said he did wonder who controlled that particular light.

Messrs. Isaac E. Sexton, Charles A. Lane and Harris S. Richardson enjoyed the best fishing in years yesterday. They motored to Keezar Lake Wednesday, and yesterday caught so many fish and of such enormous size that the Star hesitates to chronicle the result. Many of the fine salmon, weighing from three to seven pounds, were placed in Richardson's Market, and as the quantity was very large, specimens may still be seen there. The three nimrods arrived at the lake just at dinner time (for the fish), and are very well satisfied with their trip.

Miss Edith Johnson of Wilson street left town Tuesday for Warren, Pa., where she will enjoy a vacation of several weeks.

THE BLACK HILLS: DIME NOVEL LAND BECOMES PRESIDENTIAL VACATION GROUND

The Black Hills of South Dakota, among which President Coolidge will spend his vacation, are really misnamed, it is pointed out in a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

With one peak rising 531 feet higher than the highest point in the Appalachians and several thousand feet higher than the crests of the Ozarks, and with numerous peaks reaching altitudes in excess of 6000 feet, the hills fully deserve to be called mountains says the bulletin.

Island of Mountains in Plains

This highland region is a sort of island of mountains in the Great Plains, and the natural attractiveness of its heavily wooded peaks and ridges and its well watered valleys is heightened by the fact that it is adjacent to one of the most desolate areas in America—the Big Badlands of southwestern South Dakota where through thousands of years, rains have carved the light clays and sands into fluted columns and cones, jagged buttresses and a thousand other fantastic forms. One of the two railways from the East passes through the edge of this weird region about 75 or 100 miles before it reaches Rapid City, the eastern rail center of the Black Hills, which is to become the headquarters for the Presidential office force.

The Black Hills are not a part of the Rockies, but they may be looked upon as little brothers to those giant mountains, showing the family characteristics on a smaller scale. Both probably were formed at about the same time. When the great flow of melted granite welled up from the depths of the earth to raise the Rockies it found a weak spot at the site of the Black Hills and rose there too, poking the surface limestones and other rocks up as a rising tent-pole pushes up the canvas. The cooking process which the surface rocks underwent at that time had much to do with making the Black Hills one of the richest mineral regions in the country. In the ages since these mountains rose the softer stones have been weathered away in many places exposing the hard granite, as at Harney Peak. Around the base of this peak stand great spires, remnants of the softer rock, which constitute "The Needles" one of the most striking bits of scenery in the Black Hills.

One of Last Frontiers

The Black Hills played a peculiar part in the frontier lift of America. They were unsettled and unexploited long after emigrants had established themselves in California, Texas, Colorado, Utah and other territories farther West. This was because all of western South Dakota was reserved for the Sioux Indians. The wooded uplands of the Black Hills had long been a favorite hunting ground of the Red Men. In 1874 the Secretary of War sent an expedition to the region and its mineralogists discovered gold. When this became known prospectors stole in, in spite of the best efforts of the U. S. Army and after a year or two of unsuccessful efforts to eject them, the Federal Government found it necessary to purchase the hills from the Indians. They were thrown open by President Grant in 1876, only 51 years ago. A turbulent frontier life developed in the mining camps that sprang up, and Deadwood, the leading one, became the inspiration for the American Dime Novel which came into being about that time.

All is changed now. Mining has been placed on a corporation and machine basis and the once hectic mining camps have become quiet little cities. The Homestake Mine at Lead is one of the largest mines in the world and has taken out gold valued at more than two hundred million dollars.

Abound in Scenic Features

A large part of the Black Hills is covered by two adjacent National Forests, Harney and Black Hills Forests. Custer State Park, in which the President will pass the summer, is almost entirely surrounded by these forests. The park extends from near the southeastern edge of the Black Hills westward about eight miles toward the town of Custer and northwestward to include Harney Peak and Sylvan Lake. The peak has an altitude of 7240 feet and is thus the highest point between the Rockies and the Atlantic Ocean. Sylvan Lake covers 40 acres and lies at an altitude of approximately a mile and a quarter.

Game Lodge, the State-owned hotel in which President Coolidge will live, is situated a few miles from the eastern edge of the park in a valley among the lower hills. Its altitude is approximately 4000 feet. Near-by is a highway recently built through the park from east to west and extending to Custer, 15 miles to the westward. About 10 miles westward of Game Lodge a highway branches off to Sylvan Lake leading through the remarkable Needles. These are not unlike small models of the world-famous Dolomites of northern Italy. All about are wooded hills and peaks while through them wind numerous streams stocked with trout. At Sylvan Lake is a State-owned hotel open to the public. In previous seasons many permits have been issued to campers in the park; sites for cottages could be leased for a few dollars a year.

The Black Hills are named from the blue-black appearance given to them from a distance by their dense pine forests. Although about 200 miles east of the Rockies, the region, due to its lying well north, is little closer to Washington by air line than the Rockies themselves in the neighborhood of Denver and Colorado Springs.

EISLEBEN: END OF WORLD'S LONGEST FLIGHT

In coming to earth at Eisleben, in the heart of Germany, after the world's longest flight, Chamberlin and Levine set foot in the center of the "Reformation Country," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

In Eisleben Martin Luther, leader of the Reformation, was born in 1483, and though most of his life was spent elsewhere, there he died in 1546. The entire region abounds in places associated with the founder of Protestantism. In Eisenach, 10 miles southwest, he attended preparatory school; in Erfurt, near-by, he received his university training and entered a monastery. Wittenberg, about the same distance to the northeast, was the intellectual fountainhead of the movement. There Luther occupied the chair of philosophy in the University of Wittenberg, formulated his beliefs, preached, and burned the papal bull in 1520.

Eisleben itself is now a town of about 25,000 inhabitants but it was much smaller in Luther's day. Part of the house in which the reformer was born is standing, and his death chamber in another dwelling is preserved. Near-by is Peter-Pauls-Kirche, containing the font from which Luther was baptized. The town is marked still further by the life of this miner's son. In the market place is his statue; and in the house in which he died is a Luther museum containing many relics and mementos.

The American airplane, which has done so much to spread intelligence, found in Eisleben a town famed for an invention that has done even more in the same field. It was the birthplace also of Friedrich Konig, inventor of the power-printing press, prototype of the machines that each day turn many acres of forest trees into printed pages. A statue of the inventor stands in one of the streets of Eisleben.

The region first touched by the American flyers is also the heart of Germany's old literary life, and the birthplace of Republican Germany. Only 40 miles south of Eisleben lies Weimar, where two of the country's greatest literary lions, Goethe and Schiller, lived, worked, and are buried. In 1919, when war-torn Germany, following the Armistice, sought to make a new beginning, Weimar was chosen as the place from which the new State should be shaped. In its Court Theater the National Assembly met in February, while soldiers patrolled the streets against the Spartican revolutionists. At this assembly the first German President was elected and the country's Republican constitution was framed.

To the Selectmen of the Town of Winchester:

The undersigned represents that she is the owner of the land and building on Swanton street, formerly the Chapin School lot and building. That said land is principally in an industrial district but the front part is in a semi-residence district so that the said building, while for the most part in an industrial district, cannot be used for industrial purposes.

She therefore makes application, under the provisions of Section 8 of the Zoning By-law, for permission to extend said building into the adjoining semi-residence district a distance of not exceeding fifty feet and to use the same for manufacturing or commercial purposes. The petitioner waives no rights which she now has or may have against any persons whatsoever.

BELGRADE: YUGOSLAVIA'S CAPITAL ON THE DANUBE

Belgrade, capital of Yugoslavia, has snared with Rome the interest of diplomatic circles during the recent threatened friction between Yugoslavia and Italy over Albania. This Balkan capital is the subject of the following bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

It was inevitable that there should be an important city on the site of Belgrade, says the bulletin. It is situated on the angle of land between the Save and Danube at the meeting point of those two important rivers. At the very apex of the triangle is a chalk cliff, some 200 feet high. This became a fortress and citadel as early as the third century B. C. when Celtic tribes established Belgrade's predecessor, the town of Singidunum.

Long Turkish Stronghold

Through the centuries that have passed since, this rock has played an important part in European affairs. It was held successively by Celts, Romans, Huns, Goths, Bulgarians, Byzantines, Hungarians, Servians, and Austrians. One of its most important holders was the Turks. From 1521 until little more than half a century ago it was in Turkish hands, except for short periods, and was Islam's northernmost arrow aimed at the heart of Christendom. The Turkish garrison finally withdrew in 1866 when Siberia became practically independent.

Belgrade is sometimes known by the older form, Beograd. The name means "white city," an appropriate name, the observer feels, when he sees the white cliff of the citadel and sundry white towers and walls. Even in the days when Belgrade's streets were narrow, dirty, oriental ways, the view from across the Danube or from its waters was a charming one. The aspect of the city has changed greatly in recent years, and it has little now to distinguish it from other European capitals. Since the World War there has been a marked building boom, stimulated in part by laws holding new dwellings tax-free for 25 years, and other new structures for shorter terms. The population of the capital, drawn from a much greater area than that of pre-war Serbia, has practically doubled, being now about 200,000.

Street Paved By Russian Czar

Old Russia at times sought influence over Serbia, the blood of whose people is also Slavic. For one of the principal thoroughfares Czar Nicholas gave the paving, having it laid by Russian laborers. The street was renamed Czaritza, and bears that name today. At 5 o'clock each afternoon police clear the street of carriages and automobiles and the promenading populace fills the space from curb to curb, many dropping into the chairs of the sidewalk cafes for coffee and conversation. It is an interesting, colorful spectacle, this afternoon parade on Czaritza street, with the promenaders running the gamut from peasant to man and woman of the world.

In addition to its wars and sieges, Belgrade has had its stark tragedies. In 1868, Prince Michael, who had brought about the evacuation of the Turks, and had given Serbia its first taste of independence for centuries, was assassinated in his garden. In 1903 King Alexander and Queen Draga of Serbia were murdered in their palace. This structure of ill omen was demolished and a new palace built for the king of a different dynasty who succeeded.

Toy Industry Booming

In twenty years the American production of toys has grown from a little over $5,700,000 to $80,000,000. Also the toys are infinitely better, for where the imported ones were formerly made of flimsy tin and lead those now made in this country are mostly of pressed steel and tough wood, well fitted to stand the rough usage of childhood.

London's False Teeth

Most persons have the idea from his books that Jack London was a huge, roistering fellow, prime of health and ready of fist. He was, alas, a shorty, and Frank O'Connell, a New York newspaper man, who was on many bouts of other than fistic kind with London and who lived with him for a considerable period, relates that Jack had a set of false teeth which he carefully put on a chair beside his bed every night.—McNaught's Monthly.

Reasonable Supposition

A seal was recently killed off the shore of New York, presumably for the reason that seals are only infrequent visitors. One may reasonably suppose, therefore, that New York would be prompt to take a pot shot at an angel from heaven if one were ill-advised enough to go there.—Philadelphia Ledger.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue and in execution of the Power of Sale contained in a certain mortgage given by Charles S. Wigglesworth to Samuel Willard Richardson dated September 18, 1919 and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 1298, Page 331, of which mortgage the undersigned is the present holder, for breach of the conditions of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at Public Auction at 10 o'clock A. M. on Tuesday the second day of August A. D. 1927, on the premises hereinafter described, all and singular the premises described in said mortgage, to wit:

A certain parcel of land with the buildings and improvements thereon situated in said Winchester, including Lots numbered seventy (70), seventy-one (71), seventy-two (72), seventy-three (73) and seventy-four (74), on a Plan entitled "Plan of Land in Winchester, Mass., owned by Moses P. Richardson", and dated February 2, 1895, made by Charles A. Bowman, C. E., and recorded in Middlesex Registry of Deeds (South District) at the end of Record Book 2341. The said parcel of land is bounded as follows: viz.

Beginning at a stone bound on Forest Street at land formerly of Harriet R. White, and thence running Northerly by said land formerly of White two hundred and twenty-six and 38/100 (226.38) feet to a stone found at land now or formerly of Granville Richardson; thence Westerly by said land of Granville Richardson, one hundred and eighty-one and 76/100 (181.76) feet to Washington Street; thence Southerly on said Washington Street, two hundred and thirty-one and 01/100 (231.01) feet to the curved street line at the junction of Washington Street and Forest Street, and thence by the junction of said two streets, Southerly, Southeasterly and Easterly two hundred and twelve and 95/100 (212.95) feet to the point of beginning.

The above described premises are also shown on a Plan entitled "Plan of Lots, Winchester, Mass., surveyed for Charles S. Wigglesworth", dated September 1919, Parker Holbrook, Eng'r, to be herewith recorded, on which the said premises are shown as Lots numbered one (1), two (2), three (3), four (4), five (5) and six (6) respectively, but no rights of way or other easements in the above granted premises are created or reserved by this deed.

Being the same premises conveyed by deed recorded with said mortgage but excepting from the above described premises lots 1, 2, 3, and 4, as shown on said "Plan of Lots in said Winchester, Mass., surveyed for Charles S. Wigglesworth" dated September 1919, Parker Holbrook, Eng'r, recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book of Plans 278, Plan 1, which have been released from the operation of said mortgage by four separate partial releases, respectively recorded with said deeds as follows: Book 4309, Page 577 for Lot 1, Book 4321, Page 312 for Lot 2; Book 4513, Page 102 for Lot 3, and Book 4559, Page 69 for Lot 4.

Said premises will be sold subject to outstanding encumbrances if any thereon.

$300 is to be paid in cash by the purchaser at the time and place of sale and the balance in ten days from the date of sale at the office of Daniel C. Linscott, Atty., 21 Milk Street, Boston, Mass. Other terms to be announced at the place of sale.

Chats With YOUR Gas Man

A NEW LITERARY LIGHT

The gas range has recently taken its place in literature through the well known writer, philosopher and editor, William Allen White, who writes of it in the same breath with the classic arts! To thousands of home owners whom the gas range has served loyally, such praise is deemed well earned. Here are his words:

"The gas range is an instrument which, if played upon by sensitive fingers, will interpret moods more ethereal than a violin, arias more delicate and graceful than the piano, and poems as subtly challenging as ever crammed into the thousands of possible metric forms.

"A steak seared quickly and served with fresh mushroom sauce is as magnificently challenging as Rachmaninoff's prelude in C sharp minor. The parched land cries for an American deliverer to lead a suffering people from a wilderness of fried monstrosities."

Gun-Barrel Gas Pipes

The first gas for domestic use was conducted from the retorts to points of use through the utilization of discarded gun barrels, of which there was an ample supply at the close of various European wars. The barrels were made into a continuous pipe by screwing the ends together.

Jealous

"Canaries often act like human beings," said a bird-lover. "We have four at home, and if anyone talks to one and then walks over to another the first one will raise just as much fuss as his little body will permit. He will flutter, storm and chirp excitedly."

CHAMBERLIN LANDS IN GERMAN VENICE

Klinge, Germany, where Chamberlin is reported to have been forced down, is a little town 9 miles southeast of Kotthus, the Fall River of Prussia, a textile town where more than 6000 hands are employed in the woolen and cotton mills, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Klinge and Kotthus lie on the edge of the low, flat, wooded regions known as the Spreewald swamp, land of the Wends, a fragment of a lost tribe, who live largely by their eel-traps, cucumber patches, and their more prosaic hayfields and cherry patches.

These Wends are the descendants of a band of half wild fugutives who, when the Goths laid waste to Western Europe, hid for safety in the great swamps near the Oder.

Kotthus, according to a quick computation at the National Geographic Society headquarters, is approximately 4075 miles in an air line from Roosevelt Field, near New York City, taking off place of the Bellanca plane.

The landing place must have been a difficult one. For Kotthus is on the Spree, which rises in the mountains of the Czechoslovakia border and in the vicinity of Kotthus begins to spread out into the wooded swamp called the Spreewald.

After winding through two lakes dotted with islands the Spree flows into Berlin. The upper reaches of the Spree afford favorite vacation spots for Berliners, who look upon it much as Chicagoans look upon the Wisconsin Lake district.

When thousands from near-by cities flock to this quaint nook of Europe in summer the Wend natives cash in on their cucumbers, their eels, and cherry pies, and reap a rich harvest from the oddly carved wooden geese and dolls they make. They also take toll from the couples and sightseers who pole up and down the labyrinth of water lanes dividing the Spreewald into a thousand charming green isles.

To this place, too, all kinds of societies and bunds come for their outings. Many walking clubs of school boys and girls go there from Berlin and Leipzig.

The Spreewald eel, slim and slippery, is enshrined in the songs and traditions of this singular community. A Spreewald swamp home without its eel-traps would be like a chicken farm without chicken coops. And the eels, gastronomically, are mated for life with the cucumbers! These giant cucumbers, deadly green in shade and wickedly carved like scimitars, threaten you at every turn.

Cucumbers lie in heaps everywhere; punts piled high with the cucumbers are being poled to market at Burg or Kotthus; men, women and children are plucking, peeling, or eating cucumbers, and even sleep on piles of them.

The Wends are clannish, isolated, and happiest when left alone and are concerned not at all with the rise and fall of nations around them.

A Spreewald village is usually a little Venice. Instead of having streets and sidewalks it is served entirely by crooked water streets. Every family has at least one boat. After a wedding ceremony a bridal pair, instead of dashing away in a motor, climb into a boat and sit down beneath a canopy of evergreen twigs and flowers.

It would be more feasible to land an airplane in this region in winter, when the entire Spreewald is frozen over and becomes a spider web of icy lanes and avenues. Then the Wend wears special ice shoes with his skates built fast to them; and instead of taking the cow to and from her pasture in a flat bottom boat he loads her on to a sled.

Some of the old Wendish superstitions, dating back maybe 1500 years, find their counterparts today in many rural American communities. For example, the Wends say that a crowing hen must be killed or she will bring bad luck. Wendish belief common among other races is that when a man dies a window should be opened, so that his soul may take its flight.

If it thunders during a Spreewald wedding every one is very unhappy, for this is a bad omen.

Make a wish when you see a shooting star and the wish will come true.

During certain dances held in the spring the farmers jump up into the air, believing that the higher they jump on this occasion the higher their flax will grow.

Stewed mice will cure an alcoholic appetite, and a plague of rats is a sure sign of divine displeasure.

The dried heart of a bat killed on Christmas eve, if carried in the pocket, will bring luck at cards.

RAILWAY TO OPEN UNKNOWN CENTER OF AUSTRALIA

Australia has begun work on one of the most ambitious railway projects now under way in the world, the construction of the first north-south line through the heart of the continent, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society, which goes on to describe the project and the country which it will open up.

To Connect Temperate and Torrid Zones

The completed line, continues the bulletin, will connect the city of Adelaide, in a latitude comparable to that of Little Rock or Memphis, with Darwin, Australia's tropical port, which is as close to the Equator as central Nicaragua or the northern tip of South America. In all, this north-south line through the continent will be nearly 2000 miles long. Six hundred and eighty-eight miles of track already exist in the south, extending from Adelaide to Oodnadatta; and in the north a line extends southward from Darwin for about 300 miles. The project now embarked upon will close the gap of about a thousand miles through some of the least known territory in Australia.

Except for the 125 miles of track from Oodnadatta to the northern border of the State of Australia, the new construction will be wholly in the Northern Territory, not yet organized as a state. To most Australians this is an unknown land. It bears very much the relation to the developed coastal regions of Australia that the Great American Desert bore to the seaboard strips of the United States 75 years ago. From the Pacific or eastern coast, the railways have struck farthest inland; but even there the railheads are hundreds of miles short of the Northern Territory.

Used For Cattle Ranges

In the first zone inland from the coast agriculture is practiced. Next come the downs or prairies with their great sheep ranches, or stations, as they are called. This region is reasonably well watered or else lies in the artesian belt. Inland beyond the sheep country the rainfall becomes less and the vegetation sparser, and there the cattle country begins. It is for the grazing of cattle that the Northern Territory has found almost its only use so far. The stations are scattered over great areas chiefly in the north and northeast on what is known as the Barkly Tableland. Some of these ranches are tremendous in extent, one having close to 10,000 square miles. As in the American West in early days, the properties are not fenced and cattle are marked by brands.

The rainfall over most of the northern portion of Northern Territory is about 10 inches per year, insufficient to keep streams running. There is a good growth of grass in this region, but water must be guarded in the few water holes or pumped into earthern tanks from wells. The cattle from much of the Barkly Tableland are driven over cattle trails to the railroads in western Queensland. The cattle pads or single-file paths, are the only roads through much of the region. Along a number of them the government has sunk wells and built wind mills.

Mineral Deposits In Highlands

Although Northern Territory is little known and although its human population is very sparse, across it is carried on much of the telegraphic communication between Australia and England. The overland telegraph line was put through in 1872 from Adelaide to Darwin, over approximately the line of the railway now under construction. From Darwin a cable reaches Singapore and thence passes westward to Europe.

The extreme southern part of the Northern Territory to be traversed by the new railway is of no agricultural value and of little account pastorally. Much of this region is covered with small stones. Two hundred miles farther the route enters the Macdonnell Highlands where some of the rainfall is retained in rocky gorges. This region may prove of value to the mining industry. Even now in one mine a bed of mica six feet thick is worked. Gold is also known.

Will Displace Camel Caravans

North of the Macdonnell Highlands the grass and scrub country begins. There thousands of cattle graze. A hundred miles south of Darwin the edge of the tableland is reached. The low coastal strip of the Territory is truly tropical. The rainfall amounts to 100 inches and more. Grass is rank, all tropical trees will grow, and the culture of cotton, sugar, rubber, etc., is possible.

When the new railway goes into operation it will displace a highly picturesque but costly transportation system. Now many of the isolated stations are dependent for all supplies other than meat on camel caravans operated by Afghan drivers. They plod northward from Oodnadatta along the overland telegraph line as much as 900 miles. Moving freight on camel back for such distances cost about $350 a ton.

MANKIND'S QUICKEST CONQUEST, THAT OF THE AIR

When Charles Lindberg came to Washington he visited a spot which is historic in the annals of aviation and emphasizes the amazing progress man has made in conquering the air, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

For it was at Fort Myer, Va., just across the Potomac from the capital, that Orville Wright's biplane rumbled down a creaky launching rail that looked like a chute-the-chute at a country fair, wobbled a bit in the air, and cruised around for 57½ minutes.

That happened in September, 1908, less than 19 years before Lindbergh was able to fly across the Atlantic Ocean.

Has Tried Since Classic Times

Man never before achieved such progress in any engineering problem as he has attained in his conquest of the air. Since classic times he has dreamed of doing so, and for centuries he tried in vain to add a third dimension to his travels.

Yet, within 15 years of the Wright brothers' first flights the United States Navy's NC-4 crossed the Atlantic in the air, an army squadron flew from New York to Alaska, two Army birdmen spanned the continent by a non-stop flight from New York to San Diego, and our air mail planes had delivered letters in New York 26 hours and 11 minutes after they were postmarked in San Francisco.

The fifteenth anniversary of the Wright brothers' flight has been called the "golden flying year" for, in 1923, a navy aviator set a new dizzy speed mark of nearly 267 miles an hour, a faster pace than man had ever traveled; also a Frenchman ascended a mile higher than Mount Everest's unscaled summit farther skyward than man had ever climbed; and two American military aviators made a new duration mark of more than 36 hours in the air, longer than man had remained aloft before.

The requirements of flying brought many collateral inventions.

An Epochal Flight

In march, 1924, two U. S. Army aviators flew from Dayton to Mineola without seeing ground for 450 miles of the 575-mile trip. That flight was epochal for it marked the successful testing of the earth-inductor compass, the turn indicator and the altimeter, instruments which now enable the aviator to navigate amid the fog or above the clouds, independent of railroad, river, or highway marks.

It was the earth-inductor compass to which Lindberg credited his success in keeping to his course.

Longest Air Mail Route

The dependability of the airplane has been demonstrated notably in the United States by the air mail route from New York to San Francisco—the longest air service line in continuous operation.

In 1922 air mail planes achieved aggregate flights of nearly two million miles without a single loss of life; in the following year they carried more than 65,000,000 letters, traveled more than a million and a half miles, and completed all but 111 of the 7847 trips attempted.

Lindbergh was a mail flyer, and he has paid generous tribute to the inventions of the Army and Navy Air Services which made his flight possible.

Thick Skinned Caesar

The play was "Julius Caesar," and no expense had been spared in the production. But the effect of the assassination scene was spoiled when the trick dagger refused to work, and as Brutus frantically jabbed the unfortunate Caesar with the obdurate weapon a voice from the gallery remarked, in a calm, interested voice: "Gee, but he's tough!"

Cleaning Leather Chairs

Leather chairs, which ordinarily are difficult to clean properly, can be treated with a simple preparation made from eggs. Simply beat the whites of three eggs in a dish, and rub the paste into the leather with a flannel cloth. The chair will soon shine like new. If the leather is black, a little lamp black should be added to the eggs, says Science and Invention Magazine.

MATHEWS—MARLOWE

A wedding of much interest locally was that solemnized in the rectory of St. Charles Church, Woburn, last Sunday evening at 7 o'clock when Miss Mildred A. Marlowe of 538 Main street, Woburn, became the bride of Joseph Mathews of this town, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Mathews of 22 Lincoln street. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Fr. Patrick J. Quill, the double ring ritual being used.

The bride wore a wedding gown of orchid georgette with a large sheer picture hat to match and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. Her honor attendant was her sister, Miss Florence Marlowe of Woburn, who wore rose georgette with picture hat to match and carried ping roses. Mr. Mathews had for his best man Edward Doherty of Woburn and the ushers were Edward and Daniel Marlowe of Woburn, brothers of the bride.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride which was attractively decorated with a profusion of cut flowers, ferns and potted plants. A wedding supper was served by a caterer to about 40 guests. Upon their return from a honeymoon trip to Pennsylvania Mr. and Mrs. Mathews will make their home in Woburn at 538 Main street.

The bride attended St. Charles School in Woburn and Fisher's Business College. Previously to her marriage she had been employed as private secretary for the Hotel Security Company at the Parker House, Boston. Mr. Mathews is well known throughout the entire district as a former star pitcher in prep school and semi-professional ranks. He was graduated from the Winchester High School and Goddard Seminary before becoming associated in business with his father.

STAFFIERI—GAGLIORMELLA

Miss Antoinette Gagliormella, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Gagliormella of 18 Florence street, and Emelio Staffieri, son of Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Staffieri of 347 Vale street, Everett, were united in marriage at 10 o'clock on Saturday morning, July 2, at St. Mary's Church by the Rev. Fr. John P. Sullivan.

The bride wore a wedding gown of white satin trimmed with lace and carried a bouquet of bride's roses and lillies of the valley with streamers of sweet peas. She was accompanied by Miss Florence Gagliormella of Winchester as maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Phyllis Staffieri of Chelsea, Miss Mary Staffieri of Everett, Miss Emma Nozzello of Somerville, Miss Margaret Pulio of Malden, Miss Marie Lecio of Woburn and Miss Sarah Capone of Winchester.

The maid of honor wore peach colored taffeta with hat to match and carried peach colored roses. The gowns of the bridesmaids were similar in design, two being in shades of sky blue, two of pink and two of Nile green. Their bouquets were of pink roses and they wore picture hats to match their gowns. Orlando DeOrio of Chelsea was groomsman.

Escorting the bridal party were two little flower girls and a ring bearer, the former being dressed in little frocks of white with wreaths of flowers, and the latter clothed in white satin.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in Fraternity Hall, Chelsea, from 5:30 until 11:30 p. m. The ushers left for the ceremony and reception were Mario Staffieri, Veto Staffieri, Joseph Laquaglia and Salvatore Pizzano of Chelsea, Samuel Visciarella of Revere and Antonia Puopolo of East Boston.

Upon their return from a wedding trip to Connecticut New York and Pennsylvania Mr. and Mrs. Staffieri will make their home in Winchester at 417 Washington street. The bride is well known among the Italian young people of the town while the groom is a popular pressman at Scott & Co.

POLICE MAKING TRAFFIC COUNT

The local police under Chief McIosh have been engaged this week in making a traffic count of motor vehicles on Grove street and Forest street. The patrolmen have been furnished with a counting machine by the Metropolitan Planning Division at whose request the count was made. The Planning Division is attempting to get authentic information as to the amount of travel by motor on certain roads possibly with an idea of putting them in first class condition. If the Division wants data on parking it might get some interesting figures on Grove street on a warm evening.

BUYS ON CRESCENT ROAD

The office of Walter Channing reports the sale of the property at 18 Crescent road, Winchester from William A. Barber to Dorothy N. Maudin, formerly of 39 Mystic Valley Parkway, Winchester. The property was recently vacated by Mr. Barber who has been transferred by the firm of Lee Higginson & Co. from their Boston office to their New York office. It consists of a modern, white Colonial house of eight rooms, sleeping porch, two baths, on comfortable lot of land, with garage. The Maudins have already taken occupancy and will be permanent residents.

TRADERS' DAY, AUG. 3

The Chamber of Commerce has set apart Wednesday, Aug. 3, 1927 as Traders' Day. No special arrangements have been made but it is hoped that all the merchants in town will close and observe the day.

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

On Sunday afternoon, July 10 the club paddlers journeyed over to the Charles River Basin to participate in the New England Amateur Rowing Association meet, which had been postponed from July 4, because of undesirable water conditions. Sunday afternoon proved to be far from ideal for both spectator and participant alike. The water, while not choppy, was far from smooth, but the rain, so unwelcome to the onlookers, undoubtedly prevented a head wind from kicking up too much of a disturbance.

A majority of the races held were for canoeists and all of the canoe clubs situated around Greater Boston were well represented. Winchester was unfortunate in the loss of two strong single blade paddlers, Philip Hight and Kenneth Pratt were unable to attend. For this reason most of the Winchester entries were in the double paddle events.

Francis Randlett entered the one man, double-blade race, and while he did not place, made a very creditable showing. He had not been out practicing regularly, but in spite of lack of preparation, finished in fourth place, well ahead of five or six conditioned paddlers.

In the tandem-double blades race, E. Sandberg and Hovey finished in first place. A team representing the Crescent Canoe Club of Waltham drew second place, forcing the Winchester entry to the limit. J. Downer and W. Palmer, the other Winchester entry, finished third, and but a half length behind their club mates. The two home tandems have proven to be about equal, both in practice "brushes" on Mystic, and in this race.

The tandem-single blade team was made up of Gardner and Cumings. The rough water made this race a very difficult one, as the men were continually thrown off their balance. Several teams were pitched overboard and while the Winchester crew fortunately escaped disaster, they were unable to do themselves justice. Single-blade races need calm water.

The double-blade club-four crew consisted of E. Sandberg, stroke; Hovey 2; W. Palmer 3; and J. Dowden, stern. This crew finished in third place, following the Crescents of Waltham and the Samosets of West Roxbury.

The paddlers now hope to enter the American Canoe Association, Eastern Division meet, to be held at Providence, R. I., on July 16 and 17.

WINCHESTER BOY PLACED IN INTERNATIONAL MEET

Arthur E. French, Jr., of this town, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. French of Highland avenue, a member of the Crimson contingent representing Harvard and Yale in the international track and field games with Oxford and Cambridge at Stamford Bridge, England, last Saturday, won second place in the running broad jump which was won by an American, Deacon of Yale, with a leap of 23 ft. 9 1 2 inches.

French first gave promise of blossoming into a track star while a student at the Winchester High School. Later, while at Worcester Academy where he prepared for Harvard, he captained the track team and won many points for his school in the sprints, broad jump and shot-put.

Last year as a member of the Harvard yearling team he was conceeded to be the pick of the Crimson broad jumpers and was consistently better than 22 ft. This season, though handicapped by a bad leg "Art" has been of considerable value to the Crimson forces, though far below the form he showed as a freshman.

He captained the freshman eleven a year ago and last fall was a regular halfback on the varsity football team, as well as having been president of his class.

T. G. ABBOTT HOST TO EMERSON EMPLOYEES

Mr. and Mrs. T. Grafton Abbott of this town were hosts last Saturday at their home in Rangeley to the employees of the Boston firm of D. R. Emerson Company of which Mr. Abbott is president. The party arrived about 10 o'clock for an all day outing.

The morning was taken up with a variety of races, followed by an acrobatic dance by Miss Kitty Lovejoy of Wollaston. Luncheon was served at 1 o'clock, with Mrs. Abbott presiding. In the afternoon more races and contests, followed by a costume parade about the grounds, led by Manager Alexander J. Buchanan, as drum major.

Among the amusing figures in the parade were the bride and bridegroom, impersonated by Mrs. Alice G. Ford of Brighton and Edward Latham of Belmont; Miss Mary Cahill of Cambridge as Sis Hopkins and Theodore Jobin as Billy the Boy Artist. A specialty dance by Kitty and Dot Lovejoy of Wollaston followed the parade, and the outing closed with community singing led by Mr. Abbott. There was dancing in the ballroom during the afternoon.

The committee included Miss Margaret Gresham of Cambridge, Mrs. Jane H. Stone of Allston, Miss Margaret C. Lyons of Dorchester and Miss A. E. Miles of Cambridge.

LOCAL POLICE SEEK MAN FOR THEFT OF $12,150

The Wchester Police have the cooperation of State detectives in their efforts to locate Henry, alias Harry Irwin, aged 56, formerly a Lowell resident for 30 years and wanted here for the larceny of $12,150 in cash from Catherine T. Savage, now of Somerville, but formerly of 639 Main street, Winchester.

According to the police the alleged robbery took place on the 26th of last September while Irwin was a boarder at the Savage home. Miss Savage had come to Winchester from Lowell where she had been acquainted with Irwin who had been employed as a loom fixer and laborer.

Soon after Miss Savage had taken up a residence here Irwin arrived in Winchester and became a boarder in the household. The former had inherited the $12,150 a fact of which Irwin was apparently aware.

Prevented from banking the money at once Miss Savage had secreted it in her trunk, believing that none knew of its presence in the house.

One Sunday while the woman was attending church it is alleged that Irwin stole the money and left the Savage home, first stating that he was going away for a couple of days on business. The loss of the money was soon discovered and when Irwin failed to return Miss Savage at once communicated with Chief William R. McIntosh of the Winchester Police Department.

Chief McIntosh after an investigation had Irwin secretly indicted by the Middlesex County Grand Jury on a charge of larceny and a reward was offered for information which would lead to his arrest. Police departments everywhere have been notified to be on the look-out for the man but thus far every effort to locate him has proven unsuccessful.

Miss Savage held a conference with Chief McIntosh the latter part of last week and gave information which it is hoped may aid materially in locating Irwin.

The fugitive has been described as being about 5 feet 7 inches in height and weighing about 200 pounds, with light complexion, blue eyes, thin brown hair, blond mustache, thin straight nose and only one tooth in upper jaw in front. He wears glasses while reading and is a good dresser. He was born in County Cavan, Ireland.

Any information concerning him should be wired to Chief William R. McIntosh of the Winchester Police or to General A. F. Foote, Commissioner of Public Safety at the State House.

WINCHESTER THIEF WAS WANTED IN MILFORD

Additional information obtained over the past week-end disclosed the fact that Thomas R. Mitton of 228 Newbury street, Boston, arrested last week Wednesday by patrolman James Donaghey and sentenced to serve nine months in the House of Correction for the larceny of $60 from the home of James Sheehan on Cedar street, is an even more wanted man than was at first supposed.

Last Saturday the chief of police at Milford, after learning of Mitton's arrest, got in touch with Chief McIntosh in an effort to get the man with three breaks made in his district.

As a result of the conversation the Milford official came to Winchester with two women, the latter positively identifying some of Mitton's clothes which the local police were holding as those worn by the man who had entered their homes.

A trip to the East Cambridge Jail where Mitton is confined lead to his being easily identified by both women as the Milford burglar and after questioning by the officials it is alleged that he admitted the breaks of which he was accused.

According to the police on the day previous to his arrest in Winchester Mitton entered a home in Milford and secured $150. The week before he had made two breaks, getting $450 in the first instance and $200 in the second.

Authorities in other cities and towns are trying to connect the prisoner with breaks of a similar nature and everywhere the Winchester police are being congratulated upon the prompt capture of such a wanted man.

NEAR DROWNING AT SANDY BEACH

Mildred Marsters, 18, of 188 Woburn street, West Medford, had a narrow escape from drowning at 9:35 last evening at Sandy Beach. The young lady ventured beyond her depth and had gone down twice before she was brought ashore by Ivan Kennedy of 4 Parkway, Stoneham, and Edward Murtaugh, lifeguard at the beach.

Miss Marsters was unconscious and a hurry call was sent in for Dr. F. R. Brown and to Police Headquarters for a pulmotor. Officers Henry Dempsey and Mark Kelley made a hurried trip to the beach with the instrument but Dr. Brown succeeded after some time in reviving Miss Marsters without its aid.

After she had somewhat recovered she was taken to her home by the Metropolitan Police.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCEMENT DENIED

Word has been received from Mr. Wendell D. Mansfield, for the past two years, physical director and coach of athletic teams at the Winchester High School, stating that he is not engaged to Miss Ruby Baldwin of Branford, Conn., as announced in last week's issue of the Star. The Star received the announcement in writing and printed it in good faith. It regrets exceedingly the discomfort its statement may have caused. Apparently some practical joker has been at work, but if so, he has indeed a perverted sense of humor. We offer our apologies to Mr. Mansfield for whom we have the warmest regard both as a teacher and a man.

LIST OF CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

List of contagious diseases reported to the Board of Health for week ending July 14, follows:

Maurice Dinneen, Agent

The heat of Wednesday proved nothing in the lives of the playground kiddies at Loring avenue and Leonard Field. The young-sters were taken to Sandy Beach for a refreshing swim by their instructors, Charles "Chucker" Roche and the Misses Lucia McKenzie and Lucile Skilling.

WINCHESTER SISTERS INJURED IN CHELSEA CRASH

Miss Anni Saunders, 20, and Margie Saunders, aged 3, daughters of Mrs. Fred A. Saunders of 60 Cross street, are at the Chelsea Memorial Hospital as a result of injuries sustained Monday afternoon in a triple crash of motor cars on the Revere Beach boulevard near the Slade Mill in Chelsea.

Fourteen persons were injured in the accident and nine were removed to the Chelsea Memorial Hospital, the others receiving treatment on the spot by a physician who was hastily summoned. Those taken to the hospital, with the exception of Miss Saunders and her sister, were discharged after treatment.

The Winchester girls were found to have been seriously, though it is not thought dangerously injured, having suffered had cuts and abrasions. Little Margie sustained 15 broken bones in one foot which was badly crushed. It is believed that they will have to remain at the hospital for about two weeks.

Miss Saunders and her sister were occupants of a Ford sedan, operated by Harold Saunders of 60 Cross street and were accompanied by their mother, Mrs. Fred A. Saunders of 60 Cross street, their sister, Mrs. Lester Hubbard of Lebanon street and the latter's nine month's old son, Lester, Jr.

The Ford had been halted by tire trouble and was parked for repairs at the side of the road when it was struck by a Buick sedan driven by George P. Stone of 349 Blue Hill avenue, Boston. After striking the Saunders machine the Buick careened across the road and ran into a Hupmobile moving in an opposite direction and containing Simeon Poresky and his sisters, Hazel and Helen of 354 Shirley avenue, Winthrop. Both the Ford and Hupmobile were overturned by the force of the impact and the occupants in some instances pinned under the machines.

Little Lester Hubbard was one of those pinned beneath the Ford. He was extricated by a 14 year old girl who happened to be passing and whose name was not learned. He was at once removed by Mr. Saunders to the hospital where it was found that beyond a few minor bruises he was uninjured.

Meanwhile the police ambulance had taken the remaining eight injured to the hospital for treatment. Stone was accompanied by his wife and mother-in-law, all being slightly hurt.

According to his statement to the police Stone's machine was struck in the rear by another car and driven into Saunder's sedan. The offending car did not stop and got away without its registration being obtained. All three machines involved in the collision were damaged.

Mrs. Saunders, Mrs. Hubbard, Mr. Saunders and little Lester were able to return to Winchester last evening, but the ladies were in need of the attention of a physician, suffering as they were from a bad shaking up and from shock.

LEXINGTON TOMORROW

The fast Lexington Town Team, representing the historic town in the Mystic Valley Twilight League, will be the attraction tomorrow afternoon at 3:15 on Manchester Field. This club was one of those to take a fall out of the locals last season in the second game of a double header and St. Mary's will be out to square that account on Saturday.

Manager Melly has announced that Francis Tansey, star southpaw who has been going better than ever this summer, will be on the rubber for Winchester which means that the Minutemen will have to have their batting eyes working overtime to garner many base hits.

The boys showed a big improvement in their game with the Craddocks last week and with an equally strong lineup tomorrow should continue upon their winning way. It is expected that Tansey will be the regular pitcher for the remainder of the season and this announcement will be received with pleasure by the local fans. Big "Mex" Kelley has not been showing the form which he was won't to display in other years and many of the wise ones believe that the star right hander is finally done as a pitcher.

The combination of working all night and pitching a tough game next day is one which will finally get the best of even an iron constitution and "Mex" has been finding the nine frame route a bit too long.

He will continue to stick with the club and will be a tower of strength since he is at home anywhere upon the diamond. Tansey also will be very valuable for relief pitching duty and with him and "Muggins" Tansey both available the hurling worries of the team should not be sufficient to keep Melly awake o'nights. Mark will also prove mighty good catching insurance in case anything should happen: Manager Frank since the big patrolman can go behind the bat at a moment's notice and do a peach of a job.

The signing of Hevey to fill the short-stop's berth has plugged a big hole in the local's defense and as "Jackie" works into playing form he should go along nicely. He has the baseball background of experience to make him doubly valuable and has always been a real good hitter. Melly is not entirely satisfied with his club as yet and is working over time in an effort to give the fans a good representative team. The support has been much better than a year ago, proving that Winchester is appreciative of his efforts. Continued support will mean even better ball on Manchester Field.

James "Fireman" Cullen is at Fortress Munroe, Va., for six weeks' training with the Tech R. O. T. C.

TWO ALARMS FOR FIRE IN ARLINGTON STREET HOME

As a sort of grim aftermath of the worst electrical storm Winchester had experienced in some years came a two-alarm fire early yesterday afternoon, threatening to destroy the handsome home of Florence B. McPhee on Arlington street.

The house has been undergoing extensive alterations and it is thought that the fire may have been caused by a spark from a heater which workmen were using in soldering some copper gutters which were being installed at the front of the house.

It is believed that some awnings directly under the workmen became ignited and the high wind drove the flames directly into the front of the dwelling which faces the 13th hole of the golf course at the Winchester Country Club. The family was in the house when the fire started and notified the Central Station by phone. Box 571 was sounded at 2:20 with a second alarm at 2:55.

Chief Daniel H. DeCourcy characterized the fire as a particularly hard one to fight. The slate roof made it impossible to get at the flames from above, while the heat and an especially heavy smoke from fire-proof packing in the partitions of the house kept the men from entering the structure. The excessive heat of the day added to the discomfort of the firemen while the high wind prevented getting at the blaze except from the front.

Despite the difficulties encountered the firemen succeeded in confining the fire to the front of the house but there the damage was quite extensive. The roof was practically destroyed and the fire completely swept the rooms on the upper floor. The flames entered the partitions in places and dropped to the lower floor causing considerable damage in the spacious living-room. The water and smoke damage was extensive everywhere in the main section of the house.

Fortunately the workmen and firemen were able to get much of the furniture out of the house before conditions became unbearable. Many of the larger pieces had to be left and in spite of coverings spread by the firemen were more or less damaged by water. The entire damage was estimated last night as $20,0000.

Two firemen were injured while fighting the flames. Raymond Hanscomb sustained a severe gash on the arm, necessitating five stitches to close while J. Edward Noonan was struck on the head in tending hose lines at Engine 3 which he was driving. Hanscomb was rushed to a physician for treatment and then taken to his home but Noonan was patched up on the job and remained on duty, receiving medical attention upon his return to the station.

At one time during the fire it appeared as if more hose might be needed and Chief DeCourcy sent in a call for Arlington for help. A pump and crew of men put in a prompt appearance and got onto the job in a commendable manner. The chief of the Woburn Fire Department was also at the scene.

The visiting firemen were loud in their praise of the way in which the Winchester Police handled the traffic jam at the fire. Chief DeCourcy also found conditions entirely satisfactory. Chief of Police William R. McIntosh was personally at the scene with Sergeants Cassidy and Rogers and every available patrolman. The numbers of many cars illegally parked at the fire were taken by the officers.

WINCHESTER JUNIORS DOING WELL AT BEVERLY

Several of Winchester's young tennis stars are playing this week in the annual junior tennis tournament at the Montserrat Golf Club at Beverly. Foremost among them is Louise Parker, number one player on the high school girls tennis team for the past two seasons, who has survived the preliminary and semi-final rounds of the tourney and is to meet Katherine Winthrop in the championship round today. Nancy Bradlee of this town also showed some nice tennis in the tourney, surviving the first two rounds before being defeated in a hard fought three-set match by Marion Duane, a more experienced player. Paired with Louise in the girls' doubles Nancy was defeated by Katherine Winthrop and Nancy Shaw in a three set match in the third round.

The team of Frank Carleton and Sidney Paine of this town has been very consistent in the boys' doubles play and by virtue of its win over Herbert Jaques Jr. and Harvey Bundy, Jr. yesterday will enter the final round today, playing John Ray and Nat Niles, Jr., a strong combination.

In the boys singles, Carleton, Paine and E. Pugh of this town were all entered and made a good showing. The latter paired with Eleanor Fabyan has survived the semi-final round in mixed doubles.

James H. Fitzgerald of Railroad avenue who underwent an operation at the Winchester Hospital the first of the week is reported as resting comfortably.

FARM AND CITY LOANS BY INSURANCE COMPANIES

As an indication that life insurance companies are placing their reserve funds in farm and city homes, is the report that the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company of Boston, during the 6 months ending June 30, 1927, accepted loans totaling $23,784,457 on farm and city property.

The general character of these loans is evidenced by the fact that the average interest yield is 5.53 per cent. These loans cover 2144 farm properties and 849 city properties—the latter including 474 dwelling houses and 166 apartment buildings, housing in all 2030 families.

A NOVEL PERIL OF PHOTOGRAPHY

National Geographic Society photographers have braved Arctic perils, jungle beasts, climbed mountain peaks, and plunged through submerged lakes in Stygian caves, in quest of pictures.

But M. Gervais Courtellemont, French scholar and natural color photographer, who has been making a pictorial survey of quaint Cambodia, escaped from a novel sort of danger according to word that has just reached the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the Society.

I had a nasty accident in the vicinity of Angkor (Cambodia); M. Courtellemont writes. I was attacked by wild bees and had to throw myself in a stream and each time my head was above water I was pounced upon by the enraged bees. I ran the risk of being drowned, or suffocated by the innumerable stings. Fortunately I did not lose my head and people came to help me in time.

As it was, M. Courtellemont's head, neck and back were so badly stung he had to remain in bed two days. He heads one of 12 parties which are making thorough photographic surveys, including the taking of natural color photographs, in various parts of the world for the National Geographic Society.

Ericsson's Inventions

The screw propeller for steamships was patented by its inventor, John Ericsson, February 1, 1838. The designing and building of the famous Monitor were also the work of Ericsson. He came to America from Sweden at the age of thirty-five.

China's Grand Canal

The Grand canal of China reaches from Hangchowfu, in the province of Chekkiang, to Tientsin. It is composed largely of canalized rivers and is approximately 650 miles long. The depth varies, ranging from 7 to 11 feet, occasionally reaching a depth of 13 feet at high water. Between Suchow and Chikkiang it is often a hundred feet wide.

Neat Criticism

The late A. B. Walker, the well-known British critic, is said to have established a record for brevity in dramatic criticism when, of a play entitled "A Dreadful Evening," he wrote "Exactly" and left it at that.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Of the Days of Gold

"The argonauts of '49" was the literary name given the California pioneers. They were also called "49ers."

Blizzard and Snowstorm

The weather bureau says that a blizzard is a very cold, strong to violent wind filled with driving snow. The snow may or may not be falling from clouds above. A snowstorm is just any storm, regardless of the wind velocity and temperature, during which an appreciable amount of snow falls.

Minstrels as Outcasts

It is said that the minstrels of the Middle ages were usually of questionable virtue and honor, and laws were enacted to repress them. They were called "shadows" or "roving men," and under the law they were not permitted to inherit property, to collect debts or to take part in Christian sacraments.

BOWDOIN SQUARE THEATRE

Those who enjoy laughter will find the show at the Bowdoin Square Theatre Monday just to their liking. For the approval of the audience the management will offer "Frisco Sally Levy," a comedy of mirth, of the most wholesome variety with Irish love in a Jewish setting. Sally O'Neil is the lovely heroine of the story and she fills her part to perfection. She also demonstrates that she is quite nimble with her feet. Roy D'Arcy has a prominent role while others in the cast help to make it one of genuine worth. Another picture will be "Ankles Preferred" with charming Madge Bellamy in the big role and the story is one that deals with girls and silk stockings. It is a comedy of the most daring type and sure to find favor. Ben Turpin will delight in, "A Prodigal Bridegroom" and the Pathe News and five selected acts will round out the bill. On Thursday night, July 21 full details, round by round of the Dempsey-Sharkey contest will be given. Every Friday is opportunity night. Concert Sunday at 3.

WOMAN'S CHRISTIAN TEMPERANCE UNION NOTES

The June outing held by the local W. C. T. U. at the home of Mrs. Tolman was a great success. The guests of the day were several ladies from the Home for Aged People also Dr. N. Louise Rand with a group of Italian children. Dr. Rand as State director of Young People's Work and her report of the State Convention recently held at the Salvation Army grounds in Sharon was very interesting.

Over 100 delegates registered and the reports throughout the Convention showed that many of our young people are working for a better enforcement of the 18th Amendment. The afternoon was enlivened with songs, recitations and rally cries given by the children.

Dr. Rand is doing a wonderful piece of Americanization work among the Italian children of the North End of Boston and deserves our hearty co-operation and support.

The children as well as the adults thoroughly enjoyed the day. They started for Boston laden with beautiful flowers presented to them by our hostess. A goodly number of books were received during the day to be sent to the Charlestown prison. Any one wishing to add to this collection please send to Mrs. Hamilton, 6 Wedge Pond road.

KEEP COOL

"Do not think constantly of how hot it is" says the Massachusetts Department of Public Health. You have no control over the weather but you can attempt to regulate your state of mind. The person who sits pitying himself as strenuously as he fans himself is several degrees warmer than he who refuses to contemplate the rather uncomfortable condition of the weather. The man who "doesn't mind the heat" is usually the wise and busy person who finds no time to grumble over the ungovernable phenomena. So the first way to keep cool is to forget that it is hot.

Now that some control is exerted over your mental difficulties the next step is to give definite consideration to keeping your body cool.

Eat rather smaller quantities of clean food. Let up on the amount of meat and have more vegetables and fruit. Drink more than the usual daily six glasses of water.

The daily bath benefits your health and makes you more comfortable. Wear light weight and light colored clothing.

Don't discontinue exercising; get in at least the evening walk. Avoid getting over-tired by resting as frequently as possible.

A bit of thoughtful consideration for mind and body and a few specific precautions can keep you cool during the sweltering summer day.

A cheap tube can cost you 10 times its price.....

THIRTY-NINE YEARS of tube-building experience has proved to Dunlop that "cheap tubes" do not pay.

That is why Dunlop tubes are made casing shaped. It costs a little more than to build them on a straight pole, as cheap tubes are built.

But a casing-shaped Dunlop tube is strong everywhere. The outside edge is not weakened by excess stretch. The side next to the rim has no wrinkles to crack with age and blow out. A Dunlop tube protects your casing, because it fits. And your casing is worth ten times the cost of the tube.

We strongly recommend a Dunlop tube for every casing

Bricks made from the fibers of palmetto, sea grass and similar material have been recently put on sale for construction work, and are said to give much satisfaction. They are considerably larger than ordinary brick.

STEPHENSON AND MURPHY WON INVITATION FOUR-BALL AT COUNTRY CLUB

Large Field of Starters—Local Golfers Did Well

B. K. "Bart" Stephenson paired with E. B. Murphy and representing the Charles River C. C. won the first division play in the four ball invitation golf tourney staged at the Winchester Country Club last week Thursday and Friday.

There was a large field, including many local golfers, on hand for the event which loomed big on the calendar of the Winchester club. Invariably the home players did well and with the exception of the first division at least one Winchester golfer figured in the finals.

Only one strictly local team succeeded in winning a title, that of J. A. Wheeler and Port B. Elkins being successful in the fourth division. The win of Stephenson and Murphy, however, in the first division was hailed as something of a town achievement since "Bart" formerly for many years made his home here and has played a lot of golf on the Winchester links.

In the second division A. M. Bond of Winchester paired with J. A. Galvin of Commonwealth won the final round and in the third division I. S. Hall of Winchester and J. B. Willing of Brae Burn were runners up.

The golfers were unanimous in their praise of the local links and it was noted by many of the more experienced players that the yardage recorded on the score cards was in the case of Winchester accurate, due to systematic surveying of the holes. This of course is a great help to the man who is able to play his shots for distance and the competitors soon found that 400 yards on the Winchester score card did not mean 390 yards as is the case at some other clubs.

The Stephenson and Murphy team played consistent golf to win their title in the first division. In the first round it defeated D. B. Wesson and L. J. Goldman, 6 and 5, and in the second round took E. D. Cole and C. F. Rich, youthful Wellesley pair by 2 and 1. In the semi-finals Stephenson and Murphy defeated Charles Eaton of Winchester and John Merwin of Concord, 5 and 3, while Clarence Cochrane and C. F. Berthel of Bellevue were winning from Gerard Moore and John Slattery of Woodland, 3 and 2. The final match was very close, both teams showing some nice golf to run the play to 22 holes before Stephenson and Murphy were returned the winners over Cochrane and Berthel.

The semi-finals of the second division found E. G. and J. C. Richardson of Monoosnock defeating F. H. Gerry and J. Paul Fraser of Winchester, 1 up, while J. B. Willing of Brae Burn and I. S. Hall of Winchester were winning from the Winchester team of H. E. Merrill and E. M. Fisher, 1 up. The final match was won by the Monoosnock team of Richardsons who defeated Willing and Hall, again by 1 up.

A. M. Bond of Winchester and J. A. Galvin of Commonwealth won the first of the semi-final matches in the third division, defeating V. H. Carpenter and E. R. Murphy of Winchester, 2 and 1. The other winners were J. W. Monahan of Sandy Burr and Wallace Cooledge of Arlmont who defeated E. E. Babb, Jr. of Rockport and H. A. Peterson of Winchester, 1 up. Bond and Galvin won the final match from Monahan and Cooledge, 4 and 3.

Several Winchester golfers figured in the semi-finals of the fourth division. J. A. Wheeler, Jr. and P. B. Elkins of Winchester defeated another local team of G. C. and E. A. Neiley, 2 up, while R. W. Reeve and C. F. Sprague of Tedesco were taking A. Fairchild and A. Walker of Winchester, 3 and 2. The final match between the Winchester team of Wheeler and Elkins and the Tedesco team of Reeve and Sprague was won by the first named, 2 up.

FIRST DIVISION

E. D. Cole and C. F. Rich defeated S. B. Neiley and F. F. Nazro (Winchester) 3 and 1. Charles Eaton (Winchester) and John Merwin defeated P. R. O'Connell and R. C. Rockwell, 2 and 1. Sellman and G. A. Thatcher, Jr., [illegible] and W. L. Clark (Winchester), defeated N. P. James and H. E. Noyes, [illegible].

2nd Round

Neiley and Neiley defeated Smalley and Comins, 1 up. Wheeler and Elkins defeated [illegible] and Douse, [illegible]. Tutein and Clark defeated Fairchild and Walker, 1 up.

Semi-Finals

Wheeler and Elkins defeated Neiley and Neiley, 2 up. Reeve and Sprague defeated Tutein and Clark, 3 and 2.

Final

J. A. Wheeler, Jr. and P. B. Elkins (Winchester), defeated R. W. Reeve and C. F. Sprague (Tedesco), 2 up.

As an interesting side-line to the match play divisions was the four-ball medal play tournament staged on Thursday afternoon for the pairs beaten in the first round of the morning. Ralph Munro and Chick Grasse won the gross with a 71, while the net went to E. G. Richardson and B. O. Gerrish of Monoosnock with a reduced score of 71. Next to the youngsters in the gross came Phil Hendrick and Win Jackson of the home club with a 75.

The card of the winners was:

BADLY HURT IN FALL FROM ROOF

Patrick J. Powers, 52, of 2 Watson place, was badly hurt as the result of a fall from te roof of a two and one-half story house early Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Powers, who is a mason, was working on the roof of the residence of Michael J. Drohan of 85 Nelson street when in some way he lost his footing and fell to the ground. It is thought that his fall was somewhat broken by a heavy wire but it was evident to those who hastened to his assistance that he was badly hurt.

The police were notified and officers James Donaghey and John Noonan made a quick trip to the scene of the accident in the department's Ford. Dr. R. M. Burgoyne was hastily summoned and after an examination found that Mr. Powers had sustained a severe shaking up, a broken wrist and a possible broken shoulder. He was taken by the doctor to the Powers home.

FINE SPORT WHILE IT LASTED

Last Saturday afternoon while mounted officers Ned Shea and James Noonan were patrolling the Middlesex Fells reservation about the Town's water works they came upon two out-of-town young men who had been thoroughly enjoying themselves fishing in the North Reservoir.

The two disciples of the late lamented Isaac Walton had had excellent luck, some 20 specimens of their prowess with the rod laying upon the bank beside them, prima facie evidence so to speak. Among the fish were some landlocked salmon, red perch, some handsome bass and a pickerell.

The young men offered no resistance and after taking their names and incidentally the fish the officers allowed them to depart. They will be summonsed to appear in court soon.

STRUCK BY AUTO IN SQUARE

Francis J. Riley of 325 Hurley street, Cambridge, was knocked from his bicycle last Friday afternoon in the square when he was run into by a Ford sedan operated by Miss Marietta Barnes of 41 Wildwood street.

Miss Barnes, who was driving west on Mt. Vernon street, had passed the signal in the center which was set against her. After stopping her car she reversed and struck Riley who was riding a bicycle behind her, heading in the same direction.

The man was picked up and taken to the police station by motorcycle officer Edward O'Connell. Later he was taken for treatment to the office of Dr. F. R. Brown on Washington street. He sustained injuries to one of his knees but was not badly hurt.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Luck always seems to favor the people who didn't really expect it.

In handling men it is best to use the heart, the head can best manage machinery.

If you are not making progress in life, you are making room for some other fellow who will.

Never a man so good but what a good woman will make him better.

In these days, the elevated chin in the tonneau does not indicate how much has been paid on the car.

The joy of living is for the man who has the heart to demand it.

If those who habitually telephone Fire Headquarters after a fire for no cause except an idle curiosity to learn the particulars could realize the confusion and bustle going on there as the men busy themselves putting their apparatus into shape to answer the next call which may come at any moment, we believe the people in question would await the arrival of the newspaper for information, or ask their barbers. Chief DeCourcy was obliged to answer in the neighborhood of 50 phone calls following his return from the fire on Arlington street yesterday afternoon. Think it over.

With the arrival of some real summer weather comes the announcement that the Elks are not to sponsor their big event, "Kiddies' Day," this year. This news will be generally regretted, for since its introduction four years ago "Kiddies' Day" has come to be the high light of a particularly dull season for those children in less fortunate homes who are unable to have any other warm weather change of scene. Indeed many have gone so far as to state that the Elks here have done nothing in the way of community service more worthy of high praise than this same outing for children. Despite the helping hand which the Lodge has lent, since its inception, in the field of local charities, particularly at Thanksgiving and Christmas, the fact remains that its "Kiddies' Day" has an appeal for the community above its other activities. For "Kiddies' Day," at least in Winchester, has been a strictly Elks' party conceived by them and carried out with much credit to all concerned. At present there seems to be no one to step into the breach and it looks as though this year the kiddies will have no outing. We believe that those who have been responsible for the party in past seasons will regret the fact with the disappointed children, for no one could "take in" a "Kiddies' Day" and not be "strong for it." What has prompted the Lodge to discontinue the party we do no know, but we are sure the reason is not the work involved. Those who have run "Kiddies' Days" have had almost as much fun as the children. Whatever the cause may be, it must be a good one to cause the Elks to stop so worth while a charity. We hope another year will find the event once more on the "Bills'" calendar.

PLAN FIVE HOUSES FOR CORSE LOT

Following the meeting held on last Monday evening, at which members of the Town Planning Board and Contractor Ralph Sylvester were present and at which no agreement was reached satisfactory to all concerned with reference to the proposed development of the Corse property at the corner of Washington street and the Parkway by Mr. Sylvester, it has been reported that the latter has decided to go through with his original plan of erecting five single houses upon the plot.

The Planning Board, it is said, has been opposed to so many houses on this corner and was particularly adverse to having more than one dwelling front on Washington street, despite the fact that there are two house-lots there. Mr. Sylvester is reported to have agreed to build but one house on the double lot but stipulated that if he did so, the Town should give him the house upon the Joy lot across the street, recently acquired by the Town, and permit him to move the structure onto the Corse lot.

This according to Mr. Sylvester the Planning Board refused to sanction and after much discussion the meeting remained deadlocked. The contractor is now said to be decided upon his original plan and will begin the erection of the five houses in the near future. He does not plan to tear down the present dwelling upon the lot until several of the proposed houses are completed.

If He Had a Million

Joe Brown was the colored porter at a little bank in southern Kansas. One spring day he rested on his broom and looked outdoors where nature beckoned him down to the river where he might doze and wait for a catfish nibble on his line.

"Gee, boss," he declared fervently, "I surtinly do wish Ah had a million dollahs."

"A million dollars, Joe?" the cashier said, smiling. "What would you do with a million dollars?"

"Ah'd buy me some jugs and make me some money," the judge.

STORM STRUCK HEAVILY IN WINCHESTER

Two Barns Hit—Flagpole at Leonard Field Splintered

Winchester together with other towns and cities of the district experienced the severe electrical storm which ended Wednesday's hot wave. The storm was one of the worst in years and left a trail of damage in its wake while keeping the Fire Department on the jump for several hours putting out fires caused by lightning in various sections of the town.

Some really hot weather with abnormal humidity gave Winchester its first sustained taste of summer on Tuesday and Wednesday with the thermometer reaching 95 degrees on the last named. The quick shift from the unusually cool weather of the holiday and preceding week found people unprepared to resist the heat, resulting in much suffering and some prostrations, though no severe cases of the latter were reported in town.

Mystic Lake was a popular haven of refuge during the sizzling afternoons and well into the night large crowds were reported at the Beach. Many who had delayed leaving town made hasty preparations for departure.

Shortly after 5 o'clock on Wednesday a heavy storm seemed imminent but it was not until about 6:15 that it actually broke. The lightning was the most intense seen here since the terrific storm experienced July 7, 1925, but the thunder seemed no heavier than ordinary. Rain fell in torrents and in the center conditions approximated a flood.

The storm had not been long in progress when lightning struck a small barn at the farm of J. W. Russell on Main street near the Medford line. The building, which was soon ablaze, was used to house wagons and vegetable boxes and farmhands succeeded in saving the wagons before the heat from the flames prevented entering the building.

An alarm of fire was sounded from Box 27 at 6:38 bringing Engine 3, Ladder 1, Combination A and the Chief's car to the scene, but despite the heavy rain and the efforts of the firemen the building and its contents were destroyed. A larger structure near the barn, housing horses and cattle was unharmed.

Traffic was terribly congested within the fire area and the police soon were forced to close Main street to motor vehicles. Many viewed the blaze from Highland avenue, the flames at times shooting high into the air.

At 6:40 Box 37 was pulled after lightning had struck the house of Sebastianno Penna at 30 Irving street. The dwelling was not ignited by the bolt but the house was terrifically hot and full of smoke. The lightning struck at the coping of the house and went through several rooms, tearing down lighting fixtures and plaster and melting several wiring connections. A part of the chimney was knocked down by the crash, but fortunately no one was injured, though the inmates were terrified by their thrilling experience.

After making sure that there was no lurking fire at the Penna home Engine 1 and its crew answered a second alarm from Box 27 for the Russell fire, additional apparatus from Medford also being summoned.

Box 521 came in at 7:17, lightning having struck the home of George C. Little at 19 Everett avenue. The bolt struck the roof of the house, breaking in the roofing about the chimney. This alarm was answered by Engine 1, Ladder 1, Hose 4 and the Chief's car.

Lightning caused the fire on a tranformer pole in front of the Symmes Grain Mill on upper Main street for which Box 43 was pulled at 7:30. Later in the evening a second transformer was struck on a pole near the Winchester Hospital and during the height of the storm the 75 foot flagpole at Leonard Field playground was splintered by lightning.

With all the Winchester apparatus busy during the storm a barn on a private estate near the greenkeeper's house at the Winchester Country Club was struck and a call for help brought the Arlington Fire Department to the scene. The building was practically destroyed.

Bolts of lightning struck in the North Reservation in Mystic Lake in front of the Medford Boat Club and many lights were out of commission during the entire night. The automatic traffic beacon at the head of Mt. Vernon street was put out of running early in the evening and a patrolman was sent to do traffic duty there.

Lightning struck an awning at the home of Harold Larson at 995 Main street, bending the heavy iron frame into the shape of a horseshoe while at the home of James Higgins at the Woburn line a bolt demolished the chimney and knocked down plaster in the upstairs rooms. At the Texaco Filling Station on Main street a bolt struck the door of the building, knocking it from its hingles and depositing it some 20 feet away. The roof of a building at the home of Michael J. Lydon on Pickering street was completely torn off by the storm.

Lightning struck a large pine tree on the estate of Mr. George A. Whittington, 8 Woodside road, doing considerable damage to the tree.

No estimate of the damage done in Winchester by the storm was available as the Star went to press but it is believed that the figures will run into several thousands of dollars. Probably the heaviest loss was sustained by the Russells, unofficial figures setting the damage there at $5000. With the lightning striking in so many places throughout the community it is indeed fortunate that no one was reported killed or seriously injured.

Easy Grace

A democratic manner is that easy nonchalance with which a fifty-trunk personage shakes the hand of the one-trunk citizen.

ST. MARY'S WON TIGHT GAME

St. Mary's B. B. C. got back into a winning stride last Saturday afternoon at the expense of the strong Craddock Club of Malden, coming from behind to nip the visitors, 4 to 3, on Manchester Field.

The game was a good one to watch and midway in the matinee looked very much like a win for the visitors who had fallen upon the slants of "Joe" Tansey for three large runs in the second inning.

A good sized crowd was on hand for the battle which was somewhat surprising considering the brand of ball which the locals showed against Arlington on the Fourth. St. Mary's had a much stronger lineup on the field against the Craddocks and was fortunate such was the case. The locals would have taken a beautiful lacing with the makeshift holiday roster on the job.

As it was Winchester was rather fortunate to win and owes its victory to the strong left arm and sinister shoots of one Francis Tansey who was rushed into the breach to maintain the honor of the family after brother "Muggins" had wavered in the fourth.

The big boy from Norwich got by the first inning with something to spare but in the second seemed to lose everything but his glove out there. The resulting deluge of base hits proved conclusively that the Craddocks could ever lastingly ride that old cripple and gave the visitors a three run advantage.

There were two away in the 2nd when Gaudette singled ever shorstop and Keating and Sharkey followed with safeties right in the same place. Gaudette counted on Sharkey's hit and Dempsey's hit past Kelley at third scored Keating. Donahue singled to left to score Sharkey before "Spike" O'Donnell ended the agony by throwing out Shacoy at first.

Winchester almost tied it in the 3rd. O'Donnell started the frame by hitting to right center and Melly advanced him with another hit to the left of center field. Roy McGrath attempted to sacrifice but popped to Shacoy, both runners holding their bases. Chamberland fanned and things looked dubious when "Jackie" Hevey hit over third to score "Spike" and Melly. Kelley tried hard for a hit but Dempsey in left made a great running catch of his near Texas League.

The big inning was over in the 4th. Fitzgerald singled to left and stole second. Donahue's throw was poor and the big first sacker kept right on home, pulling up safely at third, from where he scored on O'Donnell's single to right.

With the score tied Manager Melly decided to take no chances and rushed Francis Tansey to the hill to prevent the visiters from repeating their second inning spasm. Thereafter it was just a case of when the locals would score decisive tally. The visiters were all through and could not have seen Francis with sun glasses.

The winning tally came over in the 5th. "Nip" Chamberland singled over first for a starter and coasted into third when Hevey hit along the right field foul line for two sacks. "Joe" Tansey grounded to the shortstop and while the latter was retiring "Muggins" at first Chamberland was over with what proved the deciding run. The score by innings follow:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
St. Mary's	0	0	2	1	1	0	0	0	x

Runs made by O'Donnell, Melly, Fitzgerald, Chamberland, Gaudette, Keating, Sharkey. Batteries for St. Mary's, J. Tansey, F. Tansey and Melly; Craddocks, Shacoy and Donahue. Winning pitcher F. Tansey; losing pitcher, Shacoy. Umpire, Conlon. Time 2 hours, 10 minutes.

THE SIDEWALK CAFE: COMMON DENOMINATOR OF LATIN EUROPE

The municipal council of Nice, on the French Riviera, recently tried to abolish the sidewalk cafes of the city. To one who has traveled in the Latin countries of southern Europe there could be but one outcome to such a conflict; the council lost. The place of this institution, little known in the United States, is brought out in the following bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Imagine the drug stores along Main street, or Broadway, or Market street providing a row of tables and chairs on the sidewalk along their walls and serving there soft drinks and ices, says the bulletin; while at similar tables near-by restaurants were serving coffee and hot chocolate to whomever dropped out of the passing throng and found a vacant seat. The situation would be very superficially like that on the principal thoroughfares of most cities of southern Europe when the weather permits. But it could only faintly suggest the original. There is a sidewalk cafe spirit that is part of the institution; and even the most faithful copy from the Rue de la Paix would seem out of place in bustling America.

Shapes Different Forms

The average American first makes the acquaintance of the sidewalk cafe in Paris; becomes, in his holiday mood, an habitue; and assumes, perhaps, that it is an European fixture. Then he begins his travels and finds that the type changes with every change of setting.

In the Riviera, the land of perpetual holiday, the sidewalk cafe becomes to a considerable extent a terrace or garden cafe, a sort of aristocratic brother of the more democratic institution. But in spite of this tendency there are the usual sidewalk cafes as well.

In the cities of Italy the sidewalk cafe lives, but in most of them it seems to lead a more timid, tentative existence than in Paris. The outside tables are fewer; more customers go inside for their drinks. Here one meets still another development—half-sidewalk cafes, one might call them—in wide arcades, as near the Duomo in Milan and under the Corso near the Piazza Colonna in Rome.

From Lisbon to Athens

Venice and her balmy air welcome the sidewalk cafe. One finds them at the ends of calles and at times the great Piazza of St. Marks is almost clogged by the floods of tables and chairs that, advancing from both sides, almost meet in the center.

Spain and Portugal, too, know this adjunct of outdoor life. In Spain it blossoms especially in Madrid. In Lisbon along the Avenida scurrying waiters not only serve customers on the sidewalks, but also cross the roadway to the charming little parked areas in the wide thoroughfare.

Far toward the other end of the Mediterranean Athens carrys on the al fresco traditions of southern Europe and maintains her sidewalk service of food and drink. Turning north you find the custom followed in Bucharest, capital of Rumania, which in this as in many other respects, merits its title, "Paris of the East."

Not Popular In Central Europe

When you pass northward over the line that divides the Latin countries from those of central Europe you leave behind you the sidewalk cafe as an outstanding institution. In Vienna there are countless coffee houses, but their customers are nearly always served indoors. There, as in Budapest too, are numerous beer gardens, but the outdoor serving is seldom on sidewalks. So, also, throughout Germany, Poland, and the Scandinavian countries the sidewalk tables are little in evidence.

Cross once more back to Latin influences in Belgium, and you find the sidewalk cafe thriving. Brussels, in fact, can almost be said to out-do Paris. There are unbroken lines of tables for long distances along some of the principal streets and the entire fronts of the cafes are removable.

At Their Best in Paris

Paris, however, will continue to be the typical home of the sidewalk cafe to most travelers. They are to be found all over the great city; dirty and dingy ones; modest ones for the working man; bourgeois place; small and middle-sized ones; and the huge establishments of the boulevards that seat their hundreds of well dressed patrons. The Parisian, proprietor of a sidewalk cafe feels none of the restraint that apparently actuates his Italian brother. He grabs at least half the sidewalk for his tables, and if business pushes, he appropriates most of the other half.

If the visiter would know his Paris he will not fail to spend half an hour at frequent intervals in one of these al fresco places of refreshment, toying with a cup of coffee, an ice, or an apertif, feeling one of the most active pulses of the city. Before him will pass a constant stream of pedestrians: shoppers, boulevardiers, delivery girls, messengers, business men, tourists—the countless types that go to make Parsian street life an intriguing spectacle.

GALWAY: PROPOSED WESTERN GATE TO IRELAND

Irish hopes that the west coast of Ireland, which faces America, may become the eastern terminus of a much shortened ocean voyage between America and Europe, are revived with the announcement that a German shipping company's steamers from Halifax will soon begin calling at Galway, most important of Ireland's west coast ports. The following bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society describes this western gateway to Erin.

Erin's "Spanish City"

Galway is now only a relatively small town, differing little from other Irish communities of 12 or 15,000 inhabitants, says the bulletin. Most of the ships it sees are British and French fishing trawlers—the same trawlers that have almost ruined the Galway fishermen, for their little sailboats find the machine competition of the steamers too much for much for them. Time was, however, when Galway was an important emporium of trade. From the 13th to the 17th century the port had almost a monopoly of the Spanish trade and Spanish ships as well as French ships were centinually in its harbor.

So important was this commerce that a Spanish colony grew up in the town and colored its life. Galway has often been referred to as Ireland's Spanish City. Some houses still standing have patios, or open courts with gates to the street, a type of architecture distinctly non-Irish. The fishing section of Galway, "the Claddagh," was once the stronghold of Spanish influence, and was governed separately. It is still the most picturesque part of the town.

Another touch with Spain came when part of the great Armada was wrecked off the Galway shore in 1588. Many of the Spanish sailors are said to have settled in Galway town. Relics of the Armada cast upon the shores, are preserved in the museum of Queen's College in Galway.

Columbus May Have Been Here

Galway's reputation as a maritime center in its early Spanish trading days is alleged, by a tradition in the town, to have drawn Columbus there to investigate the stories of St. Brendan's voyages to the west. The tradition further states that a Galway sailor was one of the crew that sailed with Columbus on his historic voyage of discovery to the New World.

The period of Galway's prosperity came to an end with its plundering by the Parliamentary army about the middle of the 17th century. The population was scattered, the harbor became unused, the mansions of its wealthy merchants were turned into tenements, and numerous warehouses became empty. Some of the latter remain today as reminders of the town's economic golden age. There are also evidences of more recent economic casualties; for County Galway has steadily decreased in population in recent years, and several mills which formerly produced goods for local consumption now stand unused.

On Road to Connemara

Galway is the gateway for summer tourists journeying to the picturesque peninsula of Connemara which lies to the northwest. This land of lakes, rocks and granite mountains is one of the most primitive parts of Ireland and one of the most severely beautiful. A sparse population eke out a poor existence from little plots of soil among the rocks and from sheep pastured on the largely barren uplands. This is one of the strongholds of the old Gaelic language and some of the inhabitants know no English.

Across the mouth of Galway Bay, 28 miles from the town, lie the three Aran Islands, home of Gaelic fisher folk. Life is hard on the islands, especially since the greater use of steam trawlers on the banks to the west. To eke out a livelihood, Aran islanders have turned part-time farmers under the most unfavorable conditions. Little plots are actually built to order on the rocks. Sea sand is spread on, then masses of sea-weed for fertilizer. After dressings of the latter have rotted for several seasons, the first poor crop of vegetables can be grown in the artificial soil. On the Aran Islands, too, Gaelic is the common language.

If the demand of trans-Atlantic travelers should warrant it, a quick passage from the United States and Canada to England could be made by mail and boat via Halifax and Galway. Three and a half days would suffice for the ocean crossing. The present railway time, from Galway to Dublin, across Ireland's narrow 'waist," is only 3½ hours. Channel steamers now cross from Dublin to Liverpool over night, and doubtless better time could be made. On the average, about a full day could be saved.

Giant Among Stars

The naval observatory says, according to George Ellery Hale, the diameter of Betelgeuse is certainly more than 200,000,000 miles and probably as much as 275,000,000. The diameter of the sun being 867,000 miles, Betelgeuse is therefore roughly of 250 times greater diameter and 15,000,000 times greater volume. However, it is supposed to consist of matter in an extremely attenuated condition. Though the weight of Betelgeuse is now known, the fact that no star whose weight has been determined is as much as 100 times as heavy as the sun makes it unlikely that Betelgeuse is heavy in proportion to its volume.

Uncomplimentary Fact

"It certainly isn't very flattering when you come to think about it," mused Smith. "Well, I'm no mind reader, but I'm willing to think about it. Spill it," said Brown. "Oh, I was just thinking how small it makes a husband feel to see how deadly afraid of a mouse his wife is and how deadly unafraid of him she is," replied Smith. —Cincinnati Enquirer.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

"Beware of Widows" with Laura La Plante and "A Hero on Horseback" with Hoot Gibson are the feature pictures for four days beginning Sunday at the University. On the same program is another of "our unofficial ambassador" pictures entitled "Hiking Through Holland with Will Rogers." Neither Laura La Plante nor Hoot Gibson need any introduction to the patrons of the University and Will Rogers can count his admirers by the million.

For the last three days of the week the pictures are "The Kid Sister" with Marguerite de la Motte and "Running Wild" with that prince of fun makers William C. Fields. "Running Wild" is the story of a mild and henpecked husband who develops unexpected initiative and independence and how folks do step around when he gets going good. Fields' pictures are always good and this one is considered the best one of the year.

BRINGS BACK FIRST COLOR PHOTOGRAPHS OF KASHMIR'S ROYAL COURT

An emerald two and one-half inches across gleams in all its natural brilliance on the pink, silk-clad, manly chest of the Maharaja of Kashmir at the headquarters of the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.

The Maharaja in the full panoply of Oriental splendor has been brought to the United States by Franklin Price Knott, camera painter, on the first natural color photographs ever made of the royal court of Kashmir.

Mr. Knott has just returned from an eight months' trip to the picture places of the Orient, requiring a journey of 40,000 miles. In his luggage he brought back the color of the Orient in a few hundred natural color photographs.

Mr. Knott went to Japan to photograph geisha girls and Mt. Fuji, to China for Buddha temples, to Kashmir for the most beautiful valley in the world and to the Island of Bali in the Dutch East Indies for the unspoiled perfection of a remarkably colorful native life practically unknown to travelers.

While in Kashmir Mr. Knott received permission to photograph the Maharaja of Kashmir in his coronation costume.

The Maharaja expressed an eager desire to come to the United States, said Mr. Knott at the Geographic Society headquarters.

The Maharaja summoned me to the green and blue tiled pool in the royal palace at Jammu where he was bathing with a dozen natives diving and splashing, continued Mr. Knott. After the swim servants brought to him tray after tray of exquisite jewelry; pins, necklaces, rings, and bracelets. From some trays he would select a piece and wave the rest away. When I finally photographed him with his aides, he was wearing, I was told, $4,000,000 worth of pearls.

While I was in Jammu the Viceroy of India paid a visit to the Maharaja. Great preparations were made for his visit and I was able to get pictures of the elephants caparisoned in brilliant cloths bearing gilded seats and a pony with a king's ransom of emeralds on his bridle. I made the photographs while the court rehearsed the reception at the railroad station the day before the Viceroy arrived. For the event the station was decorated with Persian carpets and Kashmir hand-woven work.

Both the Viceroy and the Maharaja are fond of shooting so the Indian prince had hundreds of his subjects cut a road through the deep snows of the pass. Motor cars then took the party to the duck marshes of the Vale of Kashmir. The Kashmir duck record is held by seven men who shot 2100 ducks in five hours, the Maharaja leading with 513 ducks to his credit. I drove through the pass a day later and rented a houseboat with living rooms, bedrooms and baths which I used while taking color pictures.

It is regrettable that in this Vale of Kashmir surrounded by glittering ice-capped mountains and considered the world's most beautiful valley, there are almost no women except those of the laboring classes, to be seen, said Mr. Knott. It is contrary to social custom for women of the better classes to be seen on the streets or in public places.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue and in execution of the Power of Sale contained in a certain mortgage given by Walter Smith of Methuen, Essex County, Massachusetts, to Mary A. Murphy of Winchester, in the County of Middlesex, dated November 16, 1926, and recorded with Middlesex South District Registry of Deeds in Book 5039, Page 299, of which mortgage the undersigned is the owner, for breach of the conditions of said mortgage, and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at 2:00 o'clock in the afternoon, on the eighth day of August A. D. 1927, on the premises hereinafter described, all and singular the premises described in said mortgage.

To wit: A certain parcel of land situated in Winchester, Middlesex County, being shown as Lots No. 9 to 19 inclusive, as shown on plan of land "Winchester, Mass., dated July 1924, Parker Holbrook, Engineer," recorded with Middlesex South District Registry of Deeds, plan book 352, plan 23, being bounded and described as follows:

Southwesterly by Cross Street four hundred and fifty six and seventy four one-hundredths (456.74) feet; southerly by a curved line forming the junction of Cross Street and Washington Street as shown on said plan twenty one and twenty-one hundredths (21.20) feet; southeasterly by Washington Street as shown on said plan one hundred and eight and forty-three one-hundredths (108.43) feet; northeasterly by Marion Street as shown on said plan three hundred and thirty and seventy one-hundredths (330.70) feet; northerly and northwesterly by said Marion Street as shown on said plan two hundred and fifteen and eighty-six one-hundredths (215.86) feet.

Excepting therefrom that portion of the above described premises which have been released from the operation of this mortgage by releases duly recorded with said Registry of Deeds.

Said premises will be sold subject to all unpaid taxes and municipal liens, if any there are.

Five hundred dollars will be required to be paid in cash by the purchaser at the time and place of sale, other terms to be announced at the time and place of sale.

A Cynic Speaks

Director of personnel of a large industrial corporation finds that married men are less liable to injury while at work than divorced chaps or bachelors. This is an upset of theories, indeed. Our impression was that the fact the average man didn't care much what happened to him conduced to make him careless.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Chinese Still Retain Reverence for Dragon

The great dragon lanterns of China are still in evidence at all public festivals, but since the introduction of Christianity they have lost much of their old-time significance and superstition.

The dragon lantern is an immense construction of silk on a bamboo frame made to resemble a giant dragon, often 100 feet long, and carried through the streets on poles by a score of carriers. The men wave their part of the dragon back and forth, which gives it an exceedingly lifelike appearance.

The silk covering is grotesquely painted, and in each section of the body there is a lighted candle. In the cities the dragon is considered a joke, but in the country districts it is still held in religious reverence.

A dragon passing the house of a prosperous farmer, it is invited in, and crossing the threshold it brings good luck to the proprietor of the place. His crops will be good and his cattle will flourish. The daughter will make a happy marriage. In return for the visit he must entertain the carriers and then make them a present of a sum of money, and a piece of red cloth to pin upon the dragon's body.—Chicago Journal.

Fad of Modern Girls Costs Mothers Money

"I'm glad my daughter is so small," said the mother of the college girl, "because that gives her a chance to wear out her own clothes. What do I mean? Why, didn't you know that college girls borrow one another's clothes as easily and boldly as a youth takes a cigarette off of a friend? Yes, that's the custom now, and many a mother fairly bubbles over with rage when she sees her daughter's apparel going to pieces through some one's wearing it besides daughter. It does no use to protest, for daughter snaps back: 'You're old fashioned and very stingy. All girls lend their clothes nowadays.' The mothers wail back: 'But I bought and paid for those clothes; you didn't. What right have you to lend them?' And daughter reproves: 'How frightfully ungenerous you are, mother!' Yes, I've known about this clothes-lending business and I'm glad enough that my daughter is unusually small so that there'll be less chance for lending."—Springfield Union.

Village Transported

Dwellers on the eastern shores of the Caspian sea known as the Turcomans are famous for the custom of carrying their villages with them wherever they go. Their settlements are not merely camps, but real villages, the units composing them being portable houses and not tents. These traveling houses are constructed with remarkable skill and ingenuity and are so light and compact when packed for a journey that they are easily carried by a camel. The Indians of North America are known to have carried their villages also, but these were not as elaborate as the towns of the Turcomans.—London Tit-Bits.

The Tots

Betty had been invited to her little friend Margaret's birthday party. When it was over, Betty said as she was leaving for home, "mother said I had a lovely time."

"Daddy," said the motorist's little boy, "when bees hum have they touched a little lever in their bodies and gone on low gear?"

Small Jackie, on the verge of three, surprised his mother one evening recently by adding to his evening prayer, "please God, send August a little sooner this year, 'cause I'se tired of waitin' for my birfday."—Boston Transcript.

Inspiration for Hymns

Quite a number of holiday haunts in England are associated with hymns. For instance, it is said that the view of the coast of England as seen across the Solent by char-a-banes riders on their way round the Isle of Wight suggested to Doctor Watts his hymn, "There is a land of pure delight." The well known lines: "Sweet fields beyond the swelling flood stand dressed in living green" present a perfect picture of the scene on a bright summer day, and the image of "Death, like a narrow sea," dividing this world from the next seems to point the same way.

Not Guilty

At a parade of a company of newly called men, the drill instructor's face turned scarlet with rage as he slated a new recruit for his awkwardness.

"Now, Rafferty," he roared, "you'll spoil the line with those feet. Draw them back at once, man, and get them in line."

Rafferty's dignity was hurt.

"Plaize, Sargint," he said, "they're not mine; they're Mickey Doolan's in the rear rank."—Western Machinery World.

Encouraging

Herbert was confiding his troubles to a friend.

"Yes, she refused me," he said, with a curious smile, "but she did it in a most encouraging way."

"How was that?" asked the friend. "It doesn't seem to worry you much."

"As I went away she pointed to my footprints on the linoleum in the hall and said: 'Next time you come to propose to me I hope you'll remember to wipe your shoes on the mat!'"

Not Hard to Protect Trees From Rodents

Rabbits and mice destroy thousands of dollars' worth of young trees annually, according to the observations of a well-known fruit specialist, who recommends the use of some scheme of protecting the growths. Several kinds of protectors are commonly used for this purpose, namely, heavy roofing paper which does not contain tar, or wood veneer protector, as sold by nurseries and fruit supply houses. However, a galvanized wire of one-quarter of an inch mesh is said to be the best. While it is more expensive than the other two, it will last for many years and does not have to be removed from the tree in the spring, as should be done with the paper and wood protections.

The protectors should be placed around the trees in such a way that mice cannot get in from underneath and at a height of about 30 inches, so that the entire trunk may be protected. If the wire mesh is used, cutting the wire is advised in order that the protection formed will be four or five inches in diameter to allow for several years' growth of the trunk.

East Can Teach West Proper Use of Time

Time, the most precious thing in the western world, and particularly in America, is, in the Orient, given its proper value in relation to living. In countries like China that have endured for centuries time is not measured off in ruthless blocks, so many years of irresponsible childhood, so many years of frantic work in a great furnace of competition, pitifully few years in which to prepare for the dread specter of old age and then, oblivion. Time in the Far East is a motionless procession of days gliding soundlessly one into the other, all of them precious, but none of them to be regarded as one's last chance.

A man works. He does his best. His business is never too pressing for him to welcome the stranger. And when he lunches or dines he does just that, making a pleasurable accomplishment out of a necessary function instead of resenting the necessity and satisfying it in a 15-minute series of gulps.—From Japan.

Locomotive's Breathing

The puffing of a railway engine is a common-enough sound, but few people know by what it is regulated. Actually the number of puffs made by a locomotive in the course of a journey depends on the circumference of its driving wheels.

No matter what the speed of the train may be, the engine will give four puffs for every complete turn of the driving wheels. The wheels may vary in circumference, but the average is 20 feet.

With the average driving wheels and a speed of fifty miles an hour, a locomotive will give 880 puffs a minute, or 52,800 puffs an hour, the driving wheels performing 13,200 complete revolutions in the sixty minutes.

Lesson in Spelling

Ralph Waldo Emerson got a lesson in spelling as-she-is-spoke from R. H. Richardson of the Electric Bond and Share company, a globe-trotter, who has laid up a vast store of varied information and philosophy.

Young Richardson, when a little lad, attended school at Concord, Mass. Emerson was then head of the school board. The members appeared at school at certain intervals and put the pupils through more or less of an oral examination.

The sage, pointing to Richardson, asked: "How do you spell horse?"

"H-o-s-s," came the instantaneous reply.

Even the grave Emerson had to smile.—Forbes Magazine (New York).

Strict Dietetic Rules

Followers of the Buddhist religion give attention to a strict regulation in their eating and drinking habits. Intoxicating beverages are expressly forbidden and the eating of meat is permissable only under the following restrictions: One must have killed the animal himself, he must not have ordered any one to kill it, it must not have been killed by any one with the intention of supplying it to him, and he must not suspect that the animal has been killed. However, meat-eaters among the Buddhists of Ceylon, Burma, and Siam get around these laws.

He Understood

A young man fell in love with a girl who did not return his affection. After he had proposed to her several times she lost her temper and replied:

"Look here, I ain't going to marry you—never. I wouldn't marry you, not if you was the last man on earth, and I don't want nothing to do with you. Is that plain English?"

"It is plain enough," replied the unabashed suitor, "but it isn't English, you know."

Postgraduate Diploma

"When one of my feminine friends asks how old I am," said the resourceful woman, "I always put the burden of the fib on the questioner." "How do you mean?" "I just say lightly: 'Oh, I'm a year or two older than you, you know, my dear—at least a year older. Let me see now, how old are you?' And then she always knocks more off my age than I should ever have the courage to do myself."—Boston Transcript.

EVANGELINE'S "EDEN IN LOUISIANA," ENGULFED BY FLOOD

The United States' sixth Great Lake, the Lake of the Mississippi, larger than Ontario or Erie, has engulfed the Evangeline country.

When it broke the Atchafalaya River's west dikes, the flood lake rolled its shores over and beyond St. Martin and St. Landry parishes.

Again the Acadians have been driven from their homes, says a bulletin of the National Geographic Society from its Washington, D. C. headquarters. And the disaster is greater, by number of sufferers, than that visited upon Evangeline's people in her time.

Only 8000 Acadians were expelled from Nova Scotia in 1765 by Massachusetts and British bayonets to be scattered over the earth from Detroit to Corsica and Cayenne. Fifteen hundred of them found their way to New Orleans; many pushed on to Bayou Teche, 150 miles west. There they increased to some 150,000, occupying 15 parishes, or counties, when the flood spread over their homes, towns, and lands.

Beautiful is the land, with its prairies and forests of fruit trees.
Under the feet a garden of flowers, and the bluest of heavens
Bending above, and resting its dome on the walls of the forest.
They who dwell there name it the Eden of Louisiana
All year round the orange groves are in blossom, and grass grows
More in a single night than a whole Canadian summer.

For a poet, Longfellow's geography is fairly good. Basil, the Acadian blacksmith, has become a herdsman in Evangeline. Most of the refugees of 1765 did turn to stock raising with a few cattle given to them by charitable French merchants of New Orleans.

Descendants of the Acadians gave up stock raising for sugar cane when Etienne de Bore, a Louisianan, discovered how to crystallize sugar from cane syrup. They have helped to make Atchafalaya Valley the Sugar Bowl of Louisiana.

The route over which Longfellow takes Evangeline serves very well for a visitor today. Fifteen miles below Baton Rouge, where,

Sweeps with majestic curve the river away to the eastward
They, too, swerved from their course; and entering the Bayou of Plaquemine,
Soon were lost in a maze of sluggish and devious waters.

This bayou admits to the lakes of the Atchafalaya, where water lilies in myriads rocked on the slight undulations, and rocked for years until the Mississippi broke through, threatening to make the Atchafalaya River its real mouth instead of an abandoned one.

How Evangeline got to Bayou Teche the poem does not clearly relate. Many swamp lanes communicate. The Bayou Teche parallels the Atchafalaya but it is a true river out of the reach of swamps and bordered by Druid oaks. The two early centers of Acadian settlement were Opelousas and St. Martinsville on the banks of the Teche. Now the flood has reached St. Martinsville for the first time in history and swirls at the foot of the Evangeline oak where her boatmen landed. An Acadian descendant gave the Evangeline oak, with 150 acres of land, for a State park.

While to readers of Evangeline the inhabitants of Southwest Louisiana are still Acadians, to Louisianians they are 'Cajans or 'Cajuns, a corruption of Acadian. Four kinds of Frenchmen inhabit the State: the Creoles, natives of French and Spanish descent; Frenchmen, who were born in France; the San Domingan Creoles, and finally the Nova Scotian Acadians, the 'Cajans.

The typical Creole frequents the city; the 'Cajan remains a countryman. Rescue workers with experience in France have found the 'Cajan very like the French farmer; conservative, loving his home and family, and attached to his property with such devotion that flood danger warnings cannot make him leave his lands.

The savor of the 'Cajan coast comes to us even though we never travel there. It rises steaming from chicken gumbo soup—real gumbo soup—a 'Cajan creation. It rides on the blues smoke wreaths from many pipes, for perique tobacco is also a 'Cajan product. They cure perique tobacco in its own juice. They ship it to New Orleans as black, hard, gnarled lumps. One pipeful of straight perique will put a man under, it is said, but as an ingredient it contributes to the fragrance and most certainly to the cost of well-known tobaccos.

Under the sad banners of Spanish moss waving on Evangeline's oak at St. Martinsville, one hears a different ending to the story Longfellow has given us in verse.

Evangeline's real name was Emmeline la Biche, 'Cajans says, and Gabriel was Louis Arceneaux. They were deported on separate ships, but Emmeline landed in Maryland. Emmeline heard that Louis was in Louisiana, so she set out to reach him, and after many hardships came to St. Martinsville.

Gabriel had gone, according to Longfellow, but Louis was there. In fact, local legend holds Emmeline rushed to Louis, the first person she saw at the landing. Louis told her, gently, that he had despaired of seeing her again. He had married. When she heard this her arms slipped from his neck. Her mind became blank. Emmeline day by day grew more frail. She drooped and died. This is the 'Cajan story.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue and in execution of the Power of Sale contained in a certain mortgage given by Charles S. Wigglesworth to Samuel Willard Richardson dated September 18, 1919 and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 1298, Page 331, of which mortgage the undersigned is the present holder, for breach of the conditions of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at Public Auction at 10 o'clock A. M. on Tuesday the second day of August A. D. 1927, on the premises hereinafter described, all and singular the premises described in said mortgage, to wit:

A certain parcel of land with the buildings and improvements thereon situated in said Winchester, including Lots numbered seventy (70), seventy-one (71), seventy-two (72), seventy-three (73), and seventy-four (74), on a Plan entitled "Plan of Land in Winchester, Mass., owned by Moses P. Richardson", and dated February 2, 1895, made by Charles A. Bowman, C. E., and recorded in Middlesex Registry of Deeds (South District) at the end of Record Book 2341. The said parcel of land is bounded as follows: viz:

Beginning at a stone bound on Forest Street at land formerly of Harriet R. White, and thence running Northerly by said land formerly of White two hundred and twenty-six and 38/100 (226.38) feet to a stone bound at land now or formerly of Granville Richardson; thence Westerly by said land of Granville Richardson, one hundred and eighty-one and 76/100 (181.76) feet to Washington Street; thence Southerly on said Washington Street, two hundred and thirty-one and 01/100 (231.01) feet to the curved street line at the junction of Washington Street and Forest Street; and thence by the junction of said two streets, Southerly, Southeasterly and Easterly two hundred and twelve and 95/100 (212.95) feet to the point of beginning.

The above described premises are also shown on a Plan entitled "Plan of Lots, Winchester, Mass., surveyed for Charles S. Wigglesworth", dated September 1919, Parker Holbrook, Eng'r, to be herewith recorded, on which the said premises are shown as Lots numbered one (1), two (2), three (3), four (4), five (5) and six (6) respectively, but no rights of way or other easements in the above granted premises are created or reserved by this deed.

Being the same premises conveyed by deed recorded with said mortgage but excepting from the above described premises lots 1, 2, 3, and 4, as shown on said "Plan of Lots in said Winchester, Mass., surveyed for Charles S. Wigglesworth" dated September 1919, Parker Holbrook, Eng'r, recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book of Plans 278, Plan 1, which have been released from the operation of said mortgage by four separate partial releases, respectively recorded with said deeds as follows: Book 4303, Page 577 for Lot 1, Book 4321, Page 312 for Lot 2, Book 1563, Page 192 for Lot 3, and Book 4559, Page 69 for Lot 4.

Said premises will be sold subject to outstanding encumbrances if any thereon.

$200 is to be paid in cash by the purchaser at the time and place of sale and the balance in ten days from the date of sale at the office of Daniel C. Linscott, Atty., 21 Milk Street, Boston, Mass. Other terms to be announced at the place of sale.

Chats With YOUR Gas Man

A WATCHED POT NEVER BOILS!

This homely old adage has a real foundation in the fact that every lift of the cover allows part of the heat to escape and lengthens the time required for cooking. The same principle applies to the frequent peeps in the oven that are necessary when there's no scientific regulation of the heat.

It not only seems longer when you have to watch the pot; it actually is longer!

But thanks to modern science, the up-to-date gas range assumes this burden and controls the heat at exactly the right degree for whatever you are cooking. You need not even stay at home during a long, tedious baking. Nothing will overcook. Nothing will undercook. The little heat regulator keeps a sharp watch, controlling the heat more accurately than you could do it. Of course you'll have one of these ranges in your kitchen, sooner or later. Why not get it now and enjoy its helpfulness through the hot months.

"If It's Done With Heat, You Can Do It Better With Gas."

To the Selectmen of the Town of Winchester:

The undersigned represents that she is the owner of the land and building on Swanton street, formerly the Chapin School lot and building. That said land is principally in an industrial district but the front part is in a semi-residence district so that the said building, while for the most part in an industrial district, cannot be used for industrial purposes.

She therefore makes application, under the provisions of Section 8 of the Zoning By-law, for permission to extend said building into the adjoining semi-residence district a distance of not exceeding fifty feet and to use the same for manufacturing or commercial purposes. The petitioner waives no rights which she now has or may have against any persons whatsoever.

Upon the foregoing application, it is hereby ORDERED: That a public hearing be held thereon in the Selectmen's room in the Town Hall building on Monday, the 25th day of July, 1927, at 8:00 P. M., and that fourteen days' public notice thereof be given, at the expense of the applicant by publishing a copy of said application, together with this order, in the Winchester Star, on July 8th and July 15th, 1927; that notice thereof be given to the owners of all the land adjoining the land described in the application, and all land within one hundred feet of the same, by mailing to them, postage prepaid, a copy of said application and order, and that a copy of said application and order be posted in a conspicuous location upon said premises.

THE MIDNIGHT MINISTRY SOMETHING NEW UNDER THE MOON

Millions of people seek entertainment by radio in the evening hours, much of it dance music, which is welcomed by the light-hearted. But what about those who are heavy-hearted, sleepless, or anxious? At last someone has thought of them and planned to give them, by radio, the kind of program which they heartily welcome. For many people the hours between midnight and morning seem endless and hard to endure. To meet their needs "The Midnight Ministry" has been planned, an hour's broadcast beginning on the stroke of the midnight hour. Not only does it fill one of the hardest hours of the whole twenty-four, but it suggests thoughts which will be a happy memory for any who remain awake.

This new radio feature, different from anything ever offered before, has been launched at the radio station WBSO, Babson Park, at Wellesley Hills, Massachusetts, a suburb of Boston. When the plans had been formed, and the program was put on the air every night, it was evident that "The Midnight Ministry" would be a great success. Even the title attracted attention, and the broadcast won responses from hundreds of people at the very start. The programs have a literary flavor and an optimistic outlook, and, for the hearers, they change the depressing midnight hour into one of inspiration. From the beginning the speaker every night has been Dr. Henry Hallam Saunderson of Boston, well known as an author and the editor of "The Wayside Pulpit."

DR. HENRY HALLAM SAUNDERSON

The broadcast reaches a very wide area, for it begins when other local stations have signed off for the night, and so the program goes out clearly and is not caught in a tangle of other programs. It would be natural to expect thousands of New England people to hear the station, which is near Boston, but responses in large numbers have come from a much wider area. From Halifax in one direction and from New York and Philadelphia in the opposite come letters of appreciation. These long lines suggest a large circle; but responses come from Wisconsin, Minnesota and other distant states, clear across the continent, even from California. Thus some letters come from those whose homes border the Atlantic ocean, and others the Pacific,—surely this is a vast area for "The Midnight Ministry."

The radio station, WBSO, is owned by the Babson Statistical Organization. Indeed the last three letters of the station are the initials of the organization. Mr. Roger W. Babson is deeply interested in the efficient and broad-minded expression of religious truth, and asked the Massachusetts Federation of Churches to arrange for this midnight program. Dr. Henry Hallam Saunderson, Secretary of the Committee on Evangelism, was appointed Manager of the new enterprise, and has taken up the work with energy and enthusiasm. He has had a great deal of experience in radio work and his voice is already known and recognized by thousands of listeners.

When asked why he thought the plan should be successful, he said,—"It is appropriate that this work be carried on by the Federation of Churches. We all know that there are many denominational fences, many things which divide the churches. But there are no fences in the air and there never can be. This ministry has no sectarian spirit whatever, but is broadly human and warmly Christian. Its impulse is a deep sympathy for folks of all classes and creeds, who need help through the most trying hours of the whole twenty-four in the round of the clock." Then he remarked humorously that other speakers try hard to keep their hearers awake, but that he would be glad to know that his hearers all went to sleep and slept soundly the rest of the night!

There is a great deal of human interest in the responses, and many of them are deeply moving to a sympathetic heart. One woman writes: "I have been ill for years, and at times discouraged. But now I have them place my bed by the uncurtained window, where I can look at the stars at midnight, and learn their patience. I listen to your voice in 'The Midnight Ministry,' and I feel the truth of the old saying: 'The Eternal God is thy refuge and underneath are the everlasting Arms.'" Another writes: "Since my early womanhood I have been nearly totally blind as a consequence of a very simple accident. I cannot understand why I am so afflicted, but I have discovered 'The Midnight Ministry' and I listen every night. It is a measureless comfort to me."

A blind man writes: "Day and night are alike to me for I have learned to make the midnight hour my noon, for I get so much help from your wonderful programs. When the others in the house are asleep I gain this inspiration." Quite contrasted is the message of a very active business man who writes: "My work keeps me up late and I get home very tired every night at midnight. But I always go straight to my radio and listen to you for an hour. Then I go to bed serene and confident, and wake ready for a new day of achievement."

Pages might be filled with the responses to this unique broadcast. But many people who know Dr. Saunderson only as a voice coming through the darkness want to know him more personally, and to be able to visualize him. Well then, we take pleasure in giving our readers an introduction to him, for "television" does not yet make it possible for his hearers to look at him while he broadcasts. In physique he is strong and vigorous, of medium height, stocky in build, with a broad face and sympathetic expression. Indeed to speak every night for an hour, as well as to prepare a richly-varied program, is a task to be undertaken only by a man of unusual endurance. Dr. Saunderson is in the prime of middle life, and has had long experience in literary work. His programs include the discriminating use of poetry.

Among his own books is one very useful in these programs, "The Living Word: The Bible Abridged." This is a shorter edition of the Bible, which has been published for public reading and private devotion. He has put his spiritual faith into another book, "The Power of an Endless Life," which expresses an ardent confidence in immortality. He invented a few years ago "The Wayside Pulpit," a system of bulletin boards for churches which he supplies with printed sheets bearing striking sentences. Millions of people read these messages every week. And now through the radio he has become the minister of a huge midnight audience who are learning to recognize his voice, to have confidence in his utterance, and to look to him for good cheer. Plans are being made to present Dr. Saunderson's programs from a larger number of stations, so that everyone in the United States can hear them by tuning in on a nearby station. Thus millions will hear the message of "The Midnight Ministry."

ISLAND OF ELBA: ONCE NAPOLEON'S MINIATURE KINGDOM

The recent discovery of primitive tombs on the Island of Elba, believed to date back to Trojan war times, recalls 298 days that Napoleon ruled the island, after his banishment from France, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Napoleon arrived at Elba on May 3, 1814 and left Feb. 26, 1815, after building a few palaces and villas, and some of which he never used, constructing roads, developing commerce, and bankrupting himself in an attempt to bring about prosperity in his new domain. Chafing under his enforced exile, he returned to France with a few soldiers and began the famous 100 days which ended in his defeat at Waterloo and subsequent banishment to St. Helena.

Hailed by 21 Guns

Portoferrajo, capital of Elba where Napoleon landed, is the largest city on the island, with about 12,000 inhabitants. It occupies a peninsula extending from the western bank of Portoferrajo Bay on the north shore of Elba. From the spacious harbor, the capital resembles a fair-sized amphitheatre with houses built high above one another on the terraced mountainside.

Crowning the heights are the remnants of old forts that recall the days when the invading Turks were twice repelled by the Elbans. When Napoleon entered the harbor, 21 guns from the old ramparts hailed his arrival. Now even the King of Italy could not be thus honored for the guns no longer are there.

Built Palace and Numerous Residences

For a few days Napoleon lived in a Portoferrajo hotel. Recent visitors to the island will wager that the brand-new Elban Emperor did not fail to note the odor of garlic in the hotel dining room if the chefs of the early part of the 19th century were as fond of the growth as they are today. Grilled beefsteak is a favorite ration but a foreigner usually adds "senz aglio," (without garlic) to his order, for Elba cooks pride themselves in the art of seasoning meat with the bulb.

Among the forts Palazzina dei Mulini, the chief dwelling place of Napoleon, still stands. From its windows, Napoleon had an unobstructed view from the Italian coast to the northern cape of Corsica. Portoferrajo's summer heat drove him 1200 feet up the side of Monte San Martino, about three miles southeast of the capital. Villa San Martino, as his new residence was called, became a Napoleonic museum after he left Elba but the place was later ransacked of its mementoes. Napoleon established other residences in various parts of the island, some of which he never used. Once he received a five-room portable house from France to be used as one of his homes. The house was wooden and could be put up in two hours.

Pirates Terrorized Islanders

Elba has several prominent mountain peaks more than 1500 feet high but the islanders point with pride to the heights of Monte Capanne which rises 3343 feet. On clear days its summit affords a splendid bird's-eye view of Elba's 86 square miles, Corsica, the western coast of Italy, and surrounding islands of the Tuscan archipelago. The island of Monte Cristo, which inspired the writing of "The Count of Monte Cristo" lies about 30 miles to the south.

On the southwestern slope of Capanne are the Campo quarries from which the marble for the leaning tower of Pisa was hewn, and on the northern slope the village of Marciana Alta, where the Elbans took refuge when pirates invaded the island in early times.

Greeks Called Elba "Soot Island"

One of the Napoleon-built roads connects Portoferrajo with Porto Longone on Elba's eastern coast. For two centuries, while the rest of Elba belonged to another nation, Porto Longone was held by the Spaniards. Like the capital, the hills in the background of the city are topped with old forts. There is also a fortress-like Italian prison where murderers are condemned to solitary confinement for life.

The Greeks called Elba "Soot Island" because of the smoke from numerous iron ore smelters on the eastern coast and at Portoferrajo. Iron ore has been the backbone of Elba's industrial life since Roman times. The ore is not mined as in this country, but the deposits are reached by excavation. The diggings near Rio Marina, about five miles north of Porto Longone, resemble huge volcanoes. Formerly a large part of the ore was sent to blast furnaces in England.

Few tourists visit Elba. Passenger steamers from Marseille, Genoa, and Leghorn, bound for points in southern Italy, Africa and the Orient skirt the island's eastern shore, but seldom stop there. And tourist accommodations on boats bound to Elba from the Italian mainland are not inviting. Admirers of Napoleon charge the lack of popularity of Elba in part to the biographers of the former ruler whom, they assert, have neglected a short but eventful part of his life.

STRAKONITZ: VICTIM OF TURKISH PROGRESS

When news reached the world that Turkey had abolished the fez it created mild interest.

That is, the interest was mild in nearly all the world except in a little Czechoslovakian village in the Bohemer Wald where it stirred up amazement instead. Now the people of Strakonitz have protested against Turkey's abandonment of its traditional headgear because it cripples their industry of supplying fezzes to Turkey.

The predicament of Strakonitz (the Czechs spell it Strakonice) affords a telling cross-section of Czechoslovakian industry, says a bulletin from the headquarters of the National Geographic Society in Washington, D. C.

Forced Afield For Markets

Long before Czechoslovakian became an independent state it had the habit of making things for other nations. When the buying power of Europe shrank after the war, Czechoslovakians were forced afar for markets as they never were before. The "Yankees of Europe," as they have been called, have been doing business with the "Yankees" of America. What woman is not familiar with Czechoslovakian glass beads from Gablonz, with Czech embroidery and Bohemian glassware?

Strakonitz, Gablonz, Kladno, Pribram, Brunn and other manufacturing towns are in the western end of the country. Czechoslovakia, at first, seemed an awkwardly long name but it helps one remember the geography of the nation. Czech is a short, compact name and likewise the western, or Czech, or Bohemian section, is as compact as a box. Slovakia stretches out on the tongue and geographically tapers out along the Carpathian ridge like a scarf trailing behind the Bohemian box.

The edges of the box are mountain ranges and Strakonitz lies near the south wall. Another way of giving its position is to say that Strakonitz lies halfway between Ceske Budejovice and Pilzen. A still better way is to say that it lies halfway between Budweis and Pilsen, for the German spellings of those towns are far more familiar to an American than the Czech spellings.

Volstead Act Grieved Pilsen

The sorrow caused Strakonitz by the Turkish edict against the fez is a drop in the bucket beside the grief Pilsen faced because of the United States' declaration of prohibition. Pilsen's municipal brewery is the largest in Czechoslovakia and one of the largest in the world. Its product goes to nearly every land. This brewery is a community project operated by a few hundred house owners of the town.

While the textile industries, including the hat making of the Strakonitz district are extensive, even a slight inquiry into Czechoslovakian trade reveals that Bohemia is especially dedicated to beverages. First there is Hana (Moravia) in Moravia between Bohemia and Slovakia, famous for its barley malt which is shipped all over the world. Then there is Saaz (Zatec) in the far west of Bohemia, famous for its hops which are shipped to Pilsen and to Germany. There also are the numerous breweries. And finally there is the extensive glass industry centered in Gablonz (Jablonec) for fancy ware and Teplitz (Teplice), Prague (Praha), etc., for plainer ware.

Disease Carried by Aphids

There is evidence that aphids, which infest so many crops, may carry plant diseases from one farm to another.

FAIRMOUNT PARK

Situated on the West Side of Winchester off of Cambridge Street nearly opposite Calumet Road. A tract of 20 lots of land varying in size from 7000 to 12,000 square feet in area. Every lot affords a beautiful panoramic view of the most attractive part of the town. In addition to the four houses already erected thereon, the Fairmount Associates have purchased five uncompleted houses adjoining their property at a mortgagees sale. This in order not only to conserve the high type of construction originally planned for this tract, but more particularly to control the disposition of these houses, in order to maintain the high class neighborhood to which we set out to create. These aforesaid five houses are nearing completion and will be offered to satisfactory parties at reasonable prices and possibly one or two of these houses may be obtained for rent.

GOOD FELLOWS GET TOGETHER

Thursday, July 21, the employees of Friend Brothers held their annual outing at Thompson's Grove, Wilmington. As is the case every year, this one proved to be the best one ever held, and in view of the fact that it was the 36th, it can be well imagined that everyone had a rip-roaring good time.

Over 500 employees, with their families, were present, representing the four plants operated by Friend Brothers. The members of the concern, and their families, were on hand and the now three famous brothers admitted that they had not had such a good time since the days when they were kids, running around Brooklin, Me. The four managers, Mr. A. Clinton Abbott of Melrose, Mr. Rupert Burnham of Melrose, Mr. Roscoe D. Foster of Lynn, and Mr. W. Harold Burk of Lowell, acted like boys just let loose from school.

"Mel" Crosby, chairman of the day, saw to it that everything went off without a hitch. The day was taken up with ball games, races, treasure hunt, pie eating contest, tug-of-war, and a basket lunch. In the evening, those who cared to, tripped the light fantastic, while those who did not, enjoyed a moving picture show.

MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED

Announcements are being received of the marriage recently of Mr. Francis Murphy of this town and Miss Clarice Gwynne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Gwynne of Fitchburg.

The young couple since their return from a visit to Washington are making their home in Arlington.

Norman Usher, infant son of Harold and Aurdey Fuller of Fletcher street, died yesterday. The funeral services are to be held at the home on Saturday afternoon.

FIRE SCARE AT LYCEUM HALL

What was at first thought to be a fire threatening Lyceum Building turned out to be smoke from a nearby restaurant upon investigation by firemen about 5:20 o'clock last Sunday morning.

Edward Cullen of the Winchester News Company was busy superintending the arrival of the early morning supply of Sunday papers in the square when he noticed smoke apparently issuing from the eaves of Lyceum Building. He quickly pulled Box 21, summoning the Fire Department to the scene.

Entering the building the men were unable to find any fire but those on the outside still were able to see the smoke which hung about the roof and under the broad eaves.

After forcing entrances into several of the business places in the hall, including a large storage space at the Converse place extremity the men were still unable to find any trace of fire. Nor was there any smell of smoke inside the building. And yet the smoke was there.

Finally it was discovered that the smoke was coming across Mt. Vernon street from the fires of the restaurant in the Brown Block, getting ready for the day's activity. The heavy air and lack of breeze had caused the smoke to drift almost imperceptably across the street and to back up against Lyceum Building, hanging under the eaves in a most deceptive manner. It was one on the firemen for as Chief DeCourcy put it, "usually there's fire where there's smoke." The men certainly tried hard to locate the blaze.

LOST AFTER TAKING SWIM

He was only a youngster and not well acquainted with Winchester so it was but natural that he should have become somewhat twisted when he attempted to find his way back home after an extended tour of inspection. At all event the signal man on duty in the tower north of the center noticed the child wondering about the tracks of the B. & M. Railroad last Saturday afternoon and to guard against eventualities took him in charge and notified the Winchester station agent.

The latter got in touch with the police and officer James Farrell took the little boy to the station house. There it developed that he was visiting at the home of a relative on Lake avenue. After allowing the wanderer to rest and somewhat cool off he was taken in the police car to his destination by motorcycle officer Edward O'Connell.

MARRIED AT VALLEY FORGE

Announcement cards are out of the marriage of Mr. A. Cameron Hayden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ashley K. Hayden, of Glengarry, to Miss Hester Coakley, of Gloucester.

Mr. Hayden graduated with honors from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Class of 1921, and is now associated with Irwin & Leighton of Philadelphia, constructing engineers. He is also an instructor at the Drexel Institute of that city.

Miss Coakley graduated from Miss Wheelock's School, of Boston, class of 1921, and has been instructing in kindergarten work in the South.

The wedding took place at the Washington Memorial Chapel at Valley Forge, Pa. On their return from their wedding trip Sept. 1, they will be at home at Stratford court, Lansdowne, Pa.

TIE IN FOUR BALL AT COUNTRY CLUB

SWAM IN RESERVOIR WITH DISASTROUS RESULTS

Knowing officer Ned Shea we'll wager he hated to do it, but duty is duty and drinking water is none the better for having its purity contaminated by swimming, in direct contravention to all law and the statutes. And so when the popular mounted patrolman came upon a swimming party enjoying the cooling waters of the south reservoir last Friday afternoon not even the blistering heat prevented him from escorting its members to the station house.

Officer Shea had noticed four young men some time earlier in the afternoon near the south reservoir, apparently deep in contemplation of one of the signs which the Water Board posts in conspicuous places warning all and sundry of the penalty of the law for violations of the swimming and fishing ordinances. Only the week previous it had cost two young men $10 apiece to enjoy a bit of fishing in the north reservoir, and to those who read the papers this should have been sufficient indication that the printed warnings were not to be flouted with impunity.

Evidently the swimming party, which comprised four young men from Somerville, hadn't heard of the sad fate of the fishermen and also it is evident that two of its members did not believe, to any great extent at least, in the potency of signs as a warning of impending evil.

Consequently when officer Shea decided to take a second look at the south reservoir later in the afternoon he arrived just in time to surprise two of the young men in question, leaving the water. Their companions were seated upon the bank, having refused to venture in.

The young men insisted that they had only gone in for a cooling dip and had hardly been in the water any time at all. Officer Shea, while sympathetic, was obdurate and the culprits were taken to police headquarters where they were booked for appearance in court Wednesday. Personally we didn't envy the judge, having to pronounce sentence for taking a swim on last Friday.

ANOTHER RESCUE AT SANDY BEACH

Hard upon the rescue of a young woman at Sandy Beach last Thursday evening James Marton, 21, of 22 Walnut street, Somerville, was taken unconscious from the waters of Mystic Lake Friday night shortly before 9:50.

Marton was swimming off Sandy when he became exhausted. His struggles were noticed by Life Guard M. J. Norton who went to his assistance and brought him safely ashore. The young man was unconscious when he was gotten onto the beach and a call was sent in to the Winchester Police for a pulmotor and for medical assistance.

In response to the latter Drs. F. R. Brown and H. E. Maynard were soon at the beach while officers Mark Kelley and Robert White responded with the police pulmotor.

Meanwhile Norton and others in the crowd of bathers had worked upon Marton in an effort to revive him. After the unconscious young man had been sufficiently resuscitated by the two physicians to admit of his being moved he was taken to the Winchester Hospital by the Metropolitan Police. He was discharged from the hospital Saturday morning.

MAN ARRESTED, HELD FOR OBSERVATION

William B. Holbrook, 53, of Burligton and Stoughton, was arrested last Saturday evening by officers William Cassidy and Charles Harrold after complaints had been received at headquarters from residents in the vicinity of Pond and Cambridge streets. The man was said to be acting in a strange manner and the officers found upon arrival that he was giving away clothing which he was carrying in a suit case.

The man was poorly clothed himself but the furnishings which he had in the case were of good quality. His money, too, was gone and after questioning him the patrolmen took him to headquarters where he was examied by Dr. Roger M. Burgoyne. The latter decided after his examination that the man should be committed at Danvers for observation and Holbrook was accordingly taken to the hospital there in the police car by officers Edward O'Connell and James Farrell.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Jones have returned to their home on Crescent road after spending a few weeks at Monmouth, Me.

DOLAN—VAYO

Miss Anna Winifred Vayo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Vayo of 13 Arthur street and Thomas William Dolan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Dolan of 22 Border street, were quietly married last Sunday evening in St. Mary's rectory by the Rev. Fr. John P. Sullivan.

Announcement of the wedding came as a complete surprise to the many friends of the young couple, Mr. Dolan having filled an engagement with St. Mary's baseball team a few hours before the ceremony was performed.

The young couple were classmates at the Winchester High School, having been graduated in 1924. The bride attended Burdette College and has been employed as a private secretary with the Boston firm of Stein & Hall. She played for two years on the high school field hockey team and is a member of the Fidelis Club of St. Mary's Parish. Mr. Dolan is widely known as a ball player, having played for the past two seasons with St. Mary's Baseball Club. He has been active in the social life of the young people of St. Mary's Parish and has been president of its Catholic Club. While in high school he was a member of the baseball team which won the Mystic Valley League title in 1924. He is employed at the Boston office of the Cape Ann Tool Company of Rockport which came into prominence when it became known that the forgings for the engine of Lindbergh's airplane were manufactured at its plant. Mr. and Mrs. Dolan are at present enjoying a honeymoon trip on the Cape.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

Winchester's recently formed Rotary Club got off to a flying start, when it provided and erected a handsome sign for the headquarters of the Winchester Council Boy Scouts of America.

The sign has been placed above the main entrance of the headquarters building on South Border road and it is so designed as to be plainly visible to those who drive by. It has a light colored background with black letters reading, "Winchester Council Boy Scouts of America Headquarters." The letters are cleverly touched up in red, white and blue. Of irregular shape to fit the space, the sign is approximately five feet broad at the base. Later an indirect lighting system will be provided so that the sign will be visible at night.

Officials of the Rotary Club have indicated that the sign is an evidence of the active part the new organization plans to take in town activities. The decision of the club to donate the Scout sign was made when it was explained that the headquarters, while in a prominent spot, had never been properly marked so that it would be of the greatest benefit.

POLICE GET ANOTHER MUCH WANTED MAN

Officer John Noonan Makes Arrest Thursday In Center

Daniel W. Ash, 29, of Lynn was arrested in the center yesterday morning at 7:15 by Traffic Officer John H. Noonan and is being held by the police until the arrival of authorities from Trenton, N. J., where it is alleged he is wanted on the charge of having received stolen goods.

At the time of his arrest by Officer Noonan, Ash was driving a Chrysler roadster and was approaching Winchester from the direction of Woburn. The local police had been warned to stop him by Sergeant Sweeney of the Woburn Department who had become suspicious of the young man after he had attempted to have his number plates changed in a Woburn garage.

The message to stop the motorist was taken by Sergeant Rogers who was on desk duty at Headquarters and relayed to Officer Noonan who soon after saw the New Jersey car approaching along Main street.

After Ash had been escorted to the station it was found that he had no license to operate a motor vehicle in his possession. Cross questioning led the authorities to get in touch with the Trenton, N. J. police by phone and it was learned that warrants had been issued there for one answering Ash's description and another man, on the charge of receiving stolen goods. The latter had been arrested at Buffalo, N. Y.

As a result of the information received the young man was locked up to await the arrival of the New Jersey authorities who are scheduled to arrive in Winchester Saturday morning with rendition papers, ready to return the prisoner to Trenton to answer charges preferred.

ITALIAN CELEBRATION PLANS ANNOUNCED

Big Two-Day Program to Honor Feast of the Assumption

Plans for the observance of the Feast of the Assumption, staged annually by the Town's Italian residents and eagerly awaited throughout the entire district, were announced this week.

The program is to be fully as elaborate as those of past years and a large committee is already at work upon the many details. The celebration this year is to extend throughout two days, ending with a display of the famed Italian fireworks which the committee promises will eclipse even last year's wonderful exhibition.

Two bands have been engaged for the celebration that the musicians may be fresh and able to play continuously, an arduous feat when one considers the type of music furnished by these organizations.

The program will open on Sunday morning, Aug. 14, at 9 o'clock when the Chiusano Band will play symphonic marches while parading through the streets of the Italian section of the Town. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon the big parade of the festival will form at St. Mary's Church, and headed by the band, will march through the Italian district to the church by way of Washington street. At 7 o'clock in the evening the Chiusana Band will play the first of the concerts from the band stand on Manchester Field.

On Monday, Aug. 15, the day of the feast, festivities will commence at 5:30 in the afternoon when the Roma Band of Boston, which has often appeared in Winchester at these celebrations, will parade through the Italian quarter. At 7 o'clock the evening concert will be played by the Roma Band on Manchester Field with the big display of fireworks scheduled to commence at 10:30, rather later than usual.

The statement credited to the committee in charge of the current celebration that this year's display of fireworks will be the best ever seen in Winchester is a strong one and yet the committee seems sincere in its remarks. A year ago the display was magnificent, some of the set pieces being almost uncanny in their realism. The American Fireworks Company of Massachusetts has been engaged to furnish the display and has been told emphatically to leave no stone unturned in its efforts to produce the best. There can be no doubting that the display will be excellent but whether it will eclipse that of last August remains a question only time can solve.

The Feast of the Assumption is internationally observed by the Roman Catholic Church and has particular significance for Italians wherever they may be. Its celebration in Winchester has always been one of, if not the very biggest events of the summer season and annually attracts huge crowds to the town. It is not expected that this summer will prove any exception.

Heading the committee on arrangements is Frank D'Attilo as chairman with Ausonio Ficociello, honorary chairman. Pietro Sciascia is treasurer, Alfredo Rolli, secretary, and the remaining members include Domenico Della Sventura, Antonio Maragioglio, Giuseppe Maggio, Alfonso Cucolo, Gaetano Sciascia, Ugo Rolli and Giovanni Cattineri.

ASH CANNOT BE EXTRADITED FOR OFFENSE

The authorities at Trenton, N. J., notified the Winchester police last night that the offense of which Daniel W. Ash is accused is a misdemeanor and not extraditable. Consquently the man arrested by officer John Noonan yesterday morning as answering the description of a fugitive wanted at Trenton for receiving stolen goods will not be held for the authorities of that city. He appeared in the District Court this morning on the charge preferred by the Winchester police, that of driving without a license.

The owners of the machine which he was driving when arrested claimed the car at police headquarters at 12:30 this morning. The roadster was one of the "Drive-your-own" variety and as hired in Trenton the first of July. The man who hired the machine was arrested in Buffalo recently, but the company owning the machine had given up all hopes of ever seeing it again.

Mrs. Arthur L. Brown of Black Horse terrace and Alice Small of the Small Shoppe are leaving Sunday for a trip to Niagara Falls and through New York State.

ST. MARY'S TO MEET NORTH WOBURN TOMORROW

The North Woburn baseball team a club capable of extending any in the independent ranks, will be the attraction on Manchester Field tomorrow afternoon at 3:15. "Steve" Colucci has gathered together a formidable collection of ball tossers and the locals will have to be at their best to continue their winning streak.

St. Mary's has suffered in its recent games from a greatly weakened lineup, several of tis first string players having been unavailable for one reason or another. The club is not rich in reserve material and its losses at the hands of Arlington and the Woburn Pals were sustained largely because its substitutes lacked the experience of the men whom they replaced.

It is one thing to look well in practice with nothing at stake and quite another to do the right thing at the right time under pressure. Several of those who have been playing regularly for St. Mary's lack even the experience of high school ball and it is asking too much to expect them to measure up to the standards of the semi-pro game.

St. Mary's must strengthen its lineup in spots, especially its outfield and above all must take its baseball seriously. Nothing angers the fans more than to see games slip away when ordinarily good playing might have turned them into victories.

The schools will officially open on Wednesday, Sept. 7.

The Department calls the attention of the parents to the days and hours for the special mental tests given to pupils who are under age. The Department's ruling is that a child to be admitted to the kindergarten must be 5 years of age on or before Jan. 1 following the opening of school in September. A child to be admitted to the first grade must be 6 years of age on or before Jan. 1 following the opening of school in September.

If the parent has a child who is not of age to enter, out who believes that the child is more advanced mentally than his age would indicate, he may arrange with the office of the Superintendent of Schools for an appointment for a special mental examination.

The only days upon which the examinations will be given will be as follows: Sept. 1, 2, 3, 6 and 7. Appointments will be made from the hours of 9 to 12 and 1 to 5. The School Department must insist that the tests be given on these days.

All pupils must be vaccinated before entering school.

HURT IN FALL AT J. O. WHITTEN PLANT

Finley Proctor of Salem street, Woburn, an employee at the J. O. Whitten Company's plant off Cross street, was badly hurt Tuesday afternoon when he fell six feet from a staging to the cement floor of the building.

Proctor was engaged in making some repairs to the piping of the plant when the accident occurred. He was picked up by fellow employees who summoned Dr. Roger M. Burgoyne. The latter's examination disclosed that the man was suffering from severe scalp wounds and a possible fractured leg. After first aid treatment at the plant, Dr. Burgoyne took Proctor to his home.

LAST CALL FOR POLL TAXES AUG. 1

COULDN'T ACCOUNT FOR TEN DOLLARS

Agents on duty at railroad stations gradually become question hardened through long years of exposure to a curious public. It consequently takes rather an unusual request to arouse their interest. It can be done upon occasion, however, and the thing actually happened at Winchester Station Monday afternoon when a boy, apparently about nine years of age, approached the window and asked the agent to give him change for a soaking wet $10 bill.

The lad did not look as if he might habitually be possessed of bills of this denomination and the fact that the bank note was wet aroused the agent's suspicion. Upon being questioned, the boy said he came from Stoneham and when asked where he had gotten the bill left the station hurriedly without waiting for his change. The station agent turned the money over to the local police.

BOWDOIN SQUARE THEATRE

Forty local girls and boys will participate in the gigantic Bowdoin Square Theatre Follies, a musical comedy revue which will be offered at that theatre beginning Monday. It will be presented under the direction of the Dolan-DePetro Theatrical studios and it will prove one of the big musical hits of the year. The management is offering cash prizes. Much interest will be centered in the Bathing Girl and also the Beauty Contest held at every performance. Many home town favorites will be viewed. The pictures will offer Marion Davies in "Tillie the Toiler" with Matt Moore, George Fawcett and George K. Arthur in prominent roles. "The Taxi Dancer" will be another film offering with Joan Crawford and Matt Moore in the outstanding roles. Lloyd Hamilton will amuse in "One Sunday Morning" and the Pathe News will be of interest. Opportunity night comes Friday with extra acts on the bill. Concert Sunday at 3.

Free parking service for patrons is offered by the management.

Explaining Meteors

Meteors are never seen from the earth except when they come in contact with the earth's atmosphere. Their speed through the atmosphere causes them to burn and produce the light which we see. They are then within the clutches of the gravity of the earth and always fall toward it. —Pathfinder Magazine.

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC HEALTH WORKERS GIVE SUMMER COURSES

Three members of the State Department of Public Health are giving summer courses at the State Normal Schools of Hyannis and Fitchburg.

Florence E. Miller, R. N., Consultant in School Nursing, is instructing in School Nursing Procedures at the Hyannis Normal School.

Dr. Fredrika Moore is giving for the fourth time her course in Health Education and School Hygiene at the Hyannis Normal School. Dr. Moore includes special instruction on Health Education Procedures and Devices.

Lou Lombard, S. B., Consultant in Nutrition is giving nutritional instruction to the Vocational and Continuation School Teachers at the Fitchburg Normal School.

The Department of Public Health is co-operating with the Department of Education in these courses on School Hygiene for nurses and teachers.

BARTA CAMP

Sunshine, a happy family, beauty of location and wonder of equipment, I found on the first Parents' Day at the new Barta Camp.

On a hillside by Pleasant Lake in Casco, Me., are scattered more than 15 little brown-stained bungalows each with its running water and electric light. Gazing benignantly down upon these and off across the lake to the mountains is the large bungalow where the lively campers eat and dance and gather about the open fire for plays and stories.

At the water's edge are runways, canoe-rock and a steep wooden shute with a diving float off shore. Can't you see the band of bathers—red-capped, blue-capped or green-capped according to their proficiency in swimming?

Two experienced and genial directors—a sister and a brother—and an unusually fine group of councillors and assistants are planning a happy, profitable summer.

Exceeding carefulness, encouragement of good sportsmanship and a lively spirit of fun prevail.

I predict a long life for this camp in its new and beautiful home.

A Mother

CARE OF THE CHILD IN HOT WEATHER

"Mother should guard the health of her baby most carefully during the summer months," says Dr. Champion, Director of the Division of Hygiene, State Department of Public Health. Buy pasteurized milk or else boil it at home. Keep it cool and protect it from the dirt and flies.

Do not overfeed the baby in hot weather. Give him plenty of water—he can get along without food but not without water.

Be sure to keep his skin in good condition. Give him a bath every day and on the very hot ones sponge him off several times during the day. Keep up his regular sun baths but give them in the early morning before 11 o'clock or in the late afternoon after 3 o'clock when the direct rays are not so hot. By this time his skin should be tanned and toughened—a good tan is evidence that the ultra violet rays have been effective.

The older children should have their food as carefully selected and protected as the baby. Let them play during the coolest part of the day in their bathing suits, but be especially careful to guard against sunburn.

TENDERED NOVELTY SURPRISE SHOWER

Miss Katherine Flaherty of this town, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Flaherty of Middlesex street, was pleasantly surprised last Thursday evening when she was tendered a novelty surprise shower at the home of Mrs. Margaret Foley on Main street. Among the large number of guests present was a delegation from the Medford telephone exchange where Miss Flaherty is the senior supervisor. Many handsome and useful gifts were received by the guest of honor who graciously expressed her thanks. Refreshments were served and an entertainment program enjoyed. Miss Flaherty's wedding to Francis Healey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Healey of Arlington, has been set for Aug. 14.

EVERY NEW TIRE LOOKS GOOD.
Dunlops not only look good, but they make good—over rocks and gravel, and ruts and sand.

Thirty-nine years of experience has shown Dunlop how to design a tread that gives maximum traction and slow, smooth wear.

This Dunlop tread is the toughest development of rubber known. And this same tough tread-rubber is carried clear around the sidewall to give maximum protection against rut wear.

You get the full benefit of all this extra tread-mileage because each Dunlop is built with the famous trouble-free cable-twist Dunlop carcass, to provide the high-strength and elasticity so vital to long tire life.

ST. MARY'S LOST CLOSE GAME AT WOBURN

Rain Ended Battle With Minutemen Day Previous

Old Jupiter Pluvius, victor in many a hard fought battle and maker of double-headers and rain checks in the big time, arose in all his glory last Saturday afternoon on Manchester Field and abruptly terminated the ball game between St. Mary's B. B. C. and the Lexington Town Team.

All Winchester was rather disappointed that the battle could not have gone to a decision. Lexington won a seven inning verdict over the locals last summer and naturally Frank Melly's ponies have been champing on the bit to square accounts. It now looks as though they would have to wait a while longer.

During the three frames which the boys managed to get in before old "Jupe" got in his dirty work the game looked to be almost any one's, to borrow a baseball phrase. Lexington was maeing the apple in approved style while Winchester was also getting in some he-man clouting. When the game was called St. Mary's had the sacks loaded with no one down and Mr. Mark Kelley swinging a heavy bat at the platter. We would have wagered a thin dime that runs would he forthcoming. As it was the locals were leading and very probably would have won the old ball game but you never can tell. The batteries were: for Winchester, J. Tansey and Melly; for Lexington, Peterson and Russell.

Sunday afternoon at Library Park, Woburn, "Doc" Doherty's Woburn "Pals" evened the count in the series between themselves and the St. Mary's B. B. C., by defeating the locals in an interesting game, 5 to 4.

The astute doctor had strengthened his lineup materially by the acquisition of Doucette of Reading with Strathdee, Kelley and Ellis, late of the Tufts nine and now with the Somerville "Twi" outfit. This gave him a nifty club, but with all due respect to its potential strength St. Mary's should have won the ball game, had its players shown even ordinary ability in spots.

The Woburn boys heaved a prolonged sigh of relief when they learned that one Francis Tansey, southpaw of parts who had upended them in most approved fashion when the clubs met in the previous battle, was not to work on Sunday.

"Jomma" Dolan, erstwhile shortfielder went to the hill for St. Mary's and pitched plenty good enough ball to win with good support. He literally hooked the hard hitting "Pals" to death and the 6 blows garnered off his delivery were by no means bunched.

"Crossy" McElheney pitched good ball for the winners, holding St. Mary's to 10 safeties. Big "Harpy-Fitz" went hitless though he met the apple each time he was at the rubber. "Jackie" Hevey, veteran shortstop, was the whole works for Winchester, hitting the ball hard and playing well in the field.

St. Mary's started in the first, scoring a run on "Tom" Dolan's single and Hevey's double. Tansey ended things by hitting into a questionable double play.

Woburn went into the lead in its half of the opener. Doucette rapped to Kelley and "Mex's" wild heave allowed the runner to make second. Seeing "Fitz" had hardly recovered the apple Doucette continued to third and when "Harpy" heaved a couple of miles over Kelley's head trotted in with the tally. "Doc" Doherty drove out a double and advanced on Strathdee's out at first. Seeing that "Jomma" was taking plenty of time with his wind-up the venturesome first-sacker started for home with the motion and was declared safe.

Winchester evened the count in the 3rd. "Tommy" Dolan reached second on Strathdee's miscue after forcing brother "Jomma." He scored on Hevey's fine pinch single.

The locals were out in front in the 5th. J. Dolan doubled mightily to left, but his hit went for nothing, he being run down between bases on T. Dolan's rap to Ellis. Hevey's third hit of the game sent "Tom" to third and both he and "Jackie" counted on Tansey's Texas leaguer to left.

Woburn knotted the count in the 6th. The speedy Ellis beat out a hit to short and went all the way around when Roy McGrath lost "Doc" Doherty's single in right. The "Doc" made third on the boot which was very costly since he scored a moment later on Strathdee's single. Good fielding might have prevented any scoring in this frame, or at worst should have limited it to a single tally.

Winchester had a real chance to score in its half of the 9th when McGrath punched out a hit and reached third safely. With only one away it was questionable judgement to try and score on a rap to the pitcher, but that's what happened and the runner was out.—way out.

It was still a tie score when Woburn went to bat in the 9th. Jumbo Kelley doubled and "Joe" Doherty worked "Jomma" for a pass. Costello hit sharply to McGrath in right and Kelley was over with the winning tally.

LOUISE PACKER WINS BEVERLY TITLE

Winchester was well represented in the final tennis ratings resulting from the annual juvenile tournament held at the Montserrat Golf Club, Beverly, last week. Louise Packer, one of the foremost among the Town's junior net stars and number one singles player on the high school girls' team for the past two seasons, won top honors in the girls' singles and also came through nicely in the mixed doubles, paired with Frank Carleton, another local champ.

Louise won her way into the finals of the tourney by showing some very consistent tennis in the preliminary and semi-final rounds. In the final round her opponent was Katherine Winthrop, also a seeded player. Always a good match player, the Winchester entry breezed through a winner in straight sets, 6—2, 6—3.

In the mixed doubles Louise and Frank Carleton won their way into the finals at the expense of Betty Pope and William Porter; winning in straight sets, 7—5, 6—2. In the final round the local team won from Eleanor Fabyan and Edward Pugh, 6—2, 6—4.

Pugh, a local boy, won his way into the semi-final and final rounds of the boys' singles; defeating Everett Shaw in the first named, 6—4, 6—4. In the finals he was defeated in straight sets by John Ray, young Boston Latin star, 7—5, 6—3.

In the girls' doubles Louise Packer and Nancy Bradlee got as far as the semi-final round before losing a hard three set match to the ultimate winners in this division, Katherine Winthrop and Nancy Shaw. The scores were 5—7, 6—4, 8—6.

Frank Carleton and Sidney Paine of Winchester went great guns in the boys' doubles matches, winning their preliminary and semi-final matches in nice form. In the final match they were pitted against what was admitted to be the strongest combination in the tourney, John Ray and Nat Niles, Jr. The local boys gave a splendid account of themselves and gave their more widely known opponents a real struggle for top honors before they were finally defeated in three hard sets, 6—1, 4—6, 7—5.

Carleton was very much in the tournament, winning the boys' consolation singles from George W. Wightman, Jr., 6—4, 6—3. To those who are interested in Winchester tennis it is becoming increasingly apparent that a group of youngsters is being developed in town who will soon become second to none in this district. From the very start those in charge of the young players have insisted upon tournament play as a means of gaining experience, and from seeing themselves eliminated in the early rounds the local entrants have so improved as to find themselves in many instances good enough to be seeded in the draw.

The spendid record which the high school girls have made during the past two seasons when they went through their entire schedules without meeting a defeat at the hands of a schoolgirl team is proof positive that the town in beginning to arrive in tennis. The boys' team has also been very successful and individually both boys and girls have been making themselves felt in open tournaments. The best part of the youngsters' improved game is that it is soundly built upon a groundwork of correct instruction. There has been nothing haphazard about Winchester's tennis, so far as the youth of the town is concerned, and the opportunities offered have so far as possible heen general. In a few more years we may yet see a champion come from the splendid group of boys and girls who have learned the game at Palmer street.

Peanuts Salted in Shell

Salting peanuts in the shell is done quite extensively in the tropics. The peanuts are boiled in the salt liquid and then allowed to dry, after which they are roasted. No special equipment is required for this process.

CADILLAC INTRODUCES NEW BODY STYLE ON LA SALLE CHASSIS

Another new addition to the La Salle line of body styles is the town sedan, a Fisher-built five-passenger close-coupied model introduced this week by the Cadillac Motor Car Company and being displayed by John H. Bates, Inc., of Woburn, distributors for Winchester. The new model is of striking appearance, possessing the characteristic LaSalle lines but marked by unusual features in seating arrangement, curves of the rear, and the design of the rear quarter.

To secure a more than usually companionable atmosphere for driver and passengers, the rear seat has been moved forward several inches closer to the driving seat, giving practically the same effect as in a Victoria-type body.

By use of a cut-away under the rear of the front seat, more than sufficient leg room is provided for rear seat passengers, disproving the generally accepted idea that the close-coupled type of body must necessarily be lacking in roominess.

Added comfort is provided by short, side arm-rests in the rear seat and deep, well-sprung upholstery. The front door is exceptionally wide, while the rear door is smartly narrow, conforming in shape to the lines of the rear fender.

Other features are the metal back and the distinctive body lines of the rear, which terminate in an attractive contour giving a small deck effect at the juncture of body and chassis. The model is beautifully appointed and is furnished in striking color schemes and may be seen by calling John H. Bates, Inc., at Woburn.

SEAL OF THE TOWN OF WINCHESTER MASS. WATERFIELD 1638 WINCHESTER 1850

July 18, 1927

To the Board of Selectmen,
Winchester, Mass.
Gentlemen:

The undersigned respectfully petitions for authority to use a barn at 40 Pond street for office purposes in accordance with the provisions of Section 7 of the Zoning regulations of the Town of Winchester.

Flax Production

Under average conditions the harvesting time for flax is about eighty days after planting though this period may vary from 70 to 100 days, according to the season. Extremely hot and dry weather will shorten the growing period while cool, damp weather tends to lengthen it.

It is for you to decide as you analyze your own life whether you are good or not, whether you are as good as you know how to be, and whether you are better this year than you were last.—Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Something always turns up for the man who digs.

Your real friend will always see the best that is in you, which should call for the best you can offer.

There are two kinds of people in this world, those who borrow books and those who return them.

No honor can be too great for any man who has honestly and uncomplainly done his very best.

If an hour is lost in the morning, it will require the rest of the day to find it.

We hope you paid that fite bet cheerfully.

The Metropolitan authorities are certainly lax in handling the frequenters, male and female, at Sandy Beach—as we have previously had occasion to mention. Why these half-grown and full-grown patrons of the place should be allowed to stand in the roadway in front of approaching cars, refusing to move, and solicit transportation, we cannot understand. They deliberately step in front of cars, forcing them to stop, in pressing their demands. Demands appears to be the fitting word, for a refusal to take them into one's car and carry them to their destination is received with a volume of abuse as vile as it is unwarranted. The Star agrees with its lady subscriber who complains of the conditions. It certainly should be stopped. The situation appears to be no worse than it has been during the past few years and probably the same amount of attention will be given it—which amounts to none, but why every driver of an automobile, including ladies, should be subject to insult and the possibility of causing personal injury, simply because the patrons of this bathing resort have got to be provided with transportation is difficult to understand. We have been in the habit of taking a daily swim in Mystic Lake ourselves, and have likewise been in the habit of picking up a car full of kids both going and coming. The kids are not the offenders. They are glad to get a ride and in most cases they do not expect it. The grown patrons of the resort are the offenders and they should be properly handled by Metropolitan officers—which they are not! The conditions have been such this season that we personally have preferred to travel to the lake via Grove street rather than run the guantlet at Sandy Beach. We sympathize with our subscriber and recommend that she take her personal complaint up with the Metropolitan Commission.

WINCHESTER TO HAVE FUNERAL HOME

Kelley & Hawes to Erect a Handsome Structure on Elmwood Avenue

Bids have already been asked for the construction of the handsome new funeral home which the local firm of Kelley & Hawes is to erect on Elmwood avenue at the corner of Vine street.

The plans call for a building of semi-colonial type, of brick and stucco construction, approximately 72x46 ft. fronting upon Elmwood avenue. Nothing has been spared in the effort to make it one of the finest funeral homes to be found anywhere in this district.

On the ground floor is to be a chapel, with domed ceiling and handsome pulpit, having a seating capacity of 75 persons. Also on this floor are a waiting room with toilet facilities, offices, supply and trimming rooms, mergue and operating room, the last named entirely apart and reached through the garage in which will be housed the company's up-to-date motor funeral equipment.

The second floor of the home will contain six bedrooms, two baths and closet space, the whole to be heated by a modern oil-burning system. The estimated cost of the home is in the vicinity of $30,000. Mr. Robert Coit of this town is the architect.

M. C. W. G.

On next Thursday evening director Mrs. William Davidson will conduct an indoor social at her home 17 Irving street, West Medford, all members and their friends are invited to attend.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Miss Janet Goddard won second prize in the regular Tuesday tournament for the ladies of the Plymouth Country Club this week.

Joseph Parlette of Winchester place, a member of the Water Department's force, believes he has the best "Flivver" in the business irrespective of price or vintage. This spring he acquired for $35 a Ford which was warranted sound in wind and limb. Wishing to put his purchase to the acid test Mr. Parlette determined to take his family to Baltimore in the machine during his vacation. He is once more back on the job, having made the trip to Baltimore and return in 24 hours each way. Mr. Parlette is quoted as saying he might have shaved these figures just a bit, if he had not had to stop once for gas.

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Cayting have returned from East Northfield where they have been guests at "The Northfield" and attending Foreign Conference.

The Somerville young men whom Mounted Officer "Ned" Shea interrupted while taking a swim in the waters of the South Reservoir last Friday afternoon appeared in the District Court at Woburn Tuesday morning when they were assessed $5 each by Judge Morton. At that $5 was not such a high price for a swim on almost any day last week.

The official publication of the C. M. T. C. at Fort Ethan Allen, Vt., comments this week upon the fact that Troop "BX" has the distinction of having three sets of brothers on its roll. In addition to the Davisson and Hermitage brothers there are the Ambrose boys, "Vin" and "Howie," of this town, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Michael C. Ambrose of Vine street.

The Misses Helen Lally and Kathleen Davis of Sargent road are visiting in Nova Scotia.

Mrs. Anson Burton of Eaton street, Dwight D. Elliott and son, Richard Elliott, and Miss Ethel Taylor, all of Stevens street have returned from Star Island where they represented the Sunday School of the Unitarian Church at the seventh annual Church School Institute conducted by the Unitarian Laymen's League.

Many in Winchester were interested in the reception tendered Tuesday evening in Catholic Center Hall, Woburn, to Rev. Fr. Frank E. Rogers former curate at St. Charles Church, that city, who has recently been assigned to the pastorate of St. Therese at Watertown. The Pastor of St. Charles, Rev. Fr. John P. Gorham, spoke highly of the work done in his parish by the late curate and John F. Halloran, who presided at the reception, presented Father Rogers with a purse of $1500 in gold, the gift of his Woburn friends. Before going to St. Charles, Father Rogers was for many years curate in St. Mary's Parish and has many friends in Winchester.

Two Winchester boys qualified in the state junior championship play at Pine Brook Valley Club on Wednesday, C. S. Eaton finishing third in the preliminary and Thomas Fahey seventh. Eaton tied with Mackintosh of Ludlow with a 77 and Fahey shot a 79. Both local boys went down in the first round yesterday.

Accompanying a fine picture of the Outer Court, Winchester, England, is line from Mr. C. A. Warren of Everett avenue, who is touring the British Isles with his family. He writes: "Passed through Winchester, England, today on our tour before leaving for the Continent. The Winchester College is one of the four public school, so-called, in all England, and has the oldest cathedral and other ancient landmarks, all intensely interesting." They expect to return in September.

Among other Winchester spectators at last night's big Dempsey-Sharkey fight at the Yankee Stadium were O'Rourke of Symmes road and Frank White of Glenwood avenue.

Mr. Patrick Lally of the Street department is reported as recovering nicely from a fractured wrist sustined in a fall at his home on Sargent road.

Harold "Lefty" Hatch, crack pitcher on the high school baseball nine for the past two seasons and this year's captain, is spending his vacation in Maine. Rumor has it he will join the Winchester delegation at Tufts in the fall. The tall southpaw has the makings of a real college twirler and should go far under a mentor like "Ken" Nash.

Miss Elizabeth A. Rossley of 184 Cambridge street has been spending the week at Hillside Inn, Campton, N. H. Miss Edna M. Rossley of the same address is spending the summer at Hull, Nantasket Beach.

Miss Mabel Doherty, clerk at the Town Hall, leaves next week for a vacation at Wellfleet. Her place will be filled during her absence by Miss Ruth Poland.

Mrs. H. H. Pentz and family of Main street are spending the summer at Silver Lake, Chesham, N. H.

Shampoo, wave, facials and scalp treatments. Patricia Beauty Shoppe, 372 Main street over Knights' Drug Store. Tel. Win. 1645-W.

Mrs. Philip T. Redfern and daughters Harriet and Elisabeth of Willmette, Ill., formerly of Winchester, have been visiting friends in Winchester and West Medford and are now with Mrs. G. Russell Mann at Pleasant Point, Me., for a month.

EMBLEM CLUB AFFAIRS

Plans are completed for the outing to be held at Salem Willows next Wednesday, July 27. The day's program will include a fish dinner, bathing, games and entertainment. For those who have no special way to get there, a bus has been engaged. The bus will leave Winchester square at 10 a. m. To secure a seat members and their friends are requested to notify Mrs. J. E. Hanlon, Chairman, on or before July 25. tel. Win. 1649-M.

The rehearsal for the drill team Tuesday evening was very well attended, substitutes being present for the members who are away on vacation. Silk flags have been ordered and it is expected that they will be ready for the next rehearsal, scheduled for Thursday evening, July 28.

The home social given by Mrs. Kathryn Griffin, Washington street, Woburn, was very well attended despite the extreme heat, and the contribution box was as generously patronized as usual. Several other members have volunteered their services in the home-party line, but it seems a little too much to expect of the stay-at-home element during the terrid season. Most of us, too, would like a chance to rest our weary brains up against the rural scenery somewhere—anywhere after that last overdose of weather—and watch the other fellow work.

All are glad to welcome back President Emily A. Scholl, who reports a delightful trip and "lots doing in the way of excitement," but it seems that Cincinnati, too, was a rather warm spot. But perhaps the Elks' Convention made it warmer than usual.

Mrs. Annie M. Hanlon, chairman of entertainment has plans for a large affair, in which the whole Club will take part, early in the fall. An exhibition by the drill team will feature this event.

DEAN MOTOR CAR COMPANY TO OPEN BRANCH

At 746-748 Main Street, Winchester

Tom Dean, the proprietor, is one of the best known automobile dealers in Greater Boston. He is no stranger in Winchester. From his headquarters in Everett he has built up for the Hudson-Essex line in Winchester a clientele that makes necessary a branch here. Dean's motto in business is "better and better service." It is to the end that he may better serve his Winchester customers that he has decided to open a Sales and Service Department here.

Where Tom Dean is known he is favorably known. His friends call him "Reliable Tom." Winchester Hudson-Essex patrons will be glad to learn that Tom Dean is to serve them right here in their own home town. The Hudson-Essex line is reported to be the best that the Hudson Company has ever put upon the market. Backed by Tom Dean's long experience and favorable reputation as an automobile merchandiser the future looks bright for the new Winchester department.

The Winchester Star takes the greatest of pelasure in welcoming the Dean Motor Car Company to our town.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Miss Katherine Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin M. Nelson, is spending the summer at Calais, Me.

During last Saturday's thunder storm lightning struck the house of Thomas McPartland at 29 Kirk street. A still alarm of fire was sent in but the men found slight damage upon their arrival.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Moore motored from their home in Roanoke, Va., to East Boothbay, Me., this week and are spending the summer with Mrs. Moore's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert G. Etheridge.

Postmaster and Mrs. George H. Lochman spent the past week at York Beach, Me.

Sergt. William H. Rogers and Officer John Dempsey were the complainants in the District Court at Woburn this week against two residents of the Italian district, accused of the illegal sale of intoxicants. Both defendants were found guilty, the first receiving a fine of $50 and the second a sentence of two months in the House of Correction which was suspended.

The Kelley & Hawes Company are giving the interior of their storage warehouse on Park street a fresh coat of paint.

All the casuals from the recent fire at the McPhee residence on Arlington street have returned to duty and are getting along nicely. Besides Firemen Ray Hanscomb and Edward Noonan, whose injuries were reported in last week's issue, "Jack" Flaherty, "Jim" Callahan and John McCarron were hurt while fighting the blaze. The latter sustained injuries to his head from flying slate while Flaherty and Callahan were burned about the hands.

What might easily have been a fire with serious consequences was nipped in the bud shortly before 7 o'clock Wednesday evening when a quantity of gasoline which had apparently leaked from the trailer of a tank truck became ignited in front of the Colonial Filling Station north of the square. How the blaze started is not known but for a few moments the action was very brisk. An alarm from Box 23 brought apparatus from the Central Station and the blaze was extinguished without damage.

Wednesday evening at 10:— Robert Foster of 16 Irving street, West Medford, notified the police that his Ford coupe had been stolen from where he had left it parked on Main street in front of Locke's Pharmacy. Sergt. William H. Rogers and Officer Charles Harrold recovered the car at the Town Dump Thursday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. William Gibbons and family of Wendell stret are spending two weeks at Dudley Lake, Wayland.

Winchester boxing fans can get some first hand information on the big fight from Assessor John F. Cassidy who was at the ringside in the Yankee Stadium, N. Y.

Miss Isabel L. Andrews, bookkeeper for the Kelley & Hawes Company has been spendind the week at Rye Beach, N. H. She will visit the Isle of Shoals before returning to her desk.

OBSERVED 25TH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. O'Connor of 961 Main street observed the 25th anniversary of their marriage last evening when they were tendered a reception at their home by the local court, Catholic Daughters of America, of which Mrs. O'Connor is Grand Regent.

Among those present to make the occasion a memorable one were Miss Margaret Campbell of Woburn, Mrs. O'Connor's sister who was bridesmaid at the wedding 25 years ago, and Mr. O'Connor's brother, James W. O'Connor of Stoughton, who was best man. Mrs. Sarah Sullivan and Mrs. Celia Corcoran, guests at the wedding, were also at the reception.

An exceptional entertainment program was enjoyed, those contributing including the host and hostess, Mrs. Edward O'Connor of Cambridge, Miss Mabel M. Coty, Mrs. Mary McGrath, Mrs. Mollie L. Maguire, Mrs. Katherine Walsh, Mrs. Frances Conlon, Mrs. Harry E. Brown, Mrs. Annie E. Vayo and Miss Katherine F. O'Connor. During the evening Mr. and Mrs. O'Connor were presented with $100 in silver, the presentation being made by Mrs. Elizabeth C. McDonald, P. G. R., of the C. D. of A. A buffet luncheon was served by a most efficient committee.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Connor were married on July 21, 1902, in St. Charles Rectory, Woburn, by Rev. Fr. Henry Walsh. They have made their home in Winchester during the 25 years since their marriage.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

The feature pictures for the first four days of next week at the University are "A Million Bid" with Delores Costello and "Outlaws of Red River" with Tom Mix.

Delores Costello has had no part which gives her such opportunity to express the emotional depths and heights of her genius as Dorothy Gordon in "A Million Bid." She has never appeared so wistfully lovely, so universally appealing. In her support are Warner Oland, greatest of character actors, as the amazing rich man, and handsome Malcolm McGregor, as the young physician. Betty Blythe, remembered as the "Queen of Sheba" in the magnificent spectacle, is cast as the mother. Others in the cast are Douglas Gerrard, William Demarest and Grace Gordon.

For the last three days of the week the outstanding picture is "Convoy" starring Dorothy Mackaill who is supported by Lowell Sherman, Lawrence Gray, Wm. Collier, Jr., and Ian Keith. This is the greatest navy picture ever screened. It is endorsed by Navy officials as the first authentic film history of the Navy's participation in the World War.

On the same program is "The Night Bride" with Marie Prevost in the leading role. Others in the cast are Harrison Ford, Franklin Pangborn and Robert Edeson. The story of "The Night Bride" was written by Frederic Chapin, a playwright of note who is now devoting his entire time to the writing of motion picture stories. The story was adapted by Zelda Sears and Fred Stanley, both scenarists of recognized ability and reputation. Their collaboration has resulted in a screen gem of the finest quality.

LATE IRVING P. FOX MARRIED WINCHESTER GIRL

Irving Pierson Fox, 67, well known publisher, who died Wednesday afternoon, following a brief illness in his office at 79 Sudbury street, West End, will be remembered by older residents as the husband of the former Helen Shapleigh Joy of this town and the brother-in-law of the Misses Minnie and Alice Joy of Washington street.

Mr. Fox, who following his marriage in 1890 had made his home in Lexington, was president and treasurer of the Spatula Publishing Company as well as publisher and business manager of the "Church Militant," official organ of the Protestant Episcopal Church diocese of Massachusetts. He had at one time engaged in newspaper work and had a wide experience as a correspondent and editor for various publications.

He was born at Ashland, N. Y., and received the degree of A. B. from Boston University in 1883. He was a member of the Theta Delta Chi and Phi Beta Kappa fraternities.

Since 1910 Mr. Fox had been secretary of the Episcopalian Club of Massachusetts and for 27 years treasurer of the Church of Our Redeemer in Lexington. He served as secretary of the Lexington Historical Society for 14 years and was for two years its president.

The funeral was held this Friday afternoon from the Church of Our Redeemer in Lexington with burial at North Lexington in Westview Cemetery.

CHINA HAS THE WORLD'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER

(From an article on "New China and the Printed Page" in the National Geograhic Magazine for June, 1927)

China boasts the oldest new-paper in the world. From a journalistic standpoint, it is probably also the worst, since the Peking Gazette is nothing but a collection of presidential mandates, decrees of appointments, and lists of honors. Until the fourth decade of the last century, China knew no other paper. The court bulletin, for such it was, held such a monopoly of the field as the late Viscount Northcliffe never attained in England.

Then translations into Chinese from the Hongkong foreign papers, made at the suggestion of Wu Tingfang, former Chinese Minister to the United States, marked the beginnings of what is modern Chinese jouralism.

The first regular newspaper to be established was probably the Shun Pao, which is still published in Shanghai and is the most successful paper in China. This journal was established in 1872, and was rapidly followed by the Hu Pao, the Sin Wan Pao, and other dailies, many of them under foreign control.

The influence of newspapers published by foreigners must be acknowledged in studying the reasons which led to the founding of these Chinese papers. In 1827 Mr. James Matheson began to issue the Canton Register, and from this there has grown a body of periodicals that includes daily newspapers, weekly and monthly reviews, commercial organs, humorous and illustrated papers, and magazines dealing with scholarly questions concerning the life of the country.

Many of these papers have been edited by missionaries, who must be regarded as forerunners of the new journalistic day in China. At present the most influential are those published in English, but there are other papers printed in French, Russian, Japanese, Italian and Portuguese.

Chinese journalism began its career in the port cities, particularly those under foreign control. Consideration of the simple but effective method by which the Manchu dynasty censored the efforts of any who might not agree with it will suggest why this was the case. The Chinese editor might attack the imperialism which placed the "grasping nations of the West" in control of his country's richest ports, but he was generally careful to launch his attacks from beneath the protection of those same "usurpers."

For a long time this tended to give Chinese journalism a furtive character—an influence not yet wholly eradicated. The papers which sprang up in the ports were, like the secret societies which flourished there, weapons to attack the ruling powers.

They did not hesitate to resort to the use of outrageous innuendo and even falsification, be-mirching the personal character and official record of those in authority. To this day it is, for example, difficult to winnow the facts concerning the character of the late Empress Dowager from the fabrications of the revolutionary editors of Shanghai and southwestern China.

The justification for such tactics is found in their success. The newspapers and pamphlets, through their sustained scurrility completely undermined confidence in the reigning house—confidence which has been waning for more than half a century.

Since the Manchus had no conception of the uses of publicity, the revolutionists wielded that weapon alone. And the constant reiteration that the government was corrupt, which was only too true, emphasized by personal anecdotes, which were frequently untrue, finally achieved the desired result.

In the language of American business, the demand for a change was "sold" to the Chinese people.

Three events mark this development in China's journalism. In 1898 the Emperor Kwang Hsu, under the influence of the reformer Kan Yo-wei, issued the edicts of reformation which brought about the coup d'etat by which the Empress Dowager, supported by the troops of Yuan Shih-kai, made the emperor a prisoner and resumed the policy of reaction.

Balked of his designs in Peking, Kan Yo-wei fled to Japan, and from there led the journalistic agitation for revolution. The impetus for an independent journalism in China was supplied by the defeat of the reformers in 1898.

In 1900 the reactionaries were foolish enough to allow themselves to be tied up with the Boxer movement. The utter failure of that uprising gave the old regime its deathblow. Because the Manchus had lost face they had lost authority. From that moment the new forces could develop in comparative safety, and newspapers began to spring up all over the country.

Some sort of machine composition is all that China needs to make its newspaper-producing processes equal to those of Western lands. The new phonetic script can now be set by machine, but so far no genius has come forward with a practical method of doing away with hand labor in setting up the thousands of ideographs of the old-style writing. It has been estimated that a Chinese typesetter has to walk three miles in order to set up one page of a newspaper in these characters.

ST. JOHNS: STARTING POINT FOR OCEAN CROSSING

While New York and Washington may figure prominently in the return of transatlantic flyers and the former as their starting place, another city far to the northeast is in almost every case the last community sighted before the hazardous jump begins over the Atlantic. This is St. Johns, Newfoundland. Telegraphic flashes from St. Johns have told during each of the recent America-to-Europe flights that the real crossing of the ocean has begun.

There have been six flights by heavier-than-air machines across the Atlantic from west to east (the Byrd flight was the sixth), and all have either started at or near the Newfoundland capital or have passed over it, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Features in Historic Flights

The Navy flyers who blazed the airplane trail across the Atlntic via the Azores in 1919 rose from Trepassey Bay, south of St. Johns; Alcock and Brown, flying to Ireland a few weeks later took off from the city. Lindbergh passed over St. Johns on his famous non-stop flight from New York to Paris. Chamberlin and Levine passed a few miles south of the capital but still in sight of it. De Pinedo, like the Navy flyers, rose from Trepassey Bay. St. Johns was Byrd's last landmark on the North American continent; from it he steered straight for Valencia Island off the southwest coast of Ireland.

It is natural that Newfoundland, and especially its southeastern peninsula, should be on the line of flight for all America-to-Europe airplane voyages. It lies practically on the great circle route from New York to the mouth of the English Channel, and is in addition the closest bit of American territory to Europe and to the Azores. This peninsula, over which transatlantic flyers have been flashing in recent weeks, is the most heavily populated and the best developed part of Newfoundland. Even this region, however, displays many wild aspects to the observer from the air. The coast line is indented by numerous fiordlike bays and much of the rolling interior is covered by forests.

Has Hidden Harbor

St. Johns has been a fish-drying place, though not a settled community, since Newfoundland was frequented by Basque, Breton, and Portuguese fishermen, and before the British had elbowed these early comers out of the region. The town and harbor are entirely hidden from the sea. Only the beacons on headlands tell of the good harbor that lies inside the Narrows dominated by bluffs 500 feet high. In early days a chain was stretched across this narrow entrance to keep out hostile vessels.

The city rises in a sort of amphitheater from the inner basin. There is not a great deal that is ornamental about St. Johns. It has numerous large warehouses and many of its dwellings are of unadorned wood. Because of this, the city has had a number of disastrous fires. The handling of cod is the chief industry, a fact that is attested in many sections of the city by the ever present odor of fish.

Now I know why women are so fond of Chandler

Because, in the first place, the new Royal Eights and new Sixes by Chandler are simply magnificent—enriched with exquisite little appurtenances and niceties dear to the woman who loves true luxury.

Because Chandler is neither too light nor too heavy—steers easily, shifts easily, parks easily, stops easily.

Because Chandler is so powerful it can be throttled down to a mere crawl in high gear, and go over the top of fearfully steep hills in high gear.

Because a Chandler automatically lubricates itself from end to end the moment you press your foot on a plunger.

Because Chandler is so fairly and reasonably priced—the Sixes at $995 to $1895, the Royal Eights at $2195 to $2295 (f.o.b. Factory). Just see them.

Chats With YOUR Gas Man

SMOKING EXPENSES

Husbands! Wives! Here's some news. The cigar and cigarette bill, an erstwhile cause of many a domestic argument, is only a minor part of the cost of smoking. The most important item in the nation's smoking bill is charged to the smoke that goes up chimneys.

From a mellow cigar or fragrant cigarette, pleasure can be subtracted from the debit column, but chimney smoke is a total loss. And yet you pay dearly for every curling wisp that darkens the heavens, pay in actual dollars and cents, in economic waste, in health.

Cut down smoke expenses at your house, in your town. Use Gas for all fuel needs, and you get value received, full use, from everything you pay for. Nothing goes up in smoke. Nothing is charged to total loss. Gas is the only part of fuel that burns. Think it over. Talk it over with your neighbors.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

Not may years ago the teachers of America were the only ones in the civilized world who were giving instruction to their pupils on the scientific facts relating to the use of alcoholic beverages. Well may they be proud that they were the pioneers in this enlightening movement and set the pace for their profession in other lands. Today they are only a small part of a great body of instructors who are carrying on this line of work in the schools of Europe, South America, Australia and even the Orient. There is no phase of our work more encouraging than the educational campaigns that are quietly being conducted among the children of the more progressive nations. While the adults of these countries may not evince any definite desire to renounce their own personal liberty to drink they are almost unanimous in their wish to have their sons and daughters informed on the "Thus saith Science," concerning the drink evil; for they realize that their hope for the future as nations is in a sober citizenship.

Even in Germany where the anti-alcohol movement has not in past years received much encouragement, we find many teachers, abstinence societies and a corps of traveling teachers going from school to school, imparting scientific information on this subject. Of the two million marks set aside by the government for the promotion of temperance, a goodly part is utilized for the support of these teachers and other educational work. Somewhat similar conditions prevail in the Scandinavian countries. The governments of Sweden and Norway make grants for educational temperance work. In England, a syllabus of food and drink, issued by the Board of Education is made the basis of lectures to the school children. In Belgium the normal schools prepare teachers for this kind of instruction. In Bulgaria a text book is being prepared for submission to the Minister of Education. Anti-alcohol teaching is given in some of the primary schools in France. The Parliament of Latvia has decreed that there shall be teaching in the schools of lesson in hygiene with special reference to the dangers of alcohol. In South America the governments of Chile, Argentina and Uruguay give cordial support to anti-alcohol teachings in the schools.

By means of this fundamental work and the imparting of first principles to the future citizens of the civilized nations a solid substructure is being laid for the outlawing of the liquor business in years to come.

Leadership

Someone has said that if there were only three persons in this world one of them would be a leader. Two, however, is a majority, and no majority need follow unless it is fully satisfied with the leadership assumed by others.—Grit.

No Heat in Oxygen

Oxygen is not a fuel, but is used to burn fuels, such as acetylene or hydrogen. A hotter flame is obtained by the use of oxygen than can be obtained by burning the same fuels with air, but the total amount of heat produced is no greater.

RUSSIA'S GOVERNMENT, AND SOME OF ITS LEADERS

Stalin, Trotsky, the Tz. I. K. and Kalinin.

Who, and what, are they?

Names of leaders and certain government bodies are familiar in news dispatches from Russia, yet they are confusing because so little is known of the structure of the government or the exact status of its leaders.

The National Geographic Society assigned Junius B. Wood to winnow the facts about various phases of present-day conditions in Russia.

Concerning the present governmental organization of Russia which, incidentally, is officially the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, Mr. Wood writes:

A meeting of the Tz. I. K. (Central Executive Committee) brings out all those individuals whose statements occupy more space in the newspapers and who are seen less in public than any other officials in the world. Center of interest when he emerges in the corridors is Joseph Djugashvili Stalin —"stalin," meaning steel, having been conferred on him by Lenin when they were exiles together. He would be called director or political boss in any other country.

Russia's strong man and virtual ruler is a Georgian. Tall, slender, with jet-black hair and mustache, stern-faced, sparing of words, but direct and emphatic, Stalin controls the party organization which he has perfected.

Kalinin, "Uncle Mikhail Ivanovitch," as the peasants call him, son of the field and factory, is a contrast, smiling through his close-cropped beard, eyes twinkling behind his spectacles, shaking hands, greeting friends right and left. Peasants have been known to walk 1000 miles—an old-time peasant must go afoot on an important mission—to tell their troubles to him. Kalinin is the genial president, Stalin the silent political boss.

The Tz. I. K. is a tabloid of the political organization of Soviet Russia, next to the peak of its pyramidal system of government. The peak itself, elected by the Tz. I. K., is the Presidium of 27 members, which includes the six presidents, and is the legislative, executive, and judicial authority, except during the few days of each year that the Tz. I. K. is in session.

The Tz. I. K. has 581 members, divided into the upper house, or Council of the Union, of 450 members chosen according to population, and the lower house, or Council or Nationalities, of 131 members, five from each of the constituent republics and one from each of the autonomous republics or nationalities.

Theoretically, the Tz. I. K. should meet three times a year, rotating in the capitals of the Russian, Ukranian, White Russian, Transcaucasian, Turkoman, and Uzbek republics. The Tz. I. K. also chooses the Council of People's Commissars, corresponding to a cabinet in other countries. The identical structural organization follows in each of the republics in the Union.

The base of the All-Union pyramid, itself resting on other pyramids descending from the higher soviets of the republics to the voters themselves, is the All-Union Congress of Soviets, a cumbersome body of more than 2000 members, which is supposed to meet annually in Moscow. Its last meeting was in May, 1925.

It elects the Tz. I. K. which is not so unwieldy. Its members are elected by town, township (volost), and provincial (gubernia, soviets. The gubernia soviets also are elected by the volost soviets. Members of the latter, in turn, are elected by the village and city soviets, and these by the voters themselves.

Every person 18 years old, doing brain or manual labor, except proprietors, is qualified to vote. Propaganda to get out the voter, especially the women and younger people, is persistent, but the percentage responding is about the same as in the United States. The voter casts his ballot as a member of some group, either in his union, factory, village, or city district.

Voting is on the town meeting order. The nominating committee receives the names of the candidates. It prepares a list. The first name is presented to the meeting. Speeches follow. Hands are raised for and against.

The advantages of heading the list are even greater than on an Australian ballot. Usually all the allotted places are filled before the end of the list is reached.

The All-Union Communist party, according to the figures of the January session of its Central Committee, numbered 643,412, about one out of every 233 persons in a population of 140,000,000. Russians constituted 61 per cent of this total. With candidates the party strength was 1,088,037, about one in 149. Figures on the elections now being held show that though only about 10 per cent of the members of the lower Soviets are party members, the party strength increases to between 80 and 90 per cent in the higher Soviets.

By organization and methods which are common to most parties in power, especially if the are minorities, the Communist party controls the government. Communism has ceased to be an obligatory rule of conduct for the country, but there is no reason to anticipate that it will not be the party in control for a long time to come.

Still Worship the Moon

Some of the most general superstitions concerning the weather are those in which the moon figures. The worship of the moon, one of the oldest of false religions, has not died out in this country. Many persons in some of the more superstitions countries of Europe will curtsy to a new moon and turn the money in their pockets for luck. In parts of England it is considered unlucky to kill a pig in the wane of the moon.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Arthur Warren Smith to Morris B. Frankel, dated June 27, 1925, recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 4860, Page 426, for breach of conditions of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction on the premises hereafter described on Tuesday, the ninth day of August, 1927, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed, and therein described as follows, namely:

"The land in Winchester, with the buildings thereon, being lot marked B on a plan of land belonging to Mary Kelley, Winchester, Mass., made by James Adam, C. E., dated July, 1909, recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds in Plan Book 180, Plan 41, bounded and described as follows:

Northeasterly by Mystic Valley Parkway, fifty-four and 86/100 (54.86) feet;

Southeasterly by land of Holmes, eighty-six and 75/100 (86.75) feet;

Southwesterly by lot C on said plan, sixty-six and 90/100 (66.90) feet; and

Northwesterly by Lot A on said plan, eighty and 68/100 (80.68) feet

Containing four thousand nine hundred and seventy-seven (4977) square feet of land; be any or all of said measurements more or less.

Being the same premises conveyed to me by Mary Kelley by deed dated February 21, 1910, recorded with said Deeds in Book 3502, Page 301, and are hereby conveyed subject to restrictions of record so far as the same may be in force and applicable, and also to a mortgage of $7000 given by me to the Somerville Trust Company."

Said premises will be sold subject as aforesaid and subject also to unpaid taxes and municipal liens, if any.

Five hundred ($500) dollars will be required to be paid in cash by the purchaser at the time and place of the sale. Other terms at the time and place of sale.

Great Jewel Display

The great Melmreichen collection of colored diamonds that was one of the glories of the Austrian crown jewels is dispersed. If you would see diamonds masquerading as emeralds or tricked out in the borrowed hues of topaz or ruby, turquoise or sapphire, you must go one day to the De Beers museum at Kimberley. If you love gems it will be worth the journey.—Exchange.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue and in execution of the Power of Sale contained in a certain mortgage given by Walter Smith of Methuen, Essex County, Massachusetts, to Mary A. Murphy of Winchester, in the County of Middlesex, dated November 16, 1926, and recorded with Middlesex South District Registry of Deeds in Book 5039, Page 299, of which mortgage the undersigned is the owner, for breach of the conditions of said mortgage, and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at 2:00 o'clock in the afternoon, on the eighth day of August A. D. 1927, on the premises hereinafter described, all and singular the premises described in said mortgage.

To wit: A certain parcel of land situated in Winchester, Middlesex County, being shown as Lots No. 9 to 10 inclusive, as shown on plan of land "[illegible]," dated July 1924, Parker Holbrook, Engineer," recorded with Middlesex South District Registry of Deeds, plan book 352, plan 23, being bounded and described as follows:

Southwesterly by Cross Street four hundred and fifty six and seventy four one-hundredths (456.74) feet, southerly by a curved line forming the junction of Cross Street and Washington Street as shown on said plan twenty one and twenty-one hundredths (21.20) feet, southeasterly by Washington Street as shown on said plan one hundred and eight and forty-three one-hundredths (108.43) feet, northeasterly by Marion Street as shown on said plan three hundred and thirty and seventy one-hundredths (330.70) feet, northerly and northwesterly by said Marion Street as shown on said plan two hundred and fifteen and eighty-six one-hundredths (215.86) feet.

Excepting therefrom that portion of the above described premises which have been released from the operation of this mortgage by releases duly recorded with said Registry of Deeds.

Said premises will be sold subject to all unpaid taxes and municipal liens, if any there are.

Five hundred dollars will be required to be paid in cash by the purchaser at the time and place of sale; other terms to be announced at the time and place of sale.

Signed:
MARY A. MURPHY,
44 Glendale Street,
Everett, Mass.

Culture

"I wanted my daughter to be cultured," the mother said. "I sent her to the best boarding school, the finest summer camps, an excellent college, and gave her a finishing course abroad. Today she went off for a week-end, and just before she left she bought a package of chewing gum, a package of cigarettes, the most lurid confessional magazine and a moving-picture magazine."—New York Sun.

Hereditary Foes

Cats and dogs are enemies because their ancestors were, and quite unconsciously the descendants maintain the family tradition. The dog's ancestor was a wolf, whose chief victim was the cat's ancestor, the wild cat. Another cats' ancestor, the tiger terrorized another dogs' ancestor, the jackal. This explains the family feud that exists today.

Danger in a Fog

One result of the substitution of steam power for sails is that fog has become a much graver danger to navigation than it was a few generations ago, says Nature Magazine. In foggy weather there is generally little wind. Hence sailing craft automatically slowed down when they enter a fog, and when sails were universal collisions were very rare.

Automatic Telephony

The fundamental idea of automatic telephony was conceived in 1889 by Almon B. Strowger. The first public automatic exchange was installed at Laporte, Ind., in 1892. It was a somewhat crude arrangement and had a capacity of only 100 subscribers.

Officer James Farrell was the complainant in the District Court, last Saturday, the defendant being charged with drunkenness. The patrolman saw his man in company with another come from under the ice bridge on Main street the night previous and as the men were acting in rather a suspicious manner he hailed them. Both men were seen to have bags under their arms and upon hearing the patrolman signal seemed anxious to get away. Officer Farrell caught one of the men and upon examining the satchel found it to contain about a gallon of contraband. The man was locked up charged with drunkenness and found guilty by Judge Morton who ordered his case placed on file.

THREE MOTOR CRASHES LAST SATURDAY

Three motorists sustained minor injuries as the result of collisions in which their machines figured in Winchester during last Saturday. Thirty minutes after midnight Saturday morning a Ford touring car operated by Warren H. Nixon of 18 Chapin Court while going north along the Parkway at the Winchester-Medford line was in a collision with a Ford sedan driven by Ruth Wheaton of Lester avenue, Medford, who was going in an opposite direction. Both cars were damaged and Joseph Delorey of 18 Chapin court, a passenger in Nixon's car sustained a bad cut on the back of the head. He was treated by Dr. Milton J. Quinn and taken to his home.

A 5 in the afternoon as Gustave Josephenson of 163 Highland avenue was turning his Buick sedan from North Main street into Mt. Vernon street the machine was struck on the right rear fender by a Ford touring car which was going north on Main street and which was owned and operated by William L. Dowling of 214 Harve street, East Boston. Mr. Josephson's machine was somewhat damaged but no one was injured.

Fifteen minutes later the third collision took place on the bend of Main street at Symmes corner. A Ford ton truck operated by Leo Bavino of 19 Conn street, Woburn, going southerly, and a G. M. C. truck, owned by Paris Brothers of Woburn and driven by Dominick Paris of 86 Cambridge road, Woburn, were the machines involved, the latter headed north. The trucks were only slightly damaged but Bavino's wife, Theresa, and Mrs. Josephine Rolli of 56 Swanton street, who were passengers in the Ford, were injured by the crash. They were taken to the office of Dr. Milton J. Quinn who ordered them removed to the Winchester Hospital where they were treated by him. Later they were taken to their homes.

ASH WANTED BY LYNN POLICE

Daniel W. Ash, arrested last week Thursday morning in the square by officer John H. Noonan of the Winchester police and wanted by the police of Trenton, N. J., on the charge of receiving stolen goods, was arraigned in the District Court at Woburn last Friday. The complainants were the Winchester police who charged the prisoner with driving a car without a license.

When Ash was arrested by officer Noonan he was driving a Chrysler roadster, the property of a "Drive-Your-Own" Company engaged in renting machines in Trenton. The roadster had been rented the first of July to another man who was arrested in Buffalo and from whom it is alleged Ash had gotten the car. The prisoner had registrations but no license. He was found guilty, as charged, by Judge Morton and his case placed on file.

This action was determined upon when it was learned that the Lynn authorities had a warrant for Ash who was wanted in the shoe city to answer the charge of non-support of a wife and minor children. At the close of the court session he was turned over the Lynn police.

When Ash was arrested it was thought that he could be held for the police of Trenton, N. J., but later the local police were advised from Trenton that the offense for which the prisoner was wanted was a misdemeanor and not extraditable.

The machine which the young man was driving when he was arrested was claimed by its owners last week.

ST. MARY'S TO MEET LEXINGTON

St. Mary's B. B. C. will try again tomorrow afternoon on Manchester Field to play its baseball game with the Lexington Town Team which was postponed by rain two weeks ago.

Both clubs are especially anxious to win this battle; Winchester to prove that its defeat at the hands of the Minutemen last season was in the "fluke" class, and Lexington to justify its victory.

The game which was begun two weeks ago shaped up like an interesting one with plenty of free hitting to keep the fans on edge. The locals may have protitted somewhat by their idleness of the past two Saturdays since it is expected that most of its first string players will be available tomorrow. Game will start at 3:15.

The Board of Selectmen at its meeting last Monday evening voted to recommend to the State Department of Conservation, Division of Fisheries and Game, that former Selectman George M. Bryne be appointed Game Warden for the Town of Winchester for the ensuing year.

At the home of Mrs. C. K. Seymour, 31 Rangeley on the afternoon of June 15, Mr. James J. Quinn, superintendent of the Winchester Schools, presented to 12 Winchester High School girls their Red Cross certificates, acknowledging completion of the Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick Course, given by Mrs. Frank W. Curry, 64 Almont street, Medford, under the auspices of the Winchester Chapter of the American Red Cross.

All the expenses of the course were met by Winchester Red Cross Chapter, thereby making it possible for any Junior or Senior High School girl to avail herself of this valuable instruction.

The 12 girls to whom certificates were issued are:

Marguerita Maker, 40 Calumet road.
Frances E. Doherty, 22 Shepard court.
Helen Graves, 31 Everett avenue.
Mary Graves, 31 Everett avenue.
Flavia Halwartz, 61 Salisbury street
Esther McDonald, 968 Main street.
Esther Mills, 83 Richardson street.
Kathleen Powers, 2 Watson place
Elizabeth Powers, 928 Main street.
Frances Rhodes, 276 Washington street.
Violet Winn, 5 Euclid avenue.
Jane Yetter, 42 Sheridan circle.

One of the students in the group, Elizabeth Powers, wrote for Miss Bronson, Red Cross representative at the High School, the following interesting report:

We are the lucky ones. But who are we? We are the 12 girls who have met for 16 Fridays consecutively from 3 to 4:30 o'clock down in the Winchester clinic rooms to take up a short course in Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick.

This course was provided by the Red Cross, free of charge, under the direction of a very wonderful nurse, Mrs. Curry.

Each Friday a new subject was taken up, thoroughly discussed, and very often experimented upon. After three quarters of the material had been covered an examination was given in which everyone showed a good knowledge of the subject. Lessons followed, oral questions and social conversation was carried on, and a final test was given May 26. The course closed June 3.

The course is outlined according to each lesson, as follows (16 lessons):

Lesson 1. Personal hygiene laws of prophylaxis; a system of principles designed for the purpose of health.
Lesson 2. Equipment and care of the sleeping rooms.
Lesson 3. Study of the various bacteria and diseases.
Lesson 4. Indication of sickness including taking of temperature, pulse and respiration.
Lesson 5. Bath; how to keep the body of a sick patient clean and comfortable.
Lesson 6. Baths, including hot foot bath, cool sponge bath and care of the hair.
Lesson 7. Appliances and methods for the sick room, including home substitutes for appliances to be used in a sick room.
Lessons 8 and 9. Babies and their care.
Lesson 10. Diets, including classes of foods.
Lesson 11. Medicines, methods of administering, care of the medicine closet.
Lesson 12. Study of inflamation, including the making of poultices.
Lesson 13. First aid, including qualifications, chief duties and general directions of a first aider.
Lessons 14, 15 and 16. First aid continued study of treatment in case of emergency; study of wounds, fractures, dislocations, burns, type of bandages; demonstration of how to make slings, splints and various bandages.

For the completion of this course a Red Cross certificate is given each individual.

I feel, as everyone does, that I have obtained information that will be a good foundation for me all through life, and information which everyone should know.

We feel grateful to everyone who has done anything toward forming this course, or in making it a success, and especially, Mrs. Curry who has so faithfully worked with us. Let us hope that this good work will be recognized wherever it may be introduced.

HANNAH WALSH POWERS

Hannah Walsh Powers, widow of Martin Powers and long a resident of this town, passed away last Friday noontime at her home, 11 Glenwood avenue, after a long illness.

Mrs. Powers was 79 years of age and a native of Ireland. Since her arrival in this country 30 years ago she had made her home in Winchester, enjoying a wide acquaintanceship among the older residents of the town. She was a member of the Married Ladies' Sodality of St. Mary's Parish.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Abbie McDonough, and three sons, Patrick J., Martin A. and John A. Powers, all of Winchester. Fourteen grand-children and three great grandchildren also survive her.

Funeral services were held from the late residence on Monday morning with a solemn high mass of requiem in St. Mary's Church at 9 o'clock. Rev. Fr. John P. Sullivan was celebrant, Rev. Fr. George H. Quigley, deacon; and Rev. Fr. Nathaniel J. Merrill, sub-deacon. Raymond, Paul, Thomas, John and Reginald Powers, all of Winchester, and Thomas Foley of Woburn were bearers. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery where the committal prayers were read by Father Sullivan.

SARAH AGNES DEMPSEY

Sarah Agnes Dempsey, wife of Patrick Dempsey, died early Monday morning at her home, 907 Main street, after a wasting illness of about four years.

Mrs. Dempsey was 51 years old and a native of Ireland, the daughter of Patrick and Catherine Melia. Thirty-five years ago she came to this country, settling in Winchester where she had since made her home and where during her long residence, she had made for herself a wide circle of friends. She was affiliated with the Catholic Order of Foresters.

Nov. 25, 1897, Mrs. Dempsey was married to Patrick Dempsey who survives her with 10 children: Catherine, Amelia, Edna, Barbara, Stanley, Walter, Edward, Richard, Henry and John Dempsey, all of Winchester, the last two named being patrolmen attached to the Town's police department. Her mother, Mrs. Catherine Melia, in Ireland, also survives her with a sister, Mrs. Mary McHugh, and a brother, Michael Melia, both of Winchester.

Funeral services were held from the late residence Wednesday morning with a requiem high mass in St. Mary's Church at 9 o'clock. The bearers included patrolman John Hogan of the Winchester Police Department, Joseph Cresico of Somerville and Bernard Crowley, Edward Crowley, John O'Melia and Thomas O'Melia, all of Winchester. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

TRADERS' DAY NEXT WEDNESDAY

Housewives Reminded Stores Will Not be Open

Once again it is well to announce that on next Wednesday, Aug. 3, Winchester will observe its annual Traders' Day and that business houses will be generally closed throughout the town.

As has been the custom the past few years no organized outing will be attempted, individuals being left free to pass the day as they see fit. It is very probable that many of the local merchants will "take in" either the big Elks' frolic being staged at Providence by Providence Lodge, No. 14, or the outing at the Corinthian Yacht Club, Marblehead, under the auspices of the Woburn and Winchester Rotary Clubs.

This last named promises to be an exceptional event and a large attendance is looked for from Rotarians in town.

Housewives are reminded to do their ordering on Tuesday as accommodations the following day will be especially hard to find. Traders' Day closing placards may be obtained at the Star office.

MRS. J. M. COLPAS

Friends of Mrs. Colpas will be grieved to learn of her passing away at the home of her daughter in Springfield, Wednesday morning, July 27.

Mrs. Colpas made her home in Winchester for a few years, and made many warm friends. Always gentle, kind and sincere, she was loved by all who knew her.

She leaves four children, George D. of this town, J. Arthur of Burlington, Vt., Mrs. R. B. Hayes of New London, Conn., Mrs. R. C. Aseltine of Springfield and several grandchildren to mourn the loss of a devoted and loving mother and grandmother.

Interment at Ogdensburg, N. Y., Friday, July 29.

CHARLOTTE ANNE MOORE

Charlotte Anne Moore, widow of Arthur W. Moore and for the past 15 years a resident of Winchester, died Wednesday, July 27, in an Arlington hospital after a long illness. Mrs. Moore was 83 years of age and a native of Boston, the daughter of John A. and Charlotte S. (Tilton) Magee. Funeral services were conducted this Friday afternoon in the chapel at Mt. Auburn Cemetery by the Rev. William S. Packer. Interment was at Mt. Auburn.

THREE BANKS CLOSE AT NOON TRADERS' DAY

The Winchester Trust Company, National Bank and Savings Bank have announced that they will close at noon on Traders' Day, Wednesday, Aug. 3. The Star office will be closed all day and correspondents and advertisers are advised to get all copy in as early in the week as possible.

Judge and Mrs. Charles N. Harris of Hillside avenue are enjoying a tour through the Canadian Rockies, stopping at Banff and Lake Louise. Various other points of interest in the Pacific Northwest will be visited before their return early in September.

CHAPIN SCHOOL TO BECOME FACTORY

Permission Granted by Selectmen to Waive Zoning Rule

At the meeting of the Board of Selectmen last Monday evening permission was granted Ersilia N. Sylvester to extend the old Chapin School building on Swanton street 50 feet into the semi-residential district under the provisions of Section 8 of the Zoning by-law.

For some time now there has been a controversy over the use to which this building should be put by its purchaser who acquired the property from the town at public auction in 1924. Difficulties arose when it was desired to utilize the structure as a commercial building for the manufacture, storage and sale of interior finish.

A greater portion of the building is within the town's large industrial area but the line of the semi-residential district on the southerly side of Swanton street also extends for 100 feet on the northerly side for a short distance, taking in about 50 feet of the Chapin School property.

The result was a building which obviously could only be used for commercial purposes and yet under the town's Zoning by-law was prohibited from such use without special permission.

At the hearing which was held by the Board no objections to granting such permission were heard and as no new extension to the present building is sought the Sylvester petition was granted.

EMBLEM CLUB AFFAIRS

The outing at Salem Willows Wednesday was one glorious event from start to finish with not one bleak spot to mar the pleasures of the day. The party left Winchester square at 10 a. m. by bus and by auto arriving at the beach just in time to be properly hungry for one of the famous fish dinners which this resort is noted for.

After reserving space at the Ferncroft they were met by a delegation from the Lynn Emblem Club who joined in the merry-making and helped to keep things moving every minute. The only male member of the party was young "Jimmy" O'Connor, and "Doc's" peace of mind would have suffered a jar had he been present to witness all the attention paid his son and heir. Of course, the driver of the bus came in for a little attention also, but then Past President Anna W. Lochman and President Emily A. Scholl sat right behind him and supplied the protective atmosphere so necessary to "safe and sane driving."

Under the generalship of Chairman Annie M. Hanlon the sports of the day were conducted. Naturally after a good fish-dinner everyone felt qualified to enter the fat-ladies' race, so the scribe was instructed to call it a "free-for-all race for ladies." (It took all Mrs. Hanlon's ingenuity to convince Mrs. George Osborne, Lillian Nicholson, and others that they could not qualify, so she was obliged to change the name.)

Of the two leading sprinters in this race Mrs. Doris Fitzgerald fell and Mrs. Valerie O'Connor tripped over her and made a flying finish at the goal on all fours—far in advance of the other contestants whose finish was, so to speak, unaided and a trifle slower. After applying first aid to the victor's injuries and patching up her torn stocking she was presented with first prize; Mrs. Annie E. Vayo won second and Mrs. Josephine Power, third.

The slim ladies' race—and there is no objection to this title anyway—was pulled off without any casualties, although it took all the chairman's tact to disqualify some of our heavyweights. Of the many willowy ones who felt the urge to win laurels in this contest Mrs. Katherine Fallon came first, Mrs. Elizabeth Hines second, and Mrs. Elsie Mobbs third.

The bowling tournament was the next event on the program and a good live one it was. The contestants were "all-class" and that's as much as can be said in their favor. Mrs. Emma Cullen might have won first prize easily but had her mind set on adopting Mrs. Doris Fitzgerald's baby and thus lost out on first to the baby's mother. Mrs. Cullen won second prize and Mrs. Mary McHugh, third. But according to the "fish stories" that they told, each string totalled up into the thousands. Now what can the unsophisticated bowler do when she is up against that "seeming double" complex?

The trip home in the bus was hilarious but all too short, so about a fourth of the party insisted on climbing up Vine street and making a night of it at the home of Mrs. Ethel Horn where the entertainment program was staged. Unlike most husbands, "Al" took things philosophically and even allowed himself to get mixed up in the program by doing one of his "black-bottom" dances. Songs were contributed by Miss Marion Hanlon, Mrs. Elizabeth Wyman, Mrs. Anna McMinamin, and others.

The genial hostess served ice cream, cake and tea to the starving, and the party might be going yet but for the insistent calls from frantic and supperless husbands in search for missing better halves.

Before leaving, however, another outing was planned on the gracious invitation given by Mrs. Mary Demauris to pay a visit to her home in Providence. This party is scheduled for Aug. 22 and includes a shore dinner and a general good time. All are invited and those who can furnish autos are instructed to notify Chairman Annie M. Hanlon, tel. Win. 1649-M. This will be a good chance to visit the Supreme Emblem Club at Providence and get wise to the advantages of a national organization. Every other club seems to be "stepping on the gas" to get into it, so why should Winchester be so backward?

The last rehearsal of the drill team Thursday night was well attended. Flags and regalia are now ready and will be quite an addition to the appearance of the team at the fall exhibition. The date of the next rehearsal will be announced in next week's Star.

Mrs. Herbert Goff is registered at the Nonantum Hotel at Kennebunkport, Me.

REV. AND MRS. WALCOTT ENTERTAINED

Impromptu Reception Tendered Here Last Monday

Rev. Clifton H. Walcott, former pastor of the First Baptist Church here, with Mrs. Walcott and their children, Jane and David, was pleasantly surprised last Monday evening, while in Winchester for a few hours, when more than 80 of his former parishioners tendered him an informal reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Abrahamsen on Sheffield road. The Walcotts were en route to the Cape from Lincoln, Neb., where Mr. Walcott has a pastorate and were persuaded to stop for dinner with the Abrahamsen's at 3 in the afternoon. The dinner guests, besides the Walcotts, included Mr. and Mrs. Alex MacDonald, their daughter, Mrs. Ollis Weld, Mr. Weld and Mrs. Abrahamsen's mother and sister, Mrs. Carrie E. Barnes and Mrs. Jane C. Gates.

Following the dinner open house was held with as many as it was possible to reach by phone being urged to greet their former pastor and his wife. The reception lasted well into the evening, the Walcotts being easily persuaded to postpone their journey to the Cape until next day.

The affair was delightfully informal, the guests coming and going at will. Everyone was especially glad of the opportunity to meet the Walcotts again and there could be no doubting the latters' pleasure at seeing so many of their friends under such pleasant circumstances. Among the guests were Rev. H. W. Hook, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and Mrs. Hook. Mrs. Abrahamsen was ably assisted in the serving of delicious refreshments by Mrs. Willard A. Bradley.

Rev. Mr. Walcott and has family are enjoying a six weeks' tour which is to be spent on the Cape and in Maine at the Canadian border. While on the Cape they are to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Abrahamsen at the latters' summer home at Catamnet. During their sojourn in Maine they will be entertained by Dr. and Mrs. George R. Baker of New York who are also well known in Winchester.

TWO AUTO ACCIDENTS WEDNESDAY

Some damage to the vehicles involved but no injuries were reported as a result of the two automobile accidents which occurred in Winchester on Wednesday.

At 9 o'clock in the morning a Ford truck, going north on Highland avenue and owned and operated by Peter Sullas of 4 Cutworth street, Medford, was in collision with a Reo sedan, owned and operated by Mr. Charles E. Kendall of 28 Washington street, which was headed east along Mt. Vernon street. The crash occurred at the juction of Highland avenue, Mt. Vernon street and the Parkway. The Reo had its right running board broken and its front fender bent while the Ford had its left front wheel broken and was tipped over on its side. The truck was loaded with fruit, some of which was strewn about the street and badly damaged.

The second accident took place at 4:30 in the afternoon at the corner of Forest and Washington streets when a Ford truck, owned by John McDermott of 29 Park street, Stoneham, and driven by Murray L. Hubbard of the same address, collided with a Ford sedan, owned by Jennie Kateoff of 2 Wtshington street, Woburn and operated by David Kateoff, also of that address. The truck was coming down the grade of Forest street while Mr. Kateoff was driving south on Washington street. The sedan was damaged about the left side but no one was injured.

Yesterday's alarm from Box 32 at 1:25 p. m. summoned the fire department to the home of Mr. George Solov on Forest street. The house had become full of smoke as a result of burning papers in the furnace and the firemen had little to do after their arrival.

BARTON HAD BEST NET

G. L. Barton turned in the best net in the 18 holes handicap medal play golf tourney at the Winchester Country Club last Saturday afternoon. Threatening weather did not interfere too much with the play, though the field was on the whole rather smaller than usual. Barton finished three strokes under the net turned in by "Doc" Murphy whose 69 won him second place. P. A. Hendrick tied with Barton for gross honors, each having an 80.

The summary:

G. L. Barton	80	66
[illegible] R. Murphy	88	69
B. A. Neiley	86	70
F. A. Denham	95	70
C. P. Whorf	82	71

HARRY WORCESTER'S "SQUAB" WON TWO

Harry Worcester, local yachtsman, enjoyed another big week-end when his "Squab" was twice a winner in the races sailed off Gloucester last Saturday and Sunday. Competing in the "Bird" class the "Squab" led all the way Saturday, winning its fourth victory in five starts, a notable record. Sunday found Harry once more out in front, making it five out of six. It's getting to be a habit.

PANZLE—PILUSO

Many of Winchester's Italian residents were interested in the wedding solemnized in St. Leonard's Church, Boston, last Sunday afternoon when Miss Elizabeth Piluso of this town, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Piluso of 834 Main street, became the bridge of Samuel Panzle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pietro Panzle of 49 Cambridge street, Boston. Rev. James Hurley performed the marriage ceremony at 2 o'clock in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends of the young couple.

The bride wore a wedding gown of white satin, trimmed with seed pearls, her long veil of white tulle being caught up with a coronet of orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of white roses and lilies of the valley. Accompanying her as maid of honor was her sister, Miss Anna Piluso of Winchester, who wore pale pink taffeta with picture hat to match and carried butterfly roses. Mr. Panzle had for his best man Paul Madulini of Boston.

Immediately after the ceremony there was a reception to more than 100 guests. Upon their return from an extended wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Panzle will make their home in East Boston.

Mr. Charles Kendall of the Water Board with Mrs. Kendall is enjoying a motor trip through New Hampshire, Vermont and New York State.

BUILDING PERMITS GRANTED

The Building Commissioner has granted permits for week ending Thursday, July 21, as follows:

I. F. Sexton, Winchester—inside alterations to present dwelling at 19 Wedgemere avenue.

Helen Gale, Winchester—dormer window on present dwelling at Swan road.

George Jackson, Winchester—take down and remove old school building on Cross street.

A. W. Friend, Winchester—remove old garage and build a new garage at 45 Wildwood street.

Mr. Rudolph Hakenson and family of Sheridan Circle are making a two weeks' motor tour of New Hampshire, Vermont, New York and Canada.

AN EASY PICNIC

"Eating out of doors is good for the health of the whole family."—said the Massachusetts State Department of Public Health in a recent health note. A picnic is great fun for the children, a pleasant change for father but how does it benefit mother? Aren't we apt to find that the process of preparing the lunch (making a multitude of sandwiches, deviling the eggs, or perhaps baking a cake) has tired her so that she is often unable to enjoy the outing with the rest of the family.

Why not try a new kind of picnic lunch—a kind that big brother or father can prepare. "A no preparation—no clean up variety!" This type of picnic can easily be prepared in your corner grocery store. Graham crackers, tuna fish, sweet or sour pickles, some mixed raisins and peanuts (or dried apricots, prunes, figs, or dates) oranges, sweet cookies—and bars of chocolate can all be carried in a paper shopping bag. A can opener, a pocket knife, some napkins and paper spoons and perhaps some ginger ale, or milk in a thermos bottle for the children, are the only other necessary essentials. Empty cracker boxes make good plates. Another menu for this "easy picnic" is as follows:

Wheatsworth crackers (or swedish bread or rye crisp); cheese (or peanut butter); olives; dried apricots (they quench the thirst); fresh fruit or canned fruit salad; sweet cookies (Scotch short breads, fig newtons, Lorna Doones, raisin crackers, etc.).

There are innumerable combinations of the above mentioned foods. Sweet jam or marmalade with butterthins could be an additional course to any of the menus.

Nutritionally this picnic checks up satisfactorily—the cheese, peanut butter, fish, and nuts, supply the body building materials, the crackers, cookies and sweets supply the energy givers and the vitamins are contributed by the fruit, dark grain crackers with milk.

Clearing up this picnic is a simple task. Rescue the can opener, knives and thermos bottle. The empty boxes and papers can go in the shopping bag and put in a refuse barrel. Always leave your picnic spot as tidy as you found it—good picknickers leave no traces of their outing.

Try this "easy picnic" and give mother some enjoyment along with the rest of the family.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

The following cases were reported to the Board of Health for week ending Thursday, July 21:

	cases
Chicken pox	1
Measles	3

M. C. W. G. NOTES

On last Thursday evening a most delightful social was held at the home of Mrs. William Davidson in West Medford. Her many Winchester friends who motored over were very well rewarded for Sister Davidson as usual is the charming hostess she always has had reputation for.

When "Lindy" landed at Concord, N. H., last Saturday afternoon it was a former Winchester boy, Lieut. Robert Fogg, who opened the hangar to admit the far-famed "Spirit of St. Louis," Lindbergh's marvelous airplane. Lieutenant Fogg has been for several years connected with aviation and is himself a well-known flyer.

You can't look at a tire and tell how far it will run

YOU CAN'T SEE a tire carcass because it is covered by the tread. Yet the way this carcass is built tells how far the tire will run.

Dunlop has had 39 years to learn all the hidden points where tires wear. Dunlop carcasses are built from the best long fibre cotton, spun in Dunlop's own mills into the famous Dunlop cable-twist cord.

These cords are elastic, so they give and take as your tire runs; strong, so they resist constant load and pounding. They build the best possible foundation for the Dunlop tread—the toughest rubber development known.

Thus Dunlop's extra years of experience build added value into every vital tirepart. That is why, not one Dunlop—but every Dunlop—gives you more service than you can reasonably expect.

We recommend that you put Dunlops on your car

OCEAN DANCING A POPULAR INNOVATION

All New England has responded to the allurement of ocean dancing and the "Seven Jolly Tars," a title well bestowed upon the jazzy musicians who are furnishing music for the terpsichoreans on the dancing boat, the "Mayflower," which sails every evening, (excepting Sundays and Mondays) from Rowes Wharf, Boston. In addition to the evening dancing, there are two matinee ocean sails with dancing on Thursdays and Saturdays at 2:30 p. m. returning to Boston at 5:30 p. m.

On the moonlight sails, the "Mayflower" leaves promptly from Rowes Wharf at 8:30 p. m. and returns at 11:30 p. m. This Boston Harbor innovation has met with tremendous success and King Jollity holds high carnival on every trip. The good music, the delightful dancing and with refreshing sea breezes fanning your cheeks—the whole-hearted comradarie of jovial companions combine to make this trip one that will linger long and pleasantly in your memory.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

The cool and comfortable Granada Theatre in Malden is offering an especially interesting program today and Saturday with "The Whirlwind of Youth" featuring the Paramount Junior Stars. In this picture the tempestuous care-free lives of the younger generation are held up for inspection. Lois Moran is featured as the unsophisticated English girl who is precipitated into the hectic whirl of Parisian studio life. Scenes in "The Whirlwind of Youth" take one to a little English village, Paris, a French seacoast resort and an area back of the lines during the World War. The picture which, by the way, was adapted from A. Hamilton Gibb's best seller, "Soundings," is filled not only with the zestful enthusiasm of youth but with a depth of dramatic feeling that makes it a production of exceptional power.

The vaudeville bill now being presented at the Granada offers a variety of acts pleasing to the most particular tastes. There is everything to choose from including snappy singing and dancing, striking costumes and the best jokes of the season.

"Running Wild," a picture that presents W. C. Fields in his funniest screen role to date is coming to the Granada for three days beginning next Monday. Mr. Fields will be supported by Mary Brian. The usual five-act program of Granada vaudeville will be presented in addition to this feature.

BOWDOIN SQUARE THEATRE

Another entertaining and fascinating program will be offered at the popular Bowdoin Square Theatre beginning Monday. The top feature for the entire week will be, "Captain Salvation," a sea story of exceptional worth with the leading roles taken by Lars Hanson, Marceline Day, Pauline Starke, Ernest Torrence, George Fawcett and Jay Hunt, the latter formerly associated with the Bowdoin Square Theatre. The story deals with a woman who is alone on a big ship and the maddened crew seek to possess her. There is a romance interwoven that speaks for itself. It is a powerful drama and one that is of the most thrilling type.

Another picture will be the Metro-Goldwyn offering, "The Valley of Hell" with Francis McDonald and Edna Murphy. It is a story of the great out doors in the West and is thrilling in every detail.

Our Gang will offer, "Tired Business Men" and the Pathe News together with five vaudeville specialties will round out a bill of excellence. Opportunity night comes Friday with extra acts. The Sunday concert begins at 3. Free parking service to patrons has become generally popular.

Eliminate Worry

It is possible to eliminate two-thirds of our worries—those that are past and those that are to come. This leaves us with only one-third as many as we started with, and when we subtract also the troubles which are imaginary—and there are many of them—we find that most of our troubles are those we do not have.—Dallas News.

WINCHESTER ELKS INVITED TO PROVIDENCE

Winchester Lodge of Elks has received an invitation from Providence Lodge, No. 14, to join with it in the big annual outing and frolic which is to be held on next week Wednesday, Aug. 3, at Chopmist Hill Inn, Providence. Since Aug. 3 has been set apart here as Traders' Day and as most of the stores are to close, it is probable that a large number of the local "Bills" will accept the invitation of their Providence brothers.

No effort has been spared to make the day's program a memorable one for those who do attend. Starting promptly at 9:45 in the morning at the Elks' Home, Providence, the frolickers will form ranks and parade, headed by a band, before starting for the outing grounds. Upon arrival there a group picture will be "shot" before the party repairs to the dining room for "chow"—der.

After lunch is to come a big sports program featured by a ball game in which the older "bucks" will cross bats with the baby Elks. There is to be a little "roast pork chase" which promises real fun. Following the sports program there will be a big "bake" in the main dining hall of the inn at which the gate prizes will be announced.

Local Elks who wish to get in on a real party should make ticket reservations at once with the secretary of Winchester Lodge, Dr. James H. O'Connor. Tickets must be obtained in advance.

RAIN SPOILED BALL GAME

For the second consecutive Saturday rain prevented St. Mary's Baseball Team from playing its scheduled game on Manchester Field. The heavy shower starting shortly before 1 o'clock made the diamond unfit for play, even though the weather did clear before game time.

Calling the game was unfortunate for the battle arranged between the locals and "Steve" Colucci's North Woburn outfit should have furnished plenty of fireworks. Financially the loss of the games on two successive Saturdays has hurt the club treasury and it is hoped that everyone will dig deeply upon the first occasion when the weather man will allow a game in Winchester.

Flowers and Coins

Plenty of money has always gone into floral exhibitions, and this is literally true in England, where a florist has succeeded in getting delicate tints with the aid of silver coins. He drops silver coins in water in which the flowers are standing. Silver hydroxide is formed and the action of the chemical changes the natural color of the blossoms, giving them shadings not possible under natural conditions. After the coloring has proceeded to a satisfactory degree, the coins are removed and a few crumbs of slaked lime or mortar are added to fix the tint.

"In God We Trust"

A new England minister when buying a mat for his front porch selected one bearing the Inscription "In God We Trust." To avoid being responsible for leading anyone into temptation, he also bought a strong chain with which to fasten the mat to the floor.

NEW POWER PLANT AT BEGGS & COBB SHOWS SAVING OF $50,000

In a recent issue of "Power," a technical magazine, it is estimated that Beggs & Cobb, tanners of this town, are saving approximately $50,000 yearly on power by the construction of a new power plant. Twelve tons of coal are saved per day in the new scheme of things or 3600 tons for the 300 working days of the year. The daily coal consumption is at present 14½ tons. Water bills have been reduced from $1160 to $178 yearly while automatic stoking has cut the labor cost proportionately. A concrete chimney 180 feet high has provided an excellent draft which is regulated by the latest devices enclosed in cylinders of oil. The water used for condensing steam is obtained from a 175,000 gallon pond and is treated with a zeolite softener so that no scale will form on the tubes of the boilers, affording a substantial saving in upkeep. The water after coming from the condensing chambers is sprayed into the air through 32 spray nozzles, cooling it to normal temperature. The $50,000 saved yearly figures $166 for every one of the 300 working days of the year.

Berlin's Famous Walk

Unter den Linden was begun in the reign of Frederick William (1640-1688), the founder of the Prussian state. The forest once on the site of the avenue was removed and a double row of linden trees was planted, on each side of which gradually sprang up the modern street.

ELKS SENDING KIDDIE TO CAMP

In response to an appeal from Mrs. Mary W. Carpenter, representing the Winchester Tuberculosis Committee, and in accordance with its principle of lending a helping hand wherever possible in the field of local charity, Winchester Lodge of Elks at a meeting held late in June voted to contribute the sum of $100 toward the expense of sending a Winchester child for eight weeks to the Southern Middlesex Health Camp at Sharon.

The child was selected by the clinic of Winchester's Public Health Department and left for camp the 3rd of July. He is one of nine there through the activity of the local tuberculosis committee. No infected children are admitted to the camp but in nearly every instance those sent there are from families where there has been "TB." All are under weight and suffering from mal-nutrition, making the summer in the open under competent medical supervision particularly beneficial. The children are under supervision during the entire year, the Public Health Clinic assuming the work during the winter months.

The camp at Sharon is a real beauty spot with excellent equipment. Its little patients all come from cities and towns in this vicinity, making for a friendly spirit among the campers from the start. Two Winchester physicians are closely associated with the camp, Dr. Harold L. Gale being at the head of its organization with Dr. Wilfred L. McKenzie serving as consulting physician. The Elks are to be congratulated upon their prompt assistance of so worth while a charity.

Mango in America

The mango has been cultivated to some extent in southern Florida and California. It has been said that some eight-year-old trees in Florida have borne as many as 5,000 fruits in a single season.

Decisive Battles

War [illegible] say that of the thousands of battles and engagements fought in the United States in five wars, only six were really decisive. Two were in the Revolutionary war, the surrender of the British Burgoyne at Saratoga, bringing about the [illegible] intervention of France in favor of the American colonies, and the surrender of the British army by Cornwallis at Yorktown, ending the war with England.

The historians skip the War of 1812, the Mexican war and the Indian wars, says Capper's Weekly, and find the next four battles resulting in far-reaching effect politically, were those of Gettysburg, Vicksburg, Chickamauga and Chattanooga. The Vicksburg campaign, they say, was the most brilliant operation of the Union Army of the Tennessee.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

A warm heart and a cool head is the best temperature to live in.

The dinner table is no place for speed or endurance records.

Hand painted knees are the latest thing for flappers. You'd hardly know the old joints now.

It is said that man gets but little here below and usually he gets about half that.

Get in tune with goodness, dodge discord, pass some word of cheer to those in shadowland.

Duty will soon get tired, but love will go all the way.

Those safely ensconced in stores about the square during Wednesday afternoon's cloudburst, while watching the water pour down Church street and over the crossing in the square, may have been wondering how those electric switches are going to function after such a drenching or after a freezing snap following a late winter thaw.

COMMUNICATION

To the Editor of the Star:

A few words of explanation as to the attitude of the local Lodge of Elks towards "Kiddies' Day."

The origin of "Kiddies' Day" was to give the "poor" children of the town, an outing. By "poor" children is meant children of the ages of 7 to 12 of both sexes, who for one reason or another have no chance to get to the beach for a breath of salt air, during the summer. This affair was an annual event up to this year. The first year we took about 200 boys and girls to Lynn Beach. The next year we took even more to Little Nahant. The next year we tried the experiment of having it on Leonard Field, which for various reasons, was not entirely satisfactory. Last year we took 480 "Kids" to Little Nahant, the transportation alone costing $150. So "successful" were these affairs that the number of children applying for tickets increased by leaps and bounds, and it had grown so big, developed into such a huge affair, that the Lodge felt that it had outgrown its original intent and purpose; in other words, it was felt that there were not, in this town, 480 "Kids" who were in need of a days outing, and as the Lodge had not yet reached the point where it could afford to transport and feed every "Kid" who wanted to go, after due consideration the Lodge voted to omit "Kiddies' Day" this year.

This action does not mean that we are in any way curtailing our charitable activities or that we are confining such activities to Elks or Elks' families.

Although it is not the custom for the Elks to advertise their acts or deeds of charity we would like to state that we have recently contributed $100 to the Winchester Branch of the Red Cross for the tuberculosis camp at Sharon.

Thanksgiving baskets will be given out as usual (last year we gave out 54) and the annual Christmas party will be given for the children.

In conclusion we might say that we expend annually for charity in one form or another, between $600 and $700.

G. H. Lochman,
Exalted Ruler

Short but Merry Life

The gentleman bee is the world's greatest loafer. He sings and plays all summer long. So long as the sun shines and the honey is coming in plentifully, the ladies of the hive who do the work, let him have all he wants to eat and let him live in the hive. But when winter comes his fun is over. The workers don't waste their stingers killing him, they just shove him out of the hive with orders to stay out. With free board and lodging cut off he dies in a few hours. So says Mrs. Hazelton, bee woman, who knows more about bees than most of us know about humans.—Upper's Weekly.

Ancestral Pride

There is no better heritage than a good name that a father can bequeath to his children; nor is there in a family any richer heirloom than the memory of a noble ancestor.—James Hamilton.

MISS ANNA P. CLARK

Last Wednesday, July 27, as the sun was setting and the evening shadows lengthened, another old resident of Winchester, Miss Anna P. Clark, passed beyond our call. She was the daughter of Jonathan and Persis Howe Whittier Clark and was born in the part of Tewksbury that is now Lowell, in a house that her father built on a part of the original grant of many acres made to the Clark ancestors who settled in the 17th century. Through her mother she was connected with the John G. Whittier family.

When Miss Clark was a little child, her father was obliged to leave Tewksbury on account of his health, and he came to Winchester, bought half of the four-family house between Elmwood avenue and Vine street, taking the first middle house for his own family, and here his daughter has lived the many years she has been a resident of Winchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark had three daughters, one of whom died when very young. Ella Clark was a much beloved teacher in East Cambridge, but being in poor health she was given a leave of absence and took a trip around the world with Captain Talpey. She returned to her teaching but it was not many years after that she died of pneumonia.

Miss Anna Clark was educated in the Winchester schools and spent her life in the interests of her church, the town and her home. As a young girl she joined the First Congregational Church, being one of more than 100 that joined July 4, 1858. She was one of the original members of the Mission Union in which she always took an active and helpful interest. She was a lover of animals and flowers and her deft fingers often arranged the pulpit flowers and the decorations for church socials.

She was deeply interested in the Home for the Aged, and once was a member of the Corporation and for some years belonged to the Fortnightly. But her especial interest was in her home, and her friends, and her loyalty and love for her friends which were unusually strong have had their rich reward in these last few years since she has been laid aside as a result of an accident when she fell and broke her hip in January, 1922. Her fortitude in the trying months that followed, her patience and cheerfulness in the years of retirement that have followed have shown the strength and character that are the inheritance of ancestors such as she could boast of and of a character developed by a Christian home life.

Services were held this afternoon at 2:30 in her home conducted by Rev. Howard J. Chidley.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

The outstanding picture at the University Theatre for four days beginning Sunday is "The Better 'Ole" with Syd Chaplin. Here is entertainment of the first water. A war play with all of the horrors left out and all of the laughs left in. They are the laughs that first resounded around the world when the world got acquainted with Bruce Bairnsfather's cartoons and continued through the success of "The Better 'Ole" as a stage play. Now, on the screen, with Syd Chaplin giving a memorable performance as Old Bill, "The Better 'Ole" seems more breathlessly funny than ever. The screen version is not old stuff done over, but new stuff that retains the quality of its predecessors. It is a quality of steady, thorough human humor that rises at times to a wild hysteria of glee. And, while it is consistently funny, there is an element of underlying pathos, a tender humanity that endears it to everyone.

On the same program is "Closed Gates" with John Harron and Jane Novak.

For the last three days of the week, the pictures are "One Increasing Purpose" and "Rolled Stockings." Edmund Lowe, who has achieved international reputation by his splendid interpretation of the character of Sergeant Quirt in "What Price Glory," is cast in the stellar role of Sim Paris in "One Increasing Purpose." It is he who, after escaping death many times in the World War, comes to the conclusion that he has been spared for some noble "purpose." This he seeks to find and accomplish, and it is this vital theme that dominates the story. The principle feminine lead, that of Elizabeth Glade, is played by Lila Lee with rare sympathy and understanding.

The cast in "Rolled Stockings" is made up of Paramount's Junior Stars: James Hall, Louise Brooks, Richard Arlen, Nancy Phillips and El Brendel.

Indians Had No Use for General Custer

Shortly after the massacre of General Custer and his troops I met Rain in the Face. I asked him who killed Custer. He replied that Custer had several wounds and nobody knew who shot him. After a slight pause he added, in a tense voice as if repressing emotion, "He was a bad man and a liar, and women and children slept better when they knew he was dead."

In using the word liar, he made the sign of a forked tongue by putting two outstretched fingers in front of his mouth. What he referred to was an incident in Oklahoma, a few years before Custer's death. The general had attacked a big camp of Cheyennes, Kiowas and Arapahos there. The Indians were not on the war path, but Custer met with considerable loss, including Captain Hamilton, a great grandson of Alexander Hamilton. The Indians themselves lost very heavily, including some women and children. The survivors were set adrift destitute of everything. Piles were made of their teepees, poles, robe, and all their other belongings of no use to their captors, and the whole lot was destroyed by fire.

Eastern humanitarians protested against Custer's action in attacking what was represented to be a peaceful village. But at that time on the frontier it was impossible to paint the Indian devil too black. "The only good Indian is a dead Indian." This was attributed to Sheridan. He never said it, but it was a common expression.—Gen. Eli L. Huggins in the American Mercury.

Records of History in Ancient Mirrors

In the days when a mirror was a piece of burnished, unframed metal it was in many countries a work of art. The chemistry of years have rendered these ancient mirrors no longer fit for the purpose for which they were made, but antiquarians still consult them for a glimpse into the past. Etruscan mirrors, for example, covered with pictures of gods and heroes, have been called the "figurative dictionary of Etruscan mythology" and this would apply to the Greek mirrors as well. Chinese mirrors also are in accord with the ideas of oriental philosophy, and the Egyptian, while less ornate than the others, are deeply indicative of racial thought. With the Egyptians the very form of the mirror had a significance. It was generally in the shape of the solar disk, indicating the connection between the mirror and the sun god. In China, mirrors were placed in great numbers in graves. In Japan, the mirror was one of the three objects of the imperial insignia, the other two being the sword and the jewel. The oldest mirrors that exist today are the Egyptian.—International Studio.

Turned Bear Into Pot

A survivor in the little explored regions of northwestern Canada has unusual and amusing experiences. In the diary of the officer in charge of the topographical survey party engaged in the last section of the work of running the sixth meridian northward to the Mackenzie river the following incident is related:

"As we were camped on one of the islands of the Mackenzie river, with a view to watching for the boat that was to take us south, Bruin paid us a visit perhaps to bid us good-by.

"Thinking it was the dog, the cook ordered the intruder off, accompanying the order with a backhand slap.

"The bear meat was tough, but it was a gratifying change from bacon."—New York Times.

Peculiar Safety Devices

Devices for human safety always have been favorites with inventors. Back in the 1870s, when buildings were growing taller, ingenious minds turned freely to the invention of newfangled fire escapes.

One of the oldest of these, says Popular Science Magazine, is in the form of a parachute attached to a headgear worn by the escaper.

With this, declared the inventor, "a person may safely jump out of a burning building from any height and land, without injury and without the least danger, on the ground.

To make doubly sure of such a landing he further provided overshoes with thick rubber soles "to take up the concussion with the ground."

Baker as Well as Poet

Jean Reboul was a French baker who was also talented as a poet. He was born in 1796, and lived in the southern part of France. It is said that although his poems attracted much attention and he was lionized in Paris on his occasional visits, he never gave up his work as a baker. He once said to Alexander Dumas that from five o'clock in the morning until four o'clock in the afternoon he was the baker, and from five o'clock in the evening until midnight he was the poet.

Spring Aids Pilgrimages

Whether by accident or plan the most holy time to journey to Mecca coincides with the most delightful season on the desert. Spring in the Arabian desert comes just after the winter rains in January. Dusty shrubs bearing all the appearances of having been dead for years, suddenly burst into new green and brilliant desert flowers that the meadows. Wells flow anew, camels acquire fat humps again and the landscape is in many essentials at its best.

Substantial Basis for Most Common Beliefs

It is a fact proved by actual count that a large number of persons prefer the risk of being run over through having stepped from a sidewalk into the road, than to continue on the curb if by so doing they are compelled to pass under some ladder which has been erected against the side of a building.

This superstition that it is unlucky to pass beneath a ladder dates back to the time when the hanging of wrongdoers was a very common occurrence. The nearest tree was usually chosen, but when towns sprang up and trees were less available, a ladder propped against the wall made the gibbet.

The phrase "not worth a cuss" which is often applied to some person or article, was formerly "not worth a cress," writes Mr. Charles Platt in Popular Superstitions. The expression, he says, related to nasturtiums, which were a nuisance to gardeners because of their habit of scattering seeds all over the place.

The belief that May is an unlucky month for marriage is due, he thinks, to the fact that the Romans dedicated that month to old people, which thereby suggests that young lovers had better take a back seat for a time.

MILK CHART FOR MONTH OF JUNE 1927

Published by the Winchester Board of Health

The bacteria count in this chart gives the number of bacteria found in one c. c. taken from the center of the sample after it had been well shaken. It should be remembered that another c. c. taken from the same sample might give a somewhat different count, but the difference would rarely, if ever, exceed 10 per cent.

Aurelian Philosophy

Does anyone despise me? What is that to me? I will take care not to give him any reason for his contempt. Does anyone hate me? it may be so. Another man's malice shall never spoil my temper. I will continue kind and good unmoved by all the world.—Marcus Aurelius.

Jackson by No Means Lacking in Education

John Quincy Adams declined to attend the ceremonies at Harvard college in 1833 when the honorary degree of doctor of laws was conferred upon Andrew Jackson, then President of the United States.

His reason, according to his diary, was that "as an affectionate child of our alma mater, I would not be present to witness her disgrace in conferring her highest literary honors upon a barbarian who could not write a sentence of grammar and hardly could spell his own name."

Adams' estimate of Jackson has been challenged by Dr. Archibald Henderson, who tells in the Raleigh (N. C.) News and Observer, the result of his exhaustive researches regarding Jackson's early life. He finds that Jackson, as a boy, received a better education than the average child of his station in life.

Later he attended Waxhaw academy. He continued his studies in that part of Carolina known then as New Acquisition. An account of the life of Rev. Francis Cummins, once a teacher at Bethel, S. C., shows that Jackson was one of his pupils and there is evidence that for a short time Jackson attended Queen's museum in Charlotte, N. C.

Carries Food for a Week

The pelican can carry enough food in its beak to last the bird a week.

Old Bill Shaved Beard

The old fisherman, Captain Bill, was a great character at the Cove. He was a picturesque old fellow with his long flowing beard, and was the model of many a painter. Not long before his death he shaved off his beard, to the distress of the artists.

"Why, Bill," exclaimed one of the painters in amazement when meeting him on the road. "Where is your beard?"

"Well," he exclaimed slowly and a bit sorrowfully, "it is this way—my son, he said as how it wasn't hygienic. You see, last winter the tobacco juice got all froze in—so he made me cut it off." From "Touring New England," by Chas Walker Whiteside (Penn).

Lonsdale Romance

There is a romantic story, remembered perhaps by very few, connected with the wonderful dinner set of Sevres china at Lowther castle. It had been stolen in Paris during the revolution, and subsequently purchased by the second earl of Lonsdale.

There were three pieces wanting, and for these the earl searched for many years without success. At last—his age was eighty—he heard that they were exhibited in a sale in London. He sent a friend to purchase them, and, being very feeble, waited outside in his brougham. The missing pieces were purchased. Lord Lonsdale took them home and died that night.

Who Paid For The Brooklyn Bridge?

It cost $18,000,000.

Before it was built, 200,000 people paid out 4c a day, 2c each way to be ferried across the river, almost $15 a year per person.

We don't know who paid for the bridge, but we do know that the people who use it saved $3,000,000 a year in ferry fares.

Putting a few dollars a month in a co-operative bank savings account is like the little ferry fares. Each saving—considered alone—doesn't look like much, but the total over a period of years is tremendously satisfactory to each person who maintains his account.

Wanted Winding

An absent-minded man was a member of a geological survey expedition in Arizona.

One morning he found that his watch had stopped. It would not respond to shaking, and as the party was dependent upon it for observations the owner traveled thirty miles by wagon to a little town where there was a watch repairer.

The man opened the case, explored the works, closed the case, twisted the winder, and handed the watch back to its owner with the remark:

"That's a fine movement—one of the best I've seen. But you'll have to wind it."

Founded Confederacy

On February 4, 1861, there was held in the South a convention of seven southern states. The convention was held at Montgomery, Ala., and it had for its purpose the organization of the government of the Confederate States of America.

Guilty Ones Escape

"Innocent Novelist Jailed as Swindler." It is too bad that some of the guilty ones can't be jailed on the same charge.

Reasonable Deduction

A well-known criminal lawyer who has a remarkable memory was accosted on the street one day by a man who, he remembered, had a long prison record. The man produced what he termed a rare type of parrot, but the lawyer immediately recognized it as nothing more than a painted sparrow. "This bird flew into my room," he began. "What species do you think it is?" The lawyer after pretending to examine the sparrow, replied, "No, I can't tell you exactly what breed it is, but judging from the company it keeps, I should say it is a jail-bird."

Phenician Language Similar to Hebrew

The stele of Mesha, King of Moab, which was found at Dhiban in 1868, and is more popularly known as the Moabite stone, belonging to the Ninth century, B. C. This contains one of the earliest inscriptions in the Phenician alphabet, and its language, according to the new Standard dictionary, differs only dialectically from the Hebrew. By studying the fragments of this stone, Clermont-Ganneau was able to publish the text, and the first translation; and the decipherment of the entire stone, which is now complete, was the result of researches by French, German and English scholars.

Yet another, the code of ethics of Hammurabi, king of Babylonia from 2240 to 2185 B. C., which was discovered in 1902, is in cuneiform characters. The cuneiforms are said to have been invented by the primitive Accadians of Mesopotamia about 6,000 years ago, and were impressed or engraved by the ancient Babylonians, Assyrians and others on bronze, glass, iron, stone, clay and other substances.

Mr. Meek Puts $30 on Right Side of Ledger

The meek little man counted his change and moved away from the railroad ticket window. He looked worried, counted again and edged diffidently back.

"I think," he said apologetically, "that you made a mistake in the change."

The sleek-haired clerk became chill with sudden hauteur.

"Sorry, but you should have rectified that when I gave it to you. Can't do anything now."

"But," said the little man, peering piteously over his glasses, "I didn't notice it at the—"

"Rules of the comp'ny," recited the clerk pompously. "We can't risk gettin' gypped by people who don't count their change. Move along, please; please; others waiting."

"Are you sure you can't do anything about a serious error like this?" The agonized anxiety in the small voice would have melted a human heart.

"Yes. Absolutely! Now, will you move on or must I—"

"No, there's no need of that," sighed the lamb, melting into the passing throng. "You're just out $30, that's all."

No Wonder She Fainted

He was a dapper little man at the door trying his best to sell a can opener.

"Madam," he began glibly, "I am selling a can opener that cannot be beaten. It can open any can that cannot be opened by an ordinary can opener, and any can that can be opened by a can opener. If you can show me a can that cannot be opened by any can opener other than this can opener, I will prove to you that this can opener can open a can quicker than any other can opener can. Now if you can get a can opener that can open a can quicker—"

But by this time the lady of the house had fainted on the cold doorstep.

English as Spoken

An Englishman and an American were having the usual argument as to which country had the queerest dialect. The Englishman was positive he was the winner of the argument.

"Why, say, old cork," he said, "you use the queerest bally expressions I ever heard, blime. The other afternoon I accosted a colored person and awsked him if he thought it would rain, and do you know what he said? He said, 'Little dogs it will, and little dogs it won't.'"

The American was puzzled and the next afternoon met the same negro with whom the Englishman had conversed. The negro scratched his woolly head and then said:

"That ain't what Ah said. Ah just tol' the man that p'ups it would rain, and p'ups it wouldn't."

Sabbath in Palestine

Palestine has three Sabbaths: Friday for Moslems, Saturday for Jews, and Sunday for Christians. The post office is open every day of the week, because of the many sects and holy days.

Preserving Eggs

Of the many methods which have been tried for preserving eggs on a small scale none has proved more successful than the use of water glass (sodium silicate). Pure water that has been boiled and then cooled should be used. To each ten quarts of water one quart of water glass should be added. The solution should be prepared, placed in a jar or crock, and the fresh eggs added from time to time until the jar is filled; but be sure that there are two inches of the solution covering the eggs. The eggs must not be washed before packing, for washing injures the keeping quality, probably by dissolving the mucilaginous coating.

Even Best Clock Varies

America's most timely clock clicks off the fleeting moments with a variation of only two one-hundredths of a second a day.

Inclosed in an air-tight air chamber, especially constructed to keep outside influences away from the government's master timekeeper, the standard clock at the bureau of standards, Washington, which has this small variation in time, is used as a yardstick for measuring time intervals at the bureau. The clock is electrically wound twice a minute and has a contact by which it may send second signals to any part of the bureau.

Its time is checked each day by comparison with the noon signals from the naval observatory which uses solar observations to set the nation's time.

Use of Metal Ceiling Goes Far Into Past

Very little has been written about metal ceilings. Nevertheless, metal ceilings and sidewalks fill an important place in the building finish of today. It is interesting to note, however, how they have come into use, says the Boston Herald.

Metal ceilings, we find in history, originated back to the time of King Solomon. At that time they used metals and hammered them into shape into panels, and from this ancient beginning the start of the metal ceiling industry has worked its way, until at the present time this form of interior finish is used in the highest class buildings throughout the world.

The old artists of ancient times wrought all their panel effects by hammering the metal into molds and various shapes, and as labor did not have the value of today it gave them a chance to lighten up their construction down through the building rather than put in stone panels with the subsequent heavy rich arch supports that were used before the time of steel girders.

Many of the fine old churches on the continent today have large panel ceilings fashioned out by these ancient workmen and they have withstood the test of hundreds upon hundreds of years.

The metal ceiling industry today has grown into such gigantic proportions that the most modern machinery and, in fact, the automobile body construction owes its entire start to the lessons learned from the metal ceiling manufacturers in stamping and pressing metal to various shapes.

Her Banking Account Really an Economy

Angelica did a little mental arithmetic with her fingers.

"Well, I didn't buy anything much—just a dozen pair of stockings, a pint bottle of eau de cologne, two jumpers, a three-piece suit, some chocolates, that little fur tie I've been wanting for so long, one or two ..."

"Here, hold up!" I exclaimed. "How much did you spend altogether?" I stretched out my hand. "Let's have a look at your check book. You can tell from the stubs."

But she had neglected to fill them in, so they gave no clew to her expenditure. After an hour's calculation, however, we worked it out at about $125, $25 more than she had deposited in the bank that morning.

"That's what I like about a banking account," my wife said as we went upstairs. "It's economy, really. How else could you make $100 go as far as $125?"

Deceptive Beggars

Throughout the world there are scattered many men and women who have adopted a sort of Jekyll and Hyde existence; during the day they are beggars, but at night they spend their receipts on the luxuries of life. The practice of such double lives is an ancient one among impostors, and in London various premises are used by these men and women in which to change their clothes. The same stores provide crutches, "blind" placards, cups, club shoes, white wigs and invalid chairs for the beggars who wish to make an appeal to sympathy. Musical instruments are rented to those beggars who try to give a certain value for their money. Some of these beggars dismiss their chauffeurs at the entrance to the store and a few minutes later reappear on the streets arrayed in their "working" garb.

Tea From Coffee Leaves

More than 200 plants have at some time or other been used in the making of beverages. Sage, betony and rosemary once were famous teas in England. In the southern part of the country, raspberry leaves were used for a drink that lingered in favor a century after Cathay shipped her scented product to the Britons. The leaves of the black currant tree were widely used and still are used by some French villagers, according to the Tea and Coffee Trade Journal. Strangely enough, one kind of tea is made from coffee leaves. The beverage from these leaves is said to be invigorating and refreshing. It tastes like green tea. Tasters and chemists in many countries have commented favorably on samples of this coffee tea.

Looking to the Future

When the thoughtful wife of Dick Hughes, a robber executed in 1703, met her husband on the eventful day, she whispered: "My dear, who must find the rope that is to hang you—me or the sheriff?" Her husband replied: "The sheriff, honey; for who's obliged to find him tools to do his work?"

"Ah!" replied his wife, "I wish I had known so much before; it would have saved me twopence, for I have been and bought one already." "Well, well," said Dick, cheerfully, "perhaps it mayn't be lost. It may serve a second husband." —London Answers.

Inks From Insects

Many insects provide the basic ingredient for inks. The brightest red inks are made from cochineal, a dye stuff found in tiny insects that live on cactus in Mexico and South America. These insects are scraped off the cactus, put into a hot oven or boiling water which kills them, and then they are dried in the sunshine. A red paste is made by dissolving the insects in ammonia water and this paste is then diluted to the consistency desired when sold.

Chats With YOUR Gas Man

EAST MEETS WEST IN HOSPITALITY

The Japanese have a queer way of telling the story of The Prodigal Son. They're fond of this Christian Biblical tale but they put their own interpretation on it.

For instance, to "bring out the best robe and kill the fatted calf" is no mark of love and honor in Japan. Instead, we are told that the fond Japanese father ordered the servants to "bring out the best kimona and heat the bath."

The hot bath for the tired traveler . . . . . that, indeed, is a mark of consideration and hospitality. Do your guests find an abundant supply of hot water in your home? Do you yourself enjoy the same luxury? The way to assure it is through the installation of a gas water heater.

C. D. OF A. NOTES

Sister Mary Smith has returned from an auto trip to Montreal, Quebec and many other interesting parts of Canada. She was accompanied by her husband, Mr. John T. Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Flanagan.

Many cards of congratulation accompanied the Court's gift of appropriate sweetness which was sent by the sick committee this week to Sister Mabel Kelley O'Brien of The Bethel Inn, Bethel, Me. The occasion for rejoicing is the advent of a new baby, who has been named Patricia Frances O'Brien.

Three of our members who are on the sick list are reported by the sick committee as steadily improving. V. R. Nellie Moffett and Past Treasurer Catharine Kean have had the grip and Sister Annie Bradley is nursing a fractured wrist.

The Court in a body visited the home of Sister Abby McDonough of Glenwood avenue on Sunday evening, where, led by Grand Regent Minnie O'Connor, the rosary was recited in memory of Sister McDonough's mother, Mrs. Hannah Powers, who passed away on the previous Friday.

The next house social will be held at the home of Sister Katharine McHugh on Main street. Woburn on Tuesday evening, Aug. 2. Sister McHugh will be assisted by Sister Marie Crilley, also of Woburn.

Plans are swinging along splendidly for the Court's ninth annual outing which will be of a most interesting nature this year. P. G. R. Elizabeth C. McDonald, assisted by a capable committee, has the affair in charge and all signs point to the best outing ever." It is expected that the entire party will go by auto and bus to Ipswich, where, at the Ipswich wharf, little river launches will be waiting to convey them up the river and out to one of the islands just off the coast of Newburyport. Here an old fashioned clambake, including besides the clams, roasted potatoes and corn on the ear, coffee and a plentiful dessert will be served. Following dinner there will be sports in charge of P. G. R. Frances T. Conlon assisted by Sisters Jane King, Mary O'Melia and Ethel Kean.

After lunch at 6 o'clock a concert will be given and community singing enjoyed as all gather around the drift wood fire which forms the culmination of these famous clambakes on the Ipswich river. The concert, or rather, the show, which will be a typically C. D. of A. one, will be in charge of Sisters Maud M. Coty, Mollie L. Maguire, Mary McGrath, Katharine F. O'Connor and Katharine R. Walsh. Needless to say it will carry us back in spirit to the happy days of "Little Annie Rooney," "Seeing Nellie Home" and "The Good-looking Man."

Then the sail home with friendships more securely cemented and the doing of endless charity work not such a burden but, rather a welcome joy. Final plans for the outing will be contained in next week's Star.

Only the ill and those on their vacations were missing on last Thursday evening when we gave our Grand Regent, Mrs. Minnie A. O'Connor and her husband, Joseph E. O'Connor of the local postal force, their "big time" on the 25th anniversary of their marriage. And a wonderful affair it was with sincere friendship on every hand to gladden the committee and put extra "pep" into the entertainers. And never were entertainers in such voice and form. They gave of their best, without stint. The memory of them will last for many years to come; in fact it was with some difficulty that they were silenced long enough so that Sergt. "Tom" Cassidy who presided at the loud speaker, could proclaim Dempsey's victory.

To the committee in charge Chairman Elizabeth C. McDonald extends on behalf of our Grand Regent, her husband and their four children, Ethel, Joe, George and Helen, a vote of thanks, not only for the lovely gift but for a never-to-be forgotten evening. The committee included Sisters Conlon, Martin, Coty, K. McHugh, C. Kean, Brown, Murray, N. O'Melia, Kelley, Cassidy and King.

Columbus' Debt to Wife

If it be true that there is a woman in the background in every notable achievement, there seems to be justification in calling Dona Felipa, the wife of Christopher Columbus, that influence in the life of the man who was later to discover the western world.

When Columbus talked to her about his exploration enthusiasms, she was sympathetic and his ambitions appear to have found grateful nurture at their fireside. There is a tale of how Dona Isabella, Columbus' mother in law, produced an old box containing maps and logs piously kept relics of her husband's. It may be that something found in this box prompted in Columbus the conception, later to become a thrilling article of faith, of a land beyond the horizon.—Kansas City Times.

TO AVOID LIBEL SUITS

Every editor who isn't a soft soapist and who likes to tell the truth in plain words has to keep his weather eye open for libel suits.

To sue an editor for libel is one way in which obscure people can attract momentary attention to themselves. It is an expression of swollen ego.

I have had some harsh criticisms of myself printed in times past and the only ones that hurt me at all were those that expressed the truth. It was easy to laugh at the lies.

One country editor, harassed by libel suits, so the story goes, studied the libel law. When he discovered how easy it is to libel anybody, this is the way he wrote up a party:

A woman giving the name of J. G. Jones, who is reported to be one of the society leaders of this section, is said to have given what purported to be a reception yesterday afternoon.

It is understood that a considerable number of so-called guests reported to be ladies noted in society circles, were present, and some of them are quoted as saying they enjoyed the occasion.

It is charged that the firm of Bower & Black furnished the refreshments, and Stringham the alleged music.

The hostess is said to have worn a necklace of alleged pearls which she declares was given her by her husband.

An hour after the paper appeared the editor quit figuring on how to get away from libel suits. He began figuring on how to get away from town.

The 11:30 p. m. freight bound west solved the problem.—[From the Vagabond.

DEAUVILLE: BEACON FOR FASHION AND TRANSATLANTIC FLIGHTS

Trouville lighthouse, across the estuary of the Seine River from Harve, was the French mainland landmark of "The America" on its way to Paris.

Trouville, Commander Byrd's guide-post to Paris, is much better known in the United States by the name of its suburb, Deauville, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Deauville and Trouville, with their gaming casinos and fashion board walks are objectives to which many more Americans than the flyers of "The America" and "The Spirit of St. Louis" have directed their courses.

Many fashions from Paris in the American magazines were fixed in Deauville. Fashion photographers, mannequins down from Paris with the latest experiments in gowns and bathing costumes, millionaires from everywhere, and casino employees and operators comprise the population which moves into the resorts at this time of the year.

Both Resorts Are Young Towns

France regards Trouville and Deauville somewhat as we think of the Katzenjammer Kids. Their antics are considered pranks of youth, because both beach towns are youngsters beside the hoary villages of France. Trouville can point to 65 years of success as a resort, Deauville to not more than 20 years. Until M. Isabey, the artist, and Alexander Dumas discovered Trouville, it lived quietly as just another picturesque Normandy fishing village.

The most hardy bathers require liquid stimulants before and after dipping in the chilly channel. That bathing costumes from Paris appear unusable for swimming is due, no doubt, to the fact that the wise mannequin at Deauville hangs her clothes in an expensive hotel room and never goes nearer the water than where waves wash the sand.

While Isabey and Dumas earn their praise as discoverers, due credit must be given to the life work of M. Cornuche. He was a waiter in Makim's at Paris before he conceived the idea that what Deauville needed was higher stakes. Now M. Cornuche, ex-waiter, holds the honorary title of King of Deauville. His palace is his casino and there he entertains a mixed company of Mohammedan princes, South American ranch owners, European royalty, American millionaires, movie stars, actresses, and dress designers.

Whence Champlain Came

Honfleur, seven miles northeast, scarcely takes Deauville and Trouville seriously, because Honfleur proudly remembers 'way back to the day it dispatched that famous voyager Champlain to America in 1607. "The America" and "The Spirit of St. Louis" flown by Lindbergh followed practically the same course that Champlain sailed in the opposite direction to reach the New World.

Fifteen miles east of Cherbourg one of France's major light-houses rises 263 feet above the sea at Barfleur. Lindbergh flew over Barfleur. It is 60 miles over the waters of Baie de la Seine to Trouville and 100 miles beyond Trouville to Le Bourget Field at Paris.

Prophetic Plant

A plant which is said to be able to predict earthquakes and volcanic eruptions bears the scientific name of Abrus precatorius. It is a native of Cuba, has no flowers, and consists of a long stalk from which branch numerous twigs containing rows of delicate-looking leaves. The leaves frequently change color or close, while the twigs bend themselves into curious positions.

This plant is highly sensitive to electric and magnetic influences, and by being able to interpret the movements of the plant in response to electric currents the scientist is enabled to predict great convulsions of nature.

Visitor Surely Had Impressed Small Boy

There was great excitement in the Jones home out on Long island. A real lord was paying them a visit. He was now sitting at the dinner table and Mrs. Jones fluttered as she urged my lord to eat this and that.

Mr. Jones, swollen with a sense of the great honor bestowed upon his household, began each sentence with lord and ended it the same way with a worshipful not to say reverential, air.

As a special privilege thinking that he might talk about it in his maturer years—little Willie Jones, aged five, had been permitted to attend the function on condition that he refrain from talking unless spoken to. Mindful of this pledge, the little fellow sat in silence, his large round eyes fixed in a stare upon the face and form of the stranger.

But when he saw the visitor's eye roaming hither and yon across the laden table as though seeking something, an innate sense of hospitality moved him to speak.

"Mom! Oh, mom!" said Willie.

"What is it, Willie?" asked the mother.

"God wants a pickle."—Everybody's Magazine.

Nurich's Great Idea

"Now let's see about this portrait you're to make of my wife," said Nurich. "Water colors rub out easily don't they?"

"Oh, yes," said DeAuber; "it must be in oil—"

"Wait a minute. Just make the head and neck in oil and the dress in water color. Then it'll be easy to bring it up to date every time the style changes."

No Life in Meteorite

The Smithsonian institution says that nothing indicative of any form of life, either animal or plant, has ever been found in meteorites. As long ago as 1880 a German by the name of Hahn published descriptions of what he thought were animal forms in meteorites, but it was definitely shown that he was mistaken.

Old Notion Incorrect

If a ship is heavy enough to sink below the surface it will go all the way down. There is nothing to the notion that the pressure of the water will hold up a heavy ship and keep it suspended part way down.

CHURCH PROGRESS AT THE HIGHLANDS

Ten months in a new church is a rare community experience. This privilege has been granted to and appreciated by the residents of Winchester Highlands. The church stands on the corner of Kenwin road and Washington street. With this ideal location, and the use of modern methods, and with a slight change in the programs, signs of a new life have appeared. Preaching the Gospel, imparting religious instruction to the young and engaging in social activities, go on with a better spirit in this new environment. There is a difference. Encouraging reports are being recorded every month. Since the challenge of five years ago has been met, the lift is upward and the prospects are as bright as the promises of God.

In short the 200 families within the sound of the new memorial bell have been directly or indirectly greatly benefitted by the change. Churchgoing is made easy and is no longer a mere form of duty but a constant pleasure. People are enjoying religion and loyally supporting the good cause. Let those who know tell the story.

The Fourth Annual Report

In figures, the price of the land and the cost of the new church with its interior finish and furnishings has been a $43,000 proposition. The Building Committee has just issued the fourth annual report, a record of unusual happenings. As a document it reads good and inspires everyone interested to continue in service until the last dollar is paid and the mortgage burned. Many friends in Winchester and elsewhere have come forward with encouraging words and liberal gifts. This timely support has been deeply appreciated, for without their help this noble enterprise would have been limping and halting and discouraging.

In the report of the treasurer some items may be of interest to the readers of the Winchester Star.

During the year ending July 31, the Treasurer has received from the Old South Society of Boston $2500, and from the Woburn Association of Congregational Churches $2600 and from the Congregational Church Union of Boston and vicinity $2000 and from the Congregational Church Building Society $3000 as a grant and $5000 as a mortgage—making the total receipts from these four outside organizations $15,100. In addition to this the several groups and organizations of the Highlands Church have been busy at work during the year for they have turned into the treasury the sum of $1384.76—thus making a total of net receipts for the year just ending, $16 184.76. So that the matter stands up to date as follows: of the $43,000 proposition the treasurer has received and paid out to the owner of the land, and the architect of the Building, and the contractors and sub-contractors for labor and material used, the sum of $40,648.34 leaving a balance still due on Building contracts of $2351.66. And according to a church vote taken in January the goal for the calendar year is to pay off all indebtedness on the new church by Dec. 31, 1927. The campaign is now on and the people are working hard to bring it to a successful issue.

Immediate Needs—An Organ and a Parish House

As the fifth year of the campaign opens there are two pressing needs that must be met. First—an Organ. Every church to be well equipped and efficient needs an organ as a help to a choir. Without it there is a handicap in presenting an adequate order of worship. The architect in his plans wisely provided a space close to the choir for an organ. Here is a splendid opportunity for an interested person or family to memorialise a relative or friend in a fitting manner.

Second—a Parish House. The vote of the members still stands on the records, that the chapel on Cross street be moved over and connected with the church, so that with minor alterations at a reasonable expense, it could be equipped for Sunday School and Parish House purposes, including a much needed Ladies' Sewing Room and Parlor.

Therefore, in behalf of the Building Committee and members of the church and congregation and residents of the Highlands the Pastor is ready to interview any person or organization interested, affording an opportunity to share with a deserving and loyal people the joy of unselfish service.

Chairman of Finance Committee, Rev. John E. Whitley, 507 Washington street, Winchester, phone Win. 0431-J.

Aug. 1, 1927.

REV. AND MRS. BURROUGHS LEFT TOWN LAST WEEK

Rev. and Mrs. Lisle Burroughs left town last week by motor for Rochester, N. Y., where Mr. Burroughs is to assume the duties of executive minister of the Third Presbyterian Church.

Rev. Mr. Burroughs has been for the past three years assistant pastor of the First Congregational Church here, resigning to accept the Rochester call during the first week of April. He is a graduate of the Boston University College of Sacred Theology and was ordained into the Congregational ministry June 9, 1926.

In Rochester his parish is situated within three blocks of the University of Rochester, offering great possibilities for work among students and young people in whom Mr. Burroughs is especially interested.

Much of his work while associated with the First Congregational Church has been among its younger members and with the children of the Sunday School with all of whom he has been extremely popular. He has made many friends in Winchester outside the limits of his parish who are viewing his leaving with regret while congratulating him upon his advancement.

POLICE CHARGE CHARLESTOWN MEN WITH LARCENY

As a result of some particularly quick action on the part of the Winchester Police two Charlestown men were summonsed into the District Court at Woburn this morning to answer the charge of larceny.

The charges grew out of the breaking of two pumps and the stealing of a quantity of gasoline from the filling station of Mr. James Kenney at the corner of Cambridge and Pond streets early Monday morning.

The theft occurred at about 4:30 o'clock, Police Headquarters being notified by Mr. Kenney at 8. An investigation was quickly begun by Chief McIntosh and Sergt. Thomas Cassidy and as a result of their activities the two men in question were rounded up before noon of the same day.

WINCHESTER VERY QUIET ON TRADERS' DAY

Wichester's business center was locked tightly Wednesday, the date being that of the annual Traders' Day. No concerted outing had been planned by the local merchants and as a consequence an almost perfect day appeared. Many were out of town, leaving early in the morning, some with the Elks' party going to Providence and others to the Rotary Club outing at the Corinthian Yacht Club, Marblehead. Here and there one could see during the day irate housewives armed with the family market basket trying to find a store at which to make a few purchases. It was a case of "nothing doing" and a careful perusal of their last week's "Star" might have saved the ladies a trip down town. There were no accidents reported at Police Headquarters and the firemen spent a quiet day.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Elsie Hale Draper of Canton and Scituate to Lee W. Court of this town. Miss Draper, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Draper, attended the Chamberlin School and was graduated from Abbott Academy. Mr. Court attended the Massachusetts Normal Art School and is a member of the Copley Society, the Winchester Boat Club and Rockport Art Association. He is associated with the Boston firm of William Filene's Sons Co., as art advisor and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ormsby A. Court.

ST. MARY'S AT WOBURN SUNDAY

St. Mary's B. B. C. will journey to Library Park, Woburn, Sunday afternoon for the rubber baseball game with "Doc" Doherty's Woburn "Pals." In the first meeting of the two clubs Winchester's Francis Tansey was away too good for the Tanning City lads but in the return game sloppy fielding by substitute players behind "Jomma" Dolan allowed Woburn to pull out a lucky win. Tomorrow's game should be a good one and the locals should realize that nothing short of their strongest lineup will be at all good enough. Game will be called at 3:15.

INTERESTING CENSUS FIGURES

The Town's census figures, according to Assistant Assessor F. Perceval Lewis, were 11,850 April 1, 1927. At present it is estimated that the figures are 100 short of 12,000 with an estimated gain of 50 during the spring. The gain for the year is 200 which has been the average gain per year for some 25 years. The figures in 1900 were 7248.

The Board of Selectmen has authorized the Town Engineer to proceed in the matter of having the Boston Bridge Works design and furnish the steel for the bridges to be laid in connection with the construction of Sylvester avenue and Canal street.

COMING EVENTS

Aug. 5 Saturday—Picnic of the Manchester Field at 3:15 p. m. St. Mary's vs. North Woburn.

Aug. 9, Tuesday—Flower Mission—Bring your flowers for distribution in Boston to the Winchester R. R. Station in time for the 9:06 train.

Oct. 28, Friday afternoon and evening—Sale and supper—Woman's League, First Baptist Church.

FATHER AND SON TOURNAMENT

Most Successful Event Ever Held at Winchester Country Club

The annual Father-and-Son tournament, held Wednesday at the Winchester Country Club, proved the most successful event in its history. With the opening of the new 12th green and using the new 13th, reopened for the play, the 106 pairs entering the play proved the popularity of the match and the interest inspired in this annual tourney. The event was won by Ralph Lincoln and his son Dick with a 79, they being the only pair to break 80.

Percy and Bobby Goodale of the home club were a close second with an even 80, being just one put behind the winners. They met disaster at the second hole, where they played a seven. Jim and John Reidy of Green Hill were third with 81, and behind them four pairs tied for fourth place—W. D. and Charles Eaton of Winchester, W. A. and F. P. Hersey of Wellesley, C. E. and C. F. Mason, Jr., of Cohasset and C. S. and J. G. Cook of Brae-Burn.

There were four net trophies this year, and with the Lincolns taking the gross, four pairs finished in a tie for the nets with 69s. A new prize this year was awarded the father who played around with more than one son, the two rounds constituting the best net. Percy Goodale was the honor man in this class with 141, but as he took second gross prize, the trophy went to Jim Reidy.

Bill Bott and his son Dave, and Larry and Dick Page of Weston, held the distinction of having two seven-year-old boys, each weighing less than 100 pounds on their teams, and they played good golf at that. Young Ben Goodale also took his golf seriously and very creditably.

The scores of the Winchester entries were as follows:

C. H. & R. C. Carroll	87	16	69
P. W. & Robert Goodale	80	10	70
W. D. Charles Eaton	82	12	70
P. A. & Ben Goodale	85	14	71
P. E. & M. Smith	89	18	71
W. F. & W. F. Homer, Jr.	96	24	72
C. A. & R. L. Rideout	91	18	73
J. H. S. & E. F. Sazzo	89	15	74
G. H. & J. P. Akins	98	23	75
G. H. & R. M. Church	90	15	75
J. L. S. & G. L. Bacton	88	12	76
W. S. & Arthur Fairchild	85	16	74
P. W. & M. Bott	103	24	79
J. L. S. & E. T. Bacton	91	10	81
H. J. & C. S. Olmstead	102	20	82
C. H. & C. L. Bodge	107	25	82
A. M. & W. Boston	107	25	82
R. W. & A. Wilson	106	24	82
W. S. & W. S. Fairchild, Jr.	106	24	82
W. T. & F. N. Cheleton	114	24	90
P. N. & Robert Bott	132	24	108

36 hole net scores of fathers playing with two sons:

Percy Goodale	141
J. L. S. Bacton	157
W. S. Fairchild	165

ST. MARY'S TO MEET NORTH WOBURN TOMORROW

The second of two postponed ball games will be played tomorrow afternoon at 3:15 when the St. Mary's B. B. C. will entertain the strong North Woburn team on Manchester Field. Rain made it impossible to play a previous game arranged between the two clubs but the attraction was such a good one that both managers agreed to another booking.

"Steve" Colucci, manager of the North Woburn outfit, believes that his team can "take" the locals with something to spare and has even gone so far as to state that St. Mary's has been very lucky to date. Manager Frank Melly is more inclined to think his club gets the breaks because the boys make them and is confident that the locals will be on the long end tomorrow.

Last Saturday against Lexington St. Mary's showed a great batting punch and after a very sour start in the first inning played well afield. The pitching will probably decide tomorrow's contest and "Muggins" Tansey, big Norwich hurler, is expected to start on the mound for the locals. Colucci's choice is not known.

FIRE ALARM SYSTEM TO BE LINKED WITH ARLINGTON

The Selectmen voted last week to have Winchester's fire alarm system intercommunicating with that of Arlington, Chief David H. DeCourcy having received orders to this effect. The local system of alarms has been for some time on such a basis with Woburn and the scheme has proved more than satisfactory.

Its adoption in the present instance will provide for the answering on first alarm of certain local boxes by the Arlington Department, with Winchester reciprocating. In the case of boxes in the Dunster lane section of the town it should prove a boon to the local department, especially in winter when a heavy snowfall often makes passage all but impossible, if not quite so from the Winchester approach. Arlington faces no such obstacle since the farmers of the vicinity keep the roads leading to Massachusetts avenue in Arlington Heights open at all times. The system will also guarantee the answering of certain Winchester boxes when the local department is answering another call, as in the case of the agreement with Woburn.

Chief DeCourcy estimated the cost of installing the new system as in the neighborhood of $1000 and felt that it would easily pay for itself in a relatively short time.

C. D. OF A. NOTES

A most successful house party was conducted on Monday evening by Sisters Catharine McHugh and Marie Crilley at the McHugh home on Main street, Woburn. A most enjoyable evening was spent by all present.

Sister Mary J. Kelley is enjoying an auto trip to Northern New York with a party of friends.

Sister Mary McKenzie is ill at her home on Hemingway street and Sister Anne Martin is at the Winchester Hospital recovering from a severe shaking up which she received when struck by a truck in Medford Square on Monday noon.

Sister Catharine Lynch of Woburn is visiting her sister in Maine and Sister Agnes O'Hara is enjoying a European trip; Sister Marie White has returned from an auto trip to Canada.

Plans are being rapidly completed for the Court's annual outing, full details of which will be announced in next week's Star. The fact that the men-folk are to be included in the outing plans this year seems to have made its prospect more popular than ever, if that were possible.

Government Hard Task

WINCHESTER NET STARS AT TEDESCO

Several of Winchester's young tennis players made another good showing in the North Shore Tennis Championships staged during the latter part of last week on the courts of the Tedesco Club at Swampscott.

In the women's doubles series the local team of Miss Gertrude and Miss Louise Packer went along to the quarter final round before it was eliminated by Mrs. P. H. Mitton of Boston and Mrs. A. L. Robinson of Swampscott. Oddly enough the Packer team survived the first round at the expense of another Winchester team, Miss Bara Baugher and Miss Frances Pettingell who were defeated by Gertrude and Louise, 6—1, 6—0.

Louise Packer was the only local entry to play through the first round of the women's singles. Her first round opponent was Miss Eleanor Kolket of Philadelphia whom she defeated in two straight sets at 6—4. In the second round the Winchester girl, who plays her summer tennis from Rockport, lost to Mrs. A. L. Robinson of Swampscott, 6—1, 6—0. Miss Bara Baugher, Miss Gertrude Packer and Miss Frances Pettingell drew byes in the first round but were defeated in the second round of play by Miss E. Cohalon of Philadelphia, Miss B. Way of Boston and Miss Fanny Curtis of Marblehead respectively.

The mixed doubles play saw all the Winchester girls drop out in the opening round. "Bill" Packer paired with Miss Fanny Curtis of Marblehead survived the first round of play by defeating Miss L. Brackett and H. Davis, 6—1, 6—4. In the second round Miss Curtis and Packer won from Miss Dorothy Blodgett of Wianno and R. W. Marks, 6—4, 7—5.

SAILING REVIVED ON MYSTIC LAKE

Open canoe sailing on Mystic Lake has never been so popular as this summer, members of the Medford Boat Club taking up the sport in large numbers. In addition to the dozen or more canoes which have been sailed regularly by old members of the club, many of the newer canoeists have taken up the sport. A uniform equipment and sail spread has been adopted and races are held each Sunday morning.

Arnold Carey's new boat was the winner of the last race, and John Nelson and Bernard Miller have been showing up strong during the past fortnight.

The club received a new one-design sailing boat a fortnight ago, it being the intention of the members to try the craft out and if satisfactory establish it as an auxiliary to the canoes. A number of the members have agreed to purchase duplicate boats if the model proves satisfactory. Thus far the boat has had rather hard luck, tipping over on its initial trial and losing its mast on a subsequent try-out. In trying out its sailing ability, both a marconi and a gaff rig has been used.

The model yachts have also been extensively sailed this summer, John Black now being in England with his Bostonian II taking part in the international regatta at Gosport. Up to this week Black was tied with the English representative for international honors, the French yacht being third and the German fourth. During Black's absence the local devotees to the sport have been busily engaged in holding races on Mystic in anticipation of Black's return, the rivalry being very keen, with not such a great margin of choice between several of the yachts.

Commodore Arthur V. Donnellan, who is spending the summer at Birch Island, Me., was at the club last week coming down to assist in planning for the September program, which promises to be the most active in the Club's history. Louis Pearl of West Medford is in charge of the club house this summer.

BENEDICT LOST TO WEST MEDFORD

The Benedict tennis team lost to West Medford in a match on the home courts Saturday, the play being in the Old Colony Tennis League. West Medford took the match 6 to 1, Benedict winning its one point through the win of Blanchard and Gamage over Kirk and Fisk 6—3, 3—6, 12—10, in the doubles.

The summary:

SINGLES

H. Bugbee (WM) defeated Blanchard (B) 6—4, 1—6, 6—1.
Heintz (WM) defeated Gamage (B), 6—0, 6—0.
Boardman (WM) defeated Carr (B), 6—1, 6—2.
Roberts (WM) defeated Sims (B), 6—2, 6—3.

DOUBLES

Blanchard and Gamage (B) defeated Kirk and Fisk (WM) 6—3, 3—6, 12—10.
Carlson and Isley (WM) defeated P. Bugbee and Carr (B), 6—1, 6—0.
Harris and Claflin (WM) defeated Sims and Haskell (B), 6—0, 6—3.

DUNLOP

FOR 39 YEARS Dunlop has been building the world's supreme tire. Dunlops wear longer because Dunlop knows how to build better at each vital point.

Take the hidden carcass beneath the tread. Dunlop owns its own cotton mills for no other purpose than to spin the best long-fibre cotton into the famous cable-twist cord that goes into this carcass.

The extra strength in these cords means an added factor of safety against constant load and pounding of roads—longer life and greater mileage.

The extra "stretch" enables the carcass to give under severe blows, and to come back into its original position without internal injury.

The Dunlop tread—the toughest rubber development known—wears slowly and smoothly, making sure that you get out of your Dunlops, all the extra mileage that added care and longer experience have built into them. We recommend that you put Dunlops on your car.

THREE ACCIDENTS DURING MONDAY'S STORM

Lightning Struck Radio Antenna of Verplast Avenue House

Motor vehicles were envolved in three accidents during the storm of Monday afternoon, resulting in considerable property damage though no one was reported injured.

At 4:20 o'clock to avoid a collision with another car at the junction of Washington and Mt. Vernon streets John R. Condon of 138 West street, Reading, drove his Ford touring car in such a way as to make it skid and strike the traffic beacon situated there. Condon was going northerly on Washington street while the other car was making a left turn into Mt. Vernon street, going toward the center. The beacon light was demolished and Condon, in reporting the accident to officer Dempsey in the square, volunteered to make restitution for the damage done.

Thirty minutes later Anthony Gaitens of 2 Hudson street, Woburn, reported to the police that as he was driving his Dodge touring car onto Main street from Water street the machine was struck by a large G. M. C. truck which was in reverse and which was the property of the Abbett Motor Transport Company of 151 Albany street, Cambridge. Gaitens said that the front of his car was damaged but that no one had been hurt.

An Oldsmobile touring car, owned and operated by Mitchell S. Surabian of 40 Laurel street, Worcester, and a Ford truck, registered to Carter & Young of Main street and driven by Andrew Titilah, Jr. of 39 Railroad avenue, figured in the last of the three accidents at 5 o'clock on Main street opposite the Colonial gasoline filling station. The Oldsmobile was going south on Main street while the truck was making a left turn into the filling station. Both machines were somewhat damaged in the collision.

Fire Headquarters was notified at 4:48 that lightning had struck a radio antenne at the home of Frank G. H. Finnemore on Verplast avenue. The chief's car responded and found no fire but two windows had been knocked out by the force of the bolt and all the light fuses in the house had been blown.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

"Broadway Nights," a glittering drama of Brdoadway's hectic night life, with dainty Lois Wilson as the star, heads the program the cool Granada Theatre in Malden is offering the last three days of this week. Despite the hot weather the Granada is doing a big business because the house has the most modern system of ventilation that insures comfort on the hottest day. The current program has five acts of vaudeville in addition to the picture "Broadway Nights," which present Lois Wilson in her first sophisticated role. Sam Hardy, the veteran stage star, has a fine comedy role in this picture.

Tampa, England's Court Magician, is the outstanding vaudeville feature the Granada will present for three days starting next Monday. One of Tampa's most amazing tricks is the shooting of a live canary into an ordinary Mazda electric bulb. Tampa's act is rare entertainment for everyone, irrespective of age or intelligence. Tampa entertains, thrills, perplexes and astounds. He occupies the stage for 45 minutes and his act is just one surprise after another. His greatest trick is called the Phantom Princess and shows a young girl who floats out over the heads of the audience and then disappears. All told Tampa offers 20 illusions that baffle all attempts at explanation. Owing to the time consumed by Tampa in presenting his big act but three additional acts will be offered by the Granada for the first three days of next week.

"Barbed Wire," starring Pola Negri, will be the screen feature for next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. This is the best role that Pola has had in months. It is a stirring war drama with Clive Brooke giving a splendid performance opposite the star. The war scenes are exceptionally well done and add much to the excitement of this picture.

"The Masked Woman," starring beautiful Anna Q. Nillson, will be shown at the Granada for three days starting next week Thursday. This new Anna Q. Nillson is a mystery drama with Paris as the backgrounud.

Big Game Increasing

Big game on the reservations administered by the biological survey has notably increased during the last ten years, with the exception of antelopes. Better control has been initiated and these are again increasing. The total number of big game animals on these reservations at this time is about 1,530.

MOTORIST FOUND GUILTY OF RECKLESS DRIVING

Winchester Sisters Injured When Stone's Car Struck Their Machine

Winchester residents were interested in the decision given in Chelsea Court last Saturday by Judge Cutler who found George P. Stone of 349 Blue Hill avenue, Dorchester, guilty of driving a motor car so as to endanger the lives of the public.

On Monday, July 11, Stone was driving a Buick sedan which figured in a triple motor crash on the Revere Beach Parkway near the Slade Mill in Chelsea in which 14 persons sustained injuries.

One of the cars involved was a Ford sedan operated by Harold Saunders of 60 Cross street who was accompanied by Mrs. Fred A. Saunders of 60 Cross street, her three daughters, Miss Anna Saunders, Margie Saunders, Mrs. Lester Hubbard of Lebanon street and the latter's nine month's old son, Lester, Jr.

The Saunders car had been halted by tire trouble and was parked for repairs at the side of the road when it was struck by the Buick which then careened across the road to strike a third machine. The Winchester motorists were all badly shaken up and Miss Anna Saunders and her 3-year old sister, Margie, were so seriously injured as to necessitate their remaining for some time at the Chelsea Memorial Hospital. Judge Cutler imposed sentence of $300 fine and 30 days in prison which Stone appealed.

A WORD ABOUT SUMMER AILMENTS

The Massachusett Department of Pubic Health gives the following suggestions concerning certain common summer ailments.

SUNBURN may vary from a slight redness of the skin to a very severe burn. Light complexioned persons, especially, should protect themselves when exposed to the summer sun and hence avoid a great deal of discomfort. Hats and clothing, light in color and weight, which shade the face and body afford the best protection. The sun's rays on the wet skin are likely to cause a very severe burn. Good cold cream or toilet powder will protect the skin to some extent. If you are unfortunate enough to get a burn it helps to use soothing applications such as cold creams, vaseline, etc., until the burn ceases and then apply a simple powder.

PRICKLY HEAT is an irritation of the skin caused by excessive heat. Children with delicate skins or those too heavily dressed are the most common sufferers. Light clothing may prevent it to a certain extent. Avoid exercise which causes excessive perspiration. One teaspoonful of baking soda to a pint of water is an excellent application for prickly heat.

Other useful measures may be listed on the preventive side. Choose your food with more than usual care giving special attention to cleanliness and summer balance—include more fresh vegetable and fruit and less meat, fish and eggs. Wait at least two hours after a meal before taking swim. And, of course, he inoculated a swim. And, of course, be inoculated, thereby taking no chances on the contraction of typhoid.

BOWDOIN SQUARE THEATRE

One of the top notch comedy film hits of all time will be offered at the popular Bowdoin Square Theatre beginning Monday. Syd Chaplain, hailed as one of the outstanding stars of filmland will appear in the film hit, "The Better 'Ole" which just bubbles with wholesome comedy. It is genuinely funny and the humorous story of little Alf the Cockney and Old Bill will certainly provide much merriment. The supporting cast too is one of worth. Another feature will be that showing Buck Jones in, the William Fox offering "Hills of Peril" with a cast of merit. It is a typical western thriller with excitement galore. Lupino Lane will delight in "Howdy Duke" and the Pathe News will give a close-up of incidents of the day. Five selected vaudeville specialties will score a hit with all patrons. Opportunity night comes Friday with extra acts on the program. Concert every Sunday at 3. Free parking service to patrons.

HONORS FOR LOCAL BOY

At the Governor's Day Exercises for the C. M. T. C. at Fort Ethan Allen, Vt., held on Friday evening, July 29, Vincent Ambrose of this town, who has been enrolled as a Basic, or first-year man, in the Third Calvary, Troop BX, was awarded the medal for the best all-round student in the entire group of some 400 first year enrollments. The presentation was made by the Lieutenant-Governor of Vermont, acting in the absence of the Governor, who is attending the Governor's Convention at Chicago.

ST. MARY'S BURIED LEXINGTON 12 TO 5

St. Mary's of Winchester and the Lexington Town Team finally got together on the diamond at Manchester Field last Saturday afternoon and when the smoke of battle cleared away the locals had obtained sweet revenge for the trimming handed them a year ago, being on the long end of a 12 to 5 score.

The game was slow and full of errors, Winchester particularly showing the effects of its two weeks' enforced lay-off. The locals deserved to win, outhitting their rivals, 12 to 4, while making fewer misplays in the field. Hevey, Fitzgerald and Kelley all collected 3 hits apiece while "Jomma" Dolan belted out a homer for his town and country. "Fitzy" failed to hit for extra bases but the big boy belted a couple through the infield almost too fast for the eye to follow. He made a great bid for a home run in the first but Sweeney playing almost on the running track took his long hoist in deep, deep center.

"Jomma" Dolan pitched effectively for the locals and with sharp playing behind him might have shut Lexington out. The visitors scored 4 tallies in the opener when they should have been retired in order. In the 8th Chamberland misjudged Russell's long fly in center and the blow went for a double, scoring J. Malloy who had singled. With two away the Lexington catcher's hoist should have retired the side. Robbins, pitching for the visitors, was hit hard but received very sloppy support.

Sweeney, first up for Lexington in the opener was safe when Hevey lost his routine hopper. Kelley threw out C. Malloy. Kelley's wild peg on McDonnell's hit over third allowed Sweeney to make third and McDonnell went right down to second. Both runners counted on J. Malloy's single to right and the latter made third when O'Donnell lost Drones' roller. Drones stole second and was trapped a moment later on a sharp peg by Melly. J. Malloy who started for home on the play was caught in a hot-box but subsequently got safely back to third when "Mex" dropped Melly's peg. Kelley had his head up and threw to O'Donnell once again catching Drones off second. Malloy again started for home and when "Spike's" throw went out of any one's reach both base runners counted.

With the bases cleared Dolan fanned Russell and after O'Connell had walked caught him off the bag with a sharp peg to "Fitzy."

St. Mary's came right back. Chamberland drew a pass and went all the way to third on Russell's poor peg on his attempted steal. Hevey singled to right, scoring "Nip," and at once stole second. Flaherty hoisted to Sweeney by "Harpy's" prodigious fly to deep center eased "Jackie" to third. He scored a moment later on "Mex's" single past first, the latter stealing second. McGrath fanned but when Russell lost the third strike made first in safety, Kelley scoring from second. O'Donnell fanned for the final out.

These two frames practically told the story of what the game was to be. St. Mary's went into the lead in the third, Hevey and Flaherty getting on on successive errors by J. Malloy and Drones. Singles by Fitzgerald and Kelley counted "Jackie" and "Flats," Kelley finally succeeding in stealing home for the inning's third run.

The fourth salted away the pastime for the locals. "Jomma" Dolan, first up, hit one just inside the foul line for a home run into the river. Chamberland popped to J. Malloy. Hevey single to right, stole second and went to third on a passed ball. Flaherty singled sharply to left, scoring Hevey. "Flats" advanced on Fitzgerald's single through shortstop and stole third, counting on Russell's poor throw to C. Malloy. "Harpy" was left stranded at third when Kelley and McGrath popped up to Wood and J. Malloy.

Hevey singled to right, stole second when Drones' wild heave gave him a life. He went to second on Flaherty's hit past third and scored on Kelley's single to center.

Lexington put one over in the 8th when J. Malloy singled to center to count on Russell's long fly to center which went for a double.

St. Mary's put over two in the same frame. Hevey singled and Flaherty drew a pass. A stolen base and a passed ball advanced both runners and they tallied on "Fitzy's" smashing single to right. This ended the scoring, Lexington being unable to get a man past first in the 9th.

THIEVES AT WORK ON WOODSIDE ROAD

Police Headquarters was notified Tuesday that tool boxes belonging to James Flibo of 460 Harvard street, Brookline, who is building several houses on Woodside road, had been broken into and four kegs of nails and some tools stolen. The police are investigating. Mr. Flibo purchased for his development two lots of land containing 12,000 sq. ft. from Charles Bruce through the office of Edward T. Harrington.

RESCUED SISTERS AT SANDY BEACH

Mildred Anderson, 20, and Hazel Anderson, 19, of 4 Ashton place, Everett, were saved from drowning last Sunday afternoon at Sandy Beach by Life Guard Edward Murtaugh.

The younger of the two was swimming about 100 yards from shore when she became exhausted. Her sister at once went to her assistance but was unable to rescue her. Both were in danger of drowning when Life Guard Murtaugh noticed their plight. Siezing both young ladies he was able to get them ashore where they were soon revived sufficiently to be taken to their home.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Love that has but beauty to feed on is usually short lived and subject to fits.

He will always be a slave who knows not how to earn and save.

It is wonderful for a man to be both wise and great but better still to be good.

Whatever the future has in store for you, depends entirely upon what you have placed in store for the future.

Religion is just as necessary to man as water is to a fish.

Those who recall Emil Coue and his theory of auto-suggestion may, if they chance to support his reasoning, explain in this way the apparent increase of motor accidents in Winchester since the introduction of the Governor's Safety Contest for motorists. The announcement of the contest was delivered by local scouts at the Town Hall on Memorial Day, before which relatively few accidents had appeared upon the police "blotter." As soon as it was announced that Winchester would compete for the trophy offered by the Governor the motor mishaps commenced to occur with monotonous regularity and during last month quite a number were recorded. The whole thing may be only a coincidence. We're not offering the auto-suggestion theory as an explanation.

The speaker at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club of Winchester on Wednesday was Mr. Fletcher W. Taft of the Carter's Ink Company—recorded with pleasure by the Editor, who had previously listened to the gentleman. That a number of Winchester Rotarians were absent on vacations was to be regretted, but their loss was certainly the gain of members of the organization from Arlington, Reading, Stoneham and Somerville. Mr. Taft gives one of the best luncheon talks we have ever enjoyed. In this age of "blues," his rosy, pink-tinted optimistic humor leaves his hearers with nothing but good thoughts for himself and his firm, and he makes an ideal ambassador for the world-known company he represents. Through his courtesy, those attending the luncheon received gifts of the well known Carter's pencil. Mr. Taft is a resident of Lexington, and is thoroughly conversant with public and social life in Winchester. The subject of his talk was co-operation in addition to service.

WINS GOLF HONORS AT THE MAPLEDALE COUNTRY CLUB OF STOW

A Former Winchester High School Ball Player and College Athlete

John R. Russell, a well-known former high school ball player and college athlete with a net of 67 won the 18 holes, full handicap medal play, staged Saturday, July 30 over the Mapledale Country Club links at Stow.

In the original play-off there were a field of 50 to start out to compete for final honors.

Butler R. Wilson Jr., of Boston and Russell were the final rivals for the club honors. The trophy was a silver cup given by Wallace B. Moffitt of Worcester for the mid-summer championship. The game was very close and the feature of the day at the club was Russell's long drive, the longest ever made on the course, that gave him the victory at the 17th hole over Wilson.

Mapledale Country Club is the first Colored Golf Course in the United States, and is a very fashionable golfing place for its members.

Russell is hailed at the links as being the first golfer to receive the first trophy of the season given by the club.

BUILDING PERMITS

The Building Commissioner has granted permits for week ending Thursday, Aug 4 as follows:

Walter Barstow, Winchester; new dwelling on lot at 4 Pond street.

James J. Fitzgerald, Winchester; replace wood floor in barn with a reinforced concrete floor at 250 Washington street.

Harry S. Sanborn, Winchester; addition to present garage at 8 Black Horse terrace.

NEW METHOD OF ANSWERING TELEPHONE CALLS

Beginning Monday in many Winchester telephone operators will start a new method of answering calls. Instead of repeating the number called for, she will respond "thank you."

The new practice will be gradually introduced. During the first day but a few hundred telephone users will make the change. In the course of time calls from all telephones connected with the Winchester central office will be met with the new response.

From time to time other central offices will adopt the new method under the direction of supervisors trained in the work. It will be some time before the change is in effect in all offices. The reasons for the innovation are explained by Manager Crotty as follows:

"This new practice is merely another step in our constant effort to improve telephone service to the public. Our company never changes an established practice until after extensive study and trial has proved that it will be in the interest of better service. This is true with the new "thank you" practice.

"The new method has been in operation for several months in other parts of our territory and has proved better for telephone users and for the company.

"We have learned by experience that with proper training the repeating of numbers does not assure greater accuracy. Furthermore, the new 'thank you' method saves the time of telephone users and removes any confusion due to repetition of numbers.

"Repeating a number required telephone users to wait on the line longer than is necessary under the new practice of saying 'thank you.' Thus the new practice saves the time for the public.

"The new 'thank you' practice provides that if an operator is in any doubt as to a number given her, she will request the subscriber to repeat it. This provision acts as a safeguard to prevent misunderstanding.

"When several operators, working side by side, were all repeating different numbers at the same time, an operator sometimes misunderstood the number requested by a subscriber. With operators now saying 'thank you,' there is not this possibility."

HUDSON-ESSEX DEALER THANKS WINCHESTER MOTORISTS

President Dean of the new Hudson-Essex branch which recently opened in Winchester at 748 Main street has reported himself as greatly pleased with the showing which his concern has made to date. Always a booster for, and a dealer believing implicitly in the quality of his line Mr. Dean had no doubts from the beginning of the ultimate success of the local branch. He stated this week, however, that business thus far had been so much better than he had expected that it was a source of surprise even to one long in the automobile industry as he has been. It goes to show, he believes, that Winchester motorists appreciate a superior product and will patronize the dealer who gives real service. Mr. Dean wishes through the Star to thank his many friends and patrons here and to assure them that everything possible will be done at the local Hudson-Essex branch to merit their continued confidence.

POLICE MADE NEW TRAFFIC COUNTS

The Division of Metropolitan Planning requested the Selectmen to have additional traffic counts made in Winchester on Cambridge street, south of Arlington road and on Main street south of the Town line. The matter was turned over for action to the Chief of Police and the counts were made on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Mrs. J. Putnam of Main street has returned from Gloucester where she was a guest at Rockwell Cottage.

Miss Lillian Nicholson of Washington street is substituting in the office of the Board of Public Welfare while the agent, Miss Marion Smith, is enjoying a two weeks' vacation at Block Island.

Mr. Walter Goddard of the Whitney Machine Co., with Mrs. Goddard is at St. John, N. B., for two weeks.

Those interested in the renovation of property should ride by the old Gerlach estate at the Cambridge street extremity of Everett avenue. The place has been entirely remodelled by its new owner, Mr. Clarence A. Warren, formerly of the Parkway, and surely presents a most attractive appearance. The Warrens expect to occupy upon their return this fall from a European trip.

Mrs. George A. Weld will spend the month of August at Greycroft Inn, Beverly.

Dr. and Mrs. Wilfred MacKenzie of the Parkway are entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Murray of Toronto, Canada.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

The feature pictures at the University for four days beginning Sunday are "The Claw" with Claire Windsor and Norman Kerry and "The Romantic Age" with Eugene O'Brien and Alberta Vaughn.

"The Claw" is a powerful dramatic picture with an African background. Norman Kerry and Claire Windsor play the starring roles in the picture and are ably supported by a sterling cast headed by Arthur Carew. The story was written by Cynthia Stockley and appeared a few months ago in the Cosmopolitan Magazine. It deals with the trials of a hero-worshipping English girl, who follows a British army officer to the African veldt. How she copes with the conventions of the narrowminded social set, transplanted to the African village from England, is one of the vivid highlights of the story.

In "The Romantic Age" Eugene O'Brien plays the role of a modern bachelor in love with his flapper ward. The girl loves him, too. But when his younger brother enters upon the scene and the two young people seem to enjoy each other's company, he doubts whether her love can stand the boy's more youthful appeal, and he is ready to sacrifice his own happiness for her. It is just the sort of role to which O'Brien's long screen lover experience and his own sincerity adds just the right romantic touch. With Alberta Vaughn in the flapper part, playing opposite O'Brien what promises to be an intriguing new screen lover combination is effected. Stanley Taylor is cast as the juvenile heavy—and Bert Woodruff plays a humorous butler role.

For the last three days of the week the outstanding screen feature is Tolstoy's "Resurrection." On the same program is "Alaskan Adventures" with Capt. Jack Robertson and Art Young. "Resurrection" is a drama of love that has stirred millions with its depth and power and sympathy. The Tolstoy novel has been translated into 11 languages. It has been read and re-read and discussed and admired all over the world. Its heart appeal is undying. Rod La Rocque plays the hero and Dolores Del Rio is his leading lady. You known them both as tremendous favorites. They have in "Ressurrection" the biggest emotional roles of their careers, in a production so high and spectacular that it is sponsored as a United Artists picture. "Resurection" is a story of the resurrection of a man's love for a girl he has wronged and neglected. His moral rebirth is matched in nobility by that of the girl herself, in a sublime climax.

HEAVY STORM BROKE WINCHESTER'S HOT WAVE

A severe electrical storm accompanied by torrential rainfall last Friday afternoon broke the hot wave which had gripped Winchester since the preceeding Tuesday. While the glass had not officially been so high as during the preceeding hot spell the humidity and almost total lack of air made conditions extremely unpleasant.

Several thunder storms during the week had made little or no impression upon the heat, even the deluge of Wednesday, the 27th, affording only temporary relief.

Friday's storm began about 3:30 and was accompanied by vivid lightning and heavy thunder. There was a heavy rainfall but the center did not present the flooded appearance prevalent on the preceeding Wednesday.

As usual the firemen were called upon to make a "run" in the rain, visiting the home of John F. Sharon on Webster street where lightning struck a radio antenna, doing slight damage. The men returned to the Central Station loud in their praises of the new windshield, with which all local fire apparatus has recently been equipped, as affording real protection from the driving rain of the storm.

The damage done about town was inconsequential compared with that reported after the heavy storm of July 15. In addition to the Sharon home that of Charles Chamberland on Main street was struck by lightning during last Friday's storm, plaster being knocked from the walls in several rooms. A large tree was riven by lightning near Morningside in Arlington. The relief afforded by the rain seemed only temporary, Saturday coming in well nigh as hot as ever. Last Sunday's rain and a slight East wind effectively checked the torrid spell even though spoiling the day for those who had planned picnics in the country or at the seashore.

Dr. J. H. O'Conner, John Hanlon of Bridge street, "Charlie" Meek and Fred Mitchell were among the Winchester Elks who helped their brother "Bills" of Providence Lodge make merry at the big annual outing held on Wednesday at Chopmist Hill Inn, Providence. It must have seemed like old home week to "Charlie."

DISABLED VETERANS ENJOYED DAY AT NAHANT

The none too happy lives of 35 boys from the Disabled Veterans' Hospital at West Roxbury were wonderfully brightened on Wednesday of this week when the ex-service men, some of them virtually helpless, were guests of Mrs. Burton L. Gale of this town at her beautiful summer home at Nahant. As an over-flow the "Palais," an hospitable villa near Mrs. Gale's, was utilized. The outing was under the auspices of the Disabled Veterans' Group of Winchester with Mrs. Frederick Fish acting as chairman.

The boys were brought from the hospital to the shore in automobiles and a large bus, the perfect weather adding much to the attractive ride.

Upon the arrival of the party an entertainment was provided, including recitations and songs by Melva Whittemore of Nahant and dances and specilty numbers by Gertrude Seymour of Nahant, accompanied on the piano by Miss Eunice MacDonald of New York City. Solo piano selections were played by Mrs. Theresa Heath of Winchester.

A few of the boy's were able to enjoy the water and others of the group enjoyed the inevitable cards. Those who were totally disabled were wrapped in blankets and placed on the piazza where they were able to oversee events and in the afternoon to witness the yacht racing at Marblehead. The matron of the hospital, Miss MacIntosh, was with the boys during the entire day.

An appetizing luncheon was furnished by the ladies of the group and in the afternoon as a special feature the Nahant life guards put on a boat drill under the supervision of Captain Grove. There was also a demonstration of rescue work by the Red Cross life savers.

Following the boat drill those of the boys who were able to go were taken through the life saving station by Captain Grove who good naturedly explained all the interesting details.

The day's guest of honor was Mrs. Florence M. Thorpe of Lynn, an ex-president of the Service Star League and a gold star mother. Mrs. J. B. Hunter of Auburn, N. Y., was also a guest.

At the conclusion of the day's activities as the boys were starting on their return to the hospital they know as home they raised their voices heartily in three rousing cheers for the ladies of Winchester who have done so much for their comfort, not only on last Wednesday but throughout this and former years since the war.

Included in the Winchester group were Mrs. Mae R. Hoey, Mrs. R. K. Miller, Mrs. C. F. Winship, Mrs. Ernest Dudley Chase, Mrs. Florence Kerrison, Mrs. N. M. Nicholls, Mrs. W. J. Breen, Mrs. Margaret Carlisle, Mrs. Frank C. Sargent, Mrs. George A. Dutting, Mrs. Harry Cox, Mrs. W. A. Kneeland, Mrs. Clifford C. Ramsdell, Mrs. Donald Heath, Mrs. Pauline Buckley, Miss Mary Richards, Mrs. C. A. Burns, Mrs. Thomas I. Freeburn, Mrs. J. Walter Moran, Mrs. Hollis L. Riddle, Mrs. Fred B. Cole, Mrs. Henry Hildreth, Mrs. Helen M. Jordan, Mrs. Walter H. Balcke, Mrs. Edward B. Smalley and Mrs. John A. Maddocks.

"FITZY" HIT LONG WALLOP AT LYNN

"Jim" Fitzgerald of Winchester, former High School and Huntington star athlete, late of the Tufts varsity football and baseball teams and at present playing right field for Somerville in the Twilight League, has the distinction of being the first player to hit a home run over the left center field fence in the General Electric ball park at Lynn. "Fitzy" made his prodigious belt Tuesday night in the game between the Somerville and General Electric Clubs, the blow coming in the fourth frame with a man on base. Incidentally Somerville won the game, its first victory in the second half of the league race.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

Marriage intentions have been filed with the Town Clerk as follows:

Austin Lake Nickerson of 8 Chisholm road and Gladys M. Larkin of 8 Chisholm road.

Walter Henry Barstow of 4 Pond street and Sadie Elizabeth Quinn of 778 Main street.

Franklin Knight Haven of 912 Main street and Elizabeth Goodenow Carpenter of Vineyard Haven.

Harold Elliott of Clark street was the winner of the prize for the big fish caught by a party of Winchester anglers who took a deep sea trip off Gloucester last Sunday. It is reported that several of the fishermen lost their interest in fishing soon after the boat got under way, the water being very choppy. Elliott hooked a 9¾ pound pollock for the big money.

BAD ACCIDENT NEAR COUNTRY CLUB

Barbara White of 834 Beacon street, Boston, is at the Symmes Hospital in Arlington as the result of injuries sustained at 2:45 this morning when her Nash touring car, which was headed south on Cambridge street, struck a tree on the bend of the road this side of the Winchester Country Club.

The machine was being driven by Edward S. Petze of 259 St. Paul street, Brookline. After striking the tree the rear end of the car swung around and dropped over a stone wall at the side of the road.

Miss White and Petze were extricated from the wreck by passing motorists and removed to the Symmes Hospital in Arlington. Both were badly shaken up and the young lady sustained a severe laceration to her forehead, the extent of which could not be determined until after X-ray photos had been developed. Petze was reported as uninjured.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Last evening a Ford sedan owned by Fred W. Pratt of 34 Tremont street while parked facing north on Main street at the Colonial Filling Station, was struck by a G. M. C. truck headed north along Main street and driven by a man who gave his name as Alexander Wilson. The sedan which was badly wrecked was knocked onto the side walk, causing injuries to William J. Murphy of 9 Clark street. Murphy was treated by Dr. R. W. Sheehy who advised an X-ray of the man's knees for further injuries.

A dog owned by Peter Dohert of 27 Shepard court was killed last Friday when it was struck by an automobile driven south on upper Main street by Arthur A. McCarron of 88 Princeton street, Medford.

Who Paid For The Brooklyn Bridge?

It cost $18,000,000.

Before it was built, 200,000 people paid out 4c a day, 2c each way to be ferried across the river, almost $15 a year per person.

We don't know who paid for the bridge, but we do know that the people who use it saved $3,000,000 a year in ferry fares.

Putting a few dollars a month in a co-operative bank savings account is like the little ferry fares. Each saving—considered alone—doesn't look like much. But the total over a period of years is tremendously satisfactory to each person who maintains his account.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Miss Mary Fitch entertained Dr. and Mrs. William H. Bell and Miss Olivia Bell of Cincinnati over the past week-end at her home on Sheffield West. The Bells were in the East to attend the Bell—Locke wedding in Lexington Saturday evening, the bridegroom being the son of Dr. and Mrs. Bell.

It is of interest to note that three of our local boys, Messrs. James Foley, Howard Ambrose and Vincent Ambrose, who have been enrolled at the C. M. T. C. at Fort Ethan Allen, Vt., shared honors when their tent received the Blue Ribbon for being kept in the most orderly manner and meeting with the keenest inspection examinations.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Cameron of Leicester, England, arrived on the Cunard liner Mauretania, July 22. Mrs. Cameron, many will recall, was formerly Miss Jennie P. Burnham. Their brief visit was spent at Brookfield, N. H., at the Burnham's summer home. Mr. and Mrs. Cameron returned to England Sunday on the Franconia.

The Ruweida V., Sidney Beggs' class R 20-rater, finished sixth in Saturday's regatta at Marblehead.

In the qualifying round for the club championship at Rockport Saturday, Francis E. Smith, with an 84, finished in the first division.

Mrs. George H. Hamilton and daughter, Miss Mildred Hamilton, spent last week on an extensive motor trip through the White and Green Mountains.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Earl Richardson are now occupying their new bungalow on Kenwin road.

Mr. A. E. Sampson of this town reported to the police on Thursday that some one had forced an entrance to a new house of his at the corner of Washington and Fairmount streets had spread paint upon the floors of three of the rooms and had covered the wall paper with shellac. The police are investigating.

Mr. James "Fireman" Cullen of Clark street returned home Sunday after a seven weeks' tour of duty with the R. O. T. C. at Fort Monroe, Va. While at the Camp, Cullen was Athletic Editor of the Camp publication.

Traders' Day provided just the opportunity which Supt. Parker Holbrook and his men of the Street Department had been awaiting to oil and sand the streets about the center. The absence of the usual number of parked automobiles and the greatly lessened local traffic did much to facilitate the job.

Mr. W. M. Crotty, for the past year district manager for the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company, is leaving this week to assume his new position of office supervisor of the South Central District. He is succeeded here by Mr. F. Q. Concannon who takes charge on Monday of next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Driscoll are vacationing at Falmouth.

Mrs. Clifford Roberts of Wedgemere avenue has recently returned from a sojourn in England.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Mrs. Robert McGuinity and daughters Theresa and Helen of Flint, Mich., formerly of this town, have been visiting in Winchester during the past week while on an auto tour of the East. They are making their headquarters in Somerville.

Rev. Henry T. Martin, S. J., of this town, who has been teaching at St. George's College, Kingston, Jamaica, B. W. I., for the past three years arrived home Monday. A large gathering of friends and neighbors visited him at his home. He will be stationed at the Jesuit House of Studies, Weston for the next three years.

The Winchester Savings Bank was a busy place during the morning of Traders' Day. With the banking houses closing at noon Treasurer Harry Y. Nutter had the pay checks for the men of the various Town Departments ready early in the forenoon and the appreciative workers were soon "cashing in" their papers.

We are new carrying in addition to the popular Darwin razor blade of cobalt steel the new Radium blade, also for Gillette razors. Try them. We known you'll be satisfied.

Those few by-standers in the center toward noon of Traders' Day were rewarded by seeing Louis Magel of Boston pass through town on the first leg of a hike from the Hub to Mt. Vernon, N. H. It is reported that the long walk resulted from an ill advised wager on the recent Dempsey-Sharkey battle. Magel had a letter from Mayor Nichols of Boston addressed to the Selectmen of Mt. Vernon and was being accompanied in an automobile by Harry Cooper of the Mt. Vernon Country Club. The huge placards on Cooper's machine couldn't fail to arouse attention all along the line, and the police would have been busy with traffic had it been a normal day in the square. As it was the young man received only the admonition that "the first 90 miles would be the hardest."

Insurance Method

Marine insurance is determined on an 80 per cent average loss. It exempts an insurance company from the payment of any partial loss or particular average insurance which exceeds a certain per cent of the value of the property. The particular average clause is sometimes applied to the value of each parcel or package or series of parcels and packages according to invoice numbers. The differences between "With particular average" and "Free from particular average" is that the former has a particular average and the latter has not.

Origin of "Dunning"

Although some seek the origin of "dun" in the French "donnez," ("to give"), and others in the Saxon word "dunan," ("to clamor"), its real origin is said to have been in the reign of Henry VIII. At that time, in the town of Lincoln, there lived a famous bailiff named Joe Dun. This man was so successful in the matter of collecting debts that it became usual to say "Why don't you Dun him?" meaning "Why don't you send Dun to arrest him?" The use of the word "dun" in this sense has been in vogue since that time.

Worship Monkey God

In many of the central Indian states the princes, on succession, have their foreheads marked in blood from the thumb or toe of a Bhil, or bowman. They believe this is a mark of Bhil allegiance, but it more probably is a relic of days when the tribe was in power in India, says a bulletin from the National Geographic society. They have binding oaths, the most sacred being that sworn by a dog, the Bhil praying that the curse of a dog may fall upon him who breaks his word. For centuries Hanuman, the monkey god, has been the chief divinity of these people. Offerings also are made to the much-feared goddess of smallpox and stone worship is still found among them.

Old English Game

Barley Break, a game once common in England, was played by three couples of young people, the pairing being determined by lot. A piece of ground was divided into three sections, the central being called "hell." This was assigned to one of the couples. The couples who occupied the other places then approached as near as they dared to the central space tempting the condemned couple to capture them. The couple in hell must not overstep the boundaries and they must keep each one hand locked in one of the partner's. When one of the outside couples was captured, it took the place in the central space.

Chats With YOUR Gas Man

IT WAS A WOMAN'S IDEA!

In aristocratic old Baltimore of nearly a quarter of a century ago, the first cabinet gas range was invented quite accidentally by a woman! Mrs. Alten S. Miller, wife of a prominent gas company official of Baltimore, thought of it one day when she saw her cook on her knees before the oven.

Acting upon inspiration, she had her husband place the burners of the stove on a kitchen table and then lift the oven up beside them. This was indeed a humble ancestor of the sparkling white enamel cabinet gas range that we have today, but upon this kitchen-table-model all later improvements have been based.

This important invention was never patented, hence Mrs. Miller made no fortune from it, but she has had the satisfaction of having given this great labor-saver to the housewives of America. The debt of gratitude, which they owe to her, could never have been paid in gold.

FOUR AUTO ACCIDENTS OVER PAST WEEK-END

Four automobile accidents took place in Winchester over the past week-end, three during Saturday and one on Sunday. Considerable damage was done the cars involved and several of the motorists sustained minor injuries.

Sunday's accident was by far the worst of the lot, police officials characterizing it as one of the worst to take place in town for some time.

It occurred shortly before 2:30 in the afternoon at the junction of Main and Swanton streets. According to the police account of the affair the accident occurred when a Dodge sedan, owned an operated by Frank Reigo of 392 Washington street, while making a left turn from Swanton street on to Main street, was struck by a Ford coupe which was going north on Main street and which was owned and driven by Joseph White of Park street, Wilmington. With Reigo in his machine were his wife, Mrs. Frances Reigo and their five children, also Mr. and Mrs. John Bucci of 95 Irving street and their two children. White was accompanied by Albert Richard of Main street, Wilmington.

Both White and Richard were cut about the face, legs and body while Mrs. Reigo and her five children were so badly cut about the head and face that they were taken to the hospital by Patrolman John F. Dempsey and Dr. F. R. Brown and treated there by the latter. Later they were taken to their home. Mrs. Bucci received a black eye and a bad shaking up but did not receive medical attention. Both cars were badly smashed and were so tightly wedged together that the services of several men were necessary to pry them apart.

The first of Saturday's accident's was reported at the station house at 9:15 in the morning by James S. Mercer of 37 Oxford street. Mr. Mercer reported that a Hupmobile had run into his Packard sedan at the corner of Oxford street and Calumet road, causing damage to the machine. The Hupmobile was registered to John Sherlock of Olan road, Burlington.

At 3:07 in the afternoon a Ford touring car driven by Lawrence W. Hughes of 66 Arsenal street, Watertown, while going south on Main street, was in collision with a Dodge sedan, going west on Mystic Valley Parkway and owned and operated by Frank Cirurso of 61 Swanton street. The Dodge was damaged by the impact and Josephine Gillotte of 61 Swanton street who was riding with Cirurso complained of injuries to her left arm.

While driving his Ford roadster along Church street toward the center at 8:15 Saturday evening Walter L. Claflin of Andover road, Billerica, was in collision with a Cadillac sedan owned by Bernard C. Jacobs of 12 Hill street, West Somerville and driven by his wife, Mrs. Helen Jacobs, who was crossing Church street from Fletcher to enter Bacon street. The force of the collision knocked the Ford up against the traffic beacon at Bacon street, damaging it about the rear end. No one was injured.

Education and Business

An insurance company, like many companies in other lines of business found that it is not always wise to employ a man too well educated. He may be too ambitious to stay, or at least may feel himself above it and not put whole-hearted effort into it. For many selling jobs a high school graduate is far more desirable than a college graduate. But a high school graduate has more persistence than a man who went only part way through high school. Likewise, a college graduate is more likely to stick than one who went to college but not all the way through.—Nation's Business.

Nude Horse

Dorothy and Sally, age five and three, were visiting their grandparents in a southern Indiana town. One morning they had been out playing when they suddenly burst into the house very much excited and frightened. Being asked the reason for their hurried entrance, Dorothy gasped out: "Oh, there was a horse went running down the street and nobody was with it. And it didn't have a thing on, not even a strap—nothing but just its skin and its tail."—Los Angeles Times.

Dogs Must Wear Moccasins

Army regulations referring to dogs used in Alaska for transportation provide that, with other things, each sled taken out shall be furnished with "two pairs of moccasins specially fitted for each dog." Another unusual feature of these regulations is that "the nails of dogs will be carefully pared down before the first work in the fall, and will be examined every month and pared as often as necessary to prevent pulling out, which causes lameness."

It's a Great Incentive

An empty stomach is the starting place for ambition.—Atchison Globe.

MOLOKAI: LANDING PLACE OF FLYERS

Molokai, reported landing place of the transpacific flyers, once was known as "the land of living death" because of its leper colony, but today it is also famous as the scene of a notable victory of medical science, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

After a search of years for a palliative for leprosy, Joseph F. Rock, an explorer for the National Geographic Society, who now heads one of its expenditions, in China, found the chaulmoogra tree in Burma. And the oil of that tree has proved efficacious in arresting one of the most dread diseases since Biblical times.

Within two years after the introduction of the oil in the treatment of cases, nearly two hundred lepers were discharged from the leper-receiving station in Honolulu and from the main settlement at Kalaupapa, on the island of Molokai.

Even before the lintroduction of chaulmoogra oil, the world's sympathy had gone out to the lepers on Molokai, and Father Damien, described by Stevenson as "the man who shut with his own hands the door to his sepulchre" won fame for his ministrations to the afflicted. Father Damien was a Belgian missionary who went out to the colony in 1873, founded schools, improved housing conditions and made the colony a happy and habitable settlement. Shortly before his death in 1889 he contracted the disease and thereafter he usually began his talks with "We lepers."

Molokai is the fifth in size of the Hawaiian Island group, with an area of only about one-fifth that of the State of Rhode Island. It lies to the northwest of the island of Hawaii, with the larger Maui intervening. It is charming in its scenic beauty but it presents a forbidden aspect to aviators. On its eastern end it is extremely mountainous, rocky headlands project into the sea, leaving almost no beach and one peak, Kamakou, rises to nearly 5000 feet.

The leper colony occupies only a restricted area and is strictly isolated so that visiting hunters or travelers are in no danger of contracting a disease which is better understood on Molokai than in other parts of the world. It occupies a triangle of land, once the site of a lava flow and is accessible from other parts of the island only by an arduous path which is easily guarded.

Privileged visitors may hunt the deer which are found on the lower slopes but the main game, fit target for the sturdy hunter, is the wild goat, more numerous but nearly as crafty as the almost legendary mouflon of Corsica. Maui seems a near neighbor and to the northwest the misty mountains of Oahu separate blue sky from bluer sea. In the shallow water at one's feet, the lines of ancient fish ponds can be seen as though from an airplane. Their walls have long since fallen below the waves and shore fishing is now the rule. Coral reefs, which protect the southern shore, have formed several harbors adequate for local boats.

Molokai lies midway between the large island of Hawaii and the island of Kauai, the northernmost large island of the group, where the crew of the long lost seaplane PU 9—No. 1 landed.

Kaiwi channel lies between Molokai and Oahu, on which Honolulu is situated. The channel, free of obstructions, is about 22 miles wide.

TARBES: A NEW FRENCH SHRINE

Tarbes, recetly the center of a devastating storm that took heavy toll of property and crops, is the capital of Haute Pyrenees (Upper Pyrenees), Province of southern France, and birthplace of Marshal Foch, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Tarbes is a city of scarcely more than 2,500 inhabitants but bids fair to become a popular shrine. The modest home in which Marshal Foch was born is the object of numerous pilgrimages and few of the thousands who annually visit the Lourdes Grotto, a short distance to the southwest, fail to stop in the capital.

The Venice of Southern France

Tarbes has often been likened to Venice. Small channels that branch off from the Adour River pass through the town. Their never ceasing murmur as they flow through beautiful parks and gardens, makes the city a beauty spot. Every citizen seems to take pride in Tarbes' attractiveness. Everyone who has a few feet of ground about his home plants it in fruit trees or flowers.

The Jardin Massey, a thirty-five acre park in the northern part of Tarbes was a gift of another illustrious son, long before city planning made parks a municipal necessity. Massey, after whom the park is named left Tarbes for Holland as a humble gardener. He eventually became manager of the Dutch Royal Gardens and was later called by the French King to Versailles. After making a fortune at his profession, he returned to Tarbes and established the park which bears his name. Still another native son of Tarbes is recalled as one visits the museum and cloister in the park where a bust of Theophile Gautier is mounted.

The climate of Tarbes is well adapted for landscaping, and the rarest of exotic trees grow to large proportions there. Sequoias and Himalyan cedars vie with one another.

A Haven for Horse Lovers

The plain about the Tarbes is fertile and verdant. Those inhabitants who are not employed in the tanneries, mills, tile works and large government arsenal located there, farm, raise cattle, and tend their vineyards. The snow-clad peaks of the Pyrenees give the plains a spectacular background. Pic du Midi de Bigorre, whose bare, precipitous and rugged heights stand out boldly against the lesser peaks, is plainly visible.

Throughout the country, young colts prance about the fields, for Tarbes is a haven for horses and horse lovers. Here the French propagate their cavalry mounts which are kept in immaculate airy quarters and groomed with greatest care. The Haras, as the breeding establishment is called, was established by Napoleon in 1806, when he, fearing his fighting horses were deteriorating in breed, introduced English and Arabian blood. The mares and colts are boarded on the various farms, which accounts for the wide distribution of the young equine "aristocrats."

Tarbes' fairs are noted. Its market days present a memorable picture. Women from the countryside set up their booths, shaded by gaudy umbrellas, in the Place Maubourguet. A bustling swarm of humanity surges back and forth, some buying, some just looking. In the morning the Place is bare. Not even a lettuce leaf can be found as a reminder of the day before. Nearby, sheep, mules and donkeys vie for a price.

Many of Tarbes' inhabitants are Basques, a people whose origin and language have been a puzzle to scholars. Nor are the Basques themselves able to help in the solution. Romans, Goths, Franks, Moors, Spanish and French have, at one time or another tried to subject them, but they remain unto themselves an independent race, although subjects of the various nations in which they live. Nobody has been able to break their spirit. Frenchmen, to the Basques in the French Pyrenees are foreigners, as are Spaniards to those Basques who live on the Spanish side of the range.

FAIRMOUNT PARK

Situated on the West Side of Winchester off of Cambridge Street nearly opposite Calumet Road. A tract of 20 lots of land varying in size from 7000 to 12,000 square feet in area. Every lot affords a beautiful panoramic view of the most attractive part of the town. In addition to the four houses already erected thereon, the Fairmount Associates have purchased five uncompleted houses adjoining their property at a mortgagees sale. This in order not only to conserve the high type of construction originally planned for this tract, but more particularly to control the disposition of these houses, in order to maintain the high class neighborhood to which we set out to create. These aforesaid five houses are nearing completion and will be offered to satisfactory parties at reasonable prices and possibly one or two of these houses may be obtained for rent.

MARY LOUISE BEGGS

Mary Louise Beggs, widow of William Beggs and the mother of Daniel R. and William Beggs of this town, passed away last Saturday evening, Aug. 6, at her home, 620 Main street, Woburn. She had been an invalid for nearly two years, suffering from an injury to her leg that confined her in the Choate Hospital, Woburn, for more than a year under treatment. She had been removed to her home several months ago and her passing had been for some time expected.

Mrs. Beggs was a native of Woburn, having been born in that city Oct. 3, 1852. She was the daughter of Daniel and Louisa (Gleason) Richardson and was widely known among older residents of both Woburn and Winchester. Three sons survive: Daniel R. and William E. Beggs of Winchester and Sydney A. Beggs of Woburn, with several grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Funeral services were held from the late residence on Tuesday afternoon and were conducted by the Rev. Robert Munson Grey, pastor of the First Congregational Church, Woburn. During the services Mrs. Jennie Trecartin Fox of Woburn sang "Last Away" by Dean and "Abide With Me." Mrs. George H. Lochman of Winchester was the accompanist. The floral tributes were many and unusually beautiful. Interment was in Woodbrook Cemetery, Woburn.

RECEIVED FINES FOR LARCENY AT FILLING STATION

John F. Noone of Charlestown, his son, John M. Noone, and Daniel F. Desmond, also of Charlestown, were found guilty of larceny last Friday morning in the District Court at Woburn by Judge Maguire, the complainant being Sergt. Thomas F. Cassidy of the Winchester Police.

The three were accused of breaking two pumps and stealing a quantity of gasoline at the filling station operated by Mr. James Kenney at the corner of Cambridge and Pond streets. The larceny was committed at 4:30 on the morning of Aug. 1 and the three men were located the same forenoon by the police.

When the defendants were arraigned in court last Friday it was announced that they had satisfied the owners of the filling station for the property damage done. The three pleaded nolo, and were found guilty by Judge Maguire who imposed fines of $10 each upon the elder Noone and Desmond. The younger Noone, a minor, had his case filed.

BARSTOW—QUINN

Miss Sadie Elizabeth Quinn of 778 Main street, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Quinn of Bath, Me., and Walter Henry Barstow of 4 Pond street, son of the late Norman G. and Ellen F. Barstow, were quietly united in marriage last Sunday evening, Aug. 7, in the Rectory of St. Mary's Church by Rev. Fr. George H. Quigley.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Barstow left upon a brief wedding trip to New Hampshire by motor. Both are well known in Winchester, the bride having been for several years cashier at the W. K. Hutchinson Company's local market. Mr. Barstow is assistant division superintendent for the Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. The Barstows are to make their future home in the new house which they are erecting on Pond street.

CARS CRASHED AT CAMBRIDGE STREET AND EVERETT AVENUE

Hugh J. McMinamin of 18 Highland View avenue sustained slight injuries and his Ford coupe was badly wrecked last Sunday morning as the result of an accident in which the machine figured at the junction of Cambridge street and Everett avenue with a Buick coach, owned and operated by William J. Callahan of 280 Endicott avenue, Revere.

McMinamin was leaving Everett avenue to go south on Cambridge street while Callahan was headed north along the same roadway. The latter driver was accompanied by his wife and family, none of whom was reported injured. The Buick was slightly damaged about the front end.

HARRY A. NORTON

Mr. Harry A. Norton, of 6 Copley street, Winchester, died on Thursday Aug. 4, at his summer home, Salisbury Heights, N. H. He was born on Dec. 13, 1862, son of Alfred M. and Leona E. Norton of Nashua, N. H. He left surviving him his wife, Kathaline C. Norton, daughter of the late Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire, and three daughters, Mrs. Chesley Whitten, Mrs. Edmund E. Bates and Leona Norton, and two grandchildren, all of them residents of this town. He also left two sisters, Mrs. A. J. McKean and Miss M. E. Norton, and three brothers, Paul T. Norton and Walter F. Norton of Nashua, N. H., and Arthur E. Norton of Arlington.

Mr. Norton's early affiliations were in the city of Nashua for which city he always retained affection and in which city two of his brothers and his sisters lived at his death. His work in the gas industry in which he spent his life was begun in that city. He later came to Boston, and after living in Cambridge for a short period, in 1911 adopted Winchester as his home, and during the 16 years while he lived here, entered with enthusiasm into the activities of the town within the limits of his strength, and in the light of the heavy demands made upon him by his business. He was, at the time of his death, vice president of the American Meter Company of New York, and manager of the Nathaniel Tufts Meter Works of Boston.

Mr. Norton actively engaged in such service as was open to him during the war. He contributed liberally of his means. He was a member of the State Guard. He served on a committee of the Red Cross and was a member of the committee on the War Memorial. He had, prior to that time, served as a member of the City Guard of Nashua.

He was a member of the Mystic Valley Lodge of Masons and also of the Rising Sun Lodge of Nashua. He was a member of the Calumet Club and also of the Winchester Country Club in this town. He was also a member of the Nashua Country Club of Nashua, N. H., of the Andover Country Club of Andover and of the Corinthian Yacht Club of Marblehead. He was a member of the Exchange Club and the Engineers' Club of Boston, of the Lotus Club of New York, and of the Seaview Club of Absecom, N. J.

These connections are an indication of the broad interests of the man in his relationship to other men. He made friends and enjoyed friends wherever he found them, and in turn was beloved by them. The demands of his business took him to many parts of the country and he was, therefore, frequently absent from this town, but his chief interest was here. He served as a director of the Winchester Country Club for many years and in that capacity contributed largely to the progress and development of that institution, on lines which seemed to him to be for the best interests of the community in which he lived.

Funeral services were held at the Church of the Epiphany on Monday, Aug. 8, under the guidance of Rev. Ernest M. Paddock, rector of St. James' Episcopal Church of Cambridge. Burial was at Woodlawn Cemetery, Nashua, N. H.

LIGHTNING STRUCK TWICE IN WINCHESTER LAST FRIDAY

Two local residences were struck by lightning during the heavy storm which deluged Winchester last Friday afternoon. The home of Frank H. Knight at 4 Ridgeway was struck by a bolt which entered the house in front at the eaves, tearing out an inside window casing smashing a light fixture and knocking down considerable plaster. The Fire Department was notified and Chief DeCourcy with one piece of apparatus answered the call. While there was considerable smoke in the house the firemen were unable to find any fire. The estimated damage was $200.

A second bolt struck the roof of the house of D. W. Blood at 51 Yale street. The damage in this instance was not so heavy, being confined to the rear of the structure where several shingles were torn from the roof which was also somewhat scorched. The Fire Department also visited the Blood home but as in the previous instance found no fire.

The storm was a heavy one, the square being again inundated while the lightning and thunder were especially severe. Conditions were made doubly unpleasant by hail which fell freely during one stage of the downpour.

OFFICER REGAN MADE GOOD CATCH

Captured Young Auto Thieves After Short Chase

After a short chase in a commandeered automobile Officer John Regan of the police department arrested early Wednesday morning two young men who were wanted by the Stoneham authorities for the larceny of a Willys-Knight roadster in which they were riding when stopped by the Winchester patrolman.

Officer Regan was on duty in the square as usual when he noticed the roadster approaching the center along Main street from the direction of Medford. The driver of the car slowed down as he came nearer and the patrolman noticed that the number of the car was one which had been relayed to him from headquarters as having been stolen in Stoneham late in the night of Tuesday. The policeman was so placed that the occupants of the roadster did not see him and quickly commandeering the car of a Woburn man who was passing, Officer Regan started after the stolen machine.

He caught the car at Glenwood avenue and placed its astonished occupants under arrest. At the station they gave their names as Ralph Longwood, 17, and Ivan Kennedy, 20, both of Stoneham. The roadster which was valued at $1485 was the property of Albert F. Pezzole of 118 Central street, Stoneham.

The two young men were turned over to the Stoneham Police who claimed that they were the possessors of a previous record, having been arrested in Vermont about a month ago for the larceny in Stoneham of a Hudson sedan.

When arrested by Officer Regan it was apparent that the fugitives were contemplating a long trip. A fully packed suitcase was in the car while one of the young men had $70 and the other $52 together with a gold watch which it is alleged was stolen from his father.

Both defendants appeared in the District Court at Woburn Wednesday morning where they pleaded "not guilty" and were held in bonds of $5000 each for appearance before the Grand Jury.

WINCHESTER MEN PROMINENT IN FISHERIES CONVENTION

Two well known Winchester men, former Selectman George E. Willey of Wildwood street and Edmund L. Dunn of Maxwell road, are prominently identified with the ninth annual convention of the United States Fisheries Association which opened its sessions Wednesday morning in the Hotel Statler, Boston. Mr. Willey as chairman and Mr. Dunn as treasurer of the State Committee on arrangements for the convention have for some time been busy with a mass of detail incidental to its success and the former has been quoted as stating that the current affair will be the best yet held by the association.

A discussion of the more modern and sanitary methods of handling fish has featured the business sessions of the convention and the lecture periods along with an analysis of the legislation which is to lift some of the burdens now imposed upon the trade. The business sessions opened Thursday morning and are to continue through Saturday when officers and directors will be elected and resolutions adopted. Covers for 1000 will be laid for the big convention banquet to be held in the ball room of the Hotel Statler tonight, at which Bruce Barton, nationally known writer and lecturer, and Senator Edward Ford will be the principal speakers. Mayor Malcolm A. Nichols of Boston officially welcomed the delegates at the informal buffet supper Wednesday at the Statler.

A full program has been arranged by the hustling committee headed by the Winchester men. Mr. Willey has long been known in the fish industry of Boston. He is associated with the Lincoln Willey Company and the B. F. Snow Company, both of Boston. Mr. Dunn, who has been associated with fishing interests since the World War, is manager of the Atlantic & Pacific Fish Company and president of the New England Fish Exchange.

"Bobby" Smith of Wolcott terrace this week won his finals match in the Rockport Country Club Naval Cup competition. In the match after becoming one of the 16 qualifiers he won from Captain Frye 4—3, from Charles Small, Jr. 4—3, from Jay Willing of the Dartmouth Golf Team 4—3, and in the finals match with Lieutenant Longcope to whom he gave four strokes handicap he won 5—3. "Bobby's" game improved under pressure. In his last match he went out in 43 and came in in 38.

UNION SERVICES AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. Herbert S. Johnson, D.D., to be the Preacher

The Supply Committee of the Baptist Church have announced as preachers for the four union services of the Methodist, Congregational, and Baptist Churches held in their church this summer, that Rev. Herbert S. Johnson, D.D., of Boston will preach next Sunday, and the Sunday following, and the Rev. Grady D. Feagan, formerly of Macon, Ga. and now of Lowell, will preach the two following Sundays. They believe that they have secured two of the best preachers in the denomination, which is in line with their policy of last year—to secure the best they could for those who found themselves in Winchester during the summer.

It was expected that Dr. Bustard would be with us again this year for the last two Sundays, but emergencies have arisen that will call him to the West, and has obliged him to forgo the pleasure he anticipated of being with us.

It is hoped that these two supplies will prove equally as pleasing as it gives one preacher from the North, and one preacher from the South. Dr. Johnson is well-known in the North as a very able and pleasing preacher, while Rev. Mr. Feagan, with his southern manner of speaking, has achieved equal success in the south, and since his coming north for special study has attracted much notice.

The morning service will be at 10:30 and the evening service at 7. The public is cordially invited to both services.

PROTEST TRUCKS ON BACON STREET

The Board of Selectmen has received a petition from residents of Bacon street and streets in that vicinity asking for relief from the heavy trucking being carried on there. Many of those who had signed the petition appeared before the Board at its meeting last Monday evening stating that their ceilings are becoming loosened and that the noise is intolerable while the speed often employed by the trucks is so excessive as to create a dangerous situation.

Chairman John H. Powers of the Board stated that the Selectmen have been and still are making efforts to stop this heavy trucking on certain of the town's highways. He assured the petitioners that every effort would be made to remedy the conditions on Bacon street.

TOWN HALL RATED "GOOD"

The Division of Inspection of the Department of Public Safety has notified the Board of Selectmen that as a result of its recent findings the Town Hall is given a rating of "good." The special hall license, relating to the use of the Town Hall, has also been received and has been turned over to Custodian Edward Callahan. This license expires yearly in August.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Dennison Howe of 6 Park avenue are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a son Tuesday, Aug. 9. The little boy has been named David Anthony.

Miss Gladys M. Larkin and Austin Layton Nickerson, both of Winchester, were married on Sunday, July 31, at the home of the Rev. John H. Whitley, pastor of the Second Congregational Church, according to returns filed at the Town Hall.

VACATIONISTS

Coming and Going

ITALIAN DAY NEXT MONDAY

Band Concert and Fireworks in Evening to Conclude Celebration

"Italian Day," by which designation the annual celebration of the Feast of the Assumption by the town's Italian residents is known locally, comes next Monday. It has been long awaited with interest throughout the entire district as one of the high lights of the summer season hereabouts. Italian celebrations of feasts and holy days are becoming rather general but in the vicinity of Winchester this local observance was the original and still sets the pace for others of a like nature.

As usual much of the interest, aside from that taken by the Italians themselves, is in the big fireworks display with which the celebration of this internationally observed feast day of the Roman Catholic Church will be concluded. Winchester's Italians have long been noted for their exceptional fireworks and they have gone to unusual pains to ensure the finest of all displays this summer. Those who recall the marvelous set pieces of a year ago will be interested to see in what way it is possible to eclipse them. The committee has promised to do so.

Second in interest only to the fireworks are the band concerts which feature music of the better grade, including operatic and popular music of concert type. Two concerts have been arranged for this year, both to be played from the bandstand on Manchester Field. The first will take place at 7 o'clock Sunday evening and will be given by the Chiusano Band, an Italian organization. The second will be held on Monday evening preceding the fireworks, also commencing at 7 o'clock. The fireworks display will not begin until 10:30 p. m., much later than ever before.

For the Italians the celebration will begin at 9 o'clock Sunday morning when the Chiusano Band will play selections while parading through the streets of the Italian section. At 2 p. m. on Sunday the big parade of the celebration will form at St. Mary's Church and, headed by the band, march to the square and by way of Main and Swanton streets through the Italian section, breaking ranks upon the return to the church by way of Washington street.

Monday's festivities will commence at 5:30 in the afternoon when the Roma Band of Boston will parade through the Italian section. The second concert, given by the Roma Band, and the fireworks will follow as stated above. The American Fireworks Company of Massachusetts has been engaged to furnish the fireworks and has been told to do its best. Its best will have to be good to eclipse last year's display. Frank D'Attilo heads the local committee in charge of arrangements.

NO GAME HERE TOMORROW

Winchester baseball fans will be obliged to go elsewhere for their baseball this Saturday afternoon, the originally scheduled game between the St. Mary's B. B. C. and the Stoneham Town Team having been called off by Manager Frank Melly.

The locals would have been without the services of several of their best players had the game been played tomorrow, and rather than present another patched up roster Melly decided to let the attraction ride. Many of the local fans have signified their intention of taking in the big game between Malden and Somerville at Tufts Oval. Francis Tansey is billed to pitch for Malden and "Jim" Fitzgerald and Frank Melly will be in the Somerville lineup. The week following St. Mary's will swing into action again with a strong opponent to be announced.

SCHOOL DEPARTMENT NOTES

The schools will officially open on Wednesday, Sept. 7.

The Department calls the attention of the parents to the days and hours for the special mental tests given to pupils who are under age. The Department's ruling is that a child to be admitted to the kindergarten must be five years of age on or before Jan. 1 following the opening of school in September. A child to be admitted to the first grade must be six years of age on or before Jan. 1 following the opening of school in September.

If the parent has a child who is not of age to enter, but who believes that the child is more advanced mentally than his age would indicate, he may arrange with the office of the Superintendent of Schools for an appointment for a special mental examination.

The only days upon which the examinations will be given will be as follows: Sept. 1, 2, 3, 6 and 7. Appointments will be made from the hours of 9 to 12 and 1 to 5. The School Department must insist that the tests be given on these days.

All pupils must be vaccinated before entering school. au12-4t

FORMER WINCHESTER RESIDENT DIED IN WOBURN

Mary McLaughlin, wife of Dennis McLaughlin and a former resident of this town, passed away last Friday morning at her home, 35 Hudson street, Woburn. She had been ill for several months.

Mrs. McLaughlin was born in Ireland and was 70 years of age. She came to this country as a young girl and made her home in Woburn until her marriage to Dennis McLaughlin in 1881. She was married in Winchester and made her home here for several years following that event. Later she lived in Dorchester before returning to Woburn in 1900. Surviving are her husband, three daughters, two sons and three sisters.

Funeral services were held on Monday morning from the late residence with a requiem high mass in St. Charles Church at 9 o'clock. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

O'HARA PARTY TO ARRIVE HOME SUNDAY

According to radio advices received this week Mr. F. J. O'Hara of Mystic avenue, vice president and director of the Winchester National Bank, his daughter, Miss Agnes O'Hara, and his grandchildren, Miss Miriam Donahue of this town, Miss Helen O'Hara and Miss Dorothy MacCalduff, both of Boston, will arrive in Boston Sunday on the Cunard liner, "Samaria," returning from a two months' tour abroad, including visits to England, Ireland, Scotland, France and Italy.

While abroad Mr. O'Hara celebrated his 80th birthday in rather an unusual way even in this day of Lindberghs and Byrds. With his party he entered an airplane at London and "hopped over" to Paris where the young ladies visited the exclusive Parisienne shoppes before returning to England. While in Italy Mr. O'Hara was able to arrange for himself and party a special audience with the Pope.

Following their arrival the Misses Donahue and O'Hara will return to their studies at Notre Dame Academy in the Fenway while Miss MacCalduff will go to her summer home at Bass Rocks, Gloucester. Mr. O'Hara and Miss Agnes O'Hara are to return to Winchester.

C. D. OF A. NOTES

Next Sunday will usher in the Court's annual outing which this year will be quite different from the outings we have had.

Autos and a large bus will leave Winchester at 10 Sunday morning, arriving in Ipswich center between 11 and 11:30. At 11:30 we will transfer to the river boats Lynetta II and Lynetta III for the ride up the Ipswich river in charge of Capt. Ernest Penbody. It is expected that we will arrive at Grape Island about 12:30 where a steaming clam bake with all the fixin's will be in process of preparation. This part of the arrangement is being looked after by Capt. William Wait, the best-known "bake-captain" in Ipswich.

Then in order will follow the sports in charge of Jane King and Katharine Reagan Walsh, and the concert in charge of Mollie Maguire, Katharine O'Connor and Mary McGrath.

The sports will include a baseball game between the men and the women, with Jane King and Joe O'Connor of the local P. O. as rival captains. Also there will be races with very desirable prizes as a reward.

The concert will be of the usual C. D. of A. order with Sister Bernice Connell of Court Stoneham at the piano.

Sister Mary O'Melia is touring New York and Canada with a party of Winchester friends and Sister Maria McCauley with her daughter Alice is registered at the Pine Tree Inn, Onset, for two weeks.

Sisters Delia Kelley and Elizabeth Powers are enjoying an auto trip which will include visits at Bayonne and Arlington, N. J. Sister Mary Kelley of Hill street chaperoned a large party of young people to Revere Beach on Saturday last, this being her 15th annual outing.

Sister Ann C. Poland conducted a very successful house party for the Court on Tuesday afternoon. All present enjoyed a delightful afternoon.

Have you ever made good on one job.. for 39 years?

THE extra mileage you get from Dunlop tires starts with the fact that Dunlop has had thirty-nine years of tire-building experience—more than any other tire-maker.

Each part of each Dunlop is built right. Dunlop owns its own cotton mills to spin selected long-fibre cotton into the special Dunlop cable-twist cords.

These cords mean extra strength—an added factor of safety against constant load and pounding of roads—longer life and greater mileage.

They mean extra "stretch"—so the tire carcass will give under blows, and come back to its original shape without the slightest injury.

Every Dunlop you buy has extra miles built into it because Dunlop knows each part of its job. That is why we recommend you put Dunlops on your car.

NORTH WOBURN WON COMEDY OF ERRORS

"Steve" Colucci, former Tufts slow ball pitcher and present manager of the North Woburn E. B. C., has been quoted as saying that St. Mary's has been a lucky ball club all season. If such was so, as the boys say, the locals lost their lucky fortune at one fell swoop last Saturday afternoon on Manchester Field when they dropped a "comedy of errors" to Mr. Colucci's ponies by the football score of 11 to 9.

If St. Mary's has been lucky all season, the visitors must have borrowed a page from its book last Saturday. At all events North Woburn got by far the majority of the breaks and while its warriors played the smarter ball it may still be considered very fortunate to win. Any time "Fitzy" hits into a second base forceout with the sacks loaded and two runs needed to tie, the opposition may consider itself fortunate — we don't mean perhaps.

The locals did not present an especially strong lineup for the battle. "Spike" O'Donnell was on the pitching rubber, after twirling a part of a game a year ago last June. The boy is not a pitcher and no one knows it any better than himself. Being a fighter he gave his best and his pitching was not bad enough to have lost the game, had he had ordinary support. Manager Frank Melly, after catching every night during the week, was on the bench getting his second wind, with Mark Kelley behind the bat. "Mex" is a good backstop but his loss in the field weakened the club. Flaherty had to be pulled in to play second and while he played errorless ball at the keystone sack his substitute in left, "Jomma" Dolan, was not so good out by the band stand. "Vin" Ambrose, subbing for Kelley at third, had not been "in there" regularly while Fitzgerald at first had one of his rare off days. All in all St. Mary's was a bad ball club last Saturday and yet it might have won the game with a little of that "luck" we hear so much about.

For a couple of frames it looked like a real battle with both O'Donnell and Paul Kelliher, ex-B. C. pitcher on the mound for the visitors, going along like 8-day timepieces. Then came the riot.

"Spike" got away to a bad start when he hit Doherty in the 3rd, for Cullivan lined a single to center, advancing him to second. Kelliher laid a bunt along the first base line for a hit when no one covered first and the sacks were jammed. Coates fanned and Veno rapped to Hevey, offering a line chance for a double play to retire the side. The usually reliable "Jackie" fielded the ball cleanly and then fell down. From a sitting posture he threw the ball past Flaherty, allowing both Doherty and Cullivan to score on the play. Kelliher made third on the error and Veno who was safe at first went right down. S. Colucci walked to fill the bases. A. Colucci's single past third scored Kelliher and Veno. S. Colucci scored on Ambrose's error on Snyder's grounder, his brother going around to third. "Tony" was caught in a hot-box off third a moment later, but counted after running about a quarter of a mile back and forth on Ambrose's heave over O'Donnell's head. Snyder who had circled the bases also scored on this bobble and F. Colucci, safe on a fielder's choice, was eased over by Doherty's hit through short. Cullivan ended the fun when he hit into a double play, O'Donnell to Flaherty to Fitzgerald.

St. Mary's made a good showing in its half. J. Dolan fanned by T. Dolan basted a hit to center and Hevey hit over second base. Flaherty beat out a bunt and the cushions were loaded. A smashing double to left by Fitzgerald brought over three runs. Kelley hit sharply to right and when F. Colucci lost the ball "Fitzy" counted. Kelley tried hard to stretch his hit and was thrown out at third, Veno to Coates. Coates threw out J. Tansey.

North Woburn had another kick left for the 4th. Kelliher walked and Coates hit over second. Veno rapped to O'Donnell and Kelliher was forced at third. Ambrose tried for a double play at first but his throw was slow and Coates started for third. Fitzgerald heaved one away over Ambrose head, allowing the runner to tally. Veno held up at first. S. Colucci hit to left, Veno making second from where he scored on A. Colucci's hit to left. Snyder hit to O'Donnell who forced S. Colucci at third. A. Colucci started for third on Ambrose's throw to first and scored when "Harpy" repeated his previous wild heave. Kelley took F. Colucci's foul fly.

St. Mary's got a couple back in the 5th. With one away Hevey walked and went all the way to third when Coates threw wildly trying to force him at second on Flaherty's hopper. Fitzgerald hit one a mile in the air behind second and the force of the ball almost knocked little Veno down. He made the catch but Hevey counted before he could recover balance, and Flaherty scored on Kelley's hit over second. J. Tansey rolled to Coates.

In the 7th the locals closed up the gap. Kelliher hit Hevey and he advanced when Flaherty drew a pass. Fitzgerald hoisted to Coates but "Office" Mark Kelley, who incidentally was just about the whole works for Winchester, doubled to left, scoring Hevey. Flaherty was thrown out at the plate, Cullivan to Coates to Kelliher, but "Mex" kept right on going and after reaching third took advantage of Kelliher's mental lapse and stole home under his very nose. Tansey tapped to the pitcher.

Came another in the 8th. O'Donnell beat out a hit to shortstop but was forced at second by Ambrose. J. Dolan fanned. Errors by Coates and Doherty allowed T. Dolan and Hevey to arrive safely and the bases were full. Flaherty blasted a hit past third and Ambrose was over, with the sacks still populated. "Fitzy" stalked to the plate. The crowd was silent excepting for the rattling of the North Woburn knees. It wasn't a nice situation for the visitors. Two runs needed to tie, and the hardest hitter in this neck of woods ready and eager.

Kelliher had courage enough to work on the big fellow but at that he couldn't afford to pass him. The bases were full and one Mr. Kelley also ready and eager. He wound up and let-er-go. Fitzy swung at the first ball pitched and rolled easily to "Tony" Colucci who forced Flaherty. School was out.

WOMAN'S CHRISTIAN TEMPERANCE UNION NOTES

One-half of one per cent:

The Chicago Tribune, which so modestly calls itself "The World's Greatest Newspaper" on July 17, announced that hereafter one of the planks of its platform would be the "Repeal of the Volstead Act."

Such a plank appeared at the head of its editorial column that day, and the world's greatest editor proceeded to justify the move.

The outstanding reason for his claim that the Volstead Act should be repealed was that the definition of intoxicating liquor therein contained was founded in a lie which only fanatics believed. How many times have the facts in the history of this "one-half of one per cent" been set before the people! Yet still again the good editor needs to hear them. Will he and others listen to them as stated so recently by Bishop Ernest G. Richardson, in the Christian Advocate?

"Vast numbers of our people have been led to believe that the Alcoholic content in liquids that makes them legally intoxicating was arbitrarily fixed at one-half of one per cent by weight under the Volstead Act.

"This statement has been made so many times that it is quite generally accepted as the truth. It is nearly always coupled with the thought that no one but a group of temperance fanatics would have thought of saying that liquid containing one half of one per cent alcohol by weight was intoxicating.

"I have yet to meet the first person who knows when the law was passed that declared such liquids intoxicating and at whose bequest this law was passed. The facts are that in 1868, under the Civil War Revenue Act, this standard was originated. Decisions by the Treasury Department, accepting this standard as constituting intoxicating liquor, have been made many times during the years since then. Certainly prohibition was not in effect in 1868. Nor were temperance fanatics at that time sufficiently numerous to have caused that law to be passed. The law was passed at the demand of the liquor interests. Having to pay a tax which was levied to help pay the expense of the Civil War, they demanded the protection afforded by this definition.

It is hard to believe that many of these who keep on declaring that this alcoholic content was declared intoxicating about six years ago, and originated then at the behest of temperance fanatics, do not know that they are declaring an untruth. If they are ignorant, their ignorance is inexcusable, as the facts are so easily secured."

ST. MARY'S WON RUBBER GAME AT WOBURN

After enjoying a big early game lead which was wiped out in the 8th inning St. Mary's B. B. C. finally won the rubber contest of its series with the Woburn "Pals" at Library Field, Woburn, last Sunday afternoon. The score, 10 to 9, just about tells the story of the battle, though there was a lot of excitement crowded into the 10 long innings it took to decide the issue.

Neither club had anything like a strong lineup and the locals had to dig a player out of the crowd to play right field until the arrival of "Howie" Ambrose who filled in at that position. Mark Kelley was in center with "Muggins" Tansey in left. The infield was the same as that which played against North Woburn. "Jomma" Dolan and Frank Melly were the battery.

Both Dolan and "Crossy" McElhiney, who pitched for Woburn, were hit hard and received indifferent support at times. The Winchester pitcher was the steadier and deserved to win. There was a large crowd out for the game and those who stayed to the finish got a lot for their money.

An error by "Joe" Duran, successive hits by Ambrose, Tansey, Fitzgerald and Kelley accounted for three runs in the first while "Tom" Duran's error and Melly's single added another in the same inning before Kelley was caught at the plate for the third out. In the fourth hits by Howard Ambrose and Hevey, passed ball and "Vin" Ambrose's single gave the locals two more but in the fifth Woburn came to life.

Costello's single, a pass to McElhiney and "Touchy" Gray's life on Fitzgerald's muff of his pop fly over at third base filled the bases. The first named scored on Ambrose's error on Doherty's rap, and McElhiney was forced home when "Jomma" hit Walsh. Gray and Doherty counted on "Joe" Duran's double to center field.

In the 6th singles by Howard Ambrose and Hevey, "Vin" Ambrose's sacrifice and Fitzgerald's vicious single gave St. Mary's a couple and in the eighth Woburn went out in front.

A pass to "Joe" Doherty and a long fly to left by Costello, a blow which went for a home run when Tansey misjudged it, gave Woburn two runs. McElhiney singled and was forced at second by Keating. O'Donnell's error gave Gray a life and "Spike's" second bobble did as much for T. Duran, Keating scoring. "Doc" Doherty's double to center scored Gray and T. Duran for five big runs.

Kelley's triple to far center and Melly's sacrifice tied the score in the 9th and in the 10th St. Mary's won the game. With two away "Vin" Ambrose singled and "Muggins" Tansey sent him to third with another safety. McElhiney evidently was trying to pass "Fitzy" but the big boy reached way over the platter and dropped a Texas leaguer in right, scoring Ambrose. It was the fourth hit in five trips to the platter for Fitzgerald.

The score by innings:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10
St. Mary's	4	0	0	0	2	0	2	0	1	10
Woburn	3	0	0	0	4	0	0	2	0	9

Batteries, for St. Mary's: J. Dolan and Melly; for Woburn: McElhiney and Costello.

S. T. HICKS AND R. L. SMITH WINNERS OF FOUR-BALL AT COUNTRY CLUB

The fine weather of last Saturday attracted a good sized field of golfers to the links of the Winchester Country Club where the afternoon tourney was a four-ball medal play. S. T. Hicks and R. L. Smith were the winners with a card of 69, one stroke under the teams of E. R. Rooney and D. M. Belcher, R. M. Clough and E. T. Barton and H. B. Turner and P. A. Hendrick who had 70s.

The summary:

S. T. Hicks & R. L. Smith	69
E. R. Rooney & D. M. Belcher	70
R. M. Clough & E. T. Barton	70
H. B. Turner & P. A. Hendricks	70

Old Tower Once Home of Distinguished Men

At location in the Canonbury tower, it was the public's attraction of a great age and association of famous and well-loved people. Francis Bacon lived here for nine years in the early part of the Seventeenth century, when it was called "an aluary house." One of the upper rooms has his name and a Latin inscription over the doors. Charles Lamb, who lived near by at 64 Duncan terrace, and Washington Irving, before he went for his three years' visit to Spain, rambled over the old tower.

The most interesting thing about this old tower is that Oliver Goldsmith wrote "The Vicar of Wakefield" here when he had taken refuge from his creditors in the lodgings of his friend, Newberry, the bookseller, but any small boy who inspects the tower will decide in favor of the Compton room, where he will ignore the lovely paneling to inspect the very bullet, embedded in the wall, that was aimed at Sir Walter Raleigh.

Geometrical Idea

The fourth dimension as a type of geometry, which conceives a hyperspace of "N" dimensions. In which space is conceived not of points, but of lines. Under such division, space has four dimensions, since four determinations are necessary to fix a line in space. Mathematicians agree as to the practical value of this idea, as it leads to important simplifications of the mathematical language and gives greater clearness to the concepts of real geometry.

Work on Odd Railroad Cured His Dyspepsia

Sylvester Marsh, son of a New Hampshire farmer, was made the butt of many gibes when he proposed the idea of building a railroad to the summit of Mount Washington, but he accomplished the project and it has been called the most astonishing engineering feat that marked the early days of the Boston & Maine system.

The inventor was called "Crazy Marsh," and his proposed feat was designated "a railroad to the moon," a writer in the Boston Post recalls. But despite the public ridicule and opposition he built the first railway of its kind in the world. The formal opening of the road to a point known as "Jacob's Ladder" took place August 14, 1858, and on July 3, 1869, the road was completed to the summit, with trains running.

Marsh once testified before a senate committee that he built the road to cure a case of dyspepsia. He had retired, and after a few years of idleness dyspepsia forced him to do something to save his health. He got the unique railroad idea and worked it out. It cured his illness.

Fire Thermometers

When their thermometers fail to register men in the Far North can determine the approximate temperature by building a wood fire. At 40 degrees below zero the wood fire appears to give off steam instead of smoke.

Veteran Opera Goers Startled by Tamagno

Campo, in his prime, possessed the most powerful voice most people ever heard. But there was a time before him the great tenor Tamagno whose voice possessed even greater volume. On his first appearance in London he was announced to sing "Otello." When he appeared on the stage his tremendous height and breadth astonished the audience, but it did not prepare them for the thunder of his first note. Its strength so astounded them that, it is said, they surged backward as though they were awaiting an assault. The second note was more powerful still, and by the time he had sung his fourth note his voice had such colossal volume that the people lost their self control. Leaping from their seats, they rushed about commenting to each other on the most extraordinary voice they had ever heard in their lives, while the orchestra stopped playing and the stage became a scene of confusion. A few moments later, the realization had come to them that not only had Tamagno a glorious voice, but that he knew how to use it as an artist, and then their applause shook the theater. —Montreal Family Herald.

MILK CHART FOR MONTH OF JULY 1927

Published by the Winchester Board of Health

The bacteria count in this chart gives the number of bacteria found in one c. c. taken from the center of the sample after it had been well shaken. It should be remembered that another c. c. taken from the same sample might give a somewhat different count, but the difference would rarely, if ever, exceed 10 per cent.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

It isn't so easy to apologize, to begin again, to face a sneer, or to forgive and forget, but it certainly pays in the end.

Beauty attracts us, wit charms us, but only kindness holds us.

Doubt acts as a tack that punctures about every success.

A man is rich only in accordance with what he is, and not as many suppose, by what he has.

The door of opportunity is never locked, not even latched. Push is the only opener you will need.

He who builds for himself alone is either now a failure or will be in the end.

SOMERVILLE TOT KILLED BY AUTO AT SANDY BEACH

Wednesday afternoon's festivities at Sandy Beach were sadly interrupted when little three year Audrey Doherty, daughter of Mr and Mrs. William S. Doherty of 9 College Hill road, Somerville, was struck and fatally injured by a Chrysler coach driven by Ralph L. Thompson of 87 Bay State avenue, Somerville.

According to one account of the accident the little girl was crossing the Parkway to rejoin her mother, who was awaiting her in an automobile, when she was struck by Thompson's machine. The driver claimed that the child ran directly into the path of his car and he was unable to avoid hitting her. Following the accident Mrs. Doherty fainted and had to be treated by a physician.

Thompson picked the child up and took her in his machine to the Winchester Hospital where she was pronounced dead upon arrival by Dr. Milton J. Quinn. Thompson was arrested by the Metropolitan Police, charged with manslaughter and with driving a motor vehicle so as to endanger the lives of the public. He appeared in the District Court at Woburn Thursday morning, his case being continued for one week by Justice Jesse W. Morton.

WINCHESTER MAN TO ENGAGE IN RESEARCH WORK AT NEW HAMPSHIRE UNIVERSITY

Mr. Harold M. Mayo of 18 Kenwin road has recently been chosen to engage in chemical research work at the University of New Hampshire at Durham in that State. He is to begin upon his new work in the fall and plans to locate with his family at Durham. At the time of his appointment he had been employed for some time as chemist with the local firm of J. O. Whitten Company and had many friends in the Highlands district of the town. Mrs. Mayo, too, is widely known through her activity in work of the Unitarian Church and also as president of the Washington School Mothers' Association. The Mayos are at present enjoying a vacation at their camp on Lake Winnipesaukee, N. H.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

Marriage intentions have been filed with the Town Clerk as follows:

Stanislao Bonlacqua of 129 Eastern avenue, Malden and Mary Vozzella of 1 Tremont street.

Francis Joseph Healey of 123 Warren street, Arlington and Katherine Gertrude Flaherty of 36 Middlesex street.

Harold Hammond McKinley of Hollywood, Fla., and S. Dorothy Larraway of 310 Main street.

BUILDING PERMITS

The Building Commissioner has granted permits for week ending Thursday, Aug. 11 as follows:

Ralph P. Sylvester, Winchester; new two family dwelling on lot at 77 Church street.

John L. McMinamin, Winchester; to replace old piazza with a new one on dwelling at 21 Hemingway street.

Olive C. Marchant, Winchester; new private garage at 45 Lincoln street.

WILLIAM L. HUMPHREY

William L. Humphrey of 9 Ward street, North Woburn, a former Winchester boy and veteran of the World War, passed away Wednesday of this week in the United States Veterans' Hospital at Rutland after a long illness. He had previously been under treatment at the Chelsea Naval Hospital.

Mr. Humphrey was 31 years of age and was born in Winchester, the son of William and Grace Humphrey. He was educated in the Winchester schools and lived much of his life previous to the war in this town where he had many friends. He had made his home in North Woburn for a little more than a year. The deceased was a member of Woburn Lodge of Elks and of George A. Campbell Post, American Legion. Surviving are his wife, Edith Duncan Humphrey, an infant son, William, Jr.; his father, William Humphrey of Woburn; one sister, Mrs. Mark Parsons of Beverly and five brothers; James, George and Arthur of Woburn and Frank L. and Roy Humphrey of this town.

A military funeral under the direction of George A. Campbell Post will be held from the late residence this Friday afternoon. The Rev. Luther L. Weller, rector of Trinity Episcopal Church will be the officiating clergyman. Interment will be in Woodbrook Cemetery, Woburn.

COURT GRANTS USE OF NAME HARRINGTON

At a Probate Court held in Cambridge, July 26, 1927, Judge John C. Leggat granted the petitions of John M. Doucette, John A. Doucette praying for a change of name, John M. Doucette to John Mandea Harrington, and John A. Doucette to John Albert Harrington, respectively.

The reason given the court by both brothers for the change was that the name John Mandea Harrington and John Albert Harrington should be the true and legal names of the petitioners.

The reason for the petition was stated by both men. Their father was born David Harrington. As a boy he was reared in the home of an uncle by marriage named Edward Doucette. He grew into manhood and married using the name of Doucette. He was never legally adopted by the uncle.

The two sons by his marriage have been known as John M. Doucette and John A. Doucette. They are both married.

John M. Harrington married Mary L. McMaster of Woburn and the couple have three children. The family lives at No. 1 Munroe street, Woburn.

John A. Harrington married Luella Roberts of this town and they have one child. They live at 20 Elmwood avenue.

Fearing complications might arise in the future over the names, they both petitioned the court for a change of name from Doucette to Harrington (their father's name). Judge John C. Leggat decreed that the petition of John A. Doucette be dismissed "for the reason that the name John Albert Harrington is the true and legal name of said pitioner."

The same reason was given for dismissal on the petition of John M. Doucette. Both young men will be known in the future by the name of Harrington.

OBSERVED 81st BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Jennie Sargent of this town observed the 81st anniversary of her birth Wednesday evening when she was tendered a birthday surprise party at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Whitten of 32 Pond street. Mrs. Sargent who is confined to her bed as the result of a shock which rendered her a semi-invalid some time ago is nevertheless keenly alive to events and thoroughly enjoyed her birthday festivities. She personally greeted her many guests and expressed her thanks in a charming manner for the beautiful and useful gifts which she received. Mrs. Sargent who is a widow was born in Edinburgh, Scotland, but has made her home in Winchester since her childhood. She is widely known and universally beloved by her many friends.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Mounted Officer Edward F. Shea caught still another man attempting the larceny of some of the small pine trees which the Town has set out about its water system. "Ned" was patrolling his boat in the Fells Wednesday evening when he came suddenly upon the man in question, busily engaged upon his task. When questioned by the officer the man could give no satisfactory explanation of his activities in landscape gardening and was at once placed under arrest. At Police Headquarters he gave his name as Guiseppe DeNino and stated that he lived in Medford. He was locked up, charged with larceny.

Keep it in an automobile license holder. We sell them. Wilson the Stationer.

A big limb from a large elm tree at Oneida road was broken off yesterday afternoon and fell across Cambridge street so as to tie up all through motor traffic. Chief William R. McIntosh with Sergt. Thomas Cassidy and Motorcycle Officer Edward O'Connell detoured the machines until Superintendent William Nicholson and his men of the Tree Department were able to clear the wood away.

A party of motorists including Mr. and Mrs. Vernon W. Jones of Glen road and Miss Edith Lewis of Maxwell road returned Wednesday evening from a two weeks' tour of the White Mountains and Canada with a stop-over at Niagara Falls.

Selectman and Mrs. Walter H. Dotten returned this week from West Newfields, Me., where they had been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Winn. During their stay Mr. Dotten drove to the top of Mt. Washington with a party, of which Mrs. Joseph H. Hefflon was a member.

THE STORY OF CORK

Spanish cork producers are learning with relief that progress and science often find new uses for old products when old uses are passing into the discard. They saw a marked slump in the demand for bottle stoppers a few years ago, especially in America, where the crimped metal cap with only a thin lining of cork has become the standby of the soft-drink industry. Cork prices dropped and producers saw ruin ahead.

Now, thanks to the growing use of cork in America in thousands of household refrigerating machines, radio instruments, and electrical devices, Spain has had her most prosperous cork year. The following bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society tells of cork production.

Trees "Skinned Alive"

The cork industry depends on the peeling of bark from living trees, says the bulletin. The trees are a species of evergreen oak. They are literally "skinned alive," yet they have the valuable ability not only to continue to live, but to set about immediately to grow new and better bark.

Spain is probably the best known source of cork, yet it is not the greatest cork growing country. Portugual with approximately a million and a half acres of cork groves has twice the area devoted to cork growing by her eastern neighbor. North Africa also is an important factor in the growth of the bark. Algiers has nearly a million acres in cork oaks and Tunis about a quarter million acres. Small quantities are grown also in southern France and Italy.

But in the actual production of cork for the market Spain and Portugal lead. These two countries have exported together recently about $18,000,000 worth of cork and cork products annually. Of this Spain ships the greater share measured by value, since nearly all Spanish shipments are of manufactured products, while Portugal exports mostly crude cork. Close to $6,000,000 worth of cork is imported into the United States annually. The other principal users are Great Britain, France and Germany.

Eight Years between Harvests

There are few crops for which one has to wait longer than for cork. If the best practice is followed, trees are not given their first stripping until they are 20 years old. This first crop is coarse and practically worthless. It is used chiefly as a source of tannin and to make rough bark baskets for ferns, and the like. The owner of a cork oak grove must wait eight or nine years after the first stripping for his second harvest of cork. This second crop is better than the first but is still considered of poor quality. There must be an interval of bark growth of eight or nine years between all succeeding harvests.

Meanwhile, the quality of the cork is steadily improving. If the bark is removed carefully so that the underlying tissue is not injured the trees thrive and continue to produce their harvest until they are 150 years old or more.

When the bark comes from the trees it is in trough-shaped pieces ½ to 2½ inches thick and several feet long. After drying for a few days the pieces are boiled in water and weighted down until they assume a flat shape. These flat slabs are baled and shipped from the country or sent to domestic factories.

From Cigarette Tips to Floor Coverings

Cork is best known in the form of bottle stoppers. It was used by the Romans to plug wine containers. When glass bottles came into general use during the 15th and 16th centuries the cork stopper industry grew to importance. This primary use continues, but many new uses have been added. Today cork is made into floats for fishing nets and lines, and into washers and insulators for various devices.

It is used in life preservers, refrigerator, artificial limbs, hat linings, and as inner soles for shoes. Glass is polished with it; cut to paper thinness it is made into cigarette tips; and ground, the coarser grades are used as a packing for china and for fresh fruit. A growing use in recent years has been as an ingredient for the manufacture of linoleum. Cork is ground very fine for this purpose, and the lower grades can be used.

TIENTSIN: NEW AMERICAN CONCENTRATION POINT IN CHINA

China's war map can be spread out on the eastern half of the United States to show why the marines have gone to Tientsin, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Let New Orleans be Shanghai at the mouth of the Yangtze, then St. Louis will be Hankow. Nationalist troops having captured Shanghai and Hankow are moving northeast on Peking and Tientsin. These two cities lie in the relative positions of Pittsburgh and Baltimore; the radical Nationalists are advancing from St. Louis (Hankow) on Pittsburgh (Peking), while the conservative Nationalists are fighting their way north along the railroad and the Grand Canal from New Orleans (Shanghai) to Baltimore (Tientsin). The United States marines have sailed up the coast, around Florida (Shantung Peninsula) into Chesapeake Bay (Gulf of Chihli).

To comprehend the emergency which hovers over the American colony of nearly 1000 in Peking, it is necessary to assume that the railroad from Pittsburgh to Baltimore, commands Peking's only pathway to the ocean and its only road to Manchuria in the north.

City Has Only Two Ports

Tientsin often goes by the title of "port of Peking." Yet Tientsin itself has only two ports, Tangku and Chingwangtao. While Tientsin straddles the Hai Ho, a navigable river, deep draft vessels such as "round the world tourist liners, dare not cross the bar. Intead they drop passengers and freight into lighters which ply to Tangku at the river's mouth from whence trains run 27 miles up to Tientsin. Peking lies 87 miles beyond Tientsin at the foot of the mountains. Chingwangtao to the north used to be the winter port until the Hai River took a long leap into modernism by acquiring an ice breaker.

Landing of American troops recalls a less pleasant debarkation of Americans 27 years ago. The secret society of the Fists of Righteous Harmony, better known as the Boxers, had inflamed China with anger toward the foreigner, toward treaty ports, railroads, schools and churches. Finally a detachment from the allied warships standing guard off Tientsin began a march to relieve the foreign colony in the capital which had been isolated where rioters cut the Tientsin-Peking railroad.

Broke the Boxer Rebellion

They fought their way to within 23 miles of Peking. The odds were too great. They began to retreat. The whole civilized world was on edge by this time for no news came from the detachment. All the allied commanders except the American then demanded permission to occupy Taku forts which defend the Hai Ho mouth. When the Chinese refused big guns reduced the mud forts. This attack was a signal for the mobilization of a large foreign-drilled Chinese army which fought and lost a bloody battle with the fleet forces in Tientsin itself That allied victory and the second and successful march on Peking broke the back of the Boxer rebellion.

Since Tientsin became a treaty port in 1860 foreigners have been busily occupied in making it one of the most cosmopolitan of cities. Wilhelms Strasse in Tientsin runs into Victoria road which becomes Rue du France. Yamaguchi Gai, of the Japanese Bund frontage, follows the river's curve to where a bridge crosses into Baron Czekam Strasse of the former Austria Hungary quarter, becomes Via Vittorio Emanuelle, in the Italian quarter and a few blocks farther Petersburg Road of the Russian settlement. There is no avenue of the United States in this Chinese city of many nations because Americans content themselves with living in the French and English quarters. Belgium also has large commercial interests in Tientsin but her representatives have named no important streets.

Tientsin affords splendid opportunities for an ambitious real estate salesman. No rosy picture of expansion could be too pink for Tientsin prospects. Even now it has a population of 838,000. The Grand Canal terminates at Tientsin and it has been supplemented by the more important Tientsin-Pukow line over which China's crack Blue Train usually runs from Shanghai to Peking. Productive Manchuria and all north and northwest China ask Tientsin to handle their export business. Hair nets, Chinese carpets, eggs, fresh, dry and otherwise, furs for Fifth avenue, and pig bristles, already come to the United States from Tientsin in large quantities. Business values have already touched $5 per square foot which is high for China.

Witty Professor Gave Nickname to Students

Law students of the freshman class in the University of Texas are designated as J. A.'s. The term is used by all students on the campus, but few of them outside the law school know its import and origin.

When Judge W. S. Simkins was a member of the law faculty, he was explaining one day to a large freshman class some of the weightier matters of the law. It was springtime and the students apparently were thinking more of mapping on the grass in some shady nook than of what the professor was saying.

Suddenly upon the clear air there came the discord of a donkey's bray. Simkins paused in his lecture while the students giggled over the animal's "hee-hawing." When the noise had subsided, Simkins remarked:

"Some poor jackass is calling his long lost brother, so I'll let all of you out to go comfort him." Since then, every fledgling lawyer in the school has been designated as a J. A.—Kansas City Star.

Miles of Thread Used in Clothing Humanity

Statistics show that every inch of cloth contains about 25 threads running downward and the same number running across it, so that a square yard is composed of 1,800 threads, each a yard in length.

The average suit or costume needs four square yards of cloth, so that every man or woman wears something like four miles of wool.

Allowing two sets of clothes a year, we find that each of us uses 400 miles of wool in fifty years.

When we come to linen or cotton goods, with 80 or 100 threads each way to the inch, the total length of threads becomes appalling. A single hand-crochet mat contains 2,400 strands, each 15 inches long, so that 1,000 yards of cotton thread are required to make it.

A skein represents about three miles of thread.

Mercury's Many Uses

Mercury is an element sometimes found native, but mostly derived from cinnabar. Normally, by far the greater part of the world's production of mercury is used in extracting gold and silver from their ores. In 1914 and 1916, owing to the European war, it was used mainly in the manufacture of fulminate for explosive caps. It is also used in the manufacture of drugs, of electric appliances and of scientific apparatus, thermometers, barometers and for making vermilion. Mercury is found in California and Colorado.

The Gentleman that Crosses Every Man's Path---

Nobody can dodge old Father Time. Each of us is a year older each twelve months. Each of us, if fortunate, will finally arrive at that period called, "the sunset of life." Will we arrive empty handed or with sufficient wealth to spend our declining years in comfort and security?

A "building and loan" account is the right answer to that question. It's an ideal way to invest savings regularly. It's safe and the splendid earnings help a lot in increasing the final total.

Relics of Waterloo

Every year in June as the anniversary of the Battle of Waterloo comes around, a Waterloo banquet is held at Apsley House in London, the magnificent home of the Wellingtons, which was presented to the first duke by the nation in 1820. Many priceless heirlooms, trophies presented to the great soldier statesman, are always brought out for the Waterloo banquet. Perhaps the most carefully treasured of all these relics are some artificial flowers, now rather faded, which were among the decorations at the historic ball at Brussels the night before the battle.

THEY DID IT ALONE!

He did it alone.

Captain Charles A. Lindbergh has joined a choice company of solo explorers and adventurers, because "he did it alone."

Dr. David Livingstone, Henry Stanley, Alexander Selkirk (Robinson Crusoe), Captain Joshua Slocum, Captain Harry Pidgeon, Lieut. Andrew S. Rowan, John Colter and Sir Galahad, did it alone.

Adventurers "on their own" have earned the world's best glory wreaths, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Alone in Africa

David Livingstone sleeps in Westminster Abbey because, traveling by himself, he revealed the geography of the dark heart of Africa. David Livingstone was lost three years to the world when Henry Stanley—alone, except for native carriers—cut through the Congo to reach Livingstone at Ujiji and leave supplies and medical equipment for the missionary explorer.

The solo adventurer who carried the message to Garcia, like Captain Lindbergh wore the American uniform. Elbert Hubbard told the story which thrilled and still thrills; how the young officer on the eve of the Spanish-American War took the message from President McKinley for the commander of the Cuban insurgents deep in the trackless forest; how he crossed to Cuba braving capture and death as a spy if caught; how he delivered the message to General Garcia which put hope in the hearts of Cuba.

Sailed Around the World

Difficulty in making a living in New England prompted Capt. Joshua Slocum to embark on an adventure par excellence. Alone he sailed the Spray around the world. Last year Capt. Harry Pidgeon also circumnavigated the world in a still smaller boat, the Islander, a yawl 34 feet long and 10 feet 9 inches on the beam. He returned to Los Angeles, his home port, after an absence of three years, 11 months and 13 days. On one leg of his voyage Captain Pidgeon did not see a speck of land, a sail, nor the smoke plume of a steamer for 85 days.

Courage when it goes alone has ever caught men's imaginations. The early bards gave Galahad, Beowulf and St. George, the dragon slayer, no weapon bearers or assistants. More is the credit to the traveled Gulliver, to the Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court, and to Jack the Giant Killer, in the opinions of enthusiastic readers, because they did their deeds without aid. The boy stood on the burning deck, and the poet, who knew the public's preference for heroes, added, whence all but he had fled.

Many Have Died Lonely

Many lone adventurers have died lonely. This has been true of trail makers in the middle and far West. While Daniel Boone and David Thompson, he who mapped by himself the country between Lake Superior and the Pacific coast, made their chief expeditions with helpers, each traveled much alone. John Colter left an estate of $220 although he accompanied Lewis and Clark and by himself discovered what is now Yellowstone Park. Colter's story shows one of the hazards of traveling alone; no one would believe his descriptions of Yellowstone wonders because he had no partner to confirm them.

In a cemetery in Shanghai stands a solitary headstone to Frank N. Meyer, plant explorer, who by introducing new plant varieties into the United States, did much to promote American agriculture. Although Meyer had Chinese helpers he pursued constructive adventure without white companions and finally sacrificed his life in a Yangtze River accident.

Out in China at the present time is Dr. Joseph Rock, who prefers to travel alone. His hazardous journeys to Tibet and Yunnan have yielded, among other finds, the fruit of the chaulmoogra tree, which has been found to cure leprosy. When Peary discovered the North Pole he had Eskimos with him, but he was the only white man to stand on top of the earth.

Why Defoe Invented "Friday"

Alexander Selkirk's true story proved so pathetically lonesome that Daniel Defoe found it necessary to give him that fictional companion, Good Man Friday, when he wrote "Robinson Crusoe." Selkirk, the real Crusoe, had a misunderstanding with the captain under whom he sailed and asked to be put off on uninhabited Juan Fernandez Island near the Chilean coast. Her British sailors from the "Duke" found him four years later, scarcely able to talk, surrounded by pet goats, parrots and cats. He was dressed in the skins of goats which he was able to catch by his amazing fleetness. A bronze tablet on the island now marks "Selkirk's Lookout."

One non-stop solo trip, not as long as that from New York to Paris, to be sure, but equally as famous, was made between Boston and Lexington by another hero who traveled alone, Paul Revere.

LIANGCHOWFU, WHERE CHINA LOCATES ITS EARTHQUAKES

Liangchowfu, scene of a disastrous earthquake in China, is the second city in importance on the Great Wall of China, according to a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

China has just found this earthquake, says the bulletin. Seismic observatories in various parts of the world reported shocks on May 23. In less than a week the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey, in Washington, D. C., had fixed the area of the shock.

But not until June 21, nearly a month later, did Shanghai get word that Liangchowfu, a large city on the Great Wall of China, had been shaken down by a severe earthquake on May 23.

Liangchowfu is called the "9 by 3" town because its walls, conforming exactly to Chinese standards, measured 4½ li on the north and south and 1½ li on the east and west. Add the parallel lengths together and the mysteriously significant proportion of "9 by 3" appears. Expressed in miles, Liangchowfu is a walled city a mile and a half by a half mile, housing 20,000 families, seven monasteries and eight large temples.

Former Border Fort of China

The fact that Liangchowfu occupies a position on the Great Wall of China, suggests correctly that it was an outpost, a border fort, of China. Perhaps the greatest mystery of all is that news from this town, 900 miles west of Peking and 600 miles from the nearest railroad, should have arrived within a month's time.

No word has yet been received concerning the fate of foreign missionaries in Liangchowfu. Although the number of white people there at the time of the earthquake is not ascertainable, sometime ago two English women were serving there and a bishop of the Roman Catholic Church was directing a mission outside the town.

Liangchowfu feared trouble from quite another source than earth tremors. One of the wonders of the city was a suspended sword which pointed toward a pass in the South Mountains. Out of the pass flowed the waters from melting snow. Citizens believed that as long as the sword pointed in the direction of the pass, flood waters could not enter and submerge their city.

House of the Prayer Wheel

One of Liangchowfu's leading institutions is a Buddhist nunnery housing 2000 women. The favorite temple of the main nunnery is kept securely locked to keep a competing body of nuns from worshipping at the shrine. Three idols occupy the dais, a masculine god flanked by two female gods. As it happens the prayer wheel used by the nuns stands before the male diety.

Liangchowfu nuns go on no errands of charity and mercy. They take no part in educating children nor do they nurse the sick. Their existence is taken up with prayer, burning incense and begging. The few white missionaries in Liangchowfu accomplish more good works in a day than the whole colony of 2000 nuns do in a year.

The Controller of Measles

One feature of the nunnery is the "Controller of Measles," a god which sits at the end of a very dark passage way. The tunnel to the "Controller" goes by the name of "tube for curing measles." Mothers bring children to the nunnery and lead them through the "tube." Apparently the recovery rate from this treatment is not high for along the tunnel are 12 arches for 12 children who have been cured.

China's Great wall at this end was not built with the care and the good material employed nearer Peking. Mostly it was of mud so for many miles it stretches like a grass-grown dike of earth joining larger humps which show where watch towers once stood. Especially in times of raids or calamities produced by Nature, the population of this region has taken up residence in numbers within caves dug out of the rampart's flanks. Liangchowfu was an important station in the old days because it stands on the very edge of the Gobi desert from which the Mongol horde descended. Now it welcomes Mongols, bringing sable skins and other furs—to market.

QUAKE WRECKS CHINA'S WILD WEST

China's newest earthquake region, where more than 100,000 lives were lost on May 23, had already been left largely devastated by war, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

The area that suffered from the recent quake, says the bulletin, lies near the northwesternmost corner of China proper, at the base of the "spout" or "pan handle" of Kansu Province that extends westward between Mongolia and Tibet. With this and the great earthquake of 1920, when the Chinese said "the mountains walked," Kansu becomes the region of the world's most devastating quakes. Six hundred thousand lives were lost in the earlier catastrophe which affected a region 200 miles closer to Peking than the latest disaster.

Kansu Province is a land of Chinese Mohammedans, and their dominance is especially marked in the western part beyond the Nan Shan Mountains. Several generations ago they rose in rebellion against the non-Moslem Chinese and massacred tens of thousands of them. A more recent rebellion occurred in 1895. As a result of this strife western Kansu was largely depopulated in some sections and has never recovered. Kulang, one of the towns said to have been wiped out by the earthquake of last May was already three-fourths in ruins. Throughout the region the traveler comes upon ruined village after village.

Liangchow, with a population of 75,000 or more, was the most important town in the affected section. It is believed to have been demolished. Sisiang and Tumentse, other towns which were shaken down, were relatively small.

The people of the earthquake region seem to have changed their customs after the Mohammedan rebellions and to have discarded village life. The countryside is dotted with fortified farms, where each family and its dependents can defy robber bands. The region around Liangchow is irrigated and is highly productive.

The Objector

At a recent conference held on high Olympus, it was decided to organize a thrift campaign among the immortal gods. The vote was overwhelmingly in favor of the measure, only one deity standing out in opposition.

The solitary objector, known to Olympians as Jupiter Pluvius, was later interviewed by the reporters.

"Personally," he explained, "I never could see the sense of putting anything aside for a rainy day."—Kansas City Times.

CAMP WINCHESTER

Camp Winchester, the camp maintained by the Winchester Council, B. S. A., opened July 30 on the site it has used for the past three years at Northport, Me.

The camp is in charge of Scout Executive Arthur E. Butters assisted by Victor Bridge and Richard Clark as Senior Councillors and George Bartlett, Russell Franklin and Carl Eubanks as junior councillors.

The campers are divided into two teams: the Reds and the Blues and these groups compete in all camp activities.

The Reds have thus far won one baseball game, one game of capture the flag, five days' inspection and were voted to have the better play on dramatic night; total 30 points.

The Blues have won one baseball game, 1 cricket game, two days' inspection; total 16 points.

The campers have completed one week of strenuous activity including one 11 mile hike; one six mile trip and a four mile walk through the rain and are all in excellent condition.

William Higgins is editor of the camp paper and camp supply officer.

Robert Whiting is camp mail officer.

Russell Franklin and Carl Eubanks are the respective leaders of the Reds and the Blues. Richard Clark is in charge of swimming and life saving. Victor Bridge teaches dramatics and Carl Eubanks leads the boys in model yacht building and sailing.

The camps runs this year for four weeks closing Aug. 27. Any Scout in Winchester is privileged to attend for any number of weeks he desires. It is the policy of the Winchester Council to run a first rate camp, charging only a nominal rate and no expense is spared to make this a camp second to none in the privileges it offers.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

The feature pictures for four days beginning Sunday at the University are "The Climbers" with Irene Rich and "Tarzan and the Golden Lion" from the story by Edgar Rice Burroughs. "The Climbers" is one of the very best vehicles given Miss Rich for the display of her verve and charm as well as her skill as equestrienne and markswoman. The scenes are laid in Old Spain at the Court of Ferdinand VII who ruled in the early part of the 19th century, and in that part of America then known as New Spain. The story has to do with the fate of the Duchess of Arrogan, separated from her young daughter, and banished from Spain, through the machinations of a heartless climber, the Countess Veya.

"Tarzan and the Golden Lion" is adapted from the well-known Edgar Rice Burroughs' novel of the same name, the story deals with Tarzan's search for a fabulously rich hoard of jewels, and his rescue of his niece, who has been kidnapped by a slave trader and adventurer who is after the same hoard. Many spectacular scenes with the Golden Lion, a splendid animal which Tarzan has trained as a companion, and the vivid and colorful fight in the Diamond Palace with the gigantic high priest and his cohorts, will be long remembered by the audience.

For the last three days of the week the program includes "Is Zat So" and "Metropolis." George O'Brien, said to be the screen's most perfect athlete has the stellar role of Ed Chick Cowan in "Is Zat So?" the screen version of the James Gleason-Richard Taber comedy-drama. The part of Cowan calls for an all round athlete, a prize fighter who becomes champion and O'Brien with his splendid physique is splendidly fitted for the role "Is Zat So?" includes in its cast, Edmund Lowe, Kathryn Perry, Doris Lloyd, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and other screen favorites.

Borrowing a few loose ideas from H. G. Wells, Jules Verne and Carel Kapek's "R. U. R." the U. F. A. Film Company of Berlin produced a bizarre and fantastic social melodrama dealing with a vast city of the future wherein men are machine and machines are men. It is called "Metropolis" and it may be set down as an entertaining spectacle, more or less fascinating in its grotesquerie and its pictoralization of machines and men and a future age of towering cities that rear their man-made skyscrapers into the clouds and yet have their foundations rising from caverns far below the earth. Here, the new Sheuffan process of camera tricks produces wonders for the eyes of the beholder. Here the whirring machines of the future are made uncanny objects of destruction.

Wild Goats Change Habits

Driven by overpopulation to eating tree bark and seaweed from the ocean, the wild goats of Guadalupe Island are changing their habits and in some respect their form. They are learning to climb leaning trees in search of foliage.

All Food to Ostrich

A zoo ostrich nearly lost its life in an effort to swallow five yards of stout rope. When the keeper made the discovery [illegible] which had been inadvertently left in the cage by a [illegible] had disappeared down the bird's throat. The keeper, seeing that the bird was in difficulties, decided to relieve it of its five-yard meal. Owing, however, to the efforts of the ostrich to kick him away, the task was difficult. By long and steady pulling, however, the keeper eventually recovered the rope. Ostriches are not at all particular what they devour. One at the zoo recently swallowed a boy scout's hat without any ill effects.—London Tit-Bits.

Keys to Ancient Cities

When the mayor of a city today presents a "key to the city" to a distinguished visitor, it means nothing more than an expression of good will, but there was a time when it meant actual access to a city. That was in the days when European cities were surrounded by walls. When such a city was surrendered the keys of the gates were turned over to the conquerors. Gates usually were closed at nightfall and if a distinguished visitor wanted to go and come as he pleased he was entrusted with the key. It is upon this ancient custom that the modern ceremony is based.—Pathfinder Magazine.

TAKING THE CAKE

An ancient marriage custom of merrie old England was to ride for the bride's cake. Mounted competitors would race toward a pole atop of which was a wedding cake. The first one to reach the trophy "took the cake" and returned with it to meet the bride.

A more modern interpretation of the expression is applied to the one who makes a perfect wedding cake. 'Tis a worthy tribute to baking skill to say that the cook "takes the cake." And when an up-to-date heat regulated gas range has really been responsible for the perfect baking of the bride's cake, the cook says that the gas range "takes the cake!"

Whether it be in the baking of the wedding cake, or in the faithful, dependable preparation of three good meals a day, a century-old-industry and a nation full of housewives bear witness to the fact that the modern gas range does "take the cake" as well as "make the cake." A scientific testing laboratory is on the job continuously, keeping the standards of all gas appliances at the highest possible point of efficiency.

"If It's Done With Heat, You Can Do It Better With Gas"

A CAMP FIRE SUPPER

Nothing tastes better than food well planned and carefully cooked over a good camp fire and besides the actual process of cooking the supper is great fun.

You must secure a permit from the local forest warden to build a fire unless you plan to cook your supper on a sandy beach (the portable cook stove is both permissable and efficient). Remember that evergreens and brush, burn quickly with a hot fire, while the hard woods (beech, maple, oak) burn very slowly to form nice glowing coals over which you do your cooking.

Plan the camp fire supper carefully, thereby avoiding any confusion or delay. Make a list of supplies and utensils needed and while packing the food check your items—nothing is more provoking than to lack part of your food or an utensil!

Here is a plan for a camp fire supper for four to be cooked on the beach. The old camp "Kabob," buttered graham bread, pickles or olives, "bread on the stick" and jam. Make the food and utensil list as follows. 1½ pounds of steak, ½ pound bacon, 3 onions, 16 slices of buttered graham bread, olives or pickles, salt and pepper, a box of pancake flour, or better a pail or paper bag of "bread on the stick" mixture (2 cups graham flour, 1 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, and 2 tablespoons sugar, place 3 tablespoons fat in the center of the flour mixture), a tin of strawberry jam and thermos bottles of water. Utensils: 4 spoons, jackknives, napkins and plates if desired.

After reaching the camp site appoint the firemaker and have him gather the wood and make the fire—allow the fire to burn down to coals. Cut 8 green sticks; 4 rather thin ones about ½ inch thick and 4 thicker about 1½ inches thick.

To prepare "Kabob" cut up the meat into about 3-inch square pieces and the bacon in similar size strips. Slice the onion crossway so as to have complete circles of onion. Now place a piece of meat, a strip of bacon and a circle of onion on your stick—followed by a piece of meat, a strip of bacon and more onion. Let it roast over the coals, turning it very often—then place it on a piece of buttered bread and carefully pull out the stick—what a sandwich!

After the "Kabob" is all cooked build up the fire somewhat and wait for more coals. Now for "bread on the stick"—mix the fat well into the flour until it resembles corn meal. Make a hole in the center of the mixture and pour water in there slowly—stirring constantly until the mixture is rubbery but easy to handle. Sprinkle a little flour on the end of the big stick. Pull out bit of the dough out into about a ½ inch thick, 6-inch long ribbon and wind it around the end of the stick. Roast this carefully—when it is done it will be a crispy brown and will easily pull off the stick. Fill the hole with jam and you will think it the best dessert ever!

Clean up is easy—scrape the plates in the sand—burn up all the refuse—pour water and pound sand on the fire.

This kind of a supper is fun for everyone and how good it tastes around the camp fire!

There are innumerable menus for outdoor cooking. Others may be obtained by writing the State Department of Public Health, 546 State House, Boston.

CALGARY: GATEWAY TO THE CANADIAN ROCKIES

Calgary, Canadian destination of the Prince of Wales, whose annual rodeo has again upheld her claim to the title of "Queen of the Wild and Wooly West," is in reality a thriving business center comparable to the magic cities of longer settled parts of the continent, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Born with the advent of the Canadian Pacific Railroad in the middle eighties, Calgary has reached an estimated population of 75,000 and is growing rapidly.

Oldest City in Province of Alberta

Although a mere jumping-off place at the coming of the railroad, and credited with but four thousand inhabitants by the census of 1901, the city's roots strike far deeper into the past. Near-by is the site of Fort La Jonquiere, founded by French explorers in 1752, continues the bulletin. Old Bow Fort, which took its name from Bow River on whose banks the modern town lies for square, was a trading post for many years. The settlement figured in Riel's rebellion of half-breeds and Indians in 1885.

Now the metropolis of a broad grazing country and eastern gateway to the Candian Rockies, Calgary annually links up her picturesque past with a robust present by means of a stampede carnival of frontier sports and cowboy daring.

Prince of Wales' Ranch Near-by

Not far away, on the Highwood River, stretches the E-P Ranch where the heir to the British throne raises blooded cattle by proxy. A contingent from the royal ranch always forms a noteworthy exhibit at the Calgary cattle show, competing for the coveted blue ribbon with many miles of surrounding cow country.

The prairies of southern Alberta, lying more than 3000 feet above sea level are a world-famous ranching range, tempered in the winter by the warming chinook winds, which find their way through the mountain passes from the Pacific coast. Outdoor grazing is possible the year round, thanks to the kindly chinooks, whose dry warm breezes lap up the winter snows. Formerly given over entirely to ranching, this elevated plateau is fast becoming a famous dairy and wheat country, as well.

Calgary, hub of this bustling activity, combines the rough heartiness of her hinterland with a new urban dignity of her own. Like many cities of Western United States, she is laid out in neat geometrical squares, looking from the air like a Titanic cross-word puzzle, only part of whose spaces have been filled in. Far-seeing city fathers surveyed broad avenues on magnificent lines, along which lie pleasant houses of gray-brown sandstone from near-by quarries, lighted and heated by natural gas, another useful local product.

Near the railway rises a 10-story modern hotel, dominating with its height the near-by plains. From its roof one obtains a magnificent panorama of Rocky Mountains saw-toothing the Western skyline.

Gateway to Canadian Rockies

Calgary is the most important commercial point on the trunk line of the Canadian-Pacific between Winnipeg and Vancouver. Here the traveler from the Eastern sea board gets his first whiff of mountain air and here he smacks his lips in anticipation of the approaching joys of Banff and Lake Louise, Mecca and Medina of pilgrims to the northern Rockies. Both are joined to Calgary by first class automobile roads. Banff, with its world-famous springs and resort hotel is 90 miles away, while Lake Louise, reflecting in its crystal clear waters the cold blue magnificence of Victoria Glacier, is the next point of interest beyond.

From Calgary a branch line of the railway runs northward to Edmonton, capital of Alberta and seat of the head of the Province's educational system, said to be the most northern university on the continent, a sort of American Edinburgh. Along this branch line outfits from Calgary head into the limitless forest and fur country of northern Canada, where wolf, bear and Indian still hold undisputed sway.

Calgary, however, has put away these childish things and only reminds herself of them once a year with a strutting of war feathers at her "stampede." To the visitor from "the States" she is a blood sister of Altoona, Davenport and Phoenix. To be sure there are more coon skin coats on the winter streets and a few Indians shuffle through the summer dust, but the main features are one with those of slower growing cities on the southern side of the international line. Movie houses display the same Hollywood films, drug stores offer identical tooth pastes and shaving creams, and quick lunch emporiums feed an equally cosmopolitan public. Automobiles and factories, stores, churches and schools are of the latest and best construction as befits the magic city of a new and rich section of the Dominion.

TRANSOCEAN FLYERS CROSS FLYING BIRTHPLACE

Commander Byrd winged his way over Cape Breton Island, as did Lindbergh and Chamberlin. It is singular that this island, which is seeing all the transatlantic flyers go by, should already be associated with the work of the three men who have done most to make neighbors of the nations—Morse, Bell and Marconi. It also was the scene of early experiments in mechanical flight.

It was on Cape Breton's shores, at Cape North, that the first successful Atlantic cable was landed in 1867, says a bulletin of the National Geographic Society. For years through the lonely north country of the island ran the land line of the cable company—the slender link between continents that united two civilizations.

The laboratories of Alexander Graham Bell at his estate, "Beinn Bhreagh" (Beautiful Mountain), near Baddeck, were for 35 years the center of the great scientist's work of research and experiment in subjects ranging all the way from aerial locomotion to the breeding of a multi-nippled, twin-bearing stock of sheep.

Dr. Bell's work is of special interest to the members of the National Geographic Society, of which he was for many years the president and a member of its Board of Trustees from its founding to his death.

From his boyhood Graham Bell had believed in mechanical flight, and he was working on kite structures when Samuel Pierpont Langley visited him in Cape Breton in 1894. It was Graham Bell who encouraged Langley's work in aerodromics and gave him financial assistance at a time when even the radical minds in the scientific world looked askance at the man who would fly. And he was the sole witness, other than Langley's workmen, of that historic flight at Quantico, Va., in May, 1896, of which Dr. Bell said:

The sight of Langley's steam aerodrome circling in the sky convinced me that the age of the flying-machine was at hand.

For the next ten years Graham Bell devoted himself to the perfection of his tetrahedral kites. On Dec. 6, 1907, the giant Cygnet No. 1 made an ascent of 168 feet above the waters of the Bras d'Or Lake, carrying Lieut. Thomas E. Selfridge, of the U. S. Army.

This was the first machine of the Aerial Experiment Association made by Dr. Bell in 1907 with summer headquarters in Cape Breton, the object being "to get into the air." Associated with him were Lieut. Thomas E. Selfridge, who was detailed by the U. S. Army to assist the experiments; two young Canadian engineers, F. W. Baldwin and J. A. D. McCurdy, and Glenn H. Curtiss, who was the motor expert of the association.

They got into the air. It was with an A. E. A. machine, the "Red Wing," that F. W. Baldwin made the first public flight in America over the ice at Lake Keuka, New York, in 1908—a flight of 318 feet, 11 inches; 20 feet in the air! Then the "White Wing" flew 1000 feet or so, and in the third machine, "The June Bug," Glenn Curtiss won the Scientific American trophy for flying the first measured kilometer under test conditions. And finally came the "Silver Dart," which Cape Breton claims as particularly hers, because in it, on Feb. 23, 1909, J. A. D. McCurdy, a Cape Bretoner born, over the ice of Baddeck Bay, made the first flight in the British Empire.

Its aim accomplished, the Aerial Experiment Association automatically dissolved in March, 1909. This work of 18 months, financed entirely by Mrs. Bell, resulted in the development of features which are fundamental in all modern heavier-than-air flying-machines and it was the apprenticeship of men who were to go far in the art.

Whaleship as a Shrine

The oldest whaleship in the world stands imbedded in a sea of cement at South Dartmouth, Mass. Several persons combined to purchase the old hulk and to fit it out as a memorial to the old whaling industry. It stands as a shrine with a bronze tablet near-by, giving the highlights of the craft's history and the names of the donors who made the memorial possible. It has been fitted out with a number of interesting relics and is open to visitors.

New Name for Old Dish

A correspondent of the Daily Chronicle of London, who traveled by rail from Bucharest to Cracow, writes:

"As is the custom on transcontinental lines, the menu for each meal was printed in the language of the country through which the train was passing at the time. Thus I had selected my lunch in Rumanian, but at dinner was confronted by a Polish menu. I chose 'hemmentex,' which somehow suggested an Esperanto delicacy. What was my delight when a dish of ham and eggs was placed before me!"

Worth-While Writing Never an Easy Task

Writing is a long labor, in one mode or in another; some authors work physically, writing and rewriting, polishing and repolishing, revising and recasting; others sit down, doing nothing for months at a time save call themselves lazy devils, slack-backed good-for-nothings, self-indulgent blighters and similar pretty names, until the stuff that has been fermenting below the surface all the time bursts forth and seems to write itself.

It doesn't matter which mode is used, they are equally hard; nothing is born without pain. And there is more pain in this business of writing than meets the eye, especially the eye of the poor folk who think authorship is an affair of an adventure, pen, ink and a correspondence course. For, while a story may take a month, a year, ten years to write, and block all other activity while it is being written, the author's stomach demands its tribute at the usual times.

He must finance himself, for his stock in trade cannot be inventoried by a banker; obviously, while so doing, he must manufacture his product, for if he falls no one else can do it; and at least he must go forth and be his own salesman.—Adventure Magazine.

SHOWER ARRANGED FOR YOUNG MATRON

Mrs. Thomas W. Dolan of Somerville who before her marriage on July 17 was Miss Winifred Vayo, of this town was tendered a novelty shower Wednesday evening by a large group of friends and former neighbors at the home on Arthur street of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Vayo.

The young matron arrived at her parents' home all unsuspecting the affair which had been arranged in her honor, and her surprise upon meeting so large a gathering in the living room of the house was entirely unfeigned.

She was the recipient of many handsome and useful gifts for which she charmingly expressed her thanks. The Vayo home was artistically decorated in yellow and white, large vases of freshly cut gladioli proving especially effective.

Following the presentation of the gifts an elaborate entertainment program was enjoyed, featuring a playlet in which the parts were taken by Miss Katherine Collins, Miss Margaret Haggerty and Mrs. John McCarthy of Winchester and Miss Ruth Mahan of Lynn. Miss Alice Daley was the accompanist. Miss Evelyn Brown, Mrs. Mollie Maguire, Mrs. Mary McGrath and Miss Frances Doherty rendered vocal solos and Mrs. Thomas Dolan, piano selections. There were duets by Miss Margaret and Miss Gertrude Mawn and dancing specialties by Miss Dorothy and Miss Catherine Collins. A buffet luncheon was served at the conclusion of the entertainment.

The arrangements for the shower were in the hands of Miss Elizabeth O'Melia and Miss Margaret Reardon and all voted their efforts most successful. Both Mrs. Dolan and her husband are popular among the Town's young people, having been graduated from the Winchester High School in 1924. Both were prominent in the school's athletics, Mrs. Dolan as a member of the girls' field hockey team and her husband as a ball player. They are making their home on Magnus street in Somerville.

HEALEY—FLAHERTY

A mid-summer wedding of much interest locally was solemnized in St. Mary's Rectory last Sunday afternoon when Miss Katherine G. Flaherty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Flaherty of 36 Middlesex street became the bride of Francis J. Healey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Healey of 123 Warren street, Arlington. The ceremony was performed at 5 o'clock by the Rev. Fr. John P. Sullivan.

The bride wore a wedding gown of white georgette with a veil of tulle and carried a shower bouquet of bite roses and lillies of the valley. Her maid of honor, Miss Katherine Foley of Winchester, wore turquoise blue georgette with a large black Milan picture hat and carried butterfly roses. Mr. Healey had for his best man Joseph Donovan of Arlington.

A reception for more than 400 guests was held following the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. A wedding supper was served by a caterer.

Upon their return from an extended wedding trip to Canada Mr. and Mrs. Healey will make their home on Bow street at Arlington Heights. The bride is widely known in Winchester and at the time of her marriage was supervisor at the Mystic Telephone Exchange in Medford. Mr. Healey is popular in Arlington and is in the employ of a Lexington automobile concern.

WHITNEY SHOP MEN TO ENJOY OUTING

Tomorrow, Aug. 20, seems destined to be a red letter day in the lives of the shop men employed by the Whitney Machine Company of this town. Plans have finally been completed and on that occasion the first annual outing of the company's employees will be held at Martin's Grove, Billerica.

The Whitney Company has furnished trucks for the ride to the grove and the party is scheduled to leave the center at 8:30 in the morning. A long list of events has been arranged to keep the picnickers busy during the entire day, commencing with a ball game between the old timers and the "young fellers" as soon as the boys lose their sea legs after the truck ride. Races and various novelty sports are on the card and of course there will be the usual sumptious repast at noon. H. T. Lindmark heads the committee in charge of the details.

WINCHESTER ITALIANS OBSERVED FEAST OF THE ASSUMPTION

Two Day Celebration—Parades and Band Concerts—Fireworks Display Magnificent

Without doubt the largest crowd ever to visit Winchester witnessed the display of fireworks last Monday evening on Manchester Field with which the Italian residents of the Town concluded their annual two day celebration in honor of the Feast of the Assumption. The local celebration of this feast day, which is internationally observed by the Roman Catholic Church and which has peculiar significance for Italians, has yearly since its inception, aroused more and more interest until it has come to be one of the high lights of the mid-summer season, not only in Winchester, but throughout the district. With this in mind the committees having charge of the details have striven each year to have their particular celebration eclipse those which had gone before. The program of events being more or less fixed, the effort to improve has come to be centered upon the fireworks with a result that Winchester's displays have always been unique and especially noteworthy.

That of last Monday evening was worthy of high praise. Whether or not it eclipsed its immediate predecessor is immaterial. None in the large throng witnessing the show could disparage its quality. It is possible that the fireworks, stored on the bandstand at Manchester Field during the rainfall of Sunday night may have become somewhat dampened which would account for a rather unusual haziness in some instances. On the whole, however, the display was magnificent, featuring many unusual designs in the set pieces as well as in the rocket bombs.

Certainly the most striking of the former were the displays depicting Lindbergh, the automobile races and the American Flag and Italian Street Girl. The first named sent the big crowd into an uproar as the gleaming replica of the "Spirit of St. Louis" glided across the field to ignite a huge picture of the world's beloved "Lindy," wonderfully distinct and life like. While the band was playing "Auld Lang Syne" the National Emblem in full color slowly came into view upon Lindbergh's breast. The automobile races also aroused much enthusiasm, the fiery little cars running about at a great rate. The last of the pieces mentioned above was one of the most beautiful. When first lighted it depicted a huge American Flag in glowing colors. During its display the band played the "Star Spangled Banner" and the crowd voiced its approval in prolonged applause. As the flag faded and everyone was wondering what the next piece was to be, from the dying colors there slowly emerged a gaily bedecked Italian street girl playing upon a guitar, the whole very clean cut and vivid.

Another very elaborate piece was the replica of Niagara Falls surmounted by the American Eagle. The National Flag was at either side of the gleaming falls and below a United States infantryman standing at salute. The serpentine set piece, changing color four times with most brilliant effects, was another splendid piece as was the Italian flower garden in full bloom. Other displays were of single, double and triple decked gendolas with flying fish disporting themselves about; a mystery wheel with a dozen color changes and a triple tier fountain surrounded with flowers.

The aerial bombs were very beautiful and included several absolutely new designs manufactured especially for the Winchester display by the Centredale Fireworks Company of North Providence, R. I. The finale was the most thrilling ever seen on Manchester Field, its heavy detonations being heard for miles around.

A word about the company producing the fireworks. The announcement in the Star stated that the display would be by the American Fireworks Company of Massachusetts. That was the original plan. Later it was decided to have the concern compete with the Centredale Company for a prize to be decided by the merits of each company's production. This did not appeal to the American Company and it withdrew, leaving the Rhode Island concern in sole charge.

TWO INJURED IN COLLISION ON CAMBRIDGE STREET

Two women were treated at the Winchester Hospital Wednesday afternoon for injuries sustained in an automobile accident on Cambridge street near the residence of Mr. E. R. Butterworth.

The accident occurred when a Ford touring car which was going north and which was being driven by Mrs. Ellie F. Bosthwick of 105 Union street, Watertown, swung out of line to pass a truck, colliding head on with an Essex coach owned and operated by Louise G. McMannus of 293 Williams street, Fall River. Both machines were damaged, the Ford being badly smashed around the front end.

Its occupants, two women and a man besides the driver, Mrs. Bosthwick, were bruised and shaken up. One of the women, Mrs. Florence Field of 105 Union street, Watertown, sustained a possible fractured knee and a cut on the head. She was removed to the Winchester Hospital in the police car by Officer Edward O'Connell and was treated there by Dr. Milton J. Quinn. The others of the party were able to go to their homes.

Following the accident Miss McMannus drove the Essex to Police Headquarters where she asked assistance for Mrs. Mary Anthony of Glen Farm, Newport, R. I., who had been with her in the car at the time of the accident and who complained of injuries to her head and neck.

Officer James E. Farrell accompanied the women to the Winchester Hospital where Mrs. Anthony was treated by Dr. Clarence E. Ordway. After treatment she was allowed to go to her home.

BOARD OF HEALTH APPROVED CEMETERY SITE

The Board of Health has recently decided to approve the site of the proposed Jewish Cemetery which the Winchester Hebrew Associates Cemetery Inc. wishes to establish in the Highlands on the Westerly side of Washington street at the corner of "D" street. The above organization, a Massachusetts corporation with offices at 712 Washington street, some time ago petitioned the Town for permission to establish a cemetery on land which it owns at the mentioned location and after advertising the project a hearing was held by the Board of Health which under the law has to approve all such sites.

At this hearing the Cemetery Corporation was represented by Attorney William E. Ramsdell of Winchester who stated that the Hebrews were desirous of having the same burial privileges in Winchester as those now possible for Catholics and Protestants, these privileges not being possible under existing conditions. Mr. David Katcoff of Washington street substantiated Mr. Ramdell's remarks.

Opposition to the project was voiced by Attorney Phillip J. Gallagher of Woburn, representing Rev. John P. Gerham, pastor of St. Charles Church, Woburn. Mr. Gallagher stated that with some 27 priviate cemeteries already in the district adjacent to the proposed Winchester site, Father Gorham felt that a point of cemetery saturation had been reached there Daniel O'Callahan of Washington street also opposed the approval of the site adding that the food often left in these cemeteries to decay would prove a health menace. Selectman Walter H Dotten also was in opposition to the project.

After closing the meeting the Board of Health decided that the proposed cemetery could not in any way be considered a health menace to the Town of Winchester either from surface drainage or other water pollution and in consequence approved the site as stated in the petition of the Hebrew Associates.

Under Chapter 34, Section 114, of the General Laws, however, provision is made that permission to use a piece of ground for cemetery and burial purposes must come from the Town, or other unit, after the Board of Health shall have approved the site. This will cause the entire proposition to come before the next Town Meeting for the final word in the matter.

UNION SERVICES AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. Herbert S. Johnson, D.D. Preaches Again Sunday

A large summer audience greeted Rev. Herbert S. Johnson, D.D., at the First Baptist Church last Sunday, where he was the preacher at the Union service of Congregational, Methodist and Baptist churches of the town.

In the morning he preached on, "The Real Necessity for a Church in any Community" and in the evening, "Henry Ford or Henry Longfellow" or "Are you a maker of things or a maker of Thoughts?"

Dr. Johnson, who is regarded as one of the most popular preachers of the north will preach again next Sunday. His morning topic will be, "Why do the princes of God walk with a Limp?" and in the evening he will speak on, "People who are like Rats."

The morning service will be at 10:30 and the evening at 7.

Miss Flora MacDonald a gospel singer, who generally assists Dr. Johnson where he preaches, will sing at both services.

ARLINGTON TOWN TEAM HERE SATURDAY

The Arlington Town Team, sponsored by the Middlesex Sportsmen's Association of that town and the present leader of the Mysict Valley Twilight League for the second half of the schedule, will be the attraction against the St. Mary's B. B. C. on Manchester Field tomorrow afternoon.

Winchester has been after the Arlington boys ever since the Spy Pondlers pinned a double trimming upon the locals on Independence Day. Frank Melly has never really believed that the visitors are superior to the St. Mary's outfit and is more than glad of the opportunity to prove his contention.

One thing is certain. It will take something better than indifferent pitching plus shabby support to turn the "Townies" back even in the face of a considerable punch at the top of the local batting order. The fans are growing very weary of seeing players out of position try to play ball behind a pitcher who knows he can't throw them up there. Frequenters of Manchester Field have been patient and long suffering this season and the fact that there was no game last Saturday has whetted their appetites for a real game tomorrow. It would be well for the locals to be as near their best as possible for Arlington.

WINCHESTER MAN'S ENTRY IS ACCEPTED

R. N. Chandler Entered in Lake Ontario Swim

Raymond N. Chandler of Winchester, who last week mailed his entry for the 21-mile Lake Ontario swim to be held Aug. 31, has received word from the Canadian National Exhibition that it has been accepted.

Chandler is continuing with his usual training program which calls for a daily two-hour swim in Wedge Pond, Winchester. Next Sunday he will attempt to swim from Revere to Nahant without attendants. He is well known to many of Winchester's residents as caretaker at the Country Day School on Pine street. Chandler attributes much of his physical fitness to the exercise he gets while keeping the school lawns in order.

LITTLE TO MAR ITALIAN FIREWORKS DISPLAY

With the assembling of such a crowd as that which visited Winchester last Monday evening it is remarkable that so little trouble was reported following the fireworks display and band concert at Manchester Field.

At 10:30 p. m. Frank Ziffina, a barber with a shop on upper Main street reported finding a 3 year old boy who had evidently become separated from his parents during the festivities. An investigation proved the child to be James Kreolsulis of 3 Mann's court, Woburn, and he was taken to his home by Charles Pappas of 17 James street, that city.

Two other boys, Charles E. Pierce, 7, of 198 Main street, Stoneham and Walter Wright, 8 of 6 Albion avenue, Stoneham, were picked up and brought to the station where they admitted that they were lost. They were later restored to their parents by the police.

After the crowd had left Manchester Field several empty billfolds were picked up there and turned over to the police, mute evidence that the crowd had not been entirely free from pickpockets. At 10:30 p. m. Lauri Koski of 115 Main street, Woburn reported that his pocket had been picked while he was getting into a Woburn bound trolley. His pocketbook containing papers and about $50 was taken. E. W. Duncan of 9 Ward street, North Woburn also reported that a spare tire which had been locked on the rear of his machine was stolen sometime during the fireworks. The car was left parked on Mt. Pleasant street.

Only one minor automobile accident was reported during the evening. Wilbur C. Otis of 48 Nashua street, Woburn, complained that his Wolverine sedan which he had left standing in front of the Savings Bank had been damaged when another machine had backed into it during his absence.

Officer Charles Harrold, while on duty in the vicinity of Manchester road, discovered a burning parachute caught on telephone wires on Mystic avenue and later noticed embers from the fireworks smouldering on the roof of a Manchester road house. Chief David H. DeCourcy had taken no chances and had ordered Engine 3 in charge of J. Edward Noonan to a strategic position in that neighborhood while he himself kept a watchful eye on things in the danger zone. With the pump were Captain E. S. Flaherty and Fireman A. W. McKenzie with Callmen John McCarron, Hugh Skerry and E. P. Sullivan. The firemen discovered several bits of burning debris which had fallen upon the houses of Cutting street and Manchester road and in one instance had to raise a ladder to remove a good sized spark. No damage was reported in any instance, and a bomb which exploded on Cutting street also proved harmless.

While directing traffic in the square the attention of Officer John Noonan was drawn to two men who seemed to be having an unusual amount of difficulty in getting their motor car into its parking space. When he arrived to investigate he found them engaged in an alterention with another motorist. After questioning the two first named he escorted both to the Station House where they were booked, charged with drunkenness. The operator of the car, who gave his name as Robert Batten and his address as Wakefield, was also charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor.

Both men appeared in the District Court at Woburn Tuesday morning. Batten was found guilty and fined $75. His companion, John Weddell of Reading, had his case filed.

CARD OF THANKS

The chairman and the committee in charge of the arrangements for the celebration of the Feast of the Assumption wish to thank their American friends and neighbors for the assistance rendered in making this year's celebration so successful. They hope that this co-operation will continue in future years.

SCHOOL DEPARTMENT NOTES

The schools will officially open on Wednesday, Sept. 7.

The Department calls the attention of the parents to the days and hours for the special mental tests given to pupils who are under age. The Department's ruling is that a child to be admitted to the kindergarten must be five years of age on or before Jan. 1 following the opening of school in September. A child to be admitted to the first grade must be six years of age on or before Jan. 1 following the opening of school in September.

If the parent has a child who is not of age to enter, but who believes that the child is more advanced mentally than his age would indicate, he may arrange with the office of the Superintendent of Schools for an appointment for a special mental examination.

The only days upon which the examinations will be given will be as follows: Sept. 1, 2, 3, 6 and 7. Appointments will be made from the hours of 9 to 12 and 1 to 5. The School Department must insist that the tests be given on these days.

All pupils must be vaccinated before entering school. au12-4t

NOTES FROM CAMP WYANOKE WOLFEBORO, N. H.

The finals and semi-finals of the singles tennis tournaments in the three divisions of Camp Wyanoke were held during the past week. The competition this year although not presenting any outstanding stars was very keen and a generally high calibre of tennis was presented.

The senior tournament was naturally the best played one. The finalists were R. Warren of Winchester and H. Foster of Plainfield, N. J. In the first set, Foster setting a fast pace scored 6—2. However, Warren came back strongly and won the last two sets, 6—4, 6—2, thereby winning the title.

The junior laurels have not yet been decided. B. Bentley of Winchester and W. Whittum of Lewiston Me., are the semi-finalists in the upper half. L. Mason of Providence, R. I., earned his place in the finals by defeating A. Temple of Reading, in three hard-fought sets.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

Two cases of Mumps were reported to Maurice Dinneen, Agent of the Board of Health.

Hubert N. Bernard Jr. of Lewis road sustained some bad burns about the arms this week while working upon his automobile.

A STRANGER IN OUR MIDST

He had come all the way from Maine and with the clock showing an even 10 minutes past 2 o'clock on last Saturday morning it is by no means strange that he should have been just a bit uncertain about street locations and that sort of thing. It might be thought remarkable that a stranger should have come as near his destination as the gentleman in question did at so early an hour in the morning. He was, however stumped when Officers Daniel and Mark Kelley arrived in response to a telephone call received at headquarters to the effect that a man and an automobile were acting in a suspicious manner on Madison avenue near Symmes Corner. The suspicious character was more than glad to see the patrolmen and soon satisfied them that all he needed was to be directed to where he wished to go.

BENEDICT LOST TENNIS TOURNEY TO WINSOR

The Benedict Club of this town lost all 9 points in an Old Colony Tennis League match with the Winsor Club of Watertown on the latter's courts last Saturday afternoon. Winsor won six of the matches by play and the seventh, a doubles, by default. Gamage was the only Winchester player to carry his match to odd sets in singles. He evened the play by taking the second set from Young of Winsor, 6—4. The final set, however, was all Winsor, Young winning 6—1.

The feature of the tourney was the doubles match between Caywood and Bruster of Winsor and the Benedict team of Riley and Gamage. The local players after some thrilling rallies won the first set at 9—7. The Winsor team came back to make it all even by taking the second set, 8—6. In the final set Caywood and Bruster proved superior and pulled out without deucing the set, 6—2.

The summary:

SINGLES

Caywood (W) defeated Riley (B) 6—4, 6—2; Perkins (W) defeated Blanchard, 6—3, 6—2; Young (W) defeated Gamage (B), 6—4, 4—6, 6—4; Bartch (W) defeated Symmes (B), 6—4, 6—0.

DOUBLES

Caywood and Bruster (W) defeated Riley and Gamage (B), 7—9, 8—6, 6—2; Perkins and Young (W) defeated Blanchard and Symmes (B), 6—1, 6—2; Bartch and Stewart (W) won by default.

FURTHER TAX REDUCTION ENCOUNTERS OBSTACLES

The peculiar triumph of the Coolidge administration has come in its successive tax reductions. These should now be carried much further. We are already a heavily over-taxed people, particularly if you add state and local taxes onto the federal levy. Under existing burdens we cannot afford to rest complacently.

Further tax reductions are sure to encounter difficulties by reason of the changing attitude of the public, particularly toward military preparedness. The war is partly responsible. The failure of the Geneva conference has also contributed. The public mind is now somewhat militant, if not imperialistic. The great newspapers of the country, like the Chicago Tribune, and the Kansas City Star, and the Los Angeles Times, and the Hearst group, are all beating the drum for a fuller military equipment. That means larger expenditures. Nothing eats up money so rapidly as building cruisers, and going into the labor market, in competition with our industries, to bid for the men to handle them.

Other new expenditures loom large on the horizon. Relief for the Mississippi flood sufferers and plans for flood control will eat into our revenues. Not only must the Mississippi the parent problem, be dealt with, but countless other streams throughout the West and South will seek to have our new flood control plan, whatever it proves to be, made a universal policy; any plan now adopted must apply to the lesser streams everywhere since they periodically present a similar problem. We shall spend much money before we get through with flood control. Incidentally the Boulder Dam project on the Colorado River, which narrowly missed passage at the last Congress, is almost sure to be included in any comprehensive waterways plan now.

Then we have Farm Relief. In whatever form it is undertaken it will cost money. One revolving fund would be only a part of the story. It will build up a bureaucracy at public expense. If President Coolidge with all these demands can continue his record for economy and give us further tax reductions, he will be making a substantial achievement. This is further emphasized by the knowledge that the on-coming Congress is the least favorably situated of any of the four years of an administration for economy. It will be under all sorts of pressure to do things for political advantage, along the flood waters, among the dissatisfied farmers, and in stimulating those industries which have a stake in the preparedness program. All told the outlook is measurably serious.—[Herald.

WOBURN GIRL SHOWERED IN WINCHESTER

Miss Margaret Mills of 17 Buckman street, Woburn, was pleasantly surprised last Thursday evening when she was tendered a novelty shower at the home of Mrs. Peter P. McHugh, 10 Canal street. There was a large gathering of relatives and friends of the young lady who was the recipient of many handsome gifts appropriate to the prospective bride.

After the guest of honor had expressed her appreciation an entertainment program was enjoyed and a buffet luncheon was served.

Miss Mills, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Mills of 17 Buckman street, Woburn is to be married on Sunday, Aug 28, to Mr. John H. McHugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter P. McHugh of 10 Canal street.

A cheap tube can cost you 10 times its price.....

THIRTY-NINE YEARS of tube-building experience has proved to Dunlop that "cheap tubes" do not pay.

That is why Dunlop tubes are made casing shaped. It costs a little more than to build them on a straight pole, as cheap tubes are built.

But a casing-shaped Dunlop tube is strong everywhere. The outside edge is not weakened by excess stretch. The side next to the rim has no wrinkles to crack with age and blow out. A Dunlop tube protects your casing, because it fits. And your casing is worth ten times the cost of the tube.

We strongly recommend a Dunlop tube for every casing

WOMAN'S CHRISTIAN TEMPERANCE UNION NOTES

Members of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union will have a large part on the program of the Congress of the World League against alcoholism at Winona Lake, Ind, Aug. 17-23.

Anna A. Gordon, President of the World's W. C. T. U.; Ella A. Boole, National President; Lenna Lowe Yost, National Director of Scientific Temperance Instruction and many other national officers are among the list of speakers.

Convention of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union will be held at Minneapolis, Aug. 25-31. Grace M. Hamilton of Wedge Pond road, President of Middlesex County, W. C. T. U., will represent the County at Minneapolis. We are glad to contradict the assertion of many people, that all young men are carrying hip flasks, by printing the following resolution of the Society of Christian Endeavor:

Meeting recently in Cleveland the International Society of Christian Endeavor unanimously adopted the following resolution:

Resolved, that the 31st international convention of Christian Endeavor, representing 4,000,000 young people, with an annual growth in membership totaling tens of thousands many of whom will become first voters, puts itself squarely and irrevocably on record as favoring the strict enforcement of all law and especially in favor of the maintenance and support of the Constitution, including its 18th amendment.

We note with deep distress a flagrant disposition on the part of many people to disregard and violate such laws as do not suit their own personal habits or convenience. We regard such an attitude on the part of any of our fellow citizens as most tragic because it undermines the very foundation stones of our national being and welfare.

We take special umbrage over the attitude of older people in attempting to foist upon the younger generation the responsibility for the violation of the prohibition laws. We make bold to say that if the fathers and mothers and the elders of our nation were to set such an example before young people as the age and experience of the former would surely demand and justify, the youth of our land would constitute no unusual problem in this respect.

We note with peculiar satisfaction that the unchallenged records of many of our educational institutions show that there is a steady diminution in the amount of drinking on the campus and that even though a noisy and selfish minority still persists in violating the law of the land, as well as their own best interests, the overwhelming proportion of the student body is not engaged in law breaking.

We call upon the alumni of our various colleges and universities to rise above the practises in which, unfortunately, too many of them have engaged in bringing back to the campus the outworn and illegal habits of the past generation.

As Endeavors, we not alone avow ourselves in hearty sympathy with the Constitution, including the 18th amendment, because it is the law, but because we believe it is the best law yet framed. We also believe that self-supporting legislation, both national, state and local, ought to buttress the Constitution, and we profess ourselves as unalterably opposed to any dry amendment to the so-called Volstead Act that would weaken its power.

Furthermore, we announce our determination to see that so far as our votes and influence are concerned the enforcement of the law shall be in the hands of those who both politically and personally believe in it, and are conscientiously supporting it.

We call upon the great political parties for an unhesitating and clear cut declaration of their principles upon the matter of constitutional prohibition, and for the nomination of such men as can be trusted to support the Constitution and its accompanying statutory legislation.

WORK STARTED ON HOSPITAL ADDITION

President Harold S. Fuller of the Winchester Hospital corporation has signed contracts for the first step in building the new addition to the Winchester Hospital. Work on the addition was started this week. The first step in the enlargement consists of the erection of a large wing facing Highland avenue.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

A screen play as delightfully refreshing as it is intriguingly novel in development of plot is now being presented at the cool Granada Theater in Malden. It is "The World at Her Feet," starring beautiful Florence Vidor, in the role of a successful woman attorney who caps her career by arresting the lapsing affections of a husband who is about to stray. The plot is based upon the idea that "any clever woman can get a man in wrong." The truth of this assertion is forced home upon the spectator in a manner that caused newspaper critics to pronounce "The World at Her Feet" 100 per cent entertainment. The usual five act program of vaudeville boasts of a comedy team that is certain to keep any audience in roars of laughter. Edward Yeoman's and Lizzie, presenting their own comedy creation, "Information Please" is the act in question. Mr. Yeoman has been one of the brightest lights on the vaudeville stage for years and his offering for this season is the biggest laughing hit of his career. Four other acts will be presented together with the Granada Symphony Orchestra and organ specialties by Roy Frazee.

Colleen Moore, the prima donna of pep and the favorite star of countless thousands, comes to the Granada next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in "Naughty But Nice" her newest picture. Advance information gives the tip that this is the finest concoction of merriment in which this favorite star has appeared. Colleen plays the part of a little girl from Texas who is sent East to finishing school after the finding of oil on the ranch. She knows her cattle but finds that this does not help much in a drawing room. The pranks in this high hat school provide many of the laughs. Briefly, "Naughty But Nice" is great summer entertainment. The usual five act program of vaudeville will also be offered on the first half of next week.

Johnnie Hines in "All Aboard" will be shown at the Granada next week on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

BOWDOIN SQUARE THEATRE

Another pleasing and entertaining picture and vaudeville bill will hold forth at the popular Bowdoin Square theatre beginning Monday. The big feature for the week will be, "Is Zat So" with George O'Brien in the role of fighter and the supporting cast will include, Edmund Lowe and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., who is a counter-part of his famous father. The story is one that deals with prize fighters and their entry into high society. This is the same offering that had such a long and successful run both in New York and London. Another picture will be the Metro-Goldwyn offering, "Women Love Diamonds" a sensational story of the present jazz age with a cast that contains, Pauline Starke, Owen Moore, and Lionel Barrymore. At St. John will delight in, "Roped In" while the Pathe News and five selected vaudeville specialties will round out a delightful program. Bargain night comes Friday with extra acts. Sunday concert at 3.

Free parking service to Bowdoin patrons.

MURPHY WON HANDICAP MEDAL AT COUNTRY CLUB

Dr. E. Russell Murphy turned in the best net for the 18 holes medal handicap golf tournament held at the Winchester Country Club last Saturday afternoon, his card reading 85—66. Lowell Smith with 106—68 had second best net. R. L. Smith with a 79 had best gross.

The scores:

18 Holes, Medal Handicap
E. R. Murphy	85	66
L. Smith	106	68

TOOK PASSIONIST VOWS LAST SUNDAY

Thomas A. Drohan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Drohan of Nelson street was professed in the order of the Passionist Fathers at the Springfield Monastery last Sunday. Upon taking the vows of the order the young man assumes the name of Confrater Athanasius, and upon ordination to the priesthood will be known as Father Athanasius. Confrater Athanasius has studied at the Holy Cross College at Dunkirk and at the Passionist Novitiate at Baltimore. He is a brother of Edward E. Drohan, the Boston Post police headquarters reporter.

BOILED MILK SAFEST

"Boil the baby's milk and be on the safe side" says the Massachusetts Department of Public Health in its series of summer suggestions. Diarrhoea and other troubles peculiar to warm weather are the leading causes of deaths of infants during the summer months.

The city baby's milk has traveled hundreds of miles, and is never less than 24 hours old, and it may be several times that age when he drinks it. Although this milk has been properly pasteurized some of the bacteria present may have brought about changes in the composition of the milk, which are practically harmless to the adult but oftentimes upsetting to the infant. The only absolutely safe milk—is boiled milk.

Babies in the country are oftentimes less fortunate than city babies. Their milk is seldom pasteurized and consequently country mothers should take this special precaution. Boiled milk is the only safe milk.

Consider the recent epidemic of typhoid fever in Montreal. Remember that every outbreak of typhoid fever leaves about 10 per cent of those who recover from the disease, or who are able to throw off the infection without getting sick, capable of conveying the disease to others for some time afterwards. Wherever there is a carrier there is always a possibility of infecting the water, milk or food supply.

Boiled milk, contrary to popular notion, is not constipating. Boil the milk for five minutes, cool at once and keep in the ice chest. The daily orange juice for the infants and increasing amounts of vegetables, whole grain cereals and fruits for the older children, takes care of any vitamin deficiency which might be brought about by the boiling process.

Boiled milk, then, helps to prevent summer diarrhoeal conditions but more significant; it is a safeguard against typhoid fever.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Real goodness, efficient, beneficent goodness, never come as a bargain, but by struggles.

The man who is afraid to face the light will never get ahead of his shadow.

Omit no opportunity for doing good, and you will find no opportunity for doing ill.

Saving up for a rainy day is fine, but don't fail to enjoy the sunny ones also.

We can all get farther by improving ourselves than by trying to improve others.

Many a man has held the key to success, but lacked the gumption to turn it.

Several grown-ups were treated to a first rate example of patriotism and given some sound advice by a younster who was gazing round eyed across the Aberjona at the fireworks display last Monday evening. A set piece had just been touched off, depicting our Country's Flag in vivid colors and the band was playing the opening bars of the "Star Spangled Banner." The kiddie, a boy of perhaps eight or nine, upon hearing the music, scrambled quickly to his feet and was standing rigidly at attention when a man seated on the bank in the rear admonished him in no uncertain terms to "SIT DOWN." Sturdily the youngster faced the grown-up. "Don't y' hear what they're playing?" he piped wrathfully. "You'd better stand up yourself—and (as an after thought) take off your hat." Isn't there an expression somewhere which says, "Out of the mouths of babes, etc.?"

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

The feature picture at the University for four days beginning Sunday are, "The Brute" with Monte Blue and "Shamrock and the Rose." "The Brute" is among the really great interpretations of the old days of the Far West. There are the gold rush and the oil-rush, rodeos and lariats and bad men, Indians, sands, and sage-brush, fights and faro, loves and ladies, all the razzle, dazzle of it, and the humanity, too! Leila Hyams as the dance hall girl fought for and won, by the brute, is very lovely. Clyde Cook, known as one of the funniest comedians of the vaudeville stage, is cast as Oklahoma Red, a prospector who strikes pay dirt.

"Shamrock and the Rose" is an adaptation of the Broadway stage success of the same name by Owen Davis, author of "The Nervous Wreck." In addition to Edmund Burns and Olive Hasbrouck, the cast includes Mack Swain, Maurice Costello, Dot Farley, William Stranss, Leon Holmes, Cey Watson, Otto Lederer and Rose Rosonova.

For the last three days of the week the offerings are Reginald Denny in "Fast and Furious" and Gary Cooper in "The Last Outlaw." "Fast and Furious" is the screen version of an original short story by the star himself. The picture certainly does not belie its name. There isn't a dull moment in it. The action is fast, and the fun is furious. The irrepressible Denny comes to grips with a situation that calls for an exhibition of nerve, finesse and adroitness and he comes out on top with his customary sang fraid.

"The Last Outlaw" is a vivid, slashing, outdoor melodrama of villainy, heroism and romance on a Texas cattle range. Cooper's rangy build and dynamic personality fit him ideally for his role as a hard-riding deputy sheriff.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Miss Louise DeCamp of Highland avenue returned Sunday on the "Carmania" from an eight weeks' tour in Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Stone who have been vacationing at "The Samoset" in Rockland, Me., have returned and are now registered at the Belmont, in West Harwich.

Miss Evelyn Toppan returned Saturday from a two-months' tour in England, France, Belgium, Holland, Switzerland and Germany.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Heath of Everell road are vacationing in Holderness, N. H.

Miss Ethel Drinkwater entertained Miss Lytle Townsend of Belfast, Me., over the week-end.

Dr. Milne Blanchard of Glengarry who is spending a month in Shelbourne, Nova Scotia, is entertaining Mr. Ferdinand Hawley for two weeks.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

A veteran policeman, Officer James Donaghey of the local department claims it is always possible to run into something new in his line of work. Tuesday of this week he was approached by a local man who was much excited over the fact that his automobile had been stolen in broad day light from the centre while he was getting a shave. Officer Donaghey was also a bit non-plussed. Few cars have been removed from the square under the very eyes of the law as it were. A thorough search was instigated but to no avail and other towns were notified to be on the watch for the machine. Later the car owner approached Officer Donaghey and after swallowing several times admitted that he had left his car in a local repair shop that morning and forgotten all about it. You can tell one now.

Miss Anna Oliver, assistant Librarian at the Winchester Library is enjoying a vacation at Hampton Beach.

William Nowell, popular member of the Water Works force, is spending a week at Hyannis.

Mrs. William H. Hevey and her sister, Miss May Foley of Canal street motored to Bristol, R. I., on Monday for a week's stay.

The police have been notified that one of the front windows in the office of the American Express Company was broken during the night of Aug. 15.

The Fire Department was called at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon by an alarm from Box 35 to put out a fire in a hay shed on the premises of 99 Swanton street occupied by Albert McCall. The blaze was soon extinguished, the chief damage to the building and its contents coming from smoke and water.

While riding a bicycle south along Main street last Monday, John Shea of 41 Ellis street, Woburn, struck the end of a Ford truck which, also going South, was making a right turn into the Colonial Filling Station to the North of the square. The truck, the property of the Town of Winchester, was driven by Andrew J. Dalton of 54 Richardson street. Young Shea was cut about the left eye and upon the elbow and knee. He was able to proceed, however, without treatment.

Mrs. Fred H. Bradford of Mystic avenue has been entertaining her brother, Mr. Albert M. Horle of Gatun, Canal Zone, Panama, for the past month. Mr. Horle, with his niece, Miss Marjorie Bradford, is at present enjoying a motor trip in the White Mountains, having toured the Adirondacks and Canada with stops at Buffalo, Niagara Falls and Thousand Islands. The former is to attend a Labor Conference in Detroit on Labor Day and will return to Winchester through Ohio, Pennsylvania, Washington and New York.

At 2:15 Thursday morning Officer John Dempsey of the police discovered that a water pipe had burst in the home of Jane E. Dodge at 13 Sheffield road. Superintendent Harry Dotten of the Water Department was notified.

Officer James Farrell was the complainant in the District Court at Woburn Monday morning against four motorists charged with speeding on Main street. Three were found guilty and fined $10 each. The other case was filed. One of the speeders had an additional fine of $25 imposed for refusing to stop for an officer. The latter, a Charlestown man, was caught by Officer Farrell after a chase in a commendeered machine.

Mrs. J. H. Tolman and daughter, Laura, of Washington street have returned to Winchester from a ten day's motor trip through Maine. On their return they were accompanied by Mrs. Tolman's brother, Mr. B. F. Collamore of Rockland, Me., and his grandson.

Daniel Kelley of the firm of Kelley & Hawes brought into the Star Office on Tuesday a section of a whetstone which he had taken from the heart of the old elm which has recently been removed from Vine street by the men of the Tree Department. The tree had originally been divided into three or four trunks and some one while mowing in the vicinity had evidently placed his whetstone for safe keeping in one of the crotches thus formed. The trunks had gradually converged until the stone became firmly embeded in the tree. If the bit of stone could talk, it might tell an interesting story of former times in the community.

It is reported in sporting circles that Harold "Lefty" Hatch, crack southpaw and captain of last season's baseball team at the Winchester High School, has signed to pitch with the Highland Midgets Club of Woburn, a member of the Mystic Valley Twilight circuit. The lanky forkhander should show plenty good enough form to win in front of the support the Midgets will give him.

B. & M. TO USE TRUCKS LOCALLY

The Boston and Maine Railroad is going to reorganize and expedite its small lot freight service by using motor trucks to carry merchandise between outlying stations and its newly equipped Boston freight terminals at the Northern Artery. The object of the change, it is stated, is to give a better service and thus to regain for the railroad business which has been lost to private and public motor trucks.

Beginning next Monday the railroad's motor truck operations will be coordinated with through freight car service at the Northern Artery terminals, which will give small lot shippers and consignees 24 to 72 hours faster service on merchandise bound to or from points in New England, in the West and South. In some instances, the new arrangement will involve a saving of present trucking costs to the shipper or consignee.

The regularly scheduled motor truck service will operate between the modern terminal at Northern Artery and Woburn, Waltham, Everett, Chelsea, Cambridge, Stoneham, Watertown, North Somerville, Malden and Winchester, with direct tieins with through freight cars to and from important distributing centers. Within a few weeks the plan will be extended to Melrose, Reading and Wakefield, and eventually to other cities in the Greater Boston area and elsewhere in New England.

The new arrangement will effect a substantial improvement over the present conditions under which such shipments now are either forwarded to transfer points like Salem and Nashua before being put into through cars to destination, or are being lost to the railroad because of the delays involved.

The rearrangement of service, should also effect a reduction in street congestion, it is felt, by consolidating in a few trucks under regular schedules the scattered merchandise shipments which now move separately in privately-owned trucks and others. The trucking under the Boston & Maine system will be performed by present trucking concerns under contract to the Boston & Maine Transportation Company, so there will be no multiplication of vehicles and congestion and waste may be avoided.

The truck will leave Winchester freight station at 3:30 p. m. with shipments for delivery to through freight cars at Boston. From the Northern Artery terminal, the trucks will deliver freight at the Winchester freight station at 2:10 p. m.

C. D. OF A. NOTES

The Court held a very enjoyable social evening in Lyceum Hall last night when many of the members' friends attended and partook of the Court's hospitality. As a result of the evening's entertainment the charitable fund is considerably larger.

On Sunday last the Court enjoyed its annual outing at Grape Island making the trip by autos and buses over the road to Ipswich where a chartered river boat was waiting to carry us to the picnic ground. For help in trasportation we are indebted to the following friends of the Court who gladly gave their cars and services. "James Maguire, "Tom" Kean, "Ben" Welch, "Babe" McDonald, John Murray and "Pat" Lynch. And for services rendered at the wharf in caring for the younger children, on the boat and at the grounds where they helped with chairs, tables serving and also with the sports and games, we are grateful to the following: "Ed" McKenzie, "Bill" Crilley, "Pat" Powers; John Leary, "Eddie" Dinneen, "Charlie" Gallagher. Frank Nowell, "Joe" O'Connor and "Norbie" Smith. The two last named were not only of great help, but were the life of the party. It was indeed a lucky wind that blew "Norbie" into our party that day for he not only assisted by sitting on the top-mast of the boat and locating rocks and shoals in the shalow water, but seemed to be everywhere that anyone wanted assistance.

Those who contributed to the concert were: Mollie Maguire. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. O'Connor, Miss Katharine F. O'Conner, whose original song was a decided hit; Mrs. Mary McGrath, W. E. McDonald, James Maguire and little Mary Jack King whose dancing delighted us all. Miss Bernice Connell of Court Stoneham presided at the piano.

The sports in charge of Jane King and Katharine Welch were very successfully carried out with the following carrying off the honors:

100 Yard Dash for Ladies weighing over 150 pounds. Marie Crilley 1st; Margaret McGonigle, 2nd.

100 Yard Dash for ladies of lesser weight. Miss Christine O'Melia, 1st; Mrs. Margaret Donovan, 2nd.

100 Yard Dash for girls. Ruth O'Neil, 1st; Mara McDonald, 2nd; Mary Donovan, 3rd; Frances O'Brien, 4th.

50 Yard Dash for little tots. Jack Fealy, 1st; David Welch, 2nd; Margaret Mary McDonald, 3rd; Mary Jack King, 4th.

The clam bake, hot and appetizing, consisting of steamed lobsters, clams, potatoes, frankfurts, potato chips, rolls and coffee, met everyone's expectations and the ride home by moonlight with happy voices raised in singing old-time songs was one that will not soon be forgotten. "Bill" Crilley made a hit as song-and-cheer-leader and certainly contributed his share to the party's success.

When the party reached the wharf at Ipswich where we must needs separate to board our various autos and buses, "Bill" Crilley, standing on a very prevarious-looking post at the edge of the wharf, called for three rounds of cheers, one for Captain Peabody, one for the Court and G. R. Minnie O'Connor and one for P. G. R. Elizabeth C. McDonald, Chairman of the outing committee.

Then came the work of transferring the pails and boxes of clams from the boat to the buses; then the same old yearly wind-up, standing in a circle with the kiddies in the middle, singing the C. D. of A. favorite, "Good Night, Ladies."

So ended our ninth annual, the most successful of our outings.

EMBLEM CLUB AFFAIRS

As many of the members have become lugubrious over the lack of social activities during the summer, a special home party has been arranged by our very willing sister, Mrs. Beatrice J. Lord for next Thursday evening, Aug. 25, at 16 Hancock street. Let's all go, and show our appreciation of the hospitality extended at this dullest of all times.

A trip by auto to Providence is scheduled for next Monday, Aug. 22. The hostess for the affair is Mrs. Mary DeMauris. The plans are all made for a shore dinner and the crowd is on tiptoe to go. But how are they to get there without autos? Those who intend to make the trip should notify Chairman Annie M. Hanlon, tel. 1649-M and let her know how many autos will be placed at the disposal of the guests?

It's a terrible thing to have a trusting disposition these days when trust has gone into the discard and everything is "cash and carry." The scribe's trust in sisterly kindness got a huge jar last Tuesday night when she attended the rehearsal of the drill team expecting to spend a happy evening censuring the efforts of the awkward squad and, instead got run in as a substitute. After two hours of the intensive training handed out by Drillmaster "Martie" McDonough, one isn't nearly so chesty. In fact, the only thing that the novice is aware of after a certain stage is feet—just feet. Thankse, the ranks are not open to officers of the Club! Thereafter the "regulars" should make every effort to attend, not only for the sake of the unwary substitute but to forward the work of the drill master who is giving his valuable time freely. And it's a dandy team—without the substitutes of course—and one that is going to make Elkdom sit up and take notice. Now all stand-by for the next rehearsal, scheduled for Wednesday night, Aug. 24. And listen, girls! The one and only member of the Revere Emblem Club will be present to inspect the team and, incidentally, "vamp" the drill master. At the present time this lady is making a prolonged stay at the home of Mrs. Ethel Horn and is quite willing to out-stay her welcome to show the sisters something in the way of real style.

Of all the Club's vacationists, the members will rejoice to hear that Sister Mary Whelan and the baby whose life was despaired of a short time ago are getting a real rest-cure in a bungalow at Worcester. Rosy-cheeked and husky is young "Charlie" now, and if he keeps on gaining weight his garments will have to be changed to boy-size. Cards of congratulation may be sent to mother and baby at 4 Mower street, Worcester.

WINCHESTER TENNIS PLAYERS AT TEDESCO

Several of Winchester's young tennis players participated in the North Shore Junior Tennis Tournament at the Tedesco Club, Swampscott, this week. Among them were Nancy Bradlee, Frances Pettingell, Louise Packer, Caroline Mercer, Francis Smith, Sidney Paine, Lawrence Freeburn, Frank Carleton, Edward Pugh, Lawrence Palmer and "Buddy" Boutwell.

All of the local entrants showed well and several survived the earlier rounds. In the junior girls' singles, Louise Packer has survived the semi-finals and will play in the final matches today. Frances Pettingell was put out in the quarter finals by Marion Duane of Manchester whom Louise Packer defeated in the later round. Nancy Bradlee went out in the second round, falling before her sister "Townie" Frances Pettingell. In the girls' singles the latter showed a better all around game than in the juniors, playing through to the semi-finals before losing to Betty Pope of Bass Rock. Louise Packer was eliminated in the second round of the girls' singles.

In the boys' singles Sidney Paine went along nicely to the quarter finals before losing to Fred Lawson of Dorchester. "Buddy" Boutwell was put out in the second round.

Though defeated in the second round of the junior boys' singles, Lawrence Freeburn gave Arthur Noble of Newton, last year's double champion, a great fight before he finally succombed 6—1, 13—11. Frank Carleton and Edward Pugh also dropped out in the second round. Francis Smith went along to the quarter finals before being defeated by John Lorenzen of Hingham.

Two Winchester girls, Louise Packer and Caroline Mercer, will meet in the final round of the girls' doubles. The former is paired with Betty Pope of Bass Rock and the latter with Mary Russ of Swampscott. Lawrence Freehurn and Lawrence Palmer got as far as the semi-finals in boys' doubles. Louise Packer, Frances Pettingell and their respective partners have survived the third round in mixed doubles with Edward Pugh and Caroline Mercer and partners dropping out in the same play. Louise is paired with William Porter while Frances is playing with John Lorenzen.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

Marriage intentions have been filed with the Town Clerk by Joseph Petrucci of 10 Hart street, Wakefield and Josephine Chefalo of 1 Cedar street.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Besides playing in the North Shore Junior Tennis Tourney at Tedesco, Swampscott, this week, Louise Packer, Winchester's junior net star, is appearing in the tournament at the Eastern Yacht Club, Marblehead. She has survived the early rounds of play.

James H. Fitzgerald of Winchester place who has been confined for some time in the Winchester Hospital following an operation for acute appendicitis was able to return to his home this week.

The Finance Committee at its meeting last Monday evening voted to transfer $300 from the reserve fund to be used by the Board of Health in the cleaning of the Town's streams. Considerable worth while progress in this project has already been made.

The Park Board is now facing the problem of preventing out-of-town enthusiasts from monopolizing the Town's tennis courts on Palmer street.

What Franklin Said in 57 words

We doubt if anyone has ever set forth more forcibly such sensible advice. Franklin said:

"Save a little of thy income, and thy hide-bound pocket will soon begin to thrive and thou wilt never cry again with an empty stomach; neither will creditors insult thee, nor want oppress, nor hunger bite, nor will nakedness freeze thee. The whole hemisphere will shine brighter, and pleasure spring up in every corner of thy heart."

There was the usual large attendance, with a number of visitors from Reading, Arlington and Woburn.

ONE OF WORLD'S LONGEST BRIDGES TO REACH TO RUGEN

The Baltic Island of Rugen, soon to be connected with the German mainland by one of the longest bridges in the world, is a favorite playground of vacationists from northern Europe as well as an important link in the shortest rail route from Berlin to Stockholm, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Land of dark beech forests from which bold white cliffs jut into the sea, of broad meadows, quaint villages and sandy beaches, Rugen forms a summer paradise, where pagan legend and medieval history give depth and meaning to a varied landscape.

Largest German Island

Rugen's total area comprises more than 375 square miles, making it the largest island of Germany, continues the bulletin. It is separated from the Pomeranian coast of Prussia by the two-mile-wide Stretlasun and is of extremely irregular shape, having long, curving promontories with deep bays and broad backwaters which give a varied and diversified beauty to the scenery.

Entered by City of Stralsund

Gateway to this summer playground is the historic city of Stralsund, on the mainland, from which terminus trains of the Berlin main line are ferried in sections to the island itself, where the railway continues, to connect at Sassnitz with the steamship line from Sweden. Stralsund, next to Lubeck, was the most important Hanse town on the Baltic. It is entirely surrounded by water, and during the Thirty Years' War its inhabitants successfully resisted a 10 weeks' siege by the relentless Wallenstein, who had sworn to take it, "though it were chained to heaven."

With ancient fortifications demolished or converted into parkways, Stralsund is still a joy to lovers of quaint architecture. Tall, gabled houses elbow one another above narrow, cobbled streets; Gothic churches with storied pasts invite the pious to worship; and a town hall dating from the 13th century fronts its splendid facade upon the market place.

Climate Tempered by Gulf Stream

From Stralsund's historic picturesqueness the visitor turns to the Island of Rugen itself, lying across the narrow strait. Although in approximately the same latitude as Labrador and Kamchatka, Rugen indulges in none of the rigors of climate of those far northern regions, thanks to the influence of the Gulf Stream upon Baltic waters. Winters are cold, to be sure, but summers are almost Mediterranean. Day after day jellyfish float placidly in a sea of deepest blue while gentle ocean breezes stir forests of beech and pine.

The western part of the island is low-lying, with meadows of sea-grass, far-stretching sand beaches and rolling dunes, among which nestles an occasional fishing village. Rising toward the east into higher country, Rugen thrusts a bold and indented coast to the sea. Great white cliffs fall sheer to the water's edge. On one summit, offering a magnificent panorama of ocean and sky, Charles XII of Sweden is said to have had his chair placed so that he could watch a naval battle between his followers and the Danes. For long stretches of its history Rugen was under Swedish rule, and many Swedish customs survive among the habits of its quaint country folk.

Pagan Legends

Deep in the forests behind the cliffs is a black and silent pool whose traditions date back to heathen Germany. According to the Roman historian Tacitus, this pool was sacred to the godddess Hertha, mother of the earth, and here human sacrifices were offered in her honor.

Along the rocky and forested southeastern and eastern coasts lie the vacation resorts that have made Rugen famous. Putbus is the ancient seat of the princes of that name. Vilm, Gohren, Sellin, and Binz each draw their summer thousands. Sassnitz is the largest town, and it is from here that the train steamers depart for Trelleborg on the opposite Swedish coast. Terraced hotels, handsome villas, and gay out-or-door restaurants with band stands give Sassnitz the air of a true summer metropolis.

The Central Farm Lands

The rail route from Sassnitz lies through the farming country of the island to Bergen, the capital, and thence to Altefahr where the ferry carries trains bodily to Stralsund. This inland country is typical of the farm lands of northern Prussia and southern Sweden. There are broad, flat fields of rye, wheat, and sugar beets, dark forests, and wide meadows with slow-moving horses and cows dotted about. There are quaint farm villages and cheerful peasants who cling tenaciously in the more outlying parts of the island to the dress and customs of the past. From this sturdy stock near the village of Sheritz came the venerable German patriot and poet of the last century, Ernst Moritz Ardndt, who accomplished so much toward the abolition of serfdom in Sweden and Prussia.

A little world within itself, of cultivated farms and storied hills, of rugged cliffs and bathing beaches, Rugen, soon to be united to the great world by modern engineering skill, still dreams away its summer hours unmoved by approaching commerce

The Commander

It was early in the morning. He flung open the massive portals sweeping the interior with a piercing glance. Ten men sprang to their places and came to a swift attention, before his severe scrutiny. There was a tense silence—no word was uttered. He calmly passed down the row of uniformed men standing at attention.

Then, with a sudden energy, he flung off his hat, threw off his coat, and cast off his collar. He swung around, he faced the waiting line. His face was dark, and his glance was keen and stern. He picked his man. He advanced with a firm but cautious tread. He stopped two feet away. In a low voice, full of meaning, he said: "I want a shave and a haircut."—Michigan Gargoyle.

First Newspaper

The first newspaper was the Gazetta of Venice issued in 1563 during the war with the Turks. It received its name from the small coin, called gazetta, the price charged for the privilege of reading it.

Mean Remark

Perhaps the meanest thing we ever heard one neighbor woman say about another was this, which we happened to hear yesterday: "She couldn't get through Ellis Island."—Ohio State Journal.

Grocers Long Established

The early history of the wholesale grocery business is confined principally to England. The immediate forerunner of the grocer was the pepperer or spicer, whose trade was well established in London by 1180. The earliest use of the word "grocer" occurs in 1310 in the city record report of London. During the Middle ages all trades were formed into guilds, and therefore the Grocers' company of London was founded in 1345. From this time the growth of the trade was rapid.

Loathsome Affiliation

"Comprachicos" was the name adopted by a nomadic affiliation, famous in the Seventeenth century in Europe. This band of persons made a practice of buying and selling children. These children were by means of surgical operations deformed and disfigured so that they assumed certain peculiarities, which provided the humor demanded at the time. The organization had its own laws, oaths and formulas, and was found principally in England, Spain, France and Germany. The name is a compound Spanish word meaning "buyers of little ones."

WINCHESTER ITALIANS OBSERVED FEAST OF THE ASSUMPTION

Again, the di-play had been advertised to begin at 10:30 p. m. This also had been originally planned for. Popular opinion, however, seemed to be that such an hour would bring the fireworks to far into the night and in response to what it felt was a real demand the committee set the hour ahead. The decision to do so came too late to notify the papers of the change.

During the evening the Roma Band of Boston played a concert program from the bandstand on Manchester Field, commencing at 7 o'clock and continuing until the conclusion of the fireworks. This year the musicians played during the entire display, a new feature which was appreciated.

Monday was ushered in with the bang of a salute bomb at 7 in the morning, the salutes being repeated at noontime and at 5:30 in the evening. The Roma Band arrived in town at about that time and paraded through the principal streets of the Italian Section before commencing its concert on Manchester Field. The usual religious services in honor of the Feast of the Assumption were held in St. Mary's Church during the morning.

Sunday's program opened at 9 o'clock in the forenoon when the Chiusano Band of Boston arrived in Winchester and paraded through the Italian Quarter. The big parade of the festival took place at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, forming at St. Mary's Church and taking a line of march through the square by way of Washington and Mt. Vernon streets to the Italian Section via Main and Swanton streets. The return to the church was along Washington street. Everywhere in the Italian Quarter the streets were gay with flags and the houses were in many instances decorated in the Italian and American colors.

The roster of the parade included the police escort, followed by the chairman of the committee in charge, Frank Dattilo. Then came a group of children lead by a girl dressed in white to represent an angel. The members of the committee, mentioned in full at the conclusion of the article, preceded the statue of the Blessed Virgin which was carried by six men. Following the statue came the band and the Christ-fore Columbo Society. During the parade many of the Italians pinned money to the streamers attached to the statue, more than $500 being realized in this way.

The final event on Sunday's program was a band concert on Manchester Field played by the Chiusano Band. Both this organization and the Roma Band played well and furnished sufficiently varied programs while featuring music of the better grade, so loved by the people of Italy. There was not a large crowd at the Sunday concert, the threatening weather doubtless deterring many who would otherwise have gone to the field.

Monday evening, however, was a different story again, the biggest crowd ever to attend a similar celebration being on hand for the concert and fireworks. The machines began to arrive as early as 5:30 in the afternoon to get advantageous parking spaces along the boulevards in front of the bandstand. Long before it was time to commence the program it was necessary to shut off the Parkway and soon every street in the vicinity of Manchester Field was jammed with machines. The number of cars in Winchester during the celebration is variously estimated as between 10,000 and 15,000 while the crowd is set from 35,000 to 50,000.

From Lake street to Symmes corner Main street was lined with machines and from the Catholic Church on Washington street the line extended to Cambridge and Church streets. Every side in this district was filled and the Parkway from Bacon street to Washington street was crowded. Everything was covered in Rangeley and there was not an inch of available room about the square. The crowd thronged the river bank and the high bluff at Rangeley while Manchester Field was literally black with humanity.

With such a throng it is unusually remarkable that the police were able to handle the traffic problem without a mishap of importance. The entire local force was on the job and did a fine piece of work. Chief Manchester Field with Officers D. the problem and was in the square during much of the evening where the situation was in charge of Sergeant Cassidy and Officers Regan, Noonan, Donachey, Shea and E. O'Connell. Sergeant Rogers was at Manchester Field with O cers D. and M. Kelley, Hogan, H. and J. Dempsey, Cassidy, A. O'Connell, Farrell and Lord. Officer Harrold was stationed at Manchester road and Lieutenant Harrold was at Headquarters.

The local authorities were assisted by a detail of seven Metropolitan Police officers in charge of Sergt. Earl S. Chaney who handled the traffic on the Parkway. There was also a detail of State Constabulary troopers under Lieut. James E. Hughes and Sergts. Oliver W. LeBlanc and William B. Shimkis. Captain Charles T. Beaupre personally directed the troopers. Six plain clothes officers attached to the Boston & Maine Railroad were patrolling the tracks and it was also stated unofficially that other plain clothes men were in the crowd on Manchester Field.

Everything was handled with the utmost smoothness and the huge gathering was dispersed in an incredibly short time.

The committee in charge of the entire celebration was headed by Frank Dattilo as chairman and included Ausonio Ficociello, honorary chairman; Pietro Sciascia, treasurer; Alfredo Rolli, secretary; and Domenico Della Sventura, Antonio Maraviglio, Giuseppe Maggio, Alfonso Cuccio, Gaetano Sciascia, Ugo Rolli and Giovanni Cattineri.

THE IBOS: FROM CANNIBALISM TO COCOA PRODUCTION

If trade relations are established between the United States and Nigeria, as proposed by representatives of West African interests now in this country, perhaps it will not be long before cocoa, palm oil and mahogany produced by the Ibos, one of Africa's largest negro tribes, will be seen on our markets, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

The Ibos are distributed over the greater part of Nigeria, from the coast to about 200 miles inland. It is estimated that there are 4,000,000 of them, forming half the population of the southern part of the Protectorate.

Cannibalism Once Rampant

The Ibo country lies within the belt, only a few hundred miles east of the Slave Coast, where many negro slaves formerly were rounded up for sale. Bridgeless noses, wide-open nostrils, thick protruding lips and powerful jaws are the striking features of the tribesmen.

Most of them are midnight black, some have olive complexions, and a few are albinos. The latter are considered freaks of Nature by the blacks but the mother of an albino is proud of her "white" child.

The Ibos now are quiet and peaceful but some of the older generation recall the days when cannibalism was rampant. After a battle between neighboring tribes captives were killed and their bodies feasted upon. Often strangers were caught and slaves bought with the intention of feasting on their flesh. Human flesh was a choice morsel and marketable commodity. An eye-witness asserts he saw a chief of one of the tribes slash off the ears and nose of a captive and then slay him alive. His tribe ate the flesh and made drum heads of the skin.

Yams Are Principal Food

Each Ibo family has a compound inclosing several huts. When the young Ibo feels he should have a home of his own, he seeks a location, and puddles mud until the 10-foot walls of his compound and the sides of his huts are completed. Thatched roofing material is obtained from near-by forests.

The compounds are set at every conceivable angle and the village street winds in the most bewildering fashion, so that each compound faces it. In the evening the street is filled with life. While the boys shoot bows and arrows and go through native ceremonials, the girls dance, the fathers play okwe, the Ibo "national" game, and the women sit in groups and gossip while peeling "eddo," an edible root something like the Jerusalem artichoke.

Farming is the principal Ibo occupation but where fish are not held sacred, the tribesmen are also good fishermen. When foreign tackle is not available, they use home made nets. The yam is the principal Ibo food. Some of the tubers grow a foot long and seven inches in diameter. An Ibo eats from four to five a day. He guards his supply of yams as he does his most precious possessions, and the penalty for yam stealing in Ibo land is death.

Wife Costs a Few Cows and Goats

Each man has from three to five wives, according to his wealth. Old maids and bachelors are looked upon with contempt, and to be a childless wife is a calamity.

There is no Ibo marriage ceremony. An Ibo sends his parents or friends to the hut of the girl he wants. First they leave a supply of gin and palm wine. If it is accepted the representatives return with more gifts. Then the girl is consulted. If she accepts the suitor, he pays her parents so many cows and goats.

He may pay in cash or installments If he has cash, he may take his bride at once, but if he pays by installments, he waits until the whole dowry is paid.

Village belles not already betrothed have various ways of attracting the men. On gala days groups of Ibo beauties parade the village, adorned with all sorts of ornaments. They plaster their hair with mud and paint their bodies from head to foot in curious designs. Strings of beads grace their necks, and hips, and a dozen bracelets conceal their legs from ankle to knee. Many wear, about their ankles, metal disk plates so wide that when they walk, each leg makes a semi-circle to keep the ornaments from clashing.

In Ibo land 14 years is an eligible age to marry. The belles sometime prepare for a year for their "coming out party." They go into seclusion and do nothing but paint their bodies and eat the best their families can afford because, the father the maiden, the happier the prospective bridegroom.

Before burial, the body of a deceased tribesman is painted with camwood and propped in an upright position. All his worldly possessions are placed before him.

The body of a king or wealthy Ibo is placed on a clay "bed" over a fire. Then it may lie in state for years. For crepe strips of cloth or a shirt hung from a tall pole near the death hut.

The Ibos are friendly to missionaries and are easily converted. While they have their idols, medicine men and sacred animals, they believe in a Supreme Being who lives in a spirit world. They believe that after death they will be spirits and will return to their village to mingle with their tribe, but that they then will be invisible.

One Eye Her Oculist Son Could Not Help

The oculist had a joke the other morning. Every now and then he smiled quietly to himself. "I am know," he said finally to the Woman, "mothers are wonderful people. They always believe there is nobody quite as clever as their own children.

"Now, my mother, for instance, thinks I know everything about eyes. She doesn't confine her boasting to the neighbors either. She is jus as likely as not to walk up to a mersighted or cross-eyed passenger in the subway and tell him that my eyes need attention and that her son is the best oculist in New York. She says that Isit's hunting business for me; It's helping people who don't know enough to look after their sight. But the Joke is on her.

"Yesterday she met a man who is distinctly and painfully 'wall-eyed.' Just imagine her own eyes go like that." she told him fascinatedly, the introductions were made. 'My son can do anything with eyes. Why don't you go to see him?' 'I'm afraid he can't do anything with this eye, madam,' answered the object of her sympathy; 'you see, it's a glass one.'"—New York Sun.

Chats With YOUR Gas Man

"ASK ME ANOTHER"

"Ask Me Another" is the slogan in spirit if not in word of the home service departments of gas companies all over the United States. More than seven and a half million questions on cooking were answered during the last year alone.

Consider the influence that this service will inevitably have upon the health of the nation. The questions were asked by intelligent up-to-date housewives eager to learn "the best way." The answers were given by scientifically trained home economists equipped to give expert advice in all matters of dietetics and home management.

In providing such a service for home makers, the gas companies are contributing much to the health and happiness of the nation. In the field of home service as in every other field of its endeavor, it is worthy to note that the gas industry is leader in the great progress that has been made within the last decade.

"If It's Done With Heat, You Can Do It Better With Gas."

CAMP WINCHESTER, NORTH PORT, ME.

The second week of the summer camp maintained by the local Boy Scout Council was filled with activity.

The "Reds" captained by Russell Franklin maintained their lead over Carl Eubanks' "Blues" by virtue of a win in baseball three days' victims in inspection and their dramatic offering "College Days" was adjudged superior to anything the Blues could offer. The Blues have victories in cricket, volley ball and two days inspection to show for their weeks' efforts.

The outstanding trips of the week were overnight hikes taken in groups to Isle Bero, Bald Mountain and Beach Hill lead by Victor Budge, Russell Franklin and George Bartlett and the trip to Camden where all campers climbed Mt. Butler and hiked out to the State Fish Hatchery and Game Preserve.

This week's issue of the camp paper brought out by Editor William Higgins was the best so far and does great credit to its contributors.

Richard Clark has arrived at camp and already has a large class in life saving. He is also proving a great help to the beginners in swimming.

Camp Notes

Volley ball, a new game at camp this summer is proving very popular.

All campers were sorry to say good by to Councillor Bridge.

The Ghost Hunt this year was a whole lot of fun and "Tulsa" the camp spirit made things very interesting, especially to the tenderfoot Scouts.

All campers will inspect the battleship Arkansas stationed at Belfast this week.

Anthony Ficociello won the treasure hunt.

George Burns has arrived at Camp and received a great welcome.

PAINFULLY INJURED IN FALL FROM BICYCLE

Ralph Del Grosso 16, of 33 Holland street was painfully injured Wednesday when the front tire came off the bicycle he was riding along Washington street in front of the Fire Station. The boy was thrown violently to the ground, sustaining bad scratches and abrasions about his head, face, hands and knees. The accident was seen by Officer Edward O'Connell who took the boy to the emergency room at Headquarters and treated his hurts.

BARODA: CITY OF HINDU TEMPLES AND PALACES

Baroda City, reported flooded by 10 feet of water, is the capital of Baroda State, one of the largest and wealthiest of India's native states, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

The capital lies about 250 miles north of Bombay. It is the residence of one of India's most illustrious Gaekwars and also is an important railroad junction and commercial center. The railroad from Bombay to Delhi passes through Baroda and other lines penetrate the fertile farming regions in the neighborhood.

Baroda has some of the finest cotton lands in India. Rice, wheat, sugar and other commodities flourish in the highly productive alluvial soil. The well kept farms with their hedges and trees, which surround the city, give the landscape the appearance of a large English park.

Walls of Fort Inclose Old City

The city proper is inclosed in the walls of an old fort with gates at frequent intervals, continues the bulletin. Approaching the city from the railroad, which is in a new section, one is impressed with the accomplishments of modern city planning. At first the road is broad and straight and one can imagine oneself on the boulevard of a European capital, except for the endless swarm of Hindus. Then, as the gate is reached, the picture changes—an oriental city with its narrow, tortuous streets, is entered. However, even Baroda's old section has been improved during the last decade. A reservoir and filtration plant furnish pure water, a sewage system has been constructed, streets and roads have been widened, and many of the old, dilapidated buildings have been replaced. The streets are kept clean and well-lighted at night.

Numerous huge temples that pierce the skyline indicate that Baroda is a Hindu stronghold. Nearly four-fifths of the 103,000 inhabitants are Hindus.

Palace for Jewels

Leading from the Laharipura, or western gate, a wide thoroughfare runs through the city. It is fringed with wards, the gates of which are heavily barred against outsiders. Each ward is set aside for a separate caste or class in true oriental fashion.

Near the eastern end of the thoroughfare is the Nazar Bagh, a white stucco palace which is the depository for the jewels of the Gaekwar. They are said to be worth about $10,000,000. Among them is a diamond necklace containing the famous "Star of the South" diamond, a brilliant stone weighing 125 carats. Another part of the collection is a cloth embroidered with precious stones and seed pearls. It was made to cover the tomb of Mohammed.

Four miles south of the city is Makarpura palace, summer residence of the Gaekwar, noted for its beautiful gardens, fountains, grottoes and pergolas. The third of the ruler's residences, and the principal one, is Lakshmi Vilas. This building contains a huge Darbar hall, the walls and floors of which are decorated with Italian mosaic. Screened wooden galleries around the hall provide reserved seats for the ladies who wish to observe state functions.

Last year the Gaekwar of Baroda celebrated the 50th anniversary of his coronation. In 1875 the ruler of the state was accused of an attempt to poison a British official and was deposed. The present ruler, a collateral relative, was a young lad when he ascended the throne in 1875. He was the son of a humble herdsman. He is one of only five Indian rulers entitled to receive a salute of 21 guns.

Baroda state has an area of 8000 square miles but is "sprinkled" over 90,000 square miles. It is divided into four prants or districts. Each district includes a large area, with numerous small patches of land near-by. One of these patches is 225 miles from the capital, on the easternmost tip of the Kathiwar peninsula.

VALENCIA ISLAND: AIR PORTAL TO EUROPE

"The America" flown by Commander Byrd was first sighted from land at Valencia Island on the Irish coast, as the third transatlantic flight held to its course.

Byrd had plotted the course to Valencia Island which has become the air portal to Europe.

No matter where we locate the other three corners, Valencia Island, off the wild west coast of Ireland, must be recognized as one of the four corners of the world, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Transatlantic flyers set their compasses for it. Lindbergh knew he had hit Europe on the nose when he passed over Valencia Island. Chamberlin passed not far south of it. Two Atlantic cables touch Europe first to Valencia. And up behind Knights Town, the cable town, is the marker confirming Valencia's position as one corner of the world.

A Stone Marks the Spot

Iron railings surround a triangular faced stone whose inscribed surface is level with the ground. European scientists on this spot in 1862 took astronomical observations determining the position with minute nicety. By triangulation surveying they ranged from Valencia Island across Europe to a spot in the Ural Mountains of Russia where more astronomical observations were made over a similar marker. Data gathered in this ambitious project enabled scientists to compute the arc of the earth. Knowing the arc they measured the earth.

A rugged shoulder turned resolutely against the Atlantic's roaring storms is Valencia Island, six miles long and two miles wide. With staunchness befitting such an outpost, Valencia raises at its westermost point Bray Head, 792 feet above the crashing seas. Commander Byrd should first sight Bray Head jutting out between Dingle Bay and Kenmare River fiord. Killarney Lakes on the mainland beyond convinced Byrd, as they did Lindbergh, that he flew on the high road to Paris.

Was a Roman "Courage Colony"

History and geography between them play strange tricks but seldom one more strange than this; that a Roman emperor dead these many centuries should give from an Irish island the first congratulatory welcome to Lindbergh, Chamberlin and Byrd. "Courage," cries a Caesar's ghost to them from Valencia Island. The story requires unraveling.

Roman Caesars often gave their colonies names of good omen such as Pax, Florentia, Fidentia and Valencia. Valor and Valencia come from the same Latin root, meaning courage. One of Rome's "courage" colonies in Spain became the Valencia of today. The relations of Spain to the west coast of Ireland, have been close. Houses built by Spanish fishermen can still be seen at Galway. Some ships of the Armada were wrecked on Dingle Bay. Through these Iberian contacts this rocky Irish island greets the airmen from America with a Caesar's salutation, Valencia, "courage."

Valencia Island receives the undiluted warmth of the Gulf Stream so it enjoys a mild climate. Bathing, boating, golfing, sea fishing and the mighty waves pounding the high cliffs entice vacationers who are willing to brave mist and frequent rain.

So warm is the climate that giant fuchsias, said to be the largest in the world, grow in the gardens of Glenleam, country residence of the Knight of Kerry. Myrtle, arbutus, tree ferns and other tropical exotic plants thrive on the island. The Knight of Kerry owns not only the fine gardens but owns also most of Valencia Island.

Terrible Experience

A man's idea of exquisite torture, says H. R. H., is to stand in the full glare of publicity in a haberdasher's shop while his wife holds an expensive necktie under his chin to see if it will go with his complexion and his last year's suit.—Kansas City Star.

MILK CHART FOR MONTH OF AUGUST 1927

Published by the Winchester Board of Health

The bacteria count in this chart gives the number of bacteria found in one c. c. taken from the center of the sample after it had been well shaken. It should be remembered that another c. c. taken from the same sample might give a somewhat different count, but the difference would rarely, if ever, exceed 10 per cent.

The huge elm tree on the Congregational Church lawn at the corner of Vine street and Elmwood avenue, removed on account of the erection of the fine new Kelley & Hawes funeral home, proved very reluctant to leave its bed of the past 110 years. After tree superintendent Nicholson had removed the limbs and had the tree well separated from its roots, a tractor failed to pull the trunk over. The largest steam roller was hitched up to it Saturday morning and proved equally helpless against its sturdy strength. After much digging around the roots the monarch finally succumbed. Although credited with 110 years of service, the tree is said by many to be over 200 years old. Another of the old elms on the opposite side of the lawn is also to be removed, it is said.

FAIRMOUNT PARK

Situated on the West Side of Winchester off of Cambridge Street nearly opposite Calumet Road. A tract of 20 lots of land varying in size from 7000 to 12,000 square feet in area. Every lot affords a beautiful panoramic view of the most attractive part of the town. In addition to the four houses already erected thereon, the Fairmount Associates have purchased five uncompleted houses adjoining their property at a mortgagees sale. This in order not only to conserve the high type of construction originally planned for this tract, but more particularly to control the disposition of these houses, in order to maintain the high class neighborhood to which we set out to create. These aforesaid five houses are nearing completion and will be offered to satisfactory parties at reasonable prices and possibly one or two of these houses may be obtained for rent.

WINCHESTER HOSPITAL
Showing Proposed New Addition From Highland Avenue

The third and final stage of the building development of the Winchester Hospital has now been reached.

The first and second portions of the development consisted of the moving of the nurses' home formerly situated east of the hospital on Highland avenue to a location southwest of the latter, and the doubling of the accommodations by the addition of a wing at right angles to the older building, and the erection of a fireproof boiler house and laundry to the northeast of the hospital building.

A very careful study of the hospitalization requirements of the town was made before the plans of the hospital building addition were drawn and approved but by contracts just awarded this addition is now started.

The main entrance to the hospital which for years has been on the westerly side overlooking the Mystic Valley, will be located on the end of the 60 foot addition which will be added to the new easterly projection toward Highland avenue. This new entrance instead of bringing one on to the first floor, will open into a beautiful reception hall on the ground floor level, from which radiate additional waiting and consulting rooms, business and bookkeeper's offices and the superintendent's office.

Access to the upper floors will be by means of a staircase opening directly from the reception room or by continuing along the central corridor from this room to the present elevator and stairs.

On one side of the corridor beyond the administration offices is the nurses' dining room, and on the opposite side a room for physicians, and very large and complete radiographic, therapy, dark rooms, etc., for a complete X-ray service in every respect.

The kitchen is to be relocated under the present wing and south of the present serving room and beyond this will be also a special diet kitchen. Steam and gas cooking, dish sterilizing, electric refrigeration and modern equipment will complement this new and convenient arrangement.

The hand lift connecting with the ward kitchens on the three floors above is to be made over into an automatic electric lift for quick service.

Under the present solarium, where for some years there has been a runway, which is now to be removed, there will be a new entrance to the ground floor which will serve for incoming supplies, and for an entrance for nurses from the home. The dietician will have an office in the southeast corner overlooking the large room into which this new entrance opens, and the new special diet kitchen as well. The room formerly used for the doctors will be the help's dining room.

The former ground floor entrance with its complication of uses will actually become what it was originally intended to be, the ambulance entrance. A large glazed vestibule will be erected here, and the room at the right of this entrance will be used for an emergency or accident room. The present laundry will be subdivided to privide an autopsy room, and a room with toilet, shower and dressing arrangements for special nurses, also a room for stretchers and wheel chairs.

The old boiler room becomes a central linen and sewing room, and a closet for ward patients' clothing, and a kitchen store room. The removal of the former main entrance permits of lowering the grade and the introduction of large windows, making these rooms light and airy.

On the first floor, the two rooms either side of the entrance, together with the vestibule, are put together to form a surgeon's room, and dressing and locker room with toilets and shower. The room in the operating department now used for this latter purpose will be used for a much needed work room.

There are no changes of moment in the ward portions of this floor, except that an addition in toilet rooms is arranged for. Directly ahead from the present entrance and toward the new staircase a visitor will find the addition, and on this floor there will be a laboratory and two two-bed rooms, with passages to a north porch and the new stairs all on the left hand, and on the right, (south) four large private rooms and a sun room opening onto the south porch.

The present maternity ward will be made over into a children's ward opening onto the present airing balcony.

The second floor addition is quite like the first, except that on the north side there will be four private rooms instead of double rooms; the diet kitchen will also be enlarged the same as in the first floor.

On both of these floors the nurses' station is changed to the intersection of the present and new corridors, commanding both the elevator and the older staircase as well. The Huntress room and the corner room formerly the superintendent's room, now a beautiful private room, are made into a suite directly connected to the bath between them.

The outstanding feature of the new rooms in the additions will be separate toilets and lavatories for each as well as for the two new double rooms, wardrobes, the newest lighting equipment, color scheme, furnishings and telephone connections for each bedside as up to date as any of the most modern hospitals in New York or Boston. Particular care and thought for soundproofing, for quiet has been a prime consideration.

The third floor will hardly be recognized in its new role. The two westerly rooms will become a double soundproof nursery, completely isolated with bathing facilities adjacent, of up-to-date fitness. The small diet kitchen is to be enlarged and beside it will be a bedroom for the physicians and across the hall on the north will be the labor room and lavatory—all these in the present building. The first section of the addition has on this north side two delivery rooms with large metal and plate glass windows like an operating room. These rooms are high studded which is accomplished by running up gables, doing away with a pitched roof. Opposite these rooms is a new sterilizing room and a nurses' work room. This suite of rooms forming the delivery department is shut off from the maternity ward of seven beds by soundproof partitions and doors. This new maternity ward is full width of the building, will have large triple windows on the north and south and a top light or monitor in the ceiling as well, making for ample light and air. The beds are screened and the effect will be practically as if one were in a semi-private room.

When finished the hospital will efficiently be able to take care of 52 patients exclusive of babies.

MACHINE STRUCK TREE ON WILDWOOD STREET

Police headquarters was notified at 8.25 last Sunday evening of an automobile accident which had taken place on Wildwood street near the home of Mr. Alfred W. Friend.

Officers William Cassidy and John Dempsey were sent to investigate and upon arrival found a Ford sedan rather badly smashed up following a collision with a tree. The owner of the car, Harold Maddox of 7 Clinton street, Woburn, with a companion, Joseph Carr of Billerica, was at the scene of the accident. Neither he nor his friend had sustained any injuries in the accident.

A pint bottle of wine was found near the wreck but both men denied its ownership.

TWO INJURED IN COLLISION ON BACON STREET

Two motorists were injured and the machines in which they were riding disabled as the result of an accident which took place on Bacon street last Friday evening shortly before 9 o'clock.

The accident occurred when an Essex coach, owned and operated by Frank M. Russell of 9 Ravenscroft road, in making a left turn into Lakeview road while going in a northerly direction along Bacon street, collided with a Ford sedan, headed south on Bacon street and owned and operated by Miss Edna M. Deloria of 31 Salem street.

Mrs. Russell, who was riding with her husband in the Essex sustained a cut on the forehead and a general shaking up. She was removed to the home of Dr. W. Holbrook Lowell on Lakeview road where she was attended by Dr. R. W. Sheehy. Miss Deloria who was badly bruised about the legs and head and had sustained an ugly gash on the hand was finally taken by Atty. Phillip Gallagher in his machine in search of medical assistance. After failing to locate several physicians in Winchester, she was taken to Woburn where she was treated by Dr. William Kelliher who was forced to take eight stitches to close the wound in her hand.

The machines were badly damaged and had to be removed from the scene of the accident which attracted quite a crowd of motorists and residents of the vicinity.

UNION SERVICES AT BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. Grady D. Feagan, Noted Preacher From South to Preach Next Sunday

At the Union Service in the Baptist Church last Sunday, Rev. Herbert S Johnson, D.D., was the preacher and he was greeted by even larger congregations than on the previous Sunday. In the morning he preached on, "Why the Princes of God Walk with a Limp" and in the evening on "People who are like Bats—Blind as Bats."

Next Sunday we are fortunate in having another equally popular preacher. This time he is one from the South, where he is well known and regarded as one of the most popular preachers. Rev. Grady D. Feagan, formerly of Macon, Georgia and now pastor of the First Baptist Church of Lowell, will preach both morning and evening. His morning topic will be, "The Living God" and in the evening at 7 it will be, "The Living Word." Dr. Feagan has spoken at several conventions since coming north and last week he was the daily preacher at the Christian Endeavor Workers' Conference at Northfield and made a tremendous impression upon his audience.

Miss Flora MacDonald, gospel singer, will sing at both services.

Dr. Feagan will also be the preacher on the following Sunday, Labor Day Sunday, Sept. 4, when he will speak on, "The Living Faith," and "The Living Church."

WINCHESTER MAN PICKED FOR GUN TEAM

Walter F. Gurney of Hemingway street received notice yesterday that he had been picked as a member of the Massachusetts Civilian Rifle team which is to compete in the national matches to be held soon at Camp Perry, Ohio. Mr. Gurney, who is one of the dependables on the team of the Arlington Rifle Club, has won for himself the reputation of being one of the best rifle shots in the state.

McKINLEY—LARAWAY

Yesterday afternoon the garden at 310 Main street, Winchester was the scene of a pretty home wedding when Miss S. Dorothy Laraway, eldest daughter of Ex-Selectman and Mrs. Jonas A. Laraway, became the bride of Mr. Harold Hammond McKinley of Hollywood, Fla., son of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Troop of Ashland. The day had a double significance, the bride having chosen her mother's birthday as her wedding day.

The bridal procession formed in the upper hall at 3:30 and to the strains of the Wedding March from Lohengrin played by the Graydon Trio, wended its way down the stairs through the sun parlor and out over the lawn to the rose arbor at the back of the garden. Here it was met by the groom and his best man, and the Rev. S. Winchester Adriance, an old friend and neighbor of the family, who performed the ceremony, using the double ring, new Episcopalian service.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was becomingly gowned in white satin. The dress was bouffant style and had georgette panels caught with pearls. The veil was of tulle, the headband of which was formed of rose point lace and orange blossoms. The lace was an heirloom and had previously been worn by the bride's mother and great-grandmother. The bride carried a simple bouquet of bride's roses and lillies of the valley. The groom's gift which she wore, was a beautiful shell cameo pin set in white gold.

Her attendents were Miss Priscilla Laraway, a sister, as maid of honor, and Miss Helen I. McIntyre of Blue Hill, Me., and Miss Cynthia Laraway another sister, as bridesmaids, who wore dresses of crepe de chine in pastel shades and carried large bunches of garden flowers.

Mr. McKinley had as his best man Mr. Clarence W. Wentworth of Newburyport. The ushers were Mr. Edson Laraway, brother of the bride and Mr. Horace Kezar Libby of Stoneham, formerly of Winchester.

Following the ceremony the newly married couple, with their parents, received the good wishes of their many friends and relatives. After a short honeymoon they are to make their home in Hollywood, Fla., where Mr. McKinley has been stationed for the past two years.

JEREMIAH BOWLER

Jeremiah Bowler, aged 87, a veteran of the Civil War and until recently for more than 70 years a resident of Winchester, died suddenly of an acute heart attack Tuesday afternoon at the Carter street home of his son, Cornelius Bowler. The deceased had been living for several years at 8 Egan place, Peabody, having returned to make his home in Winchester only the day previous to his death.

Mr. Bowler was born in Ireland, the son of Edward and Catherine Bowler. When 13 years of age his family came to this country and was among the very earliest Irish immigrants to settle in Winchester.

As a young man Mr. Bowler learned a currier's trade, working first in the old Huston shop which later became the P. Waldmyer tannery, standing on the site of what is now a part of Manchester Field.

At the outbreak of the Civil War he enlisted in G Company of the Second Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry and served throughout the war, taking part in the Battle of Spottsylvania Court House and other important engagements. He was a member of A. D. Weld Post, G. A. R. and of Post 33, G. A. R. of Woburn. Following his death until after the funeral services, the flags on the Common and public buildings were at half-staff in his honor. The survivors include his wife, Mrs. Hannah Bowler, a son, Cornelius Bowler and four grandchildren, all of Winchester.

Funeral services were held Thursday morning from the Bowler home on Carter street followed by a solemn requiem high mass in St. Mary's Church. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Howland Hall of 3 Wildwood terrace are the parents of a son born Aug. 14 at the Winchester Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Verner Carson of 704 Main street are the parents of a son, born Aug. 17 at the Winchester Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel O'Leary and family of Kendall street left Thursday for a week's motor trip through the Berkshires and a stay at Springfield.

LIEUT. JOHN A. HARROLD

LIEUT. AND MRS. JOHN A. HARROLD OBSERVED 40th ANNIVERSARY

Tuesday, Aug. 32, held particular significance for Police Lieut. and Mrs. John A. Harrold of 14 Myrtle street, marking as it did the 40th anniversary of their marriage which took place in 1887 in St. James Church, Salem. No formal observance had been planned but a quiet family party was held for the six daughters, three sons and fourteen granchildren of the popular couple.

The simple home gathering soon grew into a good sized reception as neighbors and friends began to arrive to offer congratulations, best wishes and remembrances of a more substantial nature. Several beautiful bouquets of gladioli, asters and roses were received as well as many handsome gifts appropriate to the occasion.

MRS. JOHN A. HARROLD

Lieutenant Harrold, with the exception of a short time after his marriage, has made Winchester his home for 60 years. He was born in Boston but came to this town when five years of age. As a young man he secured employment in a local leather shop, being appointed to the Police Department 25 years ago after three years of service as a special officer. He is at present the second oldest man in the department. In 1918 he was made a sergeant and was appointed lieutenant, the first in the history of the department, in March, 1924. He is now in charge of headquarters at night, his unfailing good nature and willingness to be of service having endeared him to many of the town's people Lieutenant Harrold is affiliated with Winchester Court, Massachusetts Catholic Order of Foresters, and is an active member of the Holy Name Society of St. Mary's Parish.

Mrs. Harold also takes an active interest in St. Mary's Parish affairs and is a member of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Winchester Post, American Legion, of which two of her sons are members. She has also held many offices in the John T. Wilson Post, Sons of Veterans' Auxiliary and enjoys in her own right a wide circle of friends.

WINCHESTER CADDY TO PLAY FOR CHAMPIONSHIP MONDAY

Thomas Fahey, Winchester caddy, is tied with Arthur Cody of Wollaston for top honors in the 36 hole State Caddies' Golf Tourney held this week at the Commonwealth Country Club. As a result the boys will meet on Monday to decide the championship.

Both showed nice golf in working through the big field. Fahey has been in the running for the championship for the past four years but Cody, until this year, has been unknown. The latter had to show the best score of the tourney, a 75 in his afternoon round, to pull up on even terms with the local boy and the way he went about doing so makes the coming match loom as a real battle. The contestants will tee off at 9:30 Monday morning.

COMING EVENTS

EMBLEM CLUB AFFAIRS

Quite a party took in the auto trip to Providence Monday and from all reports enjoyed the time of their lives. For a wonder the sky was clear and good weather prevailed during the trip.

Leaving Winchester Square at 9 a. m. accompanied by two tried and trusty charioteers, Jack Hanlon and Fred Fitzgerald, the party arrived at the home of Mrs. Mary DeMauris at noon, just in time to enjoy the splendid luncheon prepared by the genial hostess. From there they proceeded to Oakland Beach where dinner had been ordered at the Yacht Club Grill. With Mrs. DeMauris as toastmaster, wit and humor ruled the board. And that menu! Well, let Mrs. Jack Hanlon tell about it, and when she does everyone will want to be dated up for the next trip to Providence.

The sports were run off on the beach, with Fred Fitzgerald officiating as nursemaid while Mrs. Fred assisted the referee, Mrs. Hanlon. In the swinging contest Mrs. Nellie Moffett, displaying much pep among other things, won first prize. From all accounts "Lindy" himself couldn't do a better job at high flying! Mrs. Josephine Powers won the heavyweight running race, and Mrs. George Osborne, the slim ladies' race.

Report has it that Mrs. May O'Neil made herself very popular by passing out a special line of perfume that took on like wildfire. At any rate, orders for this Turkish (?) incense are pouring in and the sister will have much ado to satisfy the demand. She has promised, however, to produce a sample of it at the September session.

To Rocky Point Beach the party journeyed, and had their pictures taken, and then on to Roger Williams Park to see the sights. Here the "Rhode Island horses" were a source of disappointment to Mrs. Elsie Mobbs. Maybe she bet on them and got "buffaloed."

Back to the broad highway was the next progressive step, with a stop at Mrs. De Mauris' house for tea and entertainment. After songs, stories, and a dance sketch by little Doris Fitzgerald, the party hit the home trail, arriving in Winchester at 10 p. m. Some day!

President Emily A. Scholl is enjoying an auto trip en famille to the White Mountains and many of the sisters have planned trips for Labor Day week. The first fall session of the club will be held Wednesday evening, Sept. 21, and promises to be a busy one.

This week's social party was held at the home of Mrs. Beatrice J. Lord, 16 Hancock street. Many availed themselves of the cordial invitation extended to the club as "Sister Bea," is known as one of the best entertainers ever. Needless to say, the guests had a dandy time and are willing to "repeat" anytime the sister gives the word.

Rehearsal of the drill team was held Wednesday night with nearly all the regulars present. The date of the next will be announced in the Star.

MARRIED AT FRIENDSHIP

The summer home of Mrs. R M. Armstrong at Friendship, Me., was the scene of an unusual and informal wedding, on Saturday, Aug. 20, when Miss Elizabeth Armstrong was married to Mr. Clement Castine Rinehart of New York City.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Arthur Peabody Pratt of Greenfield, brother-in-law of the bride, who was given away by her mother, and attended by her sister, Miss Dorothy Armstrong. Mr. Paul Phenix of New York acted as best man.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held, after which supper was served at the cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Armstrong.

About 200 were present, guests from Florida, New York and Baltimore, the summer colony and many Friendship residents.

After a motor trip to Quebec and other parts of Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Rinehart will return to Friendship, later going to their home in New York City.

SCHOOL DEPARTMENT NOTES

The schools will officially open on Wednesday, Sept. 7.

The Department calls the attention of the parents to the days and hours for the special mental tests given to pupils who are under age. The Department's ruling is that a child to be admitted to the kindergarten must be five years of age on or before Jan. 1 following the opening of school in September. A child to be admitted to the first grade must be six years of age on or before Jan. 1 following the opening of school in September.

If the parent has a child who is not of age to enter, but who believes that the child is more advanced mentally than his age would indicate, he may arrange with the office of the Superintendent of Schools for an appointment for a special mental examination.

The only days upon which the examinations will be given will be as follows: Sept. 1, 2, 3, 6 and 7. Appointments will be made from the hours of 9 to 12 and 1 to 5. The School Department must insist that the tests be given on these days.

All pupils must be vaccinated before entering school. au12-4t

LOUISE PACKER WON JUNIOR TITLE AT TEDESCO

Louise Packer, Winchester's youthful left handed tennis star, won the junior singles title in the North Shore Junior Tennis Tournament staged last week at the Tedesco Club, Swampscott. The local young lady played some very consistent tennis through the early rounds of the tourney and won her title at the expense of Mary Russ of Lincoln whom she defeated in straight sets, 6—1, 6—3. Paired with Betty Pope of Bass Rocks Louise also played through to a win in the girls' doubles, defeating in the final match Mary Russ of Lincoln and Caroline Mercer of Winchester, 6—4, 6—4.

After eliminating Louise Packer and William Porter in the semi-final round Frances Pettingell of Winchester and John Lorenzen of Dorchester won the championship in mixed doubles from Mary Russ of Lincoln and Arthur Noble of Newton in three hard fought sets, 6—3, 7—9, 7—5. Winning three out of seven titles was not so dusty for the Winchester entries who came as near to dominating the tournament as possible, especially in the girls' division. Several others of the town's young players were entered in the matches and invariably all gave good accounts of themselves.

Miss Ruth Cleary of Lebanon street is spending two weeks in Pennsylvania.

WAS ORGANIST AT NAHANT WEDDING

Mr. W. B. Sache of Glengarry was organist last Saturday afternoon at the White-Henshaw wedding which took place in the Nahant Church, Cliff street, Nahant. His program included "Benediction Nuptiale" and "Invocation" by Dubois; Kopyloc's "Moderato"; "A Rose Garden" from Stoughton; Karg-Elert's "Benedictus"; The Bridal Procession from Lohengrin and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March". Mrs. Malcolm Bruce Lees and the Misses Dorothy Grace, and Constance Wetherbee Ramsey, all of Winchester, were among the bridal attendants.

NOTES FROM CAMP WYANOKE, WOLFEBORO, N. H.

The finals of the senior doubles tennis tournament at Camp Wyanoke, Wolfeboro, N. H., was played on Thursday, Aug. 18. Graham Ong and Frank Hermes, both of New Rochelle, N. Y. defeated Murray Mercer of Winchester and William Mertens, Jr. of New York City by the score of 6—4, 6—1. The sets were hardfought and the score does not indicate the closeness of the match. However, the winning team played a very steady game and their scintillating net game coupled with this fact clinched the match for them.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

Johnnie Hines, the peppy screen star, is holding forth at the cool Granada Theater in Malden Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week in his howling comedy success, "All Aboard." Johnnie gets out on the desert in this one and outwits the sheiks themselves. It is the funny tale of an ex-shoe salesman who poses as a competent European guide and gets away with it. Some of the season's biggest laughs are to be found in this gem of a comedy. The usual five act bill of Granada vaudeville is headed by Dance Flashes of 1927. This act carries six performers and is elaborately staged and costumed. Their rountine embraces nearly every style of dancing and they work at whirlwind speed throughout. Hewett & Hall, a comedy team that is without a peer as laughgetters is another big attraction for the last half of this week. The other three acts are up to the high standard of the Granada programs.

Milton Sills, one of the cinema's most popular stars, comes to the Granada for three days starting next Monday in his newest picture, "Framed," a type of story that permits this favorite the full use of his exceptional physique. The plot travels a melodramatic path, starting in France, jumping to Brazil and ending against a background of the penal colony of that country. The hero is cast as a self-sacrificing chap who assumes another's guilt and is discharged from the French Army. Later he becomes overseer of a diamond mine and romance comes unexpectedly in his life. The mine scenes are very realistic and Sills engages in a number of great battles before the final close-up. The five-act program of vaudeville, augmented by the Granada Symphony Orchestra and Roy Frazee, organist, will be added features on the bill for the first three days of next week.

Richard Dix in "Man Power," will be presented for three days at the Granada starting next week Thursday.

CHILD SERIOUSLY INJURED WHEN HIT BY TRUCK

Robert McCormack, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McCormack of 21 Winchester place, was taken to the Winchester Hospital late last Friday afternoon after being struck by an auto truck while being dragged in a cart by his brother along Railroad avenue.

The accident happened while the truck was backing into the rear entrance of the Central Garage, the driver of the machine, Charles A. H. Smith of 8 Mystic avenue, stating that he did not see the children.

Mr. Smith picked up the little boy and took him to the hospital where he was attended by Dr. R. W. Sheehy. He was found to have sustained a fracture of the skull but it is thought to have a good chance for recovery.

LAKE SUNAPEE EXCURSION AUG. 28

The Boston & Maine Railroad again makes it possible to spend a Sunday at Lake Sunapee at a very small cost by conducting an excursion to this point on Sunday, Aug. 28.

Lake Sunapee is New Hampshire's third largest lake—a cool and inviting spot nestled among the hills of Sullivan and Merrimack counties. To reach it an excursion train will leave Woburn at 9:04 a. m. (E. S. T.) arriving at Lake Sunapee at 12:10 p. m.

From the moment passengers alight until the return train leaves at 5:45 p. m. the hours can be crowded with pleasures. There is a steamer trip around the lake which may be taken, bathing, boating and other sports.

The round trip fare of $2 is less than half the regular fare one way, and assures many people taking advantage of this excursion.

TIME not WORDS proves a tire's value

EVERY NEW TIRE LOOKS GOOD.
Dunlops not only look good, but they make good—over rocks and gravel, and ruts and sand.

Thirty-nine years of experience has shown Dunlop how to design a tread that gives maximum traction and slow, smooth wear.

This Dunlop tread is the toughest development of rubber known. And this same tough tread-rubber is carried clear around the sidewall to give maximum protection against rut wear.

You get the full benefit of all this extra tread-mileage because each Dunlop is built with the famous trouble-free cable-twist Dunlop carcass, to provide the high-strength and elasticity so vital to long tire life.

ARLINGTON SWAMPED ST. MARY'S 12 TO 4

St. Mary's, with a patched up lineup, proved no match for the Arlington Town Team and was defeated last Saturday afternoon on Manchester Field by the one-sided score of 12 to 4.

The visitors, the same club which represents the Middlesex Sportsmen's Association in the Mystic Valley Twilight League, literally played rings around the locals who plainly showed that they had been exposed to little baseball lately.

Without the services of Fitzgerald, Molly and "Spike" O'Donnell St. Mary's was away up against it for talent and the fans hardly recognized the club when it took the field. The boys out there gave their best and should not be blamed for the fact that they were unable to cope with Arlington. No one expected them to. But on the other hand, the fans who are supporting St. Mary's have a right to expect to see a team on the field that at least has an even chance with the opposition. The local team can produce a lineup fit to tackle any in the independent ranks and it should make up its mind either to play at full strength or not at all. If its first string players prefer to play elsewhere than in Winchester then the team should hang up. This half way business is not worth while.

To return to last Saturday's game. The visitors got to "Jomma" Dolan right off the bat while, except for the second frame, "Lefty" O'Rourke held Winchester safely until forced to retire by an injury in the 8th. After the second Dolan pitched good ball and received good support, especially from "Jackie" Hevey at shortstop. This veteran was very much in the pastime, collecting 3 safeties, including a triple, while accepting 9 chances in the field without an error. The locals had several good chances to score but the punch was not present. Hevey and "Mex" Kelley being the only local players to have their batting eyes with them.

Keefe, first up for Arlington in the opening inning, doubled to center and Buckley tripled to far right, a real Ruth man swat. Keefe scored on the blow and Ryer counted Buckley with a single to left after Frazer had popped to H. Ambrose. Ryer stole second, went to third while Hevey was throwing out Kenney and scored when Keenegan beat out a bunt. "Vin" Ambrose threw out Santos.

Hevey threw out Donahue in the second, but O'Rourke was safe at second when "Vin" Ambrose pegged into the dirt after fielding his hopper. Keefe scored O'Rourke with a single to left and went to second on the throw-in. He went to third on Buckley's skyscraper to Prue and scored on Frier's hit past V. Ambrose. Ryer's double to left scored Frazer but "Tommy" Dolan made a nice running catch of Kenney's fly to end the frame.

St. Mary's got a couple back in its half of the second. After McGrath and Prue had fanned "Howie" Ambrose punched a single to right and came all the way home when Santos took his time chasing a passed ball which hit the backstop. T. Dolan beat out a hit to O'Rourke and scored a moment later when Hevey hit a lofty triple along the right field foul line. Flaherty popped to Keenegan.

This ended the scoring until the 8th, both pitchers going along nicely in front of good support. Arlington broke the ice with a couple in its half, though they were rather shabby. After Keenegan had fouled to H. Ambros Santos got a life on Flaherty's wild peg at first. He went to second on a passed ball and came all the way in when Kelley pegged wildly after fielding Goodwin's bunt. O'Rourke singled to right, scoring Goodwin but was out trying to stretch his hit, Prue to Flaherty. Hevey took Keefe's fly.

Stoker went in to pitch for Arlington in the last of the 8th, O'Rourke having sustained a leg injury at second in the first half of the frame. Keefe's wild peg gave Flaherty a life and he moved up on Kelley's single to right. Ambrose was safe when Ryer mussed up his hopper, Flaherty scoring while Pelley made second. "Vin" was caught off the bag after an over-run, Ryer to Buckley, but "Jomma" Dolan punched a single to left which scored Kelley. McGrath and Prue fanned.

In the 9th the storm broke. Buckley single to right and Frazer hit to center. The former was out on Ryer's rap to "Vin" Ambrose, but the runner beat the try for a double play at first. On a short passed ball Frazer started for third and came all the way in when Kelley pegged past Ambrose. Ryer made third on the heave and Wright drew a pass. Dolan hit Keenegan to fill the cushions. Santos struck out and there were two away, but Goodwin hit to center, scoring Ryer. Dolan uncorked a wild pitch which allowed Wright and Keenegan to tally. Stoker finally fanned to end the rally.

The locals gave the fans a thrill in the 9th. After H. Ambrose had popped to Buckley and T. Dolan had fanned Hevey busted a hit past third. Flaherty laid one in exactly the same place and there were two on with Mark Kelley up. "Mex" had already belted out three safeties and evidently had no more in his big bludgeon for he fanned right lustily, something he rarely does.

BATHING SUITS AND OVERALLS

"I can't have my boy running around the home with nothing on" complained one anxious parent after hearing that sun exposure was the best thing for any child's skin, providing it was done "to a brown and not to a blister."

At our health camps throughout Massachusetts the only garment worn after the gradual removal of ordinary clothes, is a brief pair of denim trunks with a woolen sweater for chilly early morning or evening hours. This is ideal for the camps, but cannot, of course, be required at home except for definite sun treatments taken on the porch or in the open windows.

Now about bathing suits and overalls. They are a delight to both boys and girls and can be made to conform to all the requirements. Take bathing suits, they leave a good part of the skin exposed; cotton for play wear, with woolen only for water wear; they can be attractive and modest; and they are a boon to the weary mother when it comes to laundry. Any smart youngster can launder his own suit. Teach him the importance of sticking to his own bathing suit and never, never borrowing or lending! Some skin diseases and occasionally much more serious infections are transmitted by the exchange of bathing suits.

Now about overalls; many mothers prefer them to bathing suits—they say children "look better in them," find them cooler and that they last longer. Remove the sleeves wholly, and reduce the legs to trunk length. They are usually made of denim, an abominably stiff material; most children need a jersey or cotton B. V. D. under it for a while at least—it is too harsh for their skin. With belt and pockets they do look considerably more dressy than the bathing suit. The long sleeved and long legged variety is, however, quite useless from a "health" point of view.

Why all this fuss to get the children tanned, anyway? Because the sun's rays on the skin helps growth and prevents disease. With babies, sun baths are one of our biggest preventatives of rickets and tuberculosis; in older children, of tuberculosis and other infections, particularly the common cold, and gland infections.

Sun coming through ordinary glass and clothing cannot do the work. Soon we are going to have a magic glass in our nursery, school and hospital windows which will let all the sun rays through and be of inestimable benefit to both children and grown-ups. At present it is reserved largely for chicken raising; we are nothing, if not commercially efficient. Some day, too, somebody is going to invent an equally valuable material for clothes that will do the same, but that glad day is not here yet.

Meantime, has your summer been well spent? How many inches of good brown skin can you and your children proudly display at the end of the season? "Tis tanning tells."

Taking Temperature

A fever thermometer registers the highest temperature to which it has been exposed after its last setting. Hence if taken from the mouth of a patient whose actual blood temperature is 100 degrees F. and then, exposed for some minutes to air at 103 degrees F. before reading, the record will falsely indicate 103 degrees and not 100 degrees as the temperature of the patient. Of course, the possibility of such an error is well known and guarded against by hospitals and competent physicians.

WHITNEY EMPLOYEES HELD FIRST OUTING

Last Saturday has been described as one of the biggest days, from a social viewpoint, in the history of the Whitney Machine Company of Winchester for on that occasion was held at Martin's Grove, Billerica, the first annual outing of the company's employees.

Very nearly the entire shop force of 60 made the trip to the grove, leaving Winchester in trucks provided by the company shortly before 9 o'clock. Arriving at the picnic grounds about 11, the company at once plunged into the extensive program of games and sports which a hustling committee had been busy arranging for some time.

It was only possible to get a part of the series of races, etc., out of the way before the welcome call to dinner. This important feature of the day was in charge of Carl Fisher who, bedecked in a white smock and chef's hat, quickly convinced even the most skeptical that he "knew his onions" when it came to providing sustainance for some 60 abnormally hungry men.

Following the dinner more games and sports were indulged in the contests arousing great excitement while providing plenty of amusement for non-participants.

Perhaps the real features of the sports' program were the tug-of-war and the baseball game in which the teams were picked from among the old timers and the young men of the shop. In the first named the young men, though much outweighed, succeeded in winning rather a hollow victory from the oldtimers who nevertheless took their defeat very much to heart.

The winning team was composed of Steve Fagg, L. McCollough, Ben Cullen, J. Stevens and Lindmark, the latter serving as anchor. Pulling for the oldtimers were John McLaughlin, "Mike" Breen, J. Graveilles, William McCormack and "Dave" Hammond, anchor.

Not to be outdone by the "youngsters" the oldtimers rallied and won the ball game, a 2—1 decision, in an interesting contest. Murphy did the twirling for the old boys with Pinney behind the bat while McCollough and Jerry McCarron were the battery for the losers. L. P. Bushnell acted as umpire and for one reason or another his decisions were unquestioned. The big feature of the game was a slashing three base hit by little Fred Allen of the old timers.

The sports events were won as follows:

Quoit pitching (open to all): Won by Fred Allen.

Standing jump: Won by Steve Fagg, distance 8 ft. 1½ in.

Running broad jump: Won by William Murphy, distance, 18 ft. 6 in.; second, Steve Fagg, distance, 18 ft. 1 in.

Putting 8lbd (12 pound): Won by Steve Fagg, distance, 38 ft. 9 in.

50 yards dash (men over 50): Won by James Granfield.

100 yards dash (open): Won by Steve Fagg.

Relay race: Won by team composed of Pinney, Murphy, Stevens, G. Cullen and Jerry McCarron, second team composed of Pat Rosen, Lindmark, J. P. Smith, Ben Cullen and Steve Fagg.

A real made-to-order day added much to the enjoyment of the outing and everything went off without the semblance of a hitch. The employees especially wish to express their appreciation of the spirit of co-operation which the officials of the company showed and the help which they gave in making the outing so successful.

H. T. Lindmark was chairman of the committee in charge of the arrangements and was assisted by Nate Pinney, J. P. Smith and Steve Fagg, Sports Committee; and Tom Cullen and Carl Fisher, Refreshments Committee.

LOCAL BOY ON NEW HAMPSHIRE NINE

Frederic Colb, first baseman of last season's baseball team at the Winchester High School has batted for .500 to date for the Hedding, N. H., Athletic Association baseball team.

In eight games Fred has made 11 singles, three doubles and a home run. He is playing second base for the team, which has the reputation of being one of the smartest baseball aggregations in New Hampshire.

C. D. OF A. NOTES

Sister Ann J. Martin who has been confined to her home on Pickering street since her accident some weeks ago, is reported as improving somewhat in health.

Sister Mary Kelley of Hill street has returned from a visit to Bethel, Me., where she was the guest of her daughters, Sister Mabel K. O'Brien and Mrs. Sara Robinson. Incidentally Sister Kelley greeted her very newest grandchild, the new arrival at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. F. O'Brien.

Organist Mabel M. Coty has returned from an enjoyable vacation of two weeks which were spent at Hough's Neck

If the present plans of the Charitable Committee materialize the Court will present as its fall offering an old-time minstrel show with all the Exm's. Inasmuch as the Court possesses so much talent which is adaptable for a good lively show such an announcement guarantees another Court success. The next regular meeting on the first Thursday in September will no doubt see the completion of the plans for the show.

PLEASANTLY SURPRISED ON BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY

Mrs. Simon Deloria of 31 Salem street was pleasantly surprised on last Friday evening when she was the guest of honor at a party held at her home in honor of her 58th birthday.

A large gathering including many out-of-town guests were present when Mrs. Deloria's daughter, Mrs. Everett W. Kimball of Main street, placed in her mothers' hands a sheaf of greenbacks skillfully arranged to simulate a bouquet and a second bouquet of beautiful cut flowers. The guest of honor was also remembered with several other beautiful gifts for which she expressed her thanks simply.

Following the presentation of the gifts an entertainment program was enjoyed, including vocal and instrumental selections and exhibition dancing. The serving of a dainty collation rounded out the evening.

The condition of Officer Robert White of the Police Department underwent a change for the worst on Tuesday, and that evening he underwent an operation at the Winchester Hospital. He is reported as doing as well as could be expected.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

The feature pictures at the University for four days beginning Sunday are Ralph Ince in "Not For Publication" and "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary" with May Robson and Phyllis Haver. Political corruption, savoring of the "graft" stories of recent newspaper elaboration, plays an important part in the theme of "Not For Publication." The story deals with the timely subject of Parisian influences, motivated by politics, and the power they exert in governmental administration. The award of a great dam construction contract proves the bone of contention in this instance, with the alliance of a politician and a political boss on one hand fighting a militant newspaper on the other.

"The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary," which ran for more than 30 years on the stage, features May Robson in the title role and Harrison Ford, Phyllis Haver and Franklin Pangborn. The story deals with an old woman who thinks herself ready for the tomb, but who is rejuvenated by her nephew with the aid of her up-to-date nurse portrayed by Miss Haver. The nephew is in a distant city presumably studying to become a physician, and Aunt Mary is paying all expenses. He devotes most of the money sent him by Auntie to the perfection of an automobile motor.

For the last three days of the week the pictures are "Barbed Wire" with Pola Negri, and "Painting the Town" with Glenn Tryon and Patsy Ruth Miller. "Barbed Wire," a dramatic love story of gigantic power and universal appeal has been acclaimed the most unusual war picture ever filmed. It is unique in that it is not primarily a story of the battlefield itself; it reveals the dark currents of the back eddies from the time of the declaration of hostilities until after the armistice was signed. It is from the pen of Hall Caine, being an adaptation of Jules Furthman of the novel, "The Woman of Knockaloe."

"Painting the Town" is a rollicking farce comedy of a small town hick who "crashes" Broadway with a score of trick inventions. In the role of bucolic wise-cracker, Glenn Tryon is almost the whole show and establishes himself as one of the most promising comedians in the business.

CLOSING EXERCISES OF HEALTH CAMP

Dr. Harold A. Gale of Winchester, President of the Southern Middlesex Health Association, has announced that everything is in readiness for closing exercises of the Association's summer health camp at Lake Massapoag, Sharon Heights on Sunday afternoon, Aug. 28. Since early in July, 120 physically sub-standard children from the various towns and cities in the Southern Middlesex District have been living an outdoor life under medical and nursing supervision. C. Oliver Wellington of Belmont is Chairman of the Camp Committee in charge of the summer activities. Sun treament, supervised play, instruction in handicrafts, swimming, mid-morning lunch, and a two-hour rest period in the afternoon were included in the day's routine.

Miss Mary C. Hoisington, R. N., of Medford, Camp Director, states that the gain in weight of the boys and girls for he camp season totals 850 lbs. One boy has made the phenomenal gain of 14 pounds during the eight weeks.

Representatives of the American Red Cross Life Saving Service last week conducted tests a the camp and awarded certificates in the beginners' class to 28 girls and 19 boys. They also granted Swimmer's Certificates to six boys and two girls. The youngest of those receiving a Swimmer's certificate was a boy six years old.

Hiram Myers, photographer of the National Tuberculosis Association, visited camp this week and photographed typical scenes of the camp day for publication in the National Association's Bulletin.

The Salvation Army Band from Wonderland, the Sharon summer camp of the Army, gave two concerts during the season.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Miss Louise Packer of this town, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. William S. Packer of Yale street, was one of the younger players to make a good showing in the tennis tournament held at the Eastern Yacht Club, Marblehead this week. Louise has put in a busy summer, playing in most of the open tourneys around Boston. She has invariably done well and has been listed among the winners in a majority of cases.

Hon. and Mrs. Lewis Parkhurst of Oak Knoll are spending some time at Jefferson, N. H.

CAMP WINCHESTER

Three tribes featured the third week of the Winchester Council Boy Scout camp at Northport, Me.

The first was an over-night camping trip to Knights Pond. The boys left camp at noon and hiked full pack to the pond where the afternoon was spent in swimming tests and in erecting shelters. Then a fire was lighted with flint and steel by Fred Philbrick and supper prepared. After eating their fill the boys enjoyed a story telling hour with Dick Clarke's ghost story easily the feature. Then a night spent on a bough bed with every scout enough of a camper to enjoy a good night's sleep! Then a morning dip with breakfast of bacon, eggs and pan cakes following and the hike back to camp to compete a perfect 24 hours.

The second trip was by motorboat to visit the U. S. S. Arkansas anchored off Belfast. All scouts made this trip and for most boys it was a unique experience. The sailors were very friendly and the boys had a chance to sample many of the activities that go to make up a sailor's life.

The third trip was to Fort Knox at Bucksport. Reville sounded at 5 a. m. and after breakfast, all boys were transported to Belfast in time to catch the Banger steamer. Arriving at Bucksport, they ferried across the Penobscot to visit the old fort which was erected during the War of 1812. Flash lights in hand the scouts spent three hours in exploring the dungeons, powder magazines and passages that go to make up the interior of the old fort.

Camp Notes

"Bob" Whiting has completed his work for the Eagle Scout badge at Camp this summer.

The Life Saving class now consists of Lawrence Knowlton, Carl Eubanks, George Bartlett, "Pat" Hession and Robert Whiting.

Fred Philbrick, a member of the beginners' swimming class swam his 50 yards Saturday.

The Blues won the contest for the best play on Saturday night. Their play was entitled, "The Auction."

All Scouts are looking forward to the banquet on Thursday night at which time the prizes and awards will be made.

GEORGE S. EDDY

Dr. George S. Eddy died Monday, Aug. 22, at the summer home of his daughter, Mrs. George Hale Reed, in Little Compton. He had been ill almost a year, and his death was not unexpected.

Dr. Eddy was born in 1843, of old New England stock, his parents being of the little group who lived in Eddyville, East Middlebero. His school days were spent in Fall River. Entering the Harvard Medical School with the class of '61, he left to serve as surgeon of the gunboat Gettysburg during the Civil War, and saw active service in chasing the blockade runners, and in the storming of Fort Fisher. After this service he returned to Harvard, and was graduated in the class of '66.

His first practice was in Roxbury a brief term; from there he went to Savonville, where he had a short but fruitful service. Realizing, however, the possibility of a larger field, he established himself in the rapidly growing city of Fall River, where he served for 42 years, building up a practice that absorbed, night and day, all his enormous energy. He was the beloved physician, whose horses seldom rested but took him long journeys, far beyond the confines of the city. He developed remarkable powers as a diagnostician, and during his last years, was the leading consultant of the city.

In 1912, feeling that he must be freed from the constant strain of professional life, he retired, and made his home in Newton, where he lived until seven years ago he came to Winchester to make his home with his daughter.

He leaves four children; Joseph T. Eddy of West Newton, Lucius J. Eddy of Honesdale, Pa., Francis P. Eddy of Lewiston, Me., and Eleanor Eddy Reed. There are also seven grandchildren.

MISS DOOLEY SHOWERED

Miss Florence Dooley, daughter of Mr. John A. Dooley of 32 Pickering street, was tendered a novelty shower at her home Tuesday evening by a large group of neighbors and friends in honor of her approaching marriage to Theodore McKenzie of Fellsway, Medford, the date having been announced as Sunday, Sept. 4.

Miss Dooley was completely surprised when she found herself surrounded by her friends but soon recovered her composure sufficiently to express her thanks for the many handsome and useful gifts which she received.

Following the presentation of the gifts an entertainment program was enjoyed with a dainty buffet luncheon serving to round out a most pleasant evening. Miss Dooley is employed as a bookkeeper with a Woburn firm and a large delegation of her business friends were present at the shower. Mr. McKenzie, a popular automobile salesman, is well known among the young people of his home city.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

The Fire Department had two runs Wednesday, the first coming at 1:03 p. m. in response to an alarm from telephone Box 63. A room at the home of J. R. Talcott of 27 Eaton street was discovered to be full of smoke and the Central Station was notified. The firemen found the trouble was caused by a radio battery. There was no damage. At 8:23 in the evening smoke was seen hanging low over the Norris Block on Main street and the Department was notified by telephone. The men found the smoke to be issuing from the building's chimney as a result of burning papers in the heater.

Wednesday morning at 7:35 a Maxwell touring car, driven by Arthur A. Jacques of 4 Winter street, Stoneham, while in the act of turning from Nelson street onto Washington street collided with a Chevrolet sedan, driven by Ethel J. Lundberg of 34 Cypress road, Medford. Both machines were damaged and Miss Lundberg sustained a cut on her left hand. She was treated by Dr. F. R. Brown.

Mr. Newell C. Page of Maxwell road is reported as seriously ill in a hospital at Wolfeboro, N. H. Mr. Page was stricken while enjoying a vacation motor trip which was to take him through Maine and New Hampshire.

Miss Thelma Trott while enjoying a vacation from her duties with the Girl Scout Headquarters in New York City is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Trott of Mystic avenue.

The State Planning Board which has been conducting a tabulation of motor traffic on certain of the Town's highways announced that one of its men checked 6700 machines passing over Cambridge street on a recent Sunday between the hours of 7 in the morning and 8:30 at night; 3500 were checked on week days during the regular eight hours.

Many local excursionists are interested in the announcement that the regular excursion train of the Boston & Maine Railroad which has been running direct from Boston to Lake Sunapee, N. H., and return on Sundays will on this Sunday, Aug. 28, go via the Woburn loop, stopping at Woburn at 10:04 (Eastern Daylight Saving Time) to take on passengers. It should be remembered that the train makes no stop at Winchester.

Reports from Mr. Fred W. Asceltine of Cabot street who suffered a sun stroke last week at his summer home, Holderness, N. H., are to the effect that he was able to leave the hospital at that place on Tuesday. Mr. Asceltine has also been suffering from congestion of the lungs.

A recent wedding exemplified good selling on the part of the bride's family. Not that they were anxious to part with the daughter—not at all. But they recognized that conditions were right, that the prospective bridegroom was very desirable—so they used, although they knew it not, a subtle, instinctive salesmanship. The bridegroom does not yet realize that the crackling wood fires her father "sent" in the fireplace, and the chicken dinners mother provided were well-staged steps in a successful campaign to "make 'em want it."—Western Advertising.

Methods of Ancient Builders Stand Test

The builder of six thousand years ago, like the builder of today, had his problems, and his expedients antedated the methods of modern construction. "Brick for stone and slime for mortar" describes the method of the builders of the tower of Babel. That was the prevailing fashion even earlier.

The excavators at Ur have found a small amount of stonework also, but stone was scarce in that country. It had to be imported and was rarely used in building construction. They have also found columns and arches, inventions that associate themselves with the history of architecture throughout the ages.

The problem of decoration was not solved with materials and methods familiar enough to the building trade today. In that remote era we see the beginnings of a trade that has had six millenniums of development without changing in essentials. The first lessons embodied the principles on which cities and palaces and temples are being built today.

Civilization has since built for itself better habitations and "temples more divinely beautiful," but the later builders were not better builders than their predecessors in that remote antiquity at which the excavators have now arrived.—Kansas City Star.

INDIANS OF BOLIVIA RELATED TO INCAS

The Indian revolt in Bolivia, South America, is being carried on by a people colsely related to the ancient Incas of the Ardean Highlands, whose civilization, before the coming of the Spanish conquerors, was one of the most highly developed in the New World. A bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society tells of these highlanders and their past glories.

The Indians of Bolivia are Aymaras, says the bulletin, while the direct descendants of the Incas, in Peru, are known as Quichuas. The old Incas, at the height of their power, conquered the Aymaras of their day, but the Aymara land around Lake Titicaca was the holy land of the Incas, because they looked upon it as the origin of both their civilization and their blood. Because of this relationship the Aymaras received special privileges over the other vassals of the Incas. The full blood Bolivian Indians of today therefore, may be looked upon as representatives of the race from which the great Incan civilization sprang.

Sullen Toward Whites

The Bolivian Aymaras and the Peruvian Quichucas, are much alike in appearance and characteristics. Those of the highlands of both countries have developed huge chests in the rarefied air. Their active life of climbing has given them extra strong leg muscles. Both have dark reddish complexions, broad faces and black eyes. They are a sullen people, having little to do with the whites and apparently resenting their intrusion.

More than 50 per cent of the inhabitants of Bolivia are full blood Aymaras while nearly 30 per cent are of mixed blood, the so-called Cholas. The Cholas and the whites live for the most part in La Paz, the capital of Bolivia, and the other sizable towns. The village populations are almost wholly Indian, and large numbers of Indians also live on the agricultural estates, and the grazing lands, working usually for white owners.

Ancestors Built Great Cities

Although it is bitterly cold on the wind-swept, bleak, upland plains of Bolivia, the natives are scantily clad, most of them going bare-legged. They seem intent, however, on keeping their heads warm; and beneath their hats men wear woolen scull caps. They live chiefly on frozen potatoes and dried goat meat.

The great mass of the Indian population of Bolivia is illiterate. Many of the Indians cannot speak Spanish, and some who understand the language pretend ignorance to avoid contacts with the whites.

Yet the ancesters of these people produced great cities which give evidence of a high degree of culture. One of the most remarkable of the Inca cities was Machu Picchu, a city of refuge where Inca civiliation was kept alive during many centuries. The ruins of this city, hidden in almost inaccessible mountain fastnesses, were discovered by a National Geographic Society Expedition in 1912.

The most famous pre-Incan ruins are those of Tiahuanaco, in Bolivia, not far from Lake Titicaca. These are believed to be the remains of buildings constructed by the ancestors of the Aymaras. The walls, still standing, are composed of huge stones set wihout mortar. The stones were dressed so well by their ancient masons that they are in perfect contact and have remained as placed hundreds of years ago.

EARTHQUAKE ISOLATES WAILING PLACE

The Wailing Place of the Jews at Jerusalem, which has been barred to worshippers as unsafe since the recent Palestine earthquake, is one of the historic spots of the Holy City, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

The Wailing Place is situated just outside the western wall of the Temple in a quarter inhabited by Jews and many ink-black Mograbins from North Africa. During long years of Mohammendan dominion it was the nearest part of the sacred inclosure which a Jew dared approach.

A Medieval Custom

In a narrow alley between two walls, one low and insignificant, formed by backs of yards and Mograbin houses, the other a towering 60 foot buttress of the old temple since the Middle Ages, Jews have gathered on Friday afternoons and Saturdays to wail "for majesty that is departed, for walls that are overthrown," continues the bulletin.

The peculiar desolation of the sight has attracted attention from all parts of the globe. The wall itself rises sheer as a cliff, huge stone blocks from between whose unplastered crevices spring small sprigs of growing plants. Lower stones bearing Hebrew inscriptions have been worn smooth and shiny in spots by the foreheads of generations of mourners.

Women in shawls and old men in skirted robes and flowing locks mix with young Jews in European dress, recent immigrant colonists or "pioneers" among whom are occasionally seen costumes from the world of fashion. They seem resentful of onlookers, though the wailers themselves appear oblivious to gazing tourists as they repeat again and again a desolate chant which mourns the passing of the ancient glories of their nation. At times some self-appointed leader repeats the lines of a dirge and intermittently the others join in with the refrain, "We sit in solitude and mourn."

A Part of the Temple Walls

The wall at whose feet the wailing takes place is one of the retaining walls of the Temple. This famous structure was built on the summit of Mount Moriah, where it is said Abraham made his preparations for the sacrifice of Isaac, on a flat rock which later became the threshing floor of Ornan, the Jebusite. This threshing floor was purchased by David as an offering to the Lord, and here Solomon erected the Temple whose magnificence is traditional. The original building was destroyed by Nebuchadnezzar at the time of the captivity but it was rebuilt 70 years later.

This was the Temple enlarged and glorified by Herod about 18 years before Christ's birth, in which Christ conversed with the doctors as a child and from whose courts He cast out the money changers. The building was destroyed by the Roman Emperor Titus after his siege of Jerusalem in the latter part of the first century.

Present Site of Mosque of Omar

Upon the same site, and using part of the same foundational substructure, more than 500 years later the Mohammedan Emir Abd el Malek built the so-called Mosque of Omar, which still rears its magnificent dome and graceful arches over the old altar of Solomon, the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite, on the summit of Mount Moriah.

Jews are not allowed to enter the Temple inclosure and hence cannot approach this sacred Mohammedan shrine nearer than its outer walls. Inasmuch as these are believed to have been part of the substructure of the Temple itself, a section was selected by Jews of medieval times as a mourning place for the fall of their national stronghold. Wailing on Friday, eve of the Jewish Sabbath, has been uninterruptedly maintained from generation to generation. Not only Jews of Jerusalem, but visitors from other lands as well come to the temple wall to mourn. Many Jews in far away cities are said to send money for support of wailers to whom the spot is more accessible.

Amendment to By-Laws

TOWN OF WINCHESTER, MASS.

Adopted at Town Meeting on March 17, 1927

VOTED, That Article II of the By-Laws be amended by adding thereto the following new section under the caption "Cemetery Funds":

CEMETERY FUNDS

"Sect. 3. Funds, money and securities deposited with the Town Treasurer in accordance with the provisions of Section 19 of Chapter 114 of the General Laws, or otherwise, for the preservation, care, improvement, or embellishment of Wildwood Cemetery, or of burial lots therein shall be paid into the town treasury and all such funds, money and securities and the accounts thereof shall be kept separate from other funds, money and securities and accounts of the Town.

The Treasurer shall hold all such funds, money and securities subject to the order of the Selectmen and the Board of Cemetery Commissioners and shall invest and pay out the same and the income thereof on the orders of the Selectmen and said Commissioners or with their approval."

I hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of the amendment to Article II of the By Laws adopted by the Town of Winchester, Mass. at an adjourned session of the Annual Town Meeting of March 7, 1927, held on March 17, 1927, and approved by the Attorney General of Massachusetts on August 19, 1927.

BOWDOIN SQUARE THEATRE

At the popular Bowdoin Square Theatre beginning Monday the management will offer a program of surpassing worth. John Gilbert, Joan Crawford and Ernest Torrence will appear in that star Metro-Goldwyn offering, "Twelve Miles Out." It deals with rum-runners and hi-jackers and concerns the career of Jerry Fay who is a daredevil cycle rider of the whirl of death on an amusement pier and is in love with Daisy and is utterly disillusioned when he finds she is the mistress of Red McCue, a notorious bootlegger. Jerry turns hi-jacker, preying especially on McCue's trade.

Another offering will be that showing Lew Cody and Renee Adoree in "On Ze Boulevard" where spice, love and laughter hold sway to the delight of all. Ben Turpin will amuse in, "A Hollywood Hero" while the Pathe News together with five selected vaudeville specialties will make up the program. Opportunity night comes Wednesday and bargain vaudeville will be presented on Friday night. Concert every Sunday at 3. Free parking service to Bowdoin patrons. Beginning Sept. 5, Mystic Clayton, will top the entertaining program.

SAMARKAND: LEGENDARY HEAD OF MOSLEM

Samarkand, venerable city of Central Asia, has been the scene of a seris of recent clashes between the Soviet apostles of modernism and the conservative religious leaders of Islam.

The quaint city with the melodious name lies about 250 miles southwest of Tashhkent, Turkestan, on the Transcaspian railroad.

A City of 6000 Years

Perhaps nowhere in the Moslem world, except Mecca, could the Russians have invaded a more hostile territory to attack Mohammedanism, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society. According to ancient legend, Samarkand was the head of Mohammedanism and Mecca the heart. Two Arab missionaries visited this region. Hungry, they cut up a sheep and put it on the fire to roast. While the meat was cooking, they planned their work. They agreed that the on drawing the sheep's heart from the pot should go to Mecca, and that the one drawing the head should remain at Samarkand.

Samarkand is more than 6000 years old and once had a population of more than a million. Today it has fewer than 66,000 inhabitants. The Persians once called it the hub of the universe. When Alexander the Great destroyed it, in 329 B. C., it was a prosperous city surrounded by a 9-mile wall, pierced by 19 gates.

Famous Public Square

After the Russians took the city in 1868, they built a new city outside its western limits. A long, wide boulevard, shaded by tall poplars, now separates the two settlements.

The native city is a labyrinth of narrow, crooked, dusty streets, bordered with dirty mud walls of courtyards and one-story houses. In the business blocks cluster dilapidated booths, cluttered with edibles and garments. Bearded men and veiled women crowd the streets, dodging camels, donkeys, droshkies and high-wheeled carts, all mud-brown from the dust, while peasants, laden with produce from their farms and gardens, plod along to the public square.

Samarkand's registan, or public square, is one of the most famous in the world. It is the market place, parade ground, and meeting place for the inhabitants for demonstrations of rejoicing and protest. Paved with cobblestones it is inclosed on three sides by mosques where young Moslems are educated. The huge polychrome tile facades and melon-shaped towers, flanked with minarets 175 feet high, are splendid examples of Arabian architecture. Surrounding the courtyard inside each mosque are schools in whose cloisters, 10 by 12 feet, the students live with their instructors.

The fourth side of the square is occupied by ramshackle booths of odd pieces of lumber or tin, or strips of canvas on tall poles. They are filled with vegetables, fruits, and other commodities. Nearby are other booths where squatting natives sip coffee, smoke cigarettes, and gossip. As a public information bureau, the oriental cafe serves the purpose of newspapers. Fortune tellers, professional letter writers, and peddlars ply their professions where they find a shady place to sit. The registan also is the Samarkand employment agency.

From an elevated position above the surging mass of humanity, the riot of color suggests that the natives vie with the rainbow and each other. A man will go hungry for a single garment of brilliantly colored material. Green, red, purple, and yellow in all their hues will be seen on the same garment.

In a secluded spot in the old city, perhaps a half mile from the registan, is the tomb of the mighty Tamerlane, conqueror of Asia. It is an architectural gem, its graceful peacock blue dome rising above the dusty treetops.

A large park in the center of the Russian quarter is the hub of the new city from which wide, well-shaded streets radiate in all directions. They are all paved to the city limits. Then they become mere trails in the desert. Some pass through masses of ruins of Samarkand when it was at the height of its prosperity. One of these roads leads to the citadel, situated on a hill between the two cities. Its wall incloses a subterranean prison, an immense dark chamber about 30 feet deep. Prisoners were let down by ropes and it is said no one ever came out of it. Grooves worn by the ropes can still be seen. The Russian abolished the old-fashioned method of punishing the offenders and have built clean, wholesome and well ventilated jails.

CONSTANTINOPLE'S RUSSIAN REFUGEES PASS ON

All Russian refugees remaining in Constantinople were recently notified by the Turkish Governor of the city that they must leave Turkey wihout delay.

This forced movement of the remnant of the army of "White Russians" that fled to Constantinople when the revolution took place, brings to an end an unusual chapter in the story of a city that has seen more kaleidoscopic changes than most of its fellows, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. hadquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Colonels Commanded Hat Racks

By 1921 nearly 160,000 Russians had reached Constantinople. Most of them came when Wrangel's army was driven out of the Crimea. Boats were packed with refugees so that some of them died in an upright position during the voyage across the Black Sea and down the Bosporus.

At first the condition of these expatriates in Constantinople was pitiable. Many camped out on vacant spaes and others slept on the steps of mosques. Hundreds peddled flowers, cakes, dolls, and various trinkets. Others begged or hopelessly hunted jobs. One saw refined and cultured Russian ladies serving as waitresses in cafes and restaurants. Dignified professional men and army officers took care of hats and coats; and artists of ability hawked pot-boiler sketches of the jagged skyline of Constantinople.

Commission houses sprang up by the dozen for the sale of various heirlooms that the refugees had brought with them in their flight, and found they must sell to provide bread. In these places one could buy at bargain prices valuable jewelry, luxurious furs, bric-a-brac, weapons, and a variety of other personal belongings.

Few Left Made Good

Gradually thousands of these refugees were placed in Rumania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia where they could find work for which their educations and experiences fitted them. Recently the number of Russians in Constantinople had dwindled to about 2000. The days of Russian beggars and "hat boys" had long since passed; the few Muscovites left had all made fairly good places for themselves in the city's life.

If the Turkish edict is enforced consistently the people of Constantinople will feel its effects in business that must suspend. Probably the best restaurant in the city a few weeks ago, according to Western standards, was owned and operated by Russians. The best orchestras were under their control. Russian shopkeepers and clerks catered to the wants of the European and American colonies; and the most sought-after music teachers were Russians.

Color Erased From City

The departing Russian refugee leaves a city vastly changed from the old Constantinople. Much local color in the form of ragged, turbaned beggars, filthy streets, and the disarray of the Orient has disappeared. There is more Western snap to the street life than the old city has ever before seen. New pavements have been laid and the traffic moves in an orderly way, helped by wide-awake officers who wave little white and red batons.

To the traveler returning to Constantinople after an absence of several years, one of the most noticeable changes is in the banishing of street signs in French, English, German, and other European languages. Only signs in Turkish are now permitted. No single change has eliminated so much color from the street scenes as the passing of the fez. This bright head covering has been proscribed by law, and one sees now only the colorless straw and felt hats and the caps of Europe.

But the most astounding development has been in the appearance of the women. Where, a few years ago, one saw only heavily veiled figures, enveloped from head to foot in black draperies, he now meets bevies of women in knee-length dresses of pastel shades, flesh-colored stockings, cut-away shoes, and the wide hats of the vogue of the moment. Veils have disappeared, and their absence discloses that Turkish women, like their sisters of the West, have become excellent customers of the cosmetic venders. Constantinople's color has shifted from the male to the female of the species.

Chats With YOUR Gas Man

SWAN SONG OF THE CAN OPENER

The revolt of the race against the tin can and the paper box is bringing us back to an appreciation of good cooking. Gone or going are the days when the housewife cooks with a can opener.

And what has brought about this reform? Surely no woman wants to go back to the olden time of kitchen slavery when a good home-cooked meal meant hours of standing over a hot cook stove.

The answer is simple. The oven heat regulator, now standard equipment on all modern gas ranges, is bringing cooking back to its rightful place among the arts with consequent good effects on the health of the nation. Today a home baked ham "basted 'round with candied yams" takes no longer to set before their majesty, the American family, than a pale substitute from the Delicatessen. This new gas range bakes automatically by regulated heat, while the home maker is out of the kitchen entirely. No "watching" is required and no "over done" tragedies ever take place.

The reason that the can opener used to be so busy at 5:30 p. m. was because Mother didn't want to stay in the kitchen all afternoon. And now she doesn't have to. The modern gas range gets dinner.

WINCHESTER FOOTBALL CAPTAIN TO ENTER LAKE FOREST

It is reported that Charles "Spike" O'Donnell, captain of last year's football team at the Winchester High School, is to enter Lake Forest Academy Sept. 15, following in the footsteps of several star Woburn athletes of other years including "Tony" Colucci and "Bart" McDonough. "Spike" should prove a welcome addition to the football forces of the Western school as he has been known as one of the best ends around the Mystic Valley League circuit for the past three years. He was enjoying his best season a year ago and was playing slashing football when forced to give up the game when stricken with appendicitis, his absence from the line-up having much to do with Winchester's loss of the league title. Besides being a dependable performer on the gridiron O'Donnell is a baseball player with considerable experience. He plans to prepare at Lake Forest for Norwich where his older brother, Clarence, is already established as a member of the varsity football and basketball teams.

BATH ONCE THE "FLORENCE OF ENGLAND"

Bath, England, where tablets recently were erected in honor of two citizens who developed the celluloid film which made possible the motion picture, once was the favorite watering place of England, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

The city owes its name, growth and prosperity to the mineral springs around which it is built. They are the only hot springs in the British Isles and yield daily more than half a million gallons of water.

Founded by the Romans

While the Romans are known to have founded Bath in the first century and to have built an elaborate system of bathing places, legend has it that about 800 years earlier the medicinal qualities of the springs were discovered by Bladud, a British swineherd prince, continues the bulletin. Bladud was expelled from the court as a leper and wandered westward. By rolling in the mud where the famous baths now are located, he is said to have regained his health.

From the days of the Romans until the early part of the 18th century, Bath remained a humble English town, occupying the eastern bank of the Avon at a beautiful bend in the river about 12 miles south of Bristol. Then excavators uncovered old Roman relics. Visitors came from all corners of England and the Continent and the little town was overwhelmed. John Wood, a prominent Bath citizen and architect, was designated to lay out and build a modern city to accommodate the newcomers. Thus the slopes back of the old town that once were covered with forests became a series of beautiful terraces upon which handsome 18th century English houses are built. Numerous parks, terraced walks, circles and crescents add to the city's beauty. One writer called Bath the "Florence of England."

Visited by Royalty

Richard (Beau) Nash was appointed master of ceremonies of Bath when the leisure throngs became unwieldly and the streets were beset by footpads. Frequent attempts were made to discredit the resort but visits of royalty in 1734 and 1738 made the city a fashion center.

Mural tablets on houses and inns along the wide streets of Bath, attest its popularity. They bear such names as David Livingstone, Major Andre, Dickens, Edmund Burke, Sir Walter Scott, Dr. Johnson and James Boswell, and other internationally known persons. Gainsborough began his career at Bath and Jane Austen, Addison, Pope and Goldsmith visited and described the resort in their writings.

Bath's popularity was brief. In less than 30 years it began to give way to new English and Continental resorts. But the model 18th century city, with its beautiful homes and what is left of the bath houses, remains as a reminder of the gay center of less than 200 years ago.

Pump Room the Salon

The Pump Room, formerly the favorite meeting place of all the "Who's Who" of Bath, is deserted except for the occasional visit of an inhabitant who goes there to purchase a drink of the lukewarm spring water. It is a spacious stucco building, ornamented with two Corinthian pillars on either side of the doorway. An annex contains relics of Roman days, including intaglios and a small Saxon Cross said to have belonged to the Queen of Edward the Elder.

Next door the Roman baths are housed in a modern building. The central corridor leading from the street is flanked with a large concert hall, reading and drawing rooms. Beyond the steps leading to the bathing pool, which is 20 feet below the street level, is a gallery containing modern busts of famous Romans. When the Romans occupied Bath, it is believed the pool covered an acre. Now it is a rectangular pool 82 by 40 feet, surrounded by the original 12 colonnades that perhaps once supported a roof. The original lead floor, weighing 40 pounds to the square foot, also remains.

There are several other more modern baths, all within a radius of two blocks. Near-by is the Abbey Church which was built more than 400 years ago. Its numerous windows earned for it the title of the "Lantern of the West." It is said when a person of sufficient social standing arrived at Bath during its prosperous days, the four and twenty bells of the Abbey pealed a boisterous welcome.

VER-SUR-MER

Ver-sur-Mer, Commander Byrd's landing place in France, is a tiny village on a rough and rocky sector of the Norman coast, 30 miles due west of Deauville, and about the same distance southwest of Havre, according to a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Byrd might well have paraphrased another famous greeting when he landed on this historic coast, and said "Champlain, we are here," for it was from Honfleur, on this coast, that Champ'ain, in 1607, set out for his famous voyage to North America, the bulletin continues.

If Commander Byrd had had unrestricted choice of landing places, the coast near Ver would probably have been one of the last chosen. High cliffs rim the shore. There are wide beaches at low water but offshore are many hidden rocks and reefs, including the terrible Calvades Rocks that have taken heavy toll of life and shipping. Mixed with the sand of the beaches are rough pebbles, and the surface is pitted with numerous depressions.

The little coastal village off which the plane came to earth is properly Plage de Ver-sur-Mer, meaning the Beach of Ver by the Sea. The village of Ver is a mile or so inland. The beach is a modest little bathing resort, frequented more by the French than by tourists. The tide has a considerable ebb and flow, and a small sea wall has been built to prevent high water from reaching to the base of the cliffs.

On a hill near the beach is Mt. Fleury lighthouse. It is probable that the sight of this light led Commander Byrd to bring the "America" down at the place selected.

The water of the Channel off the Norman coast is exceedingly cold and only vigorous bathers enjoy bathing in it. Even the most hardy require liquid stimulents before and after dipping in the chilly Channel. That bathing costumes from Paris appear unusable for swimming is due, no doubt, to the fact that the wise mannequin at Deauville hangs her clothes in an expensive hotel room and never goes nearer the water than where waves wash the sand.

The collapsible rubber boat which Byrd and his companions used for landing was first devised by Byrd for the MacMillan Arctic Expedition of the National Geographic Society in the summer of 1925 when Byrd was in charge of three United States Navy planes which made extensive flights in the Far North.

Commander Byrd gave the boat tests in Washington and New York. It is a collapsible contrivance which occupies only a foot of cubic space when stored, but can be inflated and used as a raft for several men.

Caen, the nearest large town to Ver-sur-Mer, lies some 15 miles to the southwest and about 10 miles from the sea. It is known at least by sight to countless American travelers bound from Cherbourg to Paris by boat train, and its rich history and its status as a center for the study of Norman art entice many to pause. A sleepy village before the time of William the Conqueror, Caen was raised to importance by that ruler who made it his favorite residence.

Not far off is another of the Conqueror's cities, Bayeux. Its spirit has been caught by even the most casual observers from Cherbourg-Paris trains, for it is a sleepy old place of houses that seem dwarfed to toylike proportions by the huge towers of its cathedral. Though the city is visited only by thousands, it is known to millions through the famous Bayeux Tapestry, an embroidery 230 feet long which depicts the conquest of England. This remarkable piece of cloth lies in the Bayeux Museum.

The alighting of Commander Byrd's plan at eVr-sur-Mer is but the last of a notable list of historic occurrences in this region.

At Falaise, some 20 miles inland, William the Conqueror was born. At Caen, still closer to Ver, is his tomb. From Dives a little seaside village not unlike Ver-sur-Mer, William embarked with the 250,000 soldiers with whom he conquered England.

Some of the ships of the Great Spanish Armada were wrecked near Commander Byrd's landing place. One of these, the Salvades, gave its name in somewhat altered form to the local Department, which is called Calvados. From a port a little farther east, Honfleur, Champlain sailed in 1607 to found Quebec. It is to families of this region that most of the present French inhabitants of Canada trace their lineage.

Growth That Counts

Some men grow, others just swell up. It most frequently happens that the latter swell in the head, rather than elsewhere, and a little money largely contributes to this. True growth is marked by development of mind, heart, and soul.—Grit.

H. J. PICKERING TO MANAGE SPRINGFIELD LAUNDRY PLANTS

Mr. H. J. Pickering of Hemingway street, veteran service manager of the Winchester Laundries Branch of the New England Laundries, has been transferred and is to become district sales manager for the same corporations two plants in Springfield known as the city and Brightwood divisions.

This constitutes a distinct and well deserved promotion for the popular Mr. Pickering who became associated with the old Winchester Laundry as delivery manager 20 years ago last May. Later he became service manager and during the past few months has been district sales manager for the North Shore. During his long service with the local concern "Harry" saw its delivery equipment increase from the eight wagons with which he started as delivery manager to the present fleet of 98 motor trucks to which are added six horse drawn vehicles.

In his new position Mr. Pickering will be in charge of sales service for two plants covering a wide territory around Springfield and Brightwood, embracing Longmeadow, Westfield, Holyoke, Chicopee, Indian Orchard, Ludlow, Wilbraham, Atawan and Suffield. Harpersville and Windsor Locke in Connecticut. He is leaving Winchester to assume his new duties on Wednesday, Sept. 7 and will have the best wishes of his many friends for his complete success in his larger field.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

All High School students who have studied during the summer will have an opportunity to make up examinations in any of the regular High School subjects in which they have failed on Tuesday, Sept. 6. The examinations will be given in the High School building at 9 o'clock in the morning and at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. A student will receive a full year's credit for any subject in which he passes the make-up examination.

In order to be eligible to take examinations students must notify the High School office by Saturday, Sept. 3, what examinations they wish to take, and submit evidence of summer study in preparation for the examination.

WINCHESTER TOWN TEAM TO PLAY NORTH WOBURN

Winchester's new Town Team will play its first game tomorrow afternoon on Manchester Field at 3:15 when it will entertain "Steve" Colucci's North Woburn Club which already has one local scalp dangling from its belt. The visitors won rather a lucky verdict over St. Mary's this season but the Town Team management expects to reverse this decision Saturday. The resulting game should be a good one and give the fans an opportunity to size up Winchester's chances against the Highland Midgets on the holiday. The new team is running purely on "spec" and it is to be hoped that everyone will "dig down" when the hat is passed.

DEMPSEY RETURNS TO CONSTABULARY

Officer John Dempsey, recently appointed to the Winchester police force, is reported to have handed in his resignation and will return to the State Constabulary Sept. 12. Trooper Dempsey, it is said, left the Consabulary for the local force with the understanding that he would act as a motorcycle unit in the department. As this service was not established, he is returning to his former position with the State.

CALUMET CLUB MEETS SEPT. 8

A special meeting of the Calumet Club has been called for Thursday evening, Sept. 8, at which time the members will be asked to take action on an amendment to the by-laws relative to omitting the present entrance fees to the Club. The meeting is called for 8 o'clock.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

Marriage intentions have been filed with the Town Clerk as follows:

Russell Symmes of 7 Sanborn street and Elizabeth Whitney Hawkes of 105 Plain street, Rockland.

Rocco DeTeso of 15 Summer street and Mary Josephine Gigliotti of 30 Florence street.

Four bags of cement were stolen Tuesday night from the cellar of one of the houses in process of construction on Woodside road.

WINCHESTER RESIDENTS BENEFICIARIES UNDER WILL OF MARY L. BEGGS

Several residents of this town are named as beneficiaries under the will of Mary Louise Beggs of Woburn, recently offered for probate at East Cambridge. Mrs. Beggs, the widow of William Beggs, wealthy leather manufacturer, died on Saturday, Aug. 6.

The total amount of the estate is not divulged but the sum of $75,000 is left in trust, the income to be divided among the three grandchildren of the deceased, Isabel Louise Harvey, Daniel Richardson Beggs, Jr., and Nicholas Beggs, all of Winchester. The first grandchild to reach the age of 35 years shall receive a third of the bequest with accrued interest, the residue to be divided between the others upon their reaching a like age.

An additional trust fund of $20,000 is to be deposited with the Old Colony Trust Company of Boston, income from which is to go to Anna M. and Harriet B. Frye. Upon the death of either the entire income is to be paid to the survivor and upon the death of both the fund shall revert to the residue of the estate.

Several public bequests are listed, including $20,000 to the Choate Hospital, $10,000 to the Woburn Home for Aged Women, $3000 to the First Congregational Church of that city, $1000 to its Ladies' Charitable Reading Society and $500 to its Social Benevolent Society. Every person in the employ of the deceased is left either $500 or $200 according to his or her length of service. George H. Larivee, chauffeur, is left $2000, Michael H. Riley, caretaker $500.

The Beggs estate at 620 Main street, Woburn, including all personal effects, is left under the will to Mrs. Beggs' son, Sydney A. Beggs.

The residue of the estate is divided equally among the three sons, Sydney A. Beggs of Woburn, and William E. and Daniel R. Beggs of this town, all of whom are named executors without the necessity of furnishing bond.

SARAH C. LYDON

Sarah C. Lydon, wife of Daniel Lydon, died at midnight Wednesday at her home on Lloyd street, following a four months' illness. She was stricken early in April and was taken to the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital where she underwent an operation, returning to her home during the latter part of May. For a time she seemed to improve but during the past month she grew steadily weaker until her death became hourly expected.

Mrs. Lydon was 53 years of age and a native of Ireland, the daughter of Martin and Mary Crampton. Thirty-eight years ago she came to this country and had spent most of her life since that time in Winchester, having been widely known and universally esteemed by a wide circle of friends. She was a member of the Married Ladies' Sodality of St. Mary's Church.

In 1904 she was married to Daniel Lydon who survives her with one daughter, Miss Esther Lydon of Winchester. Three sisters, Miss Margaret Crampton of Winchester, Mrs. Barbara Lyns of Everett and Mrs. Mary Lawless of Peabody also survive with one brother, Michael Crampton of Medford.

Funeral services will be held on Saturday morning, Sept. 3, from the late residence, 9 Lloyd street, with a high mass of requiem in St. Mary's Church at 9 o'clock. Interment will be in Calvary Cemetery.

Luella H. Noyes, Winchester—addition to present dwelling at 1 Watson place.

James N. Clarke, Winchester—add and inside finishing at 58 Bacon street.

Mrs. Frances M. Carter of this town is counted one of the expert yachtswomen who sail out of Gloucester where she has a summer home on Eastern Point. Mrs. Carter sails one of the rugged German sonder boats, dubbed "Skeezix," and has acquitted herself well in her first year of racing competition as a skipper.

NEWLY ORGANIZED TOWN TEAM TO PLAY DOUBLE-HEADER LABOR DAY

Winchester's newly organized Town Team will swing into action on Labor Day when it will oppose the Highland Midgets of Woburn in a baseball double-header, the first game to be played at 10 a. m. on Library Park, Woburn, with the second scheduled for 3:30 in the afternoon on Manchester Field. This should ensure the local fans two worth while games for the last holiday of the summer as the Midgets can always be relied upon to put up a scrappy article of ball.

The new nine is the result of the St. Mary's B. B. C. having decided to hang up following the disasterous battle with the Arlington Town Team a couple of weeks ago. St. Mary's has had rather an in and out season, being up against it for players on nearly every Saturday. It has lost several games to clubs which it might easily have defeated had its lineup been at full strength. Manager Melly decided to call it a season after the Arlington game and it looked for a time like the end of baseball in Winchester for the year.

Feeling that the local fans were at least entitled to a run for their money and believing that Labor Day would not be at all natural without a baseball game with Woburn, Officers "Dukes" Farrell and "Mex" Kelley decided to get together a club and stage a double-header with the Midgets.

Several of the St. Mary's players have signified their willingness to play for the new outfit and the positions left vacant will be filled with capable performers. The original plans called for the appearance of Francis Tansey, star left hander, upon the pitching rubber in one of the holiday games but Francis has decided to pitch in New Hampshire on Labor Day, so another hurler had to be secured. "Red" Cadigan, fiery-thatched veteran from Arlington, will pitch the morning game at Library Park with "Mex" Kelley on the points for Winchester in the afternoon.

Big Mark insists that he will be "right" out there the holiday, having given his salary wing a good rest since early season. His wrist which was giving him a lot of trouble at that time has come along nicely and the stalwart John-Law intimates that he will be as good as ever.

Nothing would please local baseball followers more than to see Kelley check in with one of his old time pitching performances and it goes without saying that the big policeman will give everything he has to make good.

Woburn will send Harold "Lefty" Hatch, last year's star high school fork-hander, against the locals in the morning battle with the rotund veteran, "Kiko" Weafer, in the points on Manchester Field. Anytime the last named starts pitching against Winchester he seems to go just a bit better than usual and the locals will find him an cinch on next Monday.

Acting on the supposition that there would be no more games on Manchester Field this year the men of the Park Department erected the football and field hockey goal posts early this week. It now looks as if they would have the fun of taking some of them down since the Town Team does not expect to quit with the Labor Day attraction.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

In observance of their 15th wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Scott, well known residents of the Highlands, kept open house and received about 200 of their friends last evening. Guests were present to extend congratulations from Winchester, Lynn, Andover, Quincy, Dorchester, Cambridge, Arlington, Swampscott and New Jersey.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott were married in this town 15 years ago by Rev. John W. Corbett of St. Mary's Church. A pleasing incident of the reception last evening was the attendance of Miss Mary Scanlon of Lynn, who was their bridesmaid. In addition to many beautiful gifts of crystal, the couple received tokens of linen, cut glass and articles of furniture.

An orchestra provided a musical program and played for the dancing, while a program of singing and playing was given by a group of guests. Among those who contributed were "Tom" Quinn of Cambridge, the well known radio singer; Mrs. Mary McGrath, soloist; Mr. and Mrs. Mark Kelley, singing and playing; James and Dorothy Horn, singing and dancing, and others.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Roche of Westley street are spending the week at Hyannis.

CALUMET CLUB NOTES

There wil be a special meeting at the Clubhouse on Thursday, Sept. 8. All members are requested to be present as matters of particular importance will be brought up at the meeting.

Festivities will be in full swing in a few weeks. Great preparations are being made for one of the biggest seasons the Calumet has ever had. The various committees are hard at work on plans to give the members plenty of opportunity to enjoy themselves and the officers feel that their plans will meet with the approval of all the members.

This column will soon be functioning regularly and members and the community will be apprised of what is to take place at the Calumet and also what is going on there.

The officers will be pleased to receive applications for membership from these who would like to be connected with the Calumet Club. They can be assured of good fellowship and plenty of amusement. New comers to town are invited to look us up with the idea of becoming members.

MISS McCRAVEN SHOWERED

Miss Dorothy McCraven of this town was surprised last Friday evening when she entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Kilcoyne to find it very prettily decorated and about 35 relatives and friends gathered there, the occasion being a novelty shower in her honor.

The bride-to-be was the recipient of many beautiful and useful gifts including linen, cut-glass, silverware and many other things.

Miss McCraven is soon to become the bride of Mr. Thomas J. Kilcoyne of 21 Chester street, Winchester.

Entertainment was furnished by Miss Margaret Fallon of Stoneham and Mr. Thomas Fallon and Miss Theresa Sullivan of Winchester.

ONE HOUSE AND TWO STORES ENTERED THIS WEEK

The local police have been busy this week investigating three minor breaks which were made during Monday afternoon and early Tuesday morning in widely separated sections of the Town.

Monday evening Headquarters was notified that the residence of Mr. James H. Ahern had been entered sometime during the family's absence that afternoon and that several articles were missing.

Early the following morning Sergt. Thomas F. Cassidy and Officer John F. Hogan discovered that two stores had been broken into on upper Main street. The two policemen were trying doors along their beat when they noticed glass on the ground in front of the tailor shop at 872 Main street, occupied by Lewis Jodice of Somerville. A closer inspection revealed the fact that the door had been forced and that a window had been broken.

Upon entering the store it was found to be in a ransacked condition and a check-up revealed several articles missing. Going into the basement of the shop they found that the partition had been broken and that the adjoining bakery, conducted by Miss Mary Devlin of Woburn, had also been entered. Apparently nothing had been taken from the latter establishment.

A thorough investigation was made at once and it was announced at Headquarters last night that the police were working upon a significant clue which might lead to arrests at any time.

UNION SERVICE AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. Grady D. Feagan, Noted Southern Preacher to be in the Pulpit

Rev. Grady D. Feagan, now of Lowell but formerly of Macon, Georgia, will occupy the pulpit of the First Baptist Church next Sunday. It is the last of the union services held this summer in which the Baptists, Congregationalists and Methodists have joined. His topics will be, morning: "The Living Faith;" and in the evening, "The Living Word."

Dr. Feagan was greeted by a good summer audience last Sunday although the rain interfered somewhat in the evening. He was assisted by Miss Flora MacDonald, Gospel Singer, who will also sing next Sunday.

BIRTH

Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Russo are the parents of a daughter, born Aug. 26 at their home, 7 Quigley court.

ARTHUR H. LOFTUS DIED OF INJURIES SUSTAINED WHEN CAR HIT MILK WAGON

Arthur Henry Loftus, 30, of 91 Yorktown street, Cambridge, a former well known Winchester boy, died soon after noon on last Sunday of injuries sustained when a milk wagon which he was driving on Winthrop street in Medford near the Winchester line was struck by an automobile driven by Martin H. Johnson of 31 Monument street, Charlestown. The accident occurred shortly after 7:30 in the morning as Loftus who is employed as a driver for H. P. Hood & Sons Milk Company, was returning to the barn in Medford after finishing his Winchester route on the West Side of the town. The young man was accompanied by his brother, Mathew, and was rather earlier than was his custom.

He had reached a point on the road just over the crest of a slight hill near the town line when the automobile driven by Johnson approached, also going in the direction of Medford. According to one account of the accident Johnson's machine skidded as he attempted to pass Loftus, striking the rear wheel of the latter's wagon and tipping it over on its side.

Both Loftus and his brother were pitched from the wagon onto the ground, the former being badly battered about the head and rendered almost instantly unconscious. One of the first to arrive at the scene of the accident was Coleman Flaherty of this town who with Johnson and Martin Kearns of Grape street, Woburn, took the injured young men to the Lawrence Memorial Hospital in Medford in Kearns' machine. The horse who was thrown to his knees by the force of the collision made good his escape and returned to the Medford barn, said to have been little the worse for his experience.

At the hospital it was found that Arthur Loftus had sustained a fractured skull and other injuries. He died shortly after noon without regaining consciousness. His brother, Mathew, who was suffering from shock was found to have sustained a concussion and cuts about the head and face as well as some bad body bruises. He was later removed to his home after treatment.

The wreckage of the milk wagon with the battered automobile and broken bottles caused quite a tie-up on Winthrop street and it was some time before normal traffic conditions were again attained.

Arthur Henry Loftus was born in Winchester, April 28, 1897, the son of Ellen Reddy and the late Martin Loftus. He grew up in Winchester and attended the public schools, continuing to make his home here until about two years ago when his family moved to Cambridge. His father died during the past year.

Following the entry of the United States into the World War, Arthur enlisted at Boston July 26, 1918, training at Dunwoody Naval School, Minn., for service in naval aviation. He qualified as Quartermaster, 3rd class before he was honorably discharged Jan. 16, 1919. He was a member of Winchester Post, 97, American Legion, and had been for some time employed as a driver in Winchester for the H. P. Hood & Sons Milk Company. Few young men have been more highly esteemed by a wider circle of friends than was Arthur Loftus, his sunny disposition and sterling worth having endeared him to all with whom he came in contact.

Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Ellen Loftus, a sister, Miss Elizabeth Loftus and a brother, Mathew Loftus, all of Cambridge.

The ceremony was performed in the rectory of the new Holy Name Parish at 5 o'clock and was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents. The attendants were Miss Catherine O'Connor, sister of the bride, and Harry Murphy, the groom's brother.

The singing aviators, an advertising scheme fostered by one of the big tobacco companies, made their appearance in Winchester Wednesday afternoon shortly before 6 o'clock. The men were in a huge Fokker plane and could be heard plainly by those in the Center until the arrival of the proverbial steam train at Winchester Station.

Henry Bridge of Lloyd street returned to Winchester this week from Pemp's Pond in Andover where he has been serving as life guard and swimming instructor at a summer camp since the first of July.

Wendell D. Mansfield, Faculty Director of Athletics at the Winchester High School returned to Winchester the latter part of last week after spending the summer as director of Camp Mechano on Sebago Lake, Me. Coach Mansfield is looking "in the pink" and ready to tackle the coming campaign upon the gridiron. With a large and likely looking squad of veteran material on hand he is rather optimistic about his football team's chances this fall. Many of the boys have already been limbering up a bit with the pigskin.

WINCHESTER BOY WON ROCKPORT NET TITLE

Francis E. Smith, Jr., of Winchester won the boys' singles title in the Junior Open Tennis Tournament held this week at the Rockport Country Club. Strangely enough in the final match of the tourney he was pitted against another local boy, Lawrence Freeburn, the three resulting sets showing plenty of good tennis.

Lawrence Palmer, Frank Carleton and James Brown were other Winchester boys who participated.

SCHOOL DEPARTMENT NOTES

The schools will officially open on Wednesday, Sept. 7.

The Department calls the attention of the parents to the days and hours for the special mental tests given to pupils who are under age. The Department's ruling is that a child to be admitted to the kindergarten must be five years of age on or before Jan. 1 following the opening of school in September. A child to be admitted to the first grade must be six years of age on or before Jan. 1 following the opening of school in September.

If the parent has a child who is not of age to enter, but who believes that the child is more advanced mentally than his age would indicate, he may arrange with the office of the Superintendent of Schools for an appointment for a special mental examination.

The only days upon which the examinations will be given will be as follows: Sept. 1, 2, 3, 6 and 7. Appointments will be made from the hours of 9 to 12 and 1 to 5. The School Department must insist that the tests be given on these days.

All pupils must be vaccinated before entering school. au12-it

GRANADA THEATRE

Richard Dix, most popular of the male screen stars, is appearing in his newest picture "Man Power" at the Granada Theatre in Woburn the last three days of this week. It is putting it mildly to say that Dix has never had a better screen role than the former Tank Corps Captain who gets down on his luck. He secures a job into which he puts his heart because the daughter of his boss is the girl he loves. "Man Power" has plenty of that certain something which has always been associated with Dix dramas—speed. The story moves at a whirlwind pace and the climax showing the hero running a huge tractor into a breach in a dam is a real thrill. In spite of its melodramatic tempo the picture has a vein of humor running through it. Pretty Mary Brian heads the supporting cast. The five act vaudeville bill for the last three days of this week, is unusually good.

On Labor Day the Granada will run continuous to accomodate its many patrons and will offer as its screen feature Raymond Griffith in, "Time to Love." "Time to Love" rocks with anyone of the big comedy hits released this year. Mr. Griffith performs in his inimitable high hat way and has every person in the audience screaming. A number of gags that are new to the screen are introduced in this one. Vera Veronia, the new screen find, and William Powell head the supporting cast. The five act vaudeville bill for next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday is headed by Jack Mundy and Company in "All In Fun." Mr. Mundy is one of vaudeville's best known stars and his act is a decided treat. The other four acts are up to the Granada standard. The Granada Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Chester Mason, and Roy Frazee, organist, will present musical specialties in addition to the screen and variety features.

WINCHESTER ATHLETES LEAVING TO ATTEND MAINE PREP SCHOOLS

Several Wincheser athletes of other years will leave town this week for the respective prep schools in Maine which they will attend during the coming year. Flavio "Wop" Rolli and "Charlie" Cassidy leave Friday for Eastern Maine Conference Seminary at Bucksport while Wilfred "Jocko" Prue is to enter Maine Central Institute at Pittsfield. Francis Tansey will join his mates at "Conference" after the close of the baseball season and Floyd "Bud" Robinson is to enter Ricker Classical Institute at Holton later in the fall. Rolli, Cassidy and Tansey were at "Conference" a year ago.

DRUNKEN DRIVER IMPERSONATED FRIEND

He claimed he was John H. Powers of Billerica when he was stopped by officer Archie O'Connell of the Police at 3:35 last Sunday morning at Symmes corner, and he had a license bearing that name at the time of his arrest. Subsequent events, however, proved that the license was not his own but the property of a friend who was the owner of the car which the would-be Powers was driving when taken into custody by the local patrolman.

Officer O'Connell's suspicions were aroused as he noticed the machine approaching him in wide zig-zags along Main street, and when it came abreast of him he signalled the driver to stop.

When the man did so the patrolman's suspicions were confirmed and he escorted the operator to headquarters where an investigation of the case was begun.

It proved interesting. The prisoner turned out to be one Harold M. Walsh of East Boston despite the fact that he maintained stoutly for a time that his name was Powers, that his home was in Billerica and that the license to operate which he had in his possession was his own. The prisoner is later said to have admitted "borrowing" the car for a ride. Its rightful owner, John H. Powers of Billerica, whom Walsh impersonated, refused to prosecute when appealed to by the authorities.

Meanwhile Walsh was locked up charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, with driving without a license and with drunkenness. He appeared in the District Court at Woburn Monday morning and was found guilty on the three counts by Judge Morton. A fine of $75 was imposed for the drunken driving with an additional $15 for driving without a license. The drunkenness charge was filed. Failing to produce the money with which to pay his fines Walsh was committed to jail at East Cambridge.

M. C. W. G. NOTES

On next Thursday evening the first meeting of the fall-winter season will be held in K. of C. Hall.

After the quiet and inactivity of summer we are "in condition" for a strenuous winter program which has been arranged by Chairman Kane of the Charitable Committee.

The late Laura F. Lord who passed away last week Wednesday at her home in Dover, N. H., was a native of Winchester and will be remembered by many of the older residents of the town. She was the wife of George T. Lord and made her home for a time in Malden before settling in Dover, N. H., in 1914. Besides her husband she is survived by a daughter, son and a brother.

WINCHESTER MAN INJURED WHEN TRUCK OVERTURNED

Michael Nelson of 82 Cross street and James Doherty of 6 Downer court, Dorchester were taken to the Winchester Hospital shortly before 11:30 last Friday forenoon after the Dodge truck in which they were riding north along Main street overturned at Symmes corner.

The accident was caused when the machine, which was owned and driven by Nelson, got its front wheel caught in the car tracks in such a manner as to cause it to tip over, throwing its occupants to the ground.

Both men sustained cuts about the head and face and were taken in the police car by Officer James Donaghey to the hospital where they were treated by Dr. R. W. Sheehy. The truck was found to have been somewhat damaged and was towed to the Central Garage.

William "Willie" Allen, well known clerk at Hevey's Pharmacy is enjoying a vacation in New York. He plans to spend some time in New Hampshire before returning to Winchester.

You can't look at a tire and tell how far it will run

YOU CAN'T SEE a tire carcass because it is covered by the tread. Yet the way this carcass is built tells how far the tire will run.

Dunlop has had 39 years to learn all the hidden points where tires wear. Dunlop carcasses are built from the best long fibre cotton, spun in Dunlop's own mills into the famous Dunlop cable-twist cord.

These cords are elastic, so they give and take as your tire runs; strong, so they resist constant load and pounding. They build the best possible foundation for the Dunlop tread—the toughest rubber development known.

Thus Dunlop's extra years of experience build added value into every vital tire-part. That is why, not one Dunlop—but every Dunlop—gives you more service than you can reasonably expect.

We recommend that you put Dunlops on your car

WINCHESTER MAN IN NATIONAL RIFLE MATCH

Specially selected by their governor as members of a state team of civilian marksmen, 13 expert shots from Massachusetts arrived at Camp Perry Ohio, Sunday to take part in the National Rifle and Pistol Matches, which opened yesterday and continue until Sept. 18. Included in the members of the Massachusetts team is Walter F. Gurney of 13 Hemingway street, this town. Mr. Gurney, who is a member of the Arlington Rifle Club, has won a number of medals, including the much coveted sharpshooters medal. He has taken part in state contests, but this will be his first appearance in a national event.

Civilian participation in the national matches will be emphasized this year more than ever before. Not only will civilian teams from most of the states take part in the matches, but a great number of individual civilians have gone to Camp Perry to participate as independent competitors. Every competitor will be given an opportunity to take a course in the small arms firing school, where the latest doctrines and methods of marksmanship training are being demonstrated by selected regular Army officers from the Infantry School at Fort Benning, Georgia.

BOWDOIN SQUARE THEATRE

Mystic Clayton, the great Oriental seer and Crystal gazer returns to the popular Bowdoin Square Theatre on Monday after an extended trip around the world. He is regarded as a man gifted with rare psychic power and will answer the most difficult questions of a personal or business nature. He will also give advise on questions of the sweethearts and mothers, missing friends and relatives and give a demonstration of his super-mystic powers. On Friday morning at 10 a special performance will be given to ladies only at which time he will answer questions on domestic affairs and other matters. Jackie Coogan, Claire Windsor and Herbert Rawlinson will appear in the picture feature, "The Bugle Call" a story of Indian warfare which will be highly enjoyable.

Another offering will be "Slaves of Beauty" with Earle Foxe, Olive Tell and others of screen prominence. Big Boy in "Atta Baby" and the Pathe News will find favor. Apart from Mystic Clayton there will be other high grade vaudeville specialties. Opportunity night comes Wednesday with bargain vaudeville presented on Friday night. Concert Sunday at 3. Free parking service to all Bowdoin patrons.

WATCH OUT FOR POISON IVY

A bad case of poison ivy can ruin your vacation. Prevent this catastrophe by learning to recognize the plant and then keep away from it.

The plant can easily be identified and consequently instantly recognized. There are three shiny or waxy leaves (3, the same number as the letters in "ivy"), two of which are opposite each other and short stalked, while the third is long stalked.

Persons often confuse woodbine with the ivy plant. Woodbine, however, has five leaves instead of three and its berries turn a deep blue while ivy berries change from green to a yellowish white color.

Poison ivy as well as woodbine often trails along the ground or climbs the fences, brush or trees. But just remember that the ivy has three shiny or waxy leaves and you will make no mistake.

The poisoning usually occurs as a result of direct contact with the plants. If you realize that you have come in contact with poison ivy before the appearance of the rash, wash the part thoroughly with soap and hot water, being careful not to let the water touch unexposed areas of the skin.

The intense itching of ivy poisoning can usually be relieved by immersing the affected part in water as hot as possibly can be borne. Towels dipped in hot water can be used for treatment of the face. Cooking soda dissolved in water and applied by means of bandages is a good treatment. Do not have the bandages tight and change them frequently.

"A bad case of ivy poisoning should have the attention of a physician, especially if accompanied by fever, severe pain, or a headache."

Engineers of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway visited Winchester this week with plans for the proposed new electric switches which are to be installed in the business center of the town. The engineers are reported as stating that they will begin work on the new project as soon as possible. It would be well to have the switches in good working order before the advent of winter when many believe that the mechanical devices will need plenty of assistance.

ON TO SCHOOL

With summer vacations drawing to a close, pupils of our schools and their parents should turn their minds to the important business of continuing youth's education.

The recent flight of Lindbergh is an inspiring example of seeing the task through. Just as Lindy turned his plane East and set out for Paris, so must the student turn his thoughts toward our educational institutions with the determination, "On to School."

We should employ as much determination, zeal and thoroughness in continuing this great adventure as Lindy did in his flight to France. The happy partnership of Lindy and his plane, which he termed "we," finds parallel in our partnership with our schools. We should unite the spirit of youth with the spirit of education, just as Lindy joined the "Spirit of America" with the "Spirit of St. Louis."

Lindbergh did not make his trip primarily for gain but for accomplishment. However, the former proved a valuable by-product. Let us follow his example, and, as he did, continue our flight in education for the good of the nation and the cause of progress, as well as for the returns to youth. Though the impulse is unselfish its fruits are substantial, for out of such enterprise springs the inspiration that generates creative power. A hundred plans in aviation are maturing because of Lindy's signal achievement. A thousand advantages accrue from the achievements of education.

Pupil no less than aviator must follow through to attain success. Lindy did not stop with the acclaim of the world ringing in his ears. He had just begun his start on a constructive career. He had finished but one lap of the race. The same application can be made to commencement and promotion in our schools; these are but steps to a higher service.

Parents are reminded that Lindbergh's backers had no guarantee of any returns. Loyalty and admiration for the spirit of this youth and the cause he championed inspired them to make any necessary sacrifices. This should be the attitude of parents and taxpayers who appreciate that education is the foundation for life.

It is timely, then, right now, when school days are just ahead, to turn our eyes toward our schools, also toward our boys and girls called on for an important decision, and sound the slogan, "On to School."

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB NOTES

Several club members attended the annual meet of the American Canoe Association, held at Sugar Island, Gananoque, Ontario, during the weeks of Aug. 7 and 14. Mr. Herman Dudley Murphy, the veteran sailing canoist, entered some of the sailing races and he was accompanied in camp by his daughter, Miss Carlene Murphy. Kenneth Pratt, Winthrop Palmer, Edward Sandberg and Alan Hovey, were the other "Winchesterites" in attendance. Sugar Island proved to be a delightful camping ground and throughout their stay, the party found the weather to be nearly ideal.

The canoe races were held on Friday and Saurday, Aug. 12 and 13, and consisted of the usual events. Clubs from most of the eastern cities were represented and a few of the Canadian clubs sent paddlers to compete. The Winchester entries in the half-mile straight-away races, did not succeed in placing, but while they failed to be among the leaders, they gained in experience and made the first local entries in an international meet, in a number of years.

Miss Murphy entered the girls' single-singles and double blades' singles, winning each event. Kenneth Pratt demonstrated his prowess as a "trick canoist," by finishing second in the tail end race. He was beaten by the former Canadian single-blade champion, but finished well ahead of any of the other contestants.

The paddlers are now practicing each evening in preparation of the coming Labor Day meet, to be held at Canobie Lake. To properly complete the season, they may also enter the fall meet run by the New England Amateur Rowing Association.

It has been decided to run a club dance on Saturday evening, Sept. 10. As members are now returning from their vacations, a good sized gathering is expected. The Entertainment Committee is now engaged in arranging the details, and all effort will be made to obtain the best of music. On the afternoon of the 10th, an interclub regatta is to be given. The events will consist wholly of the so-called novelty races over a short course. All canoists are asked to attend this, and to go into the events.

The Tennis Committee is arranging a singles tournament, which will start Sept. 11. It is understood that cups will be awarded to the winner and the runner-up. Those wishing to enter should sign up without delay.

Letter-carrier William Carroll of the local Postoffice force is enjoying his vacation at Provincetown.

RUNAWAYS RETURNED TO PARENTS

Officer Charles J Harrold of the Police, while patrolling his beat in the Symmes corner district last Friday evening about 6:30, came upon two nine-year-old boys who were wandering about in such a manner as to arouse his suspicions.

After questioning the youngsters Officer Harrold escorted them to Police Headquarters where they finally admitted that they were runaways. They gave their names as Frank Mulvey of 102½ George street, Roxbury, and Albert Thatcher of 1311 Washington street, Roxbury.

The police of Station 9 in that district were notified and soon were in touch with the boys' parents. Later in the evening Mr. Mulvey arrived in Winchester to escort his wandering son and the latter's friend to their homes.

Postmaster and Mrs. George H. Lochman of Kenwin road have returned from a vacation at Twin Mountain, N. H.

Harris Richardson of Richardson's Market has returned to Winchester from an extended motor trip through Maine, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. He reports fine weather during his absence. Must have gone with you, Harris.

THE HOME PAPER

(Edward W. Barrar, in New York Times)

When I packed my portmanteau I said
I am sick of the everyday grind
Of dissension and scandal and blame,
And I'm going to leave them behind.
For a month I'll forget there is aught
Save harmony under God's dome,
But I find that I can't eat or sleep
If I don't get the paper from home.

The best minds have commended, I said,
All the books I am taking to read.
There's biography, fiction and verse
With a pipe they'll be all that I need.
But I sit without turning a page
Of the liveliest quarto or tome,
And there's no joy at all in a smoke
If I don't get the paper from home.

Though the sky may be cloudless, the surf
In all ways is best for a swim,
Though a new friend I've found makes me feel
That I mean something real to him;
And another new friend snuggles close
On the beach in the gathering gloam,
True as truth, he, the dog is a dud
When I don't get the paper from home

Editor's Note

Apropos of the above we might repeat a story recently told us. It seems that during early August a party of local tourists, after a week without the sight of a paper of any kind, arrived in a small New Hampshire town and paused for luncheon at a quaint little rooming house. As they entered the dining room they noticed lying upon a table near them the latest issue of the Star. Without waiting to learn who the owner might be they seized the copy and were perusing it eagerly when their attention was attracted by a pleasant little lady who seemed worried about something. Noting the friendliness of the tourists she made bold to request them not take away her copy of the Star as she hadn't had a chance to entirely read it. Introductions followed and everyone enjoyed a bit of the glow aroused at meeting unexpectedly a friend from "the old home town."

ARTHUR H. LOFTUS DIED OF INJURIES SUSTAINED WHEN CAR HIT MILK WAGON

Funeral services were held from the late residence, 91 Yorktown street, Cambridge, Thursday morning, followed by a solemn requiem high mass in St. Mary's Church, Winchester. A delegation from Winchester Post, 97, American Legion, with the Post Colors escorted the body to the church and there was a naval guard of honor from Charlestown. Rev. Fr. John P. Sullivan was celebrant of the mass with Rev. Fr. George H. Quigley, deacon; and Rev. Fr. Nathaniel J. Merritt, sub-deacon. The church was filled with relatives and friends of the young man, including a large delegation from H. P. Hood & Sons Milk Company. There were many beautiful floral tributes. Edward Boyle, Peter Cullen, George Joyce, Frank Zaffina, Timothy Callahan and William Rogers, all of Winchester, served as bearers.

Following the services the flag draped casket was borne from the church to a waiting gun caisson, and escorted by the military, drawn to Calvary Cemetery where the interment took place. The committal prayers were read by Father Quigley. Three volleys were fired over the grave by the bluejackets and taps were sounded by a marine bugler from the Navy Yard.

"THE LITTLE SPITFIRE"

Somerville Players Opening Attraction

New edition of Viano's Somerville Players under the direction of James H. Doyle to usher in 1927-1928 fall and winter season Labor Day evening with a sprightly comedy hit in which laughter ripples and rolls for its entire three acts.

Never before has there been the volume of interest shown on the part of the Somerville public in anyone theatrical venture as that which has come forth in the announcement of the new season which is about to open at the Somerville Theatre. The management have been the recipients of hundreds of letters from drama lovers expressing their well wishes for the lasting success of the new company. The management realize that a stock company is essentially the vehicle through which the dramatic culture of a municipality is expressed and they intend to do every thing possible to bring to Somerville the very best plays the market offers. For in bringing this form of dramatic art to Somerville they believe that they are fulfilling the demand and feeling for a permanent institution in which all might have an interest. Perhaps more than any other theatre in New England is the Somerville Theatre admirably adapted to the presentation of stock plays, not only for its excellent acoustics, but for its general architectural plan which allows for no seat in the house being far removed from the stage.

The new director Mr. James H. Doyle has devoted dilligent effort and uncommon discernment in selecting with extreme care the personnel of the new company. Every member is of high repute as a player and represent the highest ideals necessary to assure intelligent portrayals of the highest standard, guaranteeing consecistency of performances, conbined with talent, versitality and pleasing personality. The opening attraction that will serve to introduce the new company is, "The Little Spitfire" a rippling comedy from the pen of Myron C. Fagan, the author of "Mismates." Miss Tabatha Goodwin, the charming and strikingly beautiful leading lady will portray the role of a chorus girl who marries the son of a millionaire. Her new mother-in-law and certain friends make life miserable for her. Somerville Theatre goers will love her in "Gypsy" her opening role for it is a splendid one—a firey, tempermental young woman who uses slang in the most delectable manner and whose countless expressions will draw many a lauch through out the play.

"The Little Spitfire" is a play that will bring cheers for the hero, sobs for the heroine and laughs for everybody. As a comedy it will prove a success from start to finish. The members of Mr. Viano's new company of Somerville Players, that will be seen in the opening bill are, besides Miss Goodwin; Mr. Frank Roberts, leading man; Miss Dorothy Dudgeon, second lady; Mr. Frank Collette, second man; Miss Franqui Colburn, ingenue; Miss Rita Davis, character lady; Mr. Jack Talbot, juvenile; and Mr. Robert Studin associate of director Doyle. Mr. Howard Brown noted comedian and character man will join the new family in a few weeks time.

CONTINUE SAILS BY MOONLIGHT

Nightly Trips This Fall by "Mayflower"

General Manager Frederic L. Lane of the Nantasket Beach Steamboat Company announced yesterday that the big steamer "Mayflower" New England's only ballroom steamer, will continue its moonlight sails throughout the fall season.

The "Mayflower" sails every weekday evening, excepting Mondays, promptly at 8:30 p. m. from Rowe's Wharf, returning to its pier at 11:15 p. m., thus allowing suburbanites ample opportunity to reach home at an early hour, and out-of-towners an opportunity to make train connections.

Assistant General Manager Thomas J. Griffin has arranged for many novelties and varied entertainment for the five evenings each week that the "Mayflower" makes its trips.

Many organizations have already availed themselves of this moonlight trip on Boston Harbor and many more special parties are scheduled for the fall season.

Music is furnished for dancing on the "Mayflower" by a specially selected jazz orchestra, the "Seven Jolly Sailors."

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton are the stars in "Firemen, Save My Child" which is the outstanding feature picture at the University for four days beginning Sunday. When these two comedy stars first appeared together in "Behind the Front" they were a sensation. In "We're In the Navy Now" they took a stride forward, but in "Firemen, Save My Child" their team work seems to have ripened by experience. They have attained something so outstanding that it would scarcely be possible for them to surpass it. Berry and Hatton again appear in misfit uniforms, without which it would be difficult to picture them, and the uproar they cause in a perfectly nice young fire department, as they "do their stuff" on fire trucks, with hoses, desperately fighting flames, or just as desperately wallowing in mud to rescue the chief's daughter is one long laugh to the final fadeout.

On the same program is, "Matinee Ladies" with captivating May McAvoy.

For the last three days of the week the feature pictures are, "Alias the Deacon" and "The Clown." "Alias the Deacon" tells a simple story of a picturesque character. The story proved a tremendous success in its long stage presentation in almost every city in America, and with Jean Hersholt, one of the most celebrated actors on the screen, in the rich role of the gambler who covers his real occupation under the benign exterior of a deacon, a very worthwhile picture should be the result. In addition to the character star, the cast of the picture includes Ralph Graves, June Marlowe, Myrtle Stedman, Lincoln Plummer, Ned Sparks, Maurice Murphy, Tom Kennedy and others.

"The Clown" is a dramatic story of a circus owner who is sent to prison through the unjust accusation of his partner, but makes his escape after 18 years—just in time to save his daughter's happiness from destruction at the hands of the man who had ruined his life. In the cast are William V. Mong, Dorothy Revier and Johnny Walker.

The new paper dolls you have been waiting for are at Wilson the Stationer's.

Amendment to By-Laws

TOWN OF WINCHESTER, MASS.

Adopted at Town Meeting on March 14, 1927

VOTED, That Section 1 of Article 1 of the By-Laws is hereby amended by adding thereto the following:

But the meeting shall be adjourned to meet at forty-five minutes after seven o'clock in the afternoon of the following day for the consideration of all business except the election of such officers and the determination of such matters as by law are required to be elected or determined by ballot, so that said section will read as fellows:

"Section 1. The Annual Town Meeting shall be held on the first Monday of March, but the meeting shall be adjourned to meet at forty-five minutes after seven o'clock in the afternoon of the following day for the consideration of all business except the election of such officers and the determination of such matters as by law are required to be elected or determined by ballot."

I hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of the amendment to Section 1 of Article 1 of the By-Laws adopted by the Town of Winchester, Mass., at an adjourned session of the Annual Town Meeting of March 7, 1927, held on March 14, 1927, and approved by the Attorney General of Massachusetts on August 19, 1927.

"Our OWN Home"

The family that can fondly refer to "our own home" has something to be proud of. And they wouldn't go back to "living in tents"—just ask them.

You can come into home ownership on the "installment plan" and you have this advantage over most installment plans. The home is usually worth more when it is all paid for than it was in the beginning. Few other investments have this big advantage, and no other investment yields quite such dividends in family happiness.

WINCHESTER CADDY WON STATE TITLE

Thomas Fahey, caddy at the Winchester Country Club won the Massachusetts State caddie championship at the Commonwealth Country Club defeating Arthur Cody of Wollaston in the play-off, following a tie last week.

Monday's play-off was a runaway match for Fahey, who assumed the lead at the start of the 18-hole medal play and steadily increased his lead to out-score Cody by 12 strokes. The new champion's score was 81 and that of the runner-up 93. The players had tied for first place in the 36-hole championship round last week, with cards of 155, but Monday morning's weather conditions were poor, and both were off their game.

Fahey, the new champion, last year was runner-up to Joe Lynch of The Country Club for the State title. Lynch did not defend his crown, this year, having passed the age limit.

Both the winner and runner-up were presented cups, and were entertained at lunch Monday by the Commonwealth Club. A sizeable gallery followed the two boys around the wet course.

THREE MACHINES CRASHED ON MAIN STREET

A Velie sedan, a Chevrolet ice truck and an Oldsmobile coupe figured in a collision which occurred at 2:25 yesterday afternoon on upper Main street at the ice bridge. The Velie which was headed south on the car tracks and which was driven by Leo J. Quinn of 12 Winn park, Woburn, skidded and first struck the ice truck, the property of the Horn Pond Ice Company and operated by William M. Clement of 27 Kilby street, Woburn, who was driving north. After striking the ice truck the Velie continued and crashed into the Oldsmobile coupe, owned by the Eastern Advertising Company of Boston and driven by Roderick J. McGuinness of Auburndale.

The Velie was badly smashed and both the other machines sustained some damage. Catherine Quinn who was a passenger in the sedan sustained an injury to one of her legs.

CROSSING THE ISLAND OF MARTINIQUE

The following story of an interesting journey across one of the most interesting of all the West Indies Islands was taken from the notes as written by Ernest Dudley Chase in his recent cruise around the Caribbean Sea.

Hours and days passed all too rapidly as we cruised and now on the morning of March 8, as early as 6 o'clock, we find ourselves steaming into the almost open harbor of St. Pierre on the Island of Martinique with the now quiet volcano Morne Pelee towering into the sky directly to the left of what is now merely a shambles, although called a town.

Even before the anchor was dropped several boats of partially clad divers after money were alongside, gesticulating and jabbering and beseeching that those lining the decks would drop shining coins into the water, to demonstrate that they, the dark-skinned swimmers, could pursue and capture the cash before it reached the bottom. By the time we left for shore there must have been 20 skiffs of all kinds and sizes on each side of our vessel, all doing a more or less lucrative business in this interesting (to watch) occupation.

Apparently some of these seekers after coin had earlier ventured forth for fish, because in some of the boats lay nets and a few shiny examples of the finny tribe—in one of such was a black skinned little darky, perhaps eight years old with a head covered with white wooly hair or was he an albino? Distance forbade surety on this point, but he was a point of interest to those who saw him.

Tenders from our own boat were lowered and as fast as possible we were taken over to the miniature dock and in a jiffy were mixed up with the natives thronging the place, many simply curious, but others with bits of relics taken from the buried city, or beads, trinkets and all sorts of useless stuff to make a few francs on.

Martinique is of course a French possession, in fact it was on this very island that Josephine, whom Napoleon married and always loved, was born. The town, if that is what it may be called, is only a poverty stricken group of stone houses built on the same level as the old city, in fact the law is that anyone desiring to build, must first remove the ashes and debris left after the city's destruction.

Before proceeding with our story it might be well to tell of that eventful day, the 8th of May, 1902, when although there had been rumblings and a few had left the place, the whole side of Pelee seemed to open up and in a few seconds of time, St. Pierre was covered to a depth of from eight to 20 feet with terrifically hot cinders, molten lava and ashes, accompanied with deadly gases which helped to annihilate the nearly 40,000 inhabitants of the place.

Now we had come to this very spot which is slowly, very slowly, digging itself out, even though the same volcano may burst forth again to destroy and bring death to these poor people. Immediately at the landing was a mob of natives, in and around 60 or 70 automobiles of all makes and vintages from the lowly Ford to long used Buicks and a very few Cadillacs. Many of these were already hired by the cruise directors to take the regular ship's excursion over the mountains to Fort de France, 25 or more miles away, but there were plenty left for those of us who preferred to travel independently and so we braved the intense boiling sun and started out to see the sights. A so-called guide who refused to take "no" for an answer became entangled with us and finally giving up to his persistent salesmanship we had the pleasure of being led some distance out beyond houses into former streets, now grown up with weeds and underbrush, such as grow so speedily in the tropics. Walls still standing were all about, nothing but ruin and desolation, all reeking with a humid dampness, for rain had fallen that morning and even the heat of the sun had not as yet dried out the narrow pathways. Our way lay ever up and out away from the noise and filth of the town, but coming down, from we knew not where, were many dusky women of all ages, carrying huge loads, well balanced on their heads.

Directly back of the city is a steep hill and some distance up its side we found a few squatters, living in stone homes built out of old houses, places in which we wouldn't put a dog to live, yet here they not only exist, but had built a round, open air cock fight emporium, where we were invited to witness a special contest, put on for our entertainment. Refusing this offer we made our way to a crudely fenced-in space, where on payment of a quarter we were shown a stone dungeon, down a few steps from the rough lava and weed covered spaces between old fallen down walls. Stooping we entered the low door and there in the semi-darkness of the small room we were told of the one prisoner in this part of the city jail, who was found alive by searchers three days after the eruption, the only one to escape with his life, and when asked what they did with him, we were told they took him to another prison on the island. So what was the use of being saved?

Still farther to the left of the city is a valley with rushing river, coming down from the mountains beyond and flanked, as it runs through the old city with great walls strong enough to have stood the shaking at the time of the explosion. Although of stone, no buildings I have ever seen, could compare with these of St. Pierre in real primitiveness and lack of beauty or attractiveness in any form. On the way back into town we passed a few stores, whose shelves were filled with canned and bottled goods, seen only through open shuttered doorways with loiterers of the colored race hanging about.

Men with poor half feathered cocks were anxious to stage a fight and there being a space in the rough paved roadway flooded with sunlight, we finally agreed to a few moments in order to film this national amusement.

Again passing the modern market, filled to capacity with jabbering traders in all sorts of local commodities, vegetables, fruit, poultry and so forth, we next bartered for a car, being joined in our efforts by a new found friend from Rutland, Vt., who was willing to take a chance with us, in our trip over the mountains. A Ford was our final choice and wishing to see the big cathedral before leaving town, we had the car meet us there. 'Twas only a few steps, through narrow, horribly paved streets and before entering the building, construction of which has been going on slowly for years, we made movies of two old women sifting sand for plaster or concrete mixing.

The interior of the vast empty building looked more like a huge shop than a church, because when ships come in like ours, space is cleared and all sorts of articles are put on sale to raise money for rebuilding purposes. There seemed to be everything from beautiful lace tablecloths to cool drinks,—the latter appealed to us and so it being the style, green "swizzles" were ordered. Now "swizzles" are made of lime judice, rum and one or two other ingredients. The lady in charge poured the various liquids in proper amounts into a pitcher, the contents were then thoroughly mixed by revolving in it a stick with the short ends of three or four branches left on; these sticks were also on sale and were known as "swizzle sticks."

The roof of the cathedral was finished and many workmen were busy at various tasks, but little attention was paid to the edifice itself by the sightseers, who were busily looking at or buying the fancy work and nick-nacks which women of the parish were selling for the benefit of the new church. As a matter of fact, tourists are apparently paying for the building and good it is, for this poverty stricken people should not build so large and splendid a church out of the little they have.

Entering our tin chariot which after a few gulps and gurglings started on its way, we immediately were out of the building area and had commenced the long steep climb, going directly up back of the burying ground in which had been constructed an altar to those who perished at the time of the city's destruction. Those who saw it, said it was well worth while, more on account of its crudity and quaintness than for its beauty, many bones had been placed upon it, and flowers were always to be seen there.

As I have said before, it had rained earlier in the day, making the tough old road a harder one to negotiate, especially as it seemed to be built largely of clay and rocks—it seemed therefore, especially for the first few miles, that our old Ford would never make the grade, but always with rattlings and racket, she would worm out and ever up, to greater heights, never once entirely stopping. Several times it seemed as it we must skid or slide over into a gutter which in some places lined the road, but this never happened and even if it had, I believe the thing would have pulled itself out.

Before we had gone a mile the natural beauty of the island scenery was evident all about us, really tall and picturesque mountains stretched away in every direction, except behind, where the sea appeared as a great blue carpet. To our right or left, were deep gorges, their sides a mass of tropical foliage—it was only here or there that the countryside was level enough for farming purposes, but during the first few miles we met women gracefully balancing on their heads, great baskets of fruit or vegetables, on their way to the city market, now nest [illegible] e sea side far, far below us.

Th[illegible] beauty of it all held us more [illegible] e as we proceeded on our w[illegible] mountains became more rugge[illegible] rky undergrowth more wild a[illegible] ant and now and then great [illegible] mist would overhang some peak far above us like a huge halo. A thousand feet below was to be seen what seemed to be a tiny stream, winding in and out among great palms and dense underbrush. No road was ever more hilly, nor rough, nor winding than this we were traveling over,—there was a continual honk, honk or horns, but never did we meet a car coming toward us; all the available cars on the island, I guess, were going in our direction and carrying our shipmates. We passed them in tire or engine trouble, but only one or two whisked by us.

Some natives were to be seen, especially in places where a few houses of crude construction lined the roadway, but all in all inhabitants seemed few and far between; perhaps this was the reason for the natural scenic beauty of this part of Martinique. What population there is, bust be Catholic as once in a while we would pass a little wayside shrine, placed among the fern covered walls, of the steep roadside and with flowers in gourds, where loving hands had left them as an offering.

At two or three places people were out along the roadway with bright vermilion flowers, fruit and trinkets, held high up, at arm's length, in hopes of making a sale.

Speed could not be thought of on these roads, as it was all of three hours before we came around a bend in the roadway which gave us a view of Fort-de-France spread out along the ocean, yet hemmed in by Trois Islets some miles distant, as if to make protection for any shipping which might come in.

Down we came from out the foothills into the town, quite as Oriental in appearance as Algiers, yet without any pretentious buildings of any kind unless one could put the Cathedral in that class. This building easily dominated the sky line with a curious open iron-work spire, apparently designed to withstand earthquakes and hurricanes. The streets were narrow and dirty and besides were edged, on at least one side with an evil smelling open sewer, over which one had to step to reach the so-called sidewalk.

Just as we came to the jetty the Montroyal (the boat had come 'round the Island from St. Pierre) was coming to anchor a mile or so off shore, for there was no wharf here to tie up to, but desiring to partake of a local lunch if possible, we were let down at a so-called hotel, but after looking it over, decided to lunch aboard our own boat. This we did after some delay, but even so we were soon back on land in the humid heat to see what might be seen. It was hot too, with but little shade, but there directly to the right, beyond a group of waiting automobiles with drivers anxious for a fare was a broad savanna or open park, lined with enormous trees and straight and majestic royal palms. In the center surrounded by an iron grill work fence, was a small but excellently executed statue of Josephine, while off still further to the right, at the end of a wide avenue was the newly constructed war memorial to commemorate those men of Martinique who fell in France.

An old fort with high moss and vine covered stone walls entirely covered a promontory off beyond while behind all this was a small inlet or harbor forming a sort of haven where several boats of various kinds were being repaired. Leaving what shade the trees around this section allowed us, we now braved the "down town section" of the city, off to our left. Teh Government building facing the savanna was not much to look at, so we passed it by to enter Fort-de-France's "Fifth Avenue," which is not more than 30 feet wide, with shops of all kinds on either side. None of these had plate glass windows, but rather were there open doorways, through which could be seen the merchandise. To remind us we were in a foreign country, there was the stone ditch down one side over which we held our nose when crossing.

People were buying mostly post-cards, wine, fancy bags, local red pottery, a few toys and "nigger" dolls, gaudily dressed, as were some of the colored women to be seen on the streets. The far famed creole beauties eagerly looked for, were either enjoying a mid-day siesta or did not exist at all, for we saw none but darkies of both sexes and a very few men who were to all appearances, French.

The Cathedral directly on the main street was decorated very ornately and seemed to have no permanent works or art or stained glass windows of merit—it was what might be expected in a town filled with a poor class of people. Within the short space of a block or two was the market building, filled to overflowing with a mass of colored people, sitting about on the floor with their piles of vegetables, fruits and other produce to sell or exchange. One might get used to this sort of thing, but it is doubtful if white people ever go in the place, except perhaps a few tourists such as ourselves and I doubt if many of our crowd went through from one end to the other, even to take a hasty glance, —it would seem too risky. All about on the side streets were vendors with their pitiful little stocks of things to sell, and another building running along beside a small river that divides the town in two was also devoted to marketing purposes.

When we had seen these things, we had seen all, so we sat in what shade we could find up near the savanna for a while, being pestered to death with boys and women with all sorts of junk to sell. One boy, however, wanted to be talked to in English, being a student with considerable ambition and we hope he received some good from the conversation and advice given him.

Back to the boat we went by 4.30 there to watch with interest, the diving lads and those who had come out in boats with wines, liquor, baskets and the like, in hopes of making sales to passengers and crew.

At 6 the great windlass pulled the anchor from bottom and leaving the island bathed in rose-tinted light from the setting sun, while overhead was a crown of beautiful cumulus clouds as if some great volcano was pouring forth steaming vapor, we sailed away toward the southeast, having enjoyed greatly the Island of Martinique.

IS YOUR GAS RANGE A "PARLOR ANTIQUE?"

Is your gas range of the vintage of the Floradora Girls? Has it been used so long that it should now be relegated to a place of honor along with the spinet desk and the tip table?

If so, you are in for a pleasant surprise when you see the new models.

Oven heat regulators make cooking automatic. The all-enamel surfaces are easy to clean and KEEP clean.

The Blue Star Seal of the American Gas Association Testing Laboratory testifies to safety, efficiency and durability.

The new ranges are as modern as your new car—as shiny and bright—and as easy of operation.

Retire that old range — Buy one that is modern.

CAMP WINCHESTER

Camp officially closed with a banquet on Thursday night, Aug. 25. Besides the Scouts and their leaders, Mrs. Rogers, Mr. Eubanks and Mr. Gaffney were present as guests. After the banquet the prizes and awards were made and the last issue of the camp paper was read.

Lawrence Knowlton was chosen as "the best all around camper" and received a ribbon so inscribed and a scout ax. William Hession won the inspection ribbon with Norman Whiting second. Lawrence Knowlton won the camp champion prize in athletics, competing in the senior class and "Eddie" Hitchborn and Fred Philbrick won the intermediate and junior prizes respectively. Second place ribbons were awarded as follows: senior, Robert Whiting; intermediate, George Philbrick; junior, Roger Thwing.

Mrs. Rogers was presented with a picture by the boys in appreciation of the great interest she took in them during the camp season.

The "Reds" captained by Russell Franklin won the camp contest by a margin of 30 points. Lawrence Knowlton, their star performer made this possible even though the "Blues" won many points during the last week to keep the issue in doubt until the last minute.

Fred Philbrick won the model yacht regatta with "Eddie" Hitchborn second. These boats were built and rigged by scouts during the camping season and great interest was shown in this activity.

Saturday, Aug. 27 saw all of the boys at home and a glance at their brown, happy faces well suffice to show that the 1927 camp was a success.

"MONTE CRISTO" WINS YOUNG AND OLD ALIKE

Holiday Feature—Dumas' Famous Romance, Picturized by William Fox, Known to Millions

The name "Monte Cristo," despite its 19th century origin, is as easily recognized as are the names of our most expensive automobiles, or the soap that floats, or a popular breakfast food. This is because millions have read the famous Alexandre Dumas novel. It is one of the most popular of the Public Library novels.

The William Fox production of that name adapted from the story, therefore has an appeal that is universal. The dwellers of Manhattan and the residents of Waterloo, Iowa, alike will be interested in seeing this marvelous drama of love and adventure.

Old people and young have read the book. Many who have not read it will do so after seeing the screen drama, showing at the Regent Theatre. It has been called a classic of adventure. The screen version is sufficiently true to the original story to please and thoroughly entertain the reader of the novel. The entire cast is capable and each actor is said to do justice to the role assigned him. It has, indeed, an all-star cast, including as it does John Gilbert, Renee Adoree, Estelle Taylor and Gaston Glass among others.

Perhaps He Was

Dorn was interviewing the man of her heart in the privacy of the drawing room.

On the previous evening her fiance had asked permission to marry her. The father agreed immediately, but his wife was not so cordial and did not approve.

"I'm afraid mother is going to be a bit awkward, Dick, dear," began Dora. "She thinks that because you are an actor you're effeminate."

"Well," he confessed, "compared with her, I suppose I am."

Flowers Cause "Lily Rash"

"Lily Rash" is an eruption of the skin, according to the Dearborn Independent, caused from juice of the stems of flowers, chiefly narcissus, and from handling the bulbs of hyacinths, daffodils and tulips.

A TRIBUTE

The tragedy of Arthur Loftus' death recalls only too well the one of a year ago when I lost my brother. They were two wonderful boys and loved by all who knew them. The following verses express the thoughts on sudden death.

"Death ever loves a shining mark."
He aimed his blow and hurled his dart—
Low at his feet the victim lay:
His soul had left its house of clay.

In the midst of health and joyous mirth,
A happy youth thus passed from earth,
Without one moment's warning given,
To part from friends or prepare for heaven.

At daylight bom he left his home,
How little dreaming of his doom:
Then fell the ... at close of day,
His spirit freed, had soared away.

Those parents' grief no words can tell,—
The form of him they loved so well,
Now lay in death's relentless arms,
Disrobed of all its outward charms.

Then to the saviour's bosom fly,
He the fountain of your tears will dry,—
A balm upon your heart He'll pour,
And blessings rich from out his store.

And ye who trifle time away,
Come, gaze upon the lifeless clay;
That spirit once so full of glee,
Hath passed into eternity.

O will ye not the warning heed?
Must this event be lost indeed?
Could those sealed lips to you but speak,
They'd tell you, now your saviour seek.

Your mirth and revels cease ye then,
Death comes at an hour, ye know not when,
Prepare while life and health are given,
To meet your God and enter heaven.

"BOBBY" SMITH WON ROCKPORT TENNIS TITLE

"Bobby" Smith of this town, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis E. Smith of Walcott terrace, added another Winchester name to the list of summer tennis champions when he won the boys' singles title in the junior invitation tourney staged at the Rockport Country Club last week.

The local boy had comparatively an easy time winning his way through the preliminary rounds to the semi-final and final matches but in the latter round he was forced to extend himself to the very limit before he was able to dispose of his adversary, Whiten Brewer. The first set was deuced 11 times before Smith finally pulled out a winner by the football score of 17—15. The second set, though hard fought, was easier for the Winchester star, the score being 6—3.

The Rockport title is the second which "Bobby" has won this summer, he having some two weeks ago won the golf championship at the Essex Country Club. He has been spending the hot weather with his parents at the Smith summer home, Lands End, Rockport.

Tower Fortification

A martello tower is a circular fort of masonry, generally erected on the seacoast, which has guns mounted on the top in such a way as to be able to fire in any direction. The word is probably derived from the Italian "martello," hammer, and from "mortella," taken from Cape Mortella in Corsica, where such a tower resisted the English fleet in 1794.

WINCHESTER POLICE TO CRUSADE AGAINST RECKLESS MOTORISTS

In an effort to make the streets of Winchester safe for law abiding citizens whether motorists or pedestrians, Chief William R. McIntosh at roll call Tuesday evening issued strict orders to all his patrolmen to maintain a sharp look-out for speeding automobiles and trucks being operated contrary to the law. This action comes in connection with a campaign to rid the highways of what is each year becoming a greater menace to human life and safety. Local policemen are ordered to turn in the names and registrations of all violators, of whatsoever degree, of the Motor Vehicle Laws. The local Police Department has done efficient work in the matter of regulating reckless driving during the past and it to be even more strict in the future.

American Naval Hero

The body of James Lawrence was restored to the United States and the funeral was held at Salem, Mass., August 23, 1813, after which the body was buried in Trinity church yard, New York city. On the tombstone, as on the quarterdeck of the Constitution, the ship on which he gained his promotion, the legend was written "Don't give up the ship."

Cats as "Retrievers"

The ancient Egyptians are said to have killed wild ducks with throwing sticks, to have made use of decoys and to have trained cats as retrievers. They also hunted with trained lions, which belong to the cat species. There have been also hunting leopards used as long ago as the reign of Kublai Kahn in China.

Bamboo Acclaimed as Most Valuable Plant

There has lately been an inquiry into the question: What is the most useful plant in the world? and the prize has gone to the bamboo. It is said that the East, South Africa and the West Indies could not exist without it.

The bamboo is a hollow reed which may grow a few feet high or a hundred. Sometimes its stem is round, sometimes square, and the square kind is very useful for ladders or scaffolding. All sorts of things, massive or delicate, are made from the stems. Houses are built of them, and they make water pipes and ships' masts, beds and tables, prison cages for criminals, handles for agricultural implements, penholders, umbrellas and rods for bad boys. The young roots make good food, and so do the seeds, which may be cooked like rice or used for a beverage, while the leaves can be used for thatching or weaving into clothes and mats. Verily, few plants do so many things for man.

Their Own Risk

Skaters walk in slippery places and they cannot sue anybody for damages when they fall.—Boston Transcript.

Death Knells

"Customs of Mankind" says that the ringing of bells or death knells for the deceased is very ancient. Bells themselves are very old dating back many centuries before Christ, indeed going back even farther than the biblical record. In ancient times bells were rung only when important people died but with the coming of Christianity it was the custom to ring death bells "for all good Christians."

Hottentots Cross Breed

The origin of the Hottentots has been a puzzle to anthropologists. It is now generally believed that the Hottentots are a cross between the Bantu negro and the Bushman.

Flux in Industry

Flux is the name applied to any substance which is used in the smelting furnace to gather up the foreign substance and to form it into a kind of scum, which can be easily removed, leaving the pure metal behind. Thus in smelting iron sand and limestone are mixed with the ore for the purpose of forming a flux.

FAIRMOUNT PARK

Situated on the West Side of Winchester off of Cambridge Street nearly opposite Calumet Road. A tract of 20 lots of land varying in size from 7000 to 12,000 square feet in area. Every lot affords a beautiful panoramic view of the most attractive part of the town. In addition to the four houses already erected thereon, the Fairmount Associates have purchased five uncompleted houses adjoining their property at a mortgagees sale. This in order not only to conserve the high type of construction originally planned for this tract, but more particularly to control the disposition of these houses, in order to maintain the high class neighborhood to which we set out to create. These aforesaid five houses are nearing completion and will be offered to satisfactory parties at reasonable prices and possibly one or two of these houses may be obtained for rent.

SYMMES—HAWKES

Miss Elizabeth Whitney Hawkes, head of the French department of the Rockland High School, was the bride of Mr. Russell Symmes of this town last Saturday afternoon at a pretty home wedding at the residence of the groom's sister, Mrs. Walter P. Keyes, 53 Lloyd street. The wedding was largely attended by many friends of the young couples of this and surrounding places.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. John G. Lovell of Chelmsford at 3 o'clock and was immediately followed by a reception. Decorations of laurel and ground pine, with cut flowers and lighted candles, made a charming setting for the occasion

Mr. Roland F Murphy of Greenwich, Conn., formerly of this town, was best man, and Miss Elsie Burne of Chelmsford was maid of honor. There were 10 other small attendants. Miss Frances Keyes, the groom's niece, was flower girl. Master Meredith Williams, Jr., of Rockland, a nephew, was ring bearer, and the ribbon bearers were Marcia, Richard and Douglas Williams of Rockland, Marguerite and Kirby Thwing of this town, Florence Mae Noble of Methuen, Constance Cheever of Rockland and Ruth Wylie of Arlington.

The bride wore a wedding dress of white georgette. Her tulle veil was fastened with a spray of orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor wore green tageta and gold lace and carried pink roses and larkspur. The flower girl and the girls who served as ribbon bearers were all dressed in yellow organdie, the boys being all in white.

The music for the wedding and reception was by a stringed trio, the couple being assisted in receiving by their parents and Mr and Mrs. Keyes.

Mr. Symmes is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel S. Symmes of Sanborn street, his father being the tree warden for the town He is a graduate of the local high school and he attended Williams College. He is New Hampshire representative for a New York bond house. Mrs. Symmes, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton A. Hawkes of Charlemont, is a graduate of Wheaton, '18 The couple will make their home, upon their return from a wedding trip, at Nashua, N. H.

MISS MARY A. THOMAS BECOMES BRIDE OF JAMES G. UTTERBACK

James Gregg Utterback of Bangor, Me., and Miss Mary Alice Thomas of Brewer, Me., were married at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. C. M. Thomas, North Main street, Brewer, Thursday, Sept. 1, at noon. It was a very simple home wedding, the single ring service being performed by Rev. Basil C. Gleason of the First Congregational Church, in the presence of the immediate relatives of the young couple.

The bride, who was dressed in a tan colored traveling suit and carried red roses, was given in marriage by her father.

Following the ceremony, a wedding luncheon was served by the bride's mother and the newly married couple departed by motor car for a honeymoon journey to Quebec and undesignated points in Canada and this country Upon their return they will live in Bangor.

The bride is one of Brewer's attractive young women, a graduate of the high school and has been studying art in Boston for the past few years. She has a great many friends both here in her home city and in Bangor, being a popular member of the younger social set

Mr. Utterback is the son of Hon. John G. Utterback of Bangor, his native city and is identified with his father in the Utterback Motors Company, distributors for Chrysler automobiles throughout this section. He was educated in the public schools, of Bangor and Winchester, St. John's Military School in Manlius, N. Y., and the Huntington High School in Boston. He spent a year and a half in California in the motor car business. His many friends in the two cities and in his former home town of Winchester, unite with those of his bride in wishing the newly married couple happiness and prosperity in their new relation.—[Bangor Daily Commercial.

GEORGE W. GRAVES

Mr. George Wood Graves, aged 78 years, died at his home, 1 Wedge Pond road, Sunday night after a short illness. He was stricken with acute indigestion Saturday night and physicians failed to relieve him.

Mr. Graves was a native of Windsor, Vt. He had made his home in this town for a number of years, in 1914 marrying Mrs. Adelaide V. Graves of Winchester, who survives him. He was a member and for over 30 years treasurer of Friendship Lodge, I. O. O. F., of Cambridge. He was an organ maker by trade, working for the Mason & Hamlin Co. for 25 years

The funeral services were held at the residence on Tuesday afternoon, conducted by Ernest W Hatch, Reader of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, of this town. The burial was in Belmont.

Miss Kronquist was the recipient of many gifts which will come most useful to her when she enters the training school of the Lawrence Memorial Hospital, Medford on Sept. 15. Miss Kronquist is a graduate of the Winchester High School, Class of '27.

After thanking her friends in a most gracious manner, a social hour followed, and the guests departed at a late hour wishing Miss Kronquist great happiness in her chosen profession

Mr. Edward Martin of the Post-office staff was a member of a group who spent the week-end at Provincetown.

KILCOYNE—McCRAVEN

Miss Dorothy Vera McCraven, daughter of the late John and Mary McCraven of this town, was married on Sunday evening at St. Mary's Rectory to Mr. Thomas J. Kilcoyne, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kilcoyne of Chester street. They were attended by Mr. Harold O'Brien of Wakefield, groomsman, and Miss Catherine Frances Corcoran of Eaton street, who was bridesmaid. The bride wore for her wedding dress a gown of white canton crepe trimmed with lace. Her veil was caught with a spray of orange blossoms and she carried a wedding bouquet of brides roses. The bridesmaid wore blue crepe and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Celia Corcoran, 23 Eaton street, from 7:30 to 11 o'clock, largely attended by many friends of the couple from this and surrounding places. The couple were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Corcoran and the parents of the groom.

During the evening there was a musical program, given by a number of the guests, at which Mr. Robert Shaw, nephew of the bride, rendered piano solos and Selectman Thomas F. Fallon gave violin solos.

Both the bride and groom are graduates of the Winchester High School and have a large circle of friends among Winchester's young people. They will make their home after Oct. 1 at 11 Eaton street.

BASEBALL THIS SATURDAY

The Winchester Town Team will have the Arlington Sportsman Club of Arlington for opponents on Manchester Field, Saturday, Sept. 10. Game starts at 3:30 p. m.

The same players who took part in the holiday games will be seen in the lineup, with Steve Colucci on the firing line. Steve held the Midgets to five hits in 11 innings at Library Field on Monday morning, (Labor Day). Steve has a world of curves and is also a powerful hitter. Peabody will be on the receiving end. He sure is a ball player and is in the game at all times. Brad Coates, the third baseman will be seen at his post and from his showing on Manchester Field, Labor Day afternoon it shall be worth while seeing him in action.

I think that baseball has found its place in the hearts of the townspeople. If it is baseball they want, we have it, so get down early and be sure of parking space, for the Arlington team shall have a big following. And then the Midgets. We have a tie game to play off with them and a week from Saturday shall be the day.

WINCHESTER HOSPITAL

The number of patients at the Winchester Hospital is about the same as in September last year. It is expected that during the building operations the Hospital will be able to care for patients and will not be obliged to curtail its work.

The new addition is progressing. The work needing the steam shovel and concrete mixer has been finished and the brick walls are beginning to rise on the concrete foundation.

The fall class of probationers of a dozen girls or more starts lessons and work on Sept. 21. Plans are being made for the graduation of the Senior Class, which will take place on Monday, Oct. 17. The Second Congregational Church will grant the use of its attractive building for the exercises and the reception to the friends of the graduates will be held after the exercises at the Nurses' Home.

WINCHESTER GIRL FLYS OVER ENGLISH CHANNEL

Miss Ruth E. Whitley, a teacher the High School of Georgetown and the High School of eGorgetown and daughter of Rev. John E. Whitley of Winchester has returned home from a summer tour in Europe. She went as a member of the Students' Travel Club, visiting the British Isles, Italy, France and Switzerland.

Among her many interesting experiences abroad, she relates an airplane trip, in an airplane filled with 20 passengers, flying from the famous Croydon Aviation Field, near London to the Le Bourget Aviation Field near Paris. Miss Whitley declares the air trip was not so much of a thrill as she anticipated, although it was a new sensation, being deaf for an hour or two when landing in Paris.

DR. E. M. DREW TO PREACH SUNDAY AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. Edward Mason Drew, D.D. of West Newton will preach morning and evening next Sunday at the Baptist Church. He is considered one of the finest preachers in the country. His morning topic is, "The Meaning of Religion to Daily Life" and his evening topic, "Three Priceless Treasures."

BOAT CLUB HOLDS REGATTA

The Winchester Boat Club will hold the first regatta of the fall season at its club house on Mystic Lake this Saturday afternoon, commencing at 2 o'clock. There will be novelty races, tilting, etc.

In the evening the first fall dance will be held, starting at 8 o'clock.

The fall tennis tournament, settling the club singles championship, will start next week, a large entry being anticipated from the members.

Mr. Henry J. Lyons of Chicago, formerly of this town, sailed Wednesday on the "Coronia" for France to attend the Legion Convention.

GOOD BASEBALL MONDAY

Baseball fans saw some good playing over the holiday right here at home, when the Winchester aggregation took on the Midgets of Woburn for two games, one at Woburn in the morning and the other at Manchester Field in the afternoon. Their appreciation of the entertainment was evident at the afternoon program, when the largest crowd in years turned out to see what Officer "Dukes" Farrell could produce in the way of real baseball. They "saw" to their entire satisfaction.

The morning game at Woburn drew a smaller crowd, but in every way it was productive of good baseball from start to finish, going to 10 innings with a tie score of 4—4, after eight innings of goose eggs for each team. The game was called in the 10th to allow the players a chance to return to their homes for sustinance to fight it out in the afernoon. Harold Hatch and Steve Colucci, who are well known twirlers here and in Woburn, occupied the box for Winchester and Woburn respectively, and each gave his supporters plenty to talk about.

The afternoon game had "Mex" Kelley in the box for Winchester and "Kiko" Weafer, the old veteran Woburn pitcher, and both men had plenty of work cut out for them. The Midgets scored the better of this struggle, winning out 7–5. There was plenty of good hitting and fielding, with Winchester a little ragged in the pasture, but there was plenty of opportunity for applause all along the line.

These holiday games were by far the best baseball exhibitions of the season and "Dukes" Farrell is receiving many compliments on his management and the excellence of his production.

NOTICE

Because of the large number of applications he has received from all over the State, Senator Gillett has made arrangements with the Civil Service Commission to hold examinations on Oct. 15 next, to assist him in making nominations for The United States Military Academy and The United States Naval Academy. The examinations will be open to any young man who has for the last two years been an actual resident of the State of Massachusetts, and who, in the case of West Point, is between the ages of 17 and 22 years, and in the case of Annapolis, between the ages of 16 and 20 years. Senator Gillett will make his appointments from the eligible lists reported by the Commission as a result of these examinations. He has one appointment at each Academy, for admission in the summer of 1928, and the young man attaining the highest average in each examination will be named principal, the alternates being named from the next highest on the list in their order.

The examinations will be held in the cities of Boston, Worcester and Springfield upon the date above indicated. Anyone wishing to compete should write to Senator Frederick H. Gillett, Senate Office Building, Washington, D. C., advising which examination he desires to enter, and the city where he could take it most conveniently, when a statement issued by the Civil Service Commission will be furnished, describing the examination, and giving specific information as to the time and the place where it will be held.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE

A surprise party was given Miss Gunhilde Nelson of Vine street last Saturday night on the occasion of her 17th birthday, the gift of a handsome fountain pen, the cutting of a huge birthday cake and many beautiful flowers contributing much to the pleasure of the affair to the recipient.

There was a large gathering present and the affair was a complete surprise to Miss Nelson. Mr. Harris Parker made the presentation of the fountain pen on behalf of the guests, and a program of music and dancing followed, together with bountiful refreshments.

THE RIGHT OF WAY

At Twin Mountain, N. H., the Daniel Webster Highway crosses the railroad track at a sharp angle, about 100 feet from the station, and during the summer the engines of the trains from Bretton Woods frequently extend over or across the highway while stopping at the station.

One bright and glorious August morning the train from Bretton Woods arrived at the station with brakes screeching, and as usual, the engine slowly crawled across the highway before coming to a full stop. Down the street came a Chicago fliver containing four women. They never stopped but crashed right into the locomotive, breaking its step, and smashing the front of the fliver, radiator, etc Luckily no one was hurt though the women were thrown to the street. The engine crew were shaking with fear of what might have happened. The woman who had been driving picked herself up from the ground, looked at the fliver, advanced toward the engineer, shook her fist at him and said, "Why didn't you stop! You saw me in plenty of time!"

William H. Taylor of Lowell reported to the police Monday that while driving his car on Cambridge street a seven-year-old-boy by the name of Harold F. Irving of Dorchester ran into the side of his car. The boy was thrown to the ground and his left side injured. His parents, who were present, examined him and stated that he was not injured to amount to anything and had no complaint to make.

TO NAME BIPLANE FOR NEW HAMPSHIRE

Lt. Robert S. Fogg, Concord aviator, will give the name New Hampshire to the biplane with which he will enter the trans-continental air race from New York City to Spokane, Wash. Lieutenant Fogg has gone to the factory in Troy, O., to fly his plane back to Concord for conditioning.

Lieutenant Fogg, the son of Mr. George O. Fogg, a former well known business man of this town, has many friends here.

MAIN STREET STORES SOLD BY ASSOCIATES

The Winchester Associates have sold the property consisting of five stores at 872-880 Main street, Winchester, to Max B. Ordovitz. The property is assessed for about $12,700 of which $12,000 is on the stores. The lot of land contains about 6119 square feet. Geo. C. Appleton & Son were the brokers in the transaction.

ANOTHER FOR LOUISE

Louise Packer, Winchester's star junior tennis performer, won the women's singles championship in the Eastern Yacht Club tourney which was concluded at Marblehead last Saturday. After breezing through the preliminary rounds Louise was pitted against a much more mature player in Mrs. T. W. Robinson for her final match. The Winchester southpaw lost the first set, 2—6; but rallied and turned the tables in the second, winning, 6—4. The deciding set was all Louise, the score being 6—2.

ALL MEMBERS TOGETHER

To the Editor of the Herald:

One of the most useful syndicatists in the country in a noble boost of the Pacific Coast makes the fatal mistake of saying, "The Pacific Coast is increasing at the expense of the decline of the Middle West."

This is the same as saying that Winchester, Arlington, Worcester and Providence are increasing at the expense of Boston, or that Chicago and St. Louis are increasing at the expense of New York.

This is the same as saying that increase the health of the heart is at the expense of the stomach. The United States is as much a unified system as is the human body.

A TRIBUTE TO ARTHUR LOFTUS

To the Editor of the Star:

Your humble servant desires to most heartily support the tributes that manifested themselves in the Winchester Star of last week in regard to the sudden death of the late Arthur Henry Loftus. It was my good fortune to be personally acquainted with the young man ever since he was rocked in the cradle by his heart-broken mother.

Winchester has produced a large number of remarkable boys, and sad to relate, many of them have met tragic deaths. I was well acquainted with all the boys who have passed on and remember they were all in good health apparently, hence you can very readily ascertain that it is not necessary to be sick to die. When the United States called for volunteers Arthur, like many Winchester boys, answered the call.

When the influenza epidemic was raging in this vicinity and the Board of Health deemed it necessary to close the churches, schools, theaters, etc., there were so many funerals coming to some of our cemeteries that it was a difficult matter to hire grave diggers.

How well I recall when the Superintendent of one of our local cemeteries approached a group of men, seeking volunteers to assist him in interring bodies in mother earth. Out of that large group of men that were approached two of the men volunteered to wield the pick and shovel, Arthur Henry Loftus was one of the two men. He was always ready to assist others regardless of race, color or creed. He was a good citizen, a sterling man and a devout Christian.

Very truly yours,
Patrick H. Craughwell

SAVINGS BANK BUYS $50,000 OF TOWN BONDS

The Winchester Savings Bank has been awarded the whole issue of 4 per cent school building bonds, amounting to $50,000, issued by the Town of Winchester. The local bank was the highest bidder. These bonds are dated Oct. 1, 1927 and are payable $5000 Oct. 1, 1928 to 1937 inclusive.

Maurice Jean, a small boy living at 18 Summer street, ran into the rear of the Hudson brougham driven by C. B. Peterson of Randolph Tuesday on Swanton street. He hit the car at the rear fender and suffered much the worse in the collision. Dr. Sheehy, who attended him at the Winchester Hospital, where Mr. Petersen took him, found bruises and cuts on his thigh and knee, and took four stitches in closing a cut under one eye. After repairs were made he was allowed to go to his home.

Why we sell the DUNLOP TIRE

FOR 39 YEARS Dunlop has been building the world's supreme tire. Dunlops wear longer because Dunlop knows how to build better at each vital point.

Take the hidden carcass beneath the tread. Dunlop owns its own cotton mills for no other purpose than to spin the best long-fibre cotton into the famous cable-twist cord that goes into this carcass.

The extra strength in these cords means an added factor of safety against constant load and pounding of roads—longer life and greater mileage.

The extra "stretch" enables the carcass to give under severe blows, and to come back into its original position without internal injury.

The Dunlop tread—the toughest rubber development known—wears slowly and smoothly, making sure that you get out of your Dunlops, all the extra mileage that added care and longer experience have built into them. We recommend that you put Dunlops on your car.

TOWN TEAM WON FROM NORTH WOBURN

"Dukes" Farrell and "Mex" Kelley, minions of the law during the hours of darkness, laid aside badge and nightstick long enough last Saturday afternoon to lead their newly organized Winchester Town Team to a 3-1 victory over "Steve" Colucci's North Woburn B. B. C. in the former's first start of the season on Manchester Field.

Only a slim crowd saw the battle; the brand of ball displayed during the past month has not been such as to attract large gatherings to the local playground. Those who were on hand last Saturday witnessed one of the few worth-while games played in Winchester this season, an interesting contest from the first to the last inning.

No one can question the value of real pitching to a team after viewing last Saturday's exhibition. On paper the Town Team was not as strong as St. Mary's has been on many Saturday's this summer. Particularly in the outfield the new club was very wobbly while its infield was by no means strengthened. The team had no more potent punch. It did, however, get good pitching; something which, with the rare exceptions when Francis Tansey has worked, St. Mary's has not gotten all season. The effect was to transform a team of ordinary performers into a fighting, aggressive ball club, a team that hustled, a team that figured it had a chance to win. The boys made plenty of mistakes against North Woburn, but they showed no signs of cracking. They were in the picture every minute.

As we have intimated "Jimmy" Fitzgerald, who hurled for Winchester, was very good out there. The big boy used a fast one, a nice change of pace and the proverbial hook with such good effect that six scattered blows were all the hard hitting visitors could garner from his delivery. And at least, three of these blows were lucky. "Jomma" Dolan, out of position in center field, misjudged a couple of flys in his territory, while "Punk" Cummings fell after fielding Cuneo's roller cleanly in the 5th. With but one exception "Fitzy" was airtight in the pinches.

Opposing him on the rubber was "Bunker" Carroll, former Woburn High star right hander. Carroll was hit harder than Fitzgerald but pitched a good ball game, getting out of several bad holes with the aid of good support.

Winchester had some fine chances to score through the game but found Carroll stingy when hits meant runs. In the 3rd Ambrose singled past third and went to second when Carroll mussed up Dolan's attempted sacrifice. O'Donnell moved both runners up with a sacrifice, but Carroll threw out Hevey and "Tony" Colucci made a great play on Flaherty's fine bid for a single. In the 4th, Fitzgerald reached second with one away, only to see Veniot throw out Hatch and Cummings fan. In the 6th "Harpy" reached 3rd and Hatch second with two down. With the count two and two Cummings hit to "Brad" Coates who touched Hatch on the baseline.

North Woburn twice had men on second previous to the 5th, but each time with two away Fitzgerald bore down sharply to end the rally. In the 5th he faced a really bad situation. Snyder drew a pass. Cuneo tried to sacrifice, but Cummings slipped after trapping his roller and the blow went for a hit. Fitzgerald threw out Venoit and there were men on second and third with one down. Carroll tried hard but Ambrose took his hopper at third, catching Snyder in a hot-box and finally making the put-out with Kelley's help. Cuneo moved up to third and Carroll hugged first as F. Colucci came to bat. His best was a routine grounder to "Punk" Cummings, retiring the side.

The visitors finally tallied in the 8th. Carroll earned a safety when "Fitzy" nicked him on the left elbow; a painful rap. F. Colucci sacrificed. "Brad" Coates lined to Flaherty and there were two away. "Steve" Colucci, former Tufts star, came through nicely, however, with a clean double to center, scoring Carroll. "Jomma" Dolan took "Tony" Colucci's fly in short center.

That one run looked rather large out there, but Winchester never faltered. "Flats" Flaherty busted out a pretty double to left as a starter and moved up as "Tony" Colucci threw out Fitzgerald. Kelley singled to right, scoring Flaherty. Hatch singled to right, moving up "Mex" and Cummings drew a pass, filling the bases. On an attempted "squeeze" Ambrose beat out a hit, scoring Kelley and breaking the tie. Carroll forced in Hatch when he hit "Jomma" Dolan. The sacks were still jammed, but Carroll pulled himself together and fanned O'Donnell. Hevey lifted to Venoit.

"Fitzy" gave a nice exhibition in the 9th after "Chris" Coates had singled for a starter. The big boy had one of the hardest hitters in the visiting outfit to dispose of in "Joe" Snyder, but he made the slugging catcher pop to Cummings. Then to make it unanimous "Harpy" fanned Cuneo and Venoit; pretty pitching.

"Ralph" Hatch, after a two year lay-off, played a nice game at first base and hit the ball hard. He got a great welcome from the old-timers who remembered his sterling playing in former seasons. "Vin" Ambrose took a new lease of life at 3rd and was the game's leading batter with three hits in four trips to the rubber. "Mex" Kelley played his usual fine game and hustled like a rookie breaking in.

BUICK for 1928

When Buick improves upon Buick—the standard for the year is set
Buick for 1928 introduces a higher standard of beauty and luxury than the world has ever known. Buick interiors are as modish as exquisite drawing-rooms—as harmoniously colored—and as comfortable. Buick's new Fisher bodies are low-swung without any loss of head-room or road-clearance.
And so, down to the smallest detail of construction, wherever refinements could be made, Buick has made them. Again Buick has improved upon Buick. Again the standard for the year is set.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

A father told his son who had found a two dollar bill that if he did not try to find it's owner he was stealing it.

Big corporations are always looking for a man whose head sticks up just a little above the mass.

The man who slanders his neighbor provides a weapon by which he too will be slandered.

If you make a mistake and shirk the responsibility you are just making another mistake.

Strange how men will seek less for learning, than they will for applause.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

Syd Chaplain of "Better 'Ole" fame appears at the University for four days beginning Sunday in his latest screen triumph, "The Missing Link." In this new picture Syd appears as a discouraged young man with a fear complex who becomes entangled in the destinies of a famous big-game hunter bound for Africa. By a ludicrous series of mishaps Syd is carried off on the same liner, and when the hunter learns that desperate rivals are trying to do away with him, he trickily persuades Syd to be his substitute. After surviving a number of frightening episodes on the ship, they arrive in Africa where the fun begins in earnest.

On the same program is "Rich Men's Sons" with Shirley Mason and Ralph Graves. "Rich Men's Sons" concerns itself with a railroad magnate's disinherited young son, who meets romance in a steel mill, wins his way as office boy to the girl's heart, and proves his manhood. A thrilling race between the boy in a racer and the father in an express train makes a forceful high point in the action.

For the last three days of the week the pictures are, "The Prince of Headwaiters" with Lewis Stone and "Painted Ponies" with Hoot Gibson. Garrett Fort, author of "The Prince of Headwaiters" which appeared in Liberty Magazine, declared he wrote the story with the idea of Lewis Stone as "Pierre," the head waiter of the Ritz in mind. And when Sam E. Rork was producing the photoplay version at First National Studios in Burbank Cal., Mr. Fort was an interested spectator.

ST. JAMES THEATRE

"Cradle Snatchers," an uproarious farce by Russell Medcraft and Norma Mitchell, will be presented next week at the St. James Theatre by the Keith-Albee Stock Company, and an evening full of laughter is guaranteed to all who see the comedy which convulsed Broadway.

The story deals with three wives who learn that when their husbands band together to go on a "fishing trip" they have other things in mind. The wives decide that if their husbands can step out, they can do so, too. They hire three young collegians and the sextet goes to the Long Island home of one of the wives.

What might have happened had not the three husbands had a party planned in that same house with three flappers, will never be known, for the whole party gathers there. From that minute the fun is fast and incessant. The repartee is swift and the whole play is packed with situations that develop most unexpectedly. The climax comes with breath-taking suddenness.

The leading roles will be taken by Ruth King, leading lady, and J. Glynn McFarlane, leading man. They will be supported by Mary Hill, who will play the part made famous by Mary Boland; Edith Speare, Flora Maude Gale, Frank Charlton, Day Manson and Charles Schofield.

Vikings in History

Vikings of the early Middle ages took their name from the fact that they were dwellers along the viks or creeks of Scandinavia. They were also known as Norsemen and sea rovers. They ravaged the coasts of England and northern France in the Ninth and Tenth centuries. Norsemen took possession of the coast country of France and became known as Normans.

THE ORINOCO DELTA: WHERE AMERICAN FLYER WAS SIGHTED

The Orinoco Delta, above which Paul Redfern, Brunswick, Georgia, aviator enroute for Rio de Janeiro, reported to have been sighted, is a vast low-lying region of tropical swamps heavily wooded and intersected by numerous outlets of the Orinoco, says a bulletin from the Washington D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

The triangular delta region embraced between two outer branches of the great river is about 7,000 square miles in extent. It lies on the coast of Venezuela just south of the Island of Trinidad and about ten degrees north of the Equator. Tucupita, near which the Georgia airplane is reported to have been sighted, is the chief town. Owing to low altitude and nearness to the Equator the climate is hot and the country thinly populated.

Swamps Obstruct Land Traffic

The delta has been built up by the deposit of sediment brought down by the Orinoco, which is ranked among the ten largest river systems of the world, and the third largest stream in South America. It has seven main mouths and about 40 smaller ones which discharge muddy, fresh water far into the Atlantic Ocean. The northern mouth empties into the Gulf of Paria, between Trinidad and Venezuela, the freshness of whose waters was noted by Columbus in his voyage of 1498.

These outlets are connected by a veinlike network of canals or backwaters, few of which are navigable on account of sand and jungle obstructions. The main channels, however, are navigable to steamers which continue to the very foot of the Andes Mountains. Communication is carried on largely by water since tropical jungles and swamp lands obstruct land traffic.

The Orinoco Delta is one of the landmarks on the northern coast of South America between Port of Spain, on the island of Trinidad, and the coasts of British and Dutch Guiana, a cross which lies the air route to the Amazon Valley in Brazil.

Little Change in Four Centuries

The forestation of the delta is so heavy that floating logs and vegetation form embankments at times strong enough to change the channel of the stream. Much of the country is continually flooded, and the whole region presents difficulties of land travel that have hitherto prevented development. Cocoa is the chief article of trade with the outside world.

Most of the inhabitants of the Orinoco Delta are Indians, friendly, but extremely poor, without resources to develop their rich delta lands. They dwell on plantation clearings where they raise tropical fruits and vegetables of all kinds. This diet is supplemented by a great variety of fish as well as turtles. These Indians are famous for their giant canoes made of single logs.

The delta of the Orinoco was first explored by Spanish adventurers of the 16th century, who have left small trace of their influence. Most of these gallants died of fever and hardships, but such as lived to return to Spain electrified the country with their tales of creeper entwined jungles, alligators, gorgeous plumed flamingoes, and black silent waters. One of the most romantic figures connected with the region was Sir Walter Raleigh who sailed up the Orinoco in search of the mythical land of El Dorado. The physical aspect of the country has changed very little to the present day.

MYSORE: INDIA'S "BUFFALO"

Mysore City, recently modernized capital of the south Indian state of the same name, is one of the most up-to-date provincial capitals presided over by a native ruling prince, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society. The word Mysore is derived from Sanskrit roots which signify "Buffalo town," and the Indian city after two decades of systematic public improvement bids fair to equal Buffalo New York in breadth of boulevard and length of water main.

Mysore State in Front Rank

Lying approximately 12 degrees north of the Equator Mysore is saved from tropical heat by its situation in the plateau country which stretches between the two great mountain ranges of the Deccan Peninsula. It is the dynastic seat of one of the most important of the native states of India: the Maharaja of Mysore, along with the rulers of Hyderabad Baroda, Gwailor, and Kashmir, being entitled to a salute of 21 guns.

This powerful and progressive prince rules supreme in his own state subject only to the watchful eye and tactful "advice" of the British resident agent. The Maharaja is not a university graduate and it is said that he has never been outside India, but he has raised Mysore to front rank among the divisions of the Indian Empire. Residents claim that in the matter of sanitation and good government Mysore equals any city British India has produced.

A Made-Over Capital

The ruling prince has with the help of foreign engineering skill, some of it American, built an extensive irrigation system, operated a blast furnace, and erected cotton and woolen mills. The famous Kolar gold mines are worked by electric power brought from a distance of 92 miles.

At the beginning of the present century a scheme was evolved by the ministry of public works for the systematic improvement of the capital. Mysore, though it contained a few notable buildings, was at that time a city of narrow lanes and crowded, unsanitary tenements, without light or air, filling several square miles of a narrow valley running north and south between two hills. Wide avenues were driven through this section, residential suburbs laid out to the east and west and handsome government buildings erected.

Maharaja Has Gorgeous Oriental Palace

The old fort dating from the 16th century is at the south of the town. Within its walls, surrounded by houses of feudal retainers, rises the elaborate palace of the Maharaja, rebuilt after a recent fire, in the ornate Hindu style. Stone carvings after the manner of ancient temples, together with handsome porphyries and other ornamental stones from neighboring hills, produce an effect of true oriental gorgeousness.

On high ground to the west of the city government offices raise their stately domes above the wooded grounds of Gordon Park. Over the site of a once noisome sewer runs a fine paved road flanked on either side by picturesque two-storied shops of the Lansdowne Bazaars.

Houses of European residents lie to the east of the city. One of the most interesting was erected for the use of Colonel Arthur Wellesley, later Duke of Wellington, in course of the long drawn out Mysore wars of the 18th century, fought between the British and that Mohammedan adventurer on the throne of Mysore, Haider Ali and his son, Tippo Sultan. Lord Cornwallis, of Yorktown fame, was also a general in the same wars.

Government House, home of the British resident agent, is a stately mansion over 100 years old. In its high ceilinged rooms and secluded gardens much of the behind-the-scenes history of the State has been written, for the present dynasty owes its throne to British support at the close of the Mysore wars. In return the Maharaja has shown unwavering loyalty to the Empire throughout the political unrest of late years.

Pennant Scarecrows

Tiny flags that may be seen fluttering in the gardens in Japan are used to frighten birds away, thus protecting the garden. A lath upright is placed about every 20 feet and a cord carried from post to post. On the cord strips of paper and cloth are tied. The fluttering pennants are therefore, a graceful adaptation of the scarecrow idea.

Destroyed Currency

A flat sum of $1,000,000 is carried on the books of the United States treasury as "unknown-destroyed," according to Paul Kinkead in an article in Liberty. This he explains attempts to account for all currency that is lost or destroyed, but, as he says, "A much greater percentage of paper money is lost than is shown on the books—how much, the treasury has no way of knowing."

Tracing Use of Stamps

The first stamp of an official nature was that used by the postmaster of New York in 1842. Shortly afterward the law of 1845 established uniform postage at low rates, and postmasters in a number of cities issued stamps on their own responsibility. Such provisional issues of stamps were made in 1845 by postmasters in nine cities.

Diogenes' "Tub"

The "tub" of Diogenes or "pithos," was a huge earthen jar that had been used for holding wine or oil for sacrifices in the temple of Cybele and had been discarded. It was large enough for Diogenes to lie in at full length.

Domesticating Silver Fox

The United States Department of Agriculture has issued a bulletin on the silver fox industry, in which it says that as a fur animal propagated in captivity the silver fox has no equal. Beginning in 1887, when Sir Charles Dalton and Robert Oulton conducted their first experiments on a small island off the eastern coast of Canada, the growth of this industry has been so steady that today it occupies a strong position in live animal husbandry in the United States. Rapid draining of swamps and cutting of timber, together with the heavy increase in population and a growing demand for furs of all kinds, have cut deeply into the fur supply. Even such fur as skunk decidedly unpopular three years ago is now honored under its rightful name.

Scott's Best Novel

Which is Scott's best novel? This question was once discussed by Sir William Fraser and Bulwer-Lytton. They agreed each to write his choice on a separate slip of paper and compare. Sir William announces that he knew in advance they would agree. They both wrote "The Bride of Lammermoor." Mark Twain hated the novels of Scott. He regarded him as one of the world's worst writers. Then some one persuaded him to read "Quentin Durward," and he was so captivated that he declared Scott could not have written it.—William Lyon Phelps in Scribner's Magazine

Reward of Virtue

Is there no reward? Do you seek a reward greater than doing what is just and good? At Olympia you wish for nothing more, but it seems to you enough to be crowned at the games. Does it then seem to you so small and worthless a thing to be good and happy?—Epictetus

Papua or New Guinea

British New Guinea, now known as the territory of Papua, is one of the territories of the commonwealth of Australia. It consists of the southeastern part of the island of New Guinea, with the islands of the D'Entrecasteaux and Louisade groups and all islands between 8 degrees and 12 degrees south latitude, and 141 degrees and 155 degrees east longitude. The area of the territory of Papua is 90,540 square miles, of which about 87,786 square miles are on the mainland of the island of New Guinea, and 2,754 square miles on the smaller islands. The estimated population is about 276,000, most of which consists of native Papuans.

Experienced Men Rely on First Impressions

The banker learns soon that your face usually tells more than is told by your lips or your written statement, and this is something that you may very well remember. Your first impression, if it is one of suspicion, is usually correct. I doubt if any experienced teller will ever cash a check for a stranger, no matter how well introduced, if this first glance at the man telegraphs to his brain "Look out! Be careful!" If he does, he usually regrets it.

I believe that when two persons meet for the first time eye telegraphs to eye. For one instant, and perhaps for one instant only, eye tells eye the truth, the hidden truth, and the absolute truth; then the lying begins, if any. This is, I believe, an animal instinct purely, but always dependable. Ellis Parker Butler, in Hearst's International-Cosmopolitan.

Indian Massacre That Moved Poet to Verse

"A poem on the late massacre in Virginia" was the first celebration, in verse, of the American colonies, according to evidence satisfactory to the New York World.

Christopher Brooke (he was a lawyer as well as a poet, and the friend of Johnson, Drayton and other men of letters), started off with an obsequious prose dedicated to the Right Honorable and Worthy Company of Virginians.

The poem was written in heroic couplets, and Christopher Brooke began by explaining that, like the church, he believes in rejoicing with them that do rejoice and weeping with them that weep.

The poet allowed that God was still in his heaven, despite the doings of "these Divilish hands"—belonging to the Indians.

Brooke evidently was one of the first irreconcilables for he pointed out to the governors of Virginia that the massacre may have been due not only to "false securitee," but to their trust in "Leagues confirm'd by oaths."

Locating Streets by Name

In Mexico City it is usually possible to tell the general location of a street by the character of its name. Thus in one section of the city all streets bear the names of trees or flowers. In another section the names of popular heroes, and so on.

Longfellow's Smithy

Concerning the discussion as to where the smithy was that is mentioned in Longfellow's poem, Ernest Longfellow, in his book "Random Memories," says, "A short time ago I saw in an English newspaper that the village smithy was in a certain English village that was named; as a matter of fact, as everybody knows, it was on Brattle street, Cambridge, Mass."

Revenged

A busy housewife came into the sitting room, a determined look in her eyes.

"I shall have to punish those children," she began.

"What have the little beggars been up to now?" asked father, looking up from his newspaper.

"Why, they've made a mess of my sewing room," explained his wife. "Needles, reels of cotton, scissors—everything had been hidden away in the most unexpected places. It's exasperating."

Her husband laid down his paper and smiled.

"I did that," he said calmly. "You tidied up my desk so beautifully the other day that I thought it only fair to return the compliment. So I tidied up your sewing-room."

Treasures Placed on Altar of Friendship

A Washington man who spent some months in a rooming house in New York brought home a small yarn to a woman who tabbed them down:

"In the house where I put up I was in a room that had just been vacated by an old Englishman, who had lived in it for years. His income was so small that after settling for his rent and laundry he had 20 cents a day for food.

"Nobody guessed it, because he was so dignified and proper proud. One day he brought home another old gentleman and they shared the 20 cents between them until the adopted one was taken ill. Illness calls for doctors so the old Englishman brought to the room a man who came in a car, and when he went away carried some books for which he had paid $4,000.

"When the excited landlady wanted to know why, for goodness sake, he hadn't sold the books before, the old gentleman told her that he would have suffered any personal privation rather than part with his handed-down treasures, but with a sick friend it was different.

"And when you figure it out that his friend was just a poor old fellow he had picked off a park bench because he had no better home, you can understand how proud I was to inherit his room."—Washington Star.

Many Kinds of Bark in Use as Medicine

The United States Pharmacopoeia lists 17 kinds of bark used in medicine. There are, however, no less than [illegible] kinds of bark altogether grown in America which are more or less widely used for preparing simple, home-made remedies, although only 17 are classed as "officinals."

Some are valued, for example, as febrifuges, chief of which, of course, is the Peruvian bark or cinchona, to which the world owes the priceless boon of quinine.

A second class includes those which exert a cathartic or laxative effect, and of these the most highly prized is the bark of the graceful little buckthorn tree found in California, and known by its Spanish name of cascara sagrada (sacred bark).

A third class includes those which stimulate the flow of one or another of the secretions of the body, such as the saliva, gastric juice, perspiration, mucus, etc.

Others are soothing in nature, such as an infusion of slippery elm, and many may be used for preparing soothing drafts in cases of sore throats, etc. Still others are said somewhat vaguely to possess "tonic" properties.

COMMANDER BYRD TO HAVE GEOGRAPHIC'S AID

The National Geographic Society announced today that it has extended its co-operation to the Antarctic Expedition of Commander Richard E. Byrd, which co-operation will include the sending of scientific observers, and the contribution of $25,000 from The Society exploration funds toward the scientific equipment of the expedition.

A thorough exploration of Antarctic regions offers a rich field for collection of scientific data. The Society's trustees believe, though the phenomena to be observed in the South Polar regions are in marked contrast to those of the Arctic.

First Far Northern Flights

It was recalled that Commander Byrd gained his first far northern flying experience when, in 1925, he was assigned by the U. S. Navy to accompany the MacMillan Arctic Expedition which was sponsored by the National Geographic Society, and to command the three airplanes and the Navy personnel of that expedition.

Commander Byrd already is the holder of the Hubbard Gold Medal, The Society's highest award, held by only eight men, which was presented to him in behalf of The Society by President Coolidge after he returned from his history making flight over the North Pole.

Far North and Far South Contrasts

In regard to the scientific aspects of Antarctic exploration a statement from The Society says:

Conditions in striking contrast to those in the Arctic will be encountered by the Byrd Expedition in the Antarctic. Instead of a vast expanse of sea and relatively low land, there is a high continent, larger than Australia or the United States. In the valleys of the Far North the summer sun brings moss, grass, and flowers. But in contrast, the bleak plateaus and mountains of the Antarctic harbor practically no living things because much of their area is perpetually blanketed by snow and ice.

Birds frequent the edge of the Ice Barrier where they can exist upon the creatures of the sea but inland no life has been found because there is no vegetation. The bears, wolves, foxes, rabbits, musk oxen, and caribou of the Far North have not a single representative in the Far South known to man.

Great Ice Barrier

Commander Byrd's Expedition will doubtless be able to augment the information contained upon the now meager maps of the Antarctic continent. Explorers cannot sail along the coasts of this continent as they can along those of Australia or Africa. The Great Ice Barrier and pack ice keep ships at a distance, sometimes of several hundred miles. Only in a few isolated places has this barrier been penetrated and the actual land reached.

This condition is in contrast to that of Greenland where the Ice Cap extends to the coast in only a few places. It is known that practically all of Greenland is a high plateau; but the topography of the Antarctic continent is practically unknown except for small areas traversed by explorers.

The present map of the Antarctic regions, therefore, is mostly blank, with a few patches of known territory along the coast, and one or two narrow paths penetrating inland. The best known region is the land directly south of New Zealand traversed by Shackleton, Scott, and Amundsen. The world is still hazy in regard to the high mountain ranges which exist near this most used highway to the South Pole; and little is known of the land lying relatively near the Pole and between it and Africa South America, the south Pacific, and the southern Indian Ocean. Observations from the air should make it possible to fill in much of this data.

Among the important problems to be worked out by Commander Byrd are those relating to the meteorology of the southern continent and its effect on world weather, especially that of the southern hemisphere. Observations have been taken on the ground along the Shackleton, Scott, and Amundsen routes, but nothing is known of conditions on the other side of the Pole or in the air above the continent. It is believed that the barometric and temperature changes and the air currents originating over this great land mass strikingly influence the weather to the north, and that the gathering of data over regions now unknown will aid weather forecasting.

Although the field for zoological research in the Antarctic is narrow, the party will be on the lookout for any specimens that may be encountered in the regions hitherto unvisited by man. Any rock specimens that give promise of adding to the geological knowledge of the unexplored continent will also be collected.

CAMBODIA: HODGE PODGE OF THE UNEXPECTED

The world's oldest monarch, the King of Cambodia, 87 years of age, recently died in his picturesque capital Pnom-Penh, in southeast Asia. His land, part medieval, part ultra-modern, is described in the following bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Cambodia is a hodge podge of the unexpected, says the bulletin. It is a land of forests, damp and leech-infested, of open savannahs, of wide rice fields and plodding water buffalo; of tigers and wild elephants; of humble cottagers, all literate, whose chief pleasure is writing poetry; of gilded modern pagodas, and temples, hoary with age, swallowed by the jungle; of automobiles, trolley cars, and electric lights.

A Protectorate of France

The forms of an oriental kingdom are faithfully followed; but behind the king, his five ministers, and his court formalities, stands the French Resident-Superior, and at his elbow a few French soldiers; for Camodia is a part of French Indo-China and a protectorate of France. The country is slightly smaller than the State of Missouri and has a population of about two and a half millions.

The Mekong, one of the world's great rivers, is the life artery of Cambodia. Sea going steamers ascend the stream to Pnom-Penh, the capital, 200 miles from the sea; and smaller steamers and junks traverse the network of streams and lakes hundreds of miles farther inland. But it is not only as a waterway that the stream is useful. On its overflowed lands the country's chief crop, rice, is raised in abundance.

Most of the civilized people are concentrated along the river and between its lower reaches and the Siamese border. The country houses in all parts of Cambodia are set on posts which raise them from six to 10 feet off the ground. This is necessary along the river banks because of the high floods, and elsewhere to protect the householders from tigers.

Ceremony Marks End of Flood

During the flood season a great lake forms in western Cambodia, into which the waters of the Mekong flow until it becomes a body of water 118 miles long, 18 miles wide, and more than 35 feet deep. When the floods recede, the waters flow from this natural reservoir back into the Mekong and keep its lower reaches well filled. The great importance of the river and its floods is recognized by an annual festival on the stream connecting the Great Lake and the Mekong. A cord is stretched across the stream and at the time of reversal of the flow this is cut with great ceremony by the king from the royal houseboat.

The highlands to the north are occupied by wild tribes of hunters who must fight for existence against rank vegetation, wild animals, snakes and insects. Slave raids from neighboring countries have made them wary and suspicious and they look upon all outlanders as enemies. Some of them protect their villages by poisoned darts stuck up in the ground.

Where Civilization Means Literacy

Practically all of the civilized Cambodians are literate. The country abounds in old temples, built during the Cambodian Golden Age, some 700 years ago. In these the Buddhist priests conduct schools which are attended by all children, from those of humble farmers to those of the royal family. The princes, like all other boys of Cambodia, must live during a certain period as novitiates in a temple, subsisting by means of the begging bowl, as the Buddha did, and as the priests do today.

Pnom Penh is a colorful capital set upon hills on the banks of the Mekong, its ornate temple spires and magenta tiled roofs half hidden by giant palms and flowering tropical trees. In a parklike inclosure on a hill top is the palace of the king surrounded by the houses of his multitudinous feminine retainers. Whomever happens to be the King of Cambodia might be described as a monarch entirely surrounded by women. Some are wives, some servants, and hundreds are dancing girls, trained from childhood to perform the intricate movements of dances handed down from the remote past.

Women Bobbed Haired and "Knickerbockered"

Cambodian women present a strikingly modern appearance with their short hair and what might be mistaken at first sight for knickerbockers. This nether garment is the "sampot." In making it a width of cloth is girded about the waist, then the ends are folded between the legs and tucked in at the waist line. Both men and women wear the sampot, and it is often difficult for a Westerner to distinguish between them. The men, however, wear a sort of jacket above the sampot, while the women for the most part wear a cloth or scarf draped over one shoulder and under the other arm.

The sampots of both men and women are usually of brilliant colors. Everywhere on the streets of Pnom-Penh one sees the yellow robes of the Buddhist priests; and the parasols carried by the men of the upper classes add still other hues to the street scenes. But though the capital is soaked in Eastern atmosphere, the West has been introduced by the handful of French officials and business men. Electric street lights twinkle among the hanging flowers of tropical trees; tram cars lumber by; and one may book passage to outlying towns in motor buses that ply over well metaled roads.

Evidence of the high culture and power of the Cambodians at the height of their Khmer empire, from the eighth to the fourteenth centuries is seen in the remarkable ruined temples and palaces of the old capital city of Angkor Thom, now deserted and surrounded [illegible] and jungle. The terraces a[illegible] of the old structures abou[illegible]ellent stone work, intricate c[illegible] and highly artistic sculpture. [illegible] the difficulty of access, th[illegible] of visitors go annually to [illegible] wonders of this old capital cit[illegible]

The cult[illegible] Cambodians during their [illegible] Age was owing in large part [illegible] leadership by Hindu colonists and conquerors. Brahmin influences are still to be traced in the Buddhism of Cambodia.

Winter's Effect on Roots

The bureau of plant industry says that the roots of trees grow during the winter below the frost belt. The roots do not grow if the ground freezes down to three or four inches.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Clinton K. Seymour and Alice C. Seymour, his wife, in her right, to New England Bond and Mortgage Company, dated September 18, 1926 and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 5019, Page 128, for breach of the condition of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same will be sold at public auction on the premises hereinafter described on Monday, October 3, 1927, at four-thirty o'clock in the afternoon, all and singular, the premises described in said mortgage deed to wit:

"the land with the dwelling house thereon situated in said Winchester on Rangeley Road and Ravine Road, being Lot 31 and the Easterly part of Lot 21 as shown on a plan entitled "Rangeley Estate of Edwin Ginn, Winchester, Mass." by Parker Holbrook, Engineer, dated August 1920 recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Plan Book 289, Plan 10, bounded:

Northeasterly by Ravine Road, four hundred and ninety-three and fifty one-hundredths (493.50) feet; Easterly by a curved line at the corner of Ravine Road and Rangeley Road, forty-two and seventy one-hundredths (42.70) feet. Southeasterly by Rangeley Road, two hundred and seven and thirty-nine one-hundredths (207.39) feet, Southwesterly by Lot 20, as shown on said plan, one hundred seventy-three and ten one-hundredths (173.10) feet, Northwesterly by land now or late of Bangs, sixteen and eight one-hundredths (16.08) feet, Southwesterly by land of said Bangs, three hundred and one and sixty-nine one-hundredths (301.69) feet, Northwesterly by the remainder of said Lot 21 now owned by one Abbott, one hundred and ten (110) feet, containing about 78,000 square feet.

Subject to a right of way and restrictions mentioned in deed from Arthur N. Holcombe et al, Trustees, to Clinton K. Seymour dated October 1, 1920 and recorded with said Deeds, Book 4415, Page 393.

Subject to a prior mortgage to the Brookline Savings Bank written in the sum of $18,000."

Sale will be made subject to the aforesaid mortgage to the Brookline Savings Bank, to unpaid taxes, tax titles and municipal liens, if any there are.

A deposit of Six Hundred Dollars ($600.00) will be required to be paid at the time and place of sale, balance in ten (10) days thereafter.

Amendment to By-Laws

TOWN OF WINCHESTER, MASS.

Adopted at Town Meeting on March 17, 1927

VOTED, That Article II of the By-Laws be amended by adding thereto the following new section under the caption "Cemetery Funds":

CEMETERY FUNDS

"Sect. 3. Funds, money and securities deposited with the Town Treasurer in accordance with the provisions of Section 19 of Chapter 114 of the General Laws, or otherwise, for the preservation, care, improvement, or embellishment of Wildwood Cemetery, or of burial lots therein shall be paid into the town treasury and all such funds, money and securities and the accounts thereof shall be kept separate from other funds, money and securities and accounts of the Town.

The Treasurer shall hold all such funds, money and securities subject to the order of the Selectmen and the Board of Cemetery Commissioners and shall invest and pay out the same and the income thereof on the orders of the Selectmen and said Commissioners or with their approval."

I hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of the amendment to Article II of the By Laws adopted by the Town of Winchester, Mass. at an adjourned session of the Annual Town Meeting of March 7, 1927, held on March 17, 1927, and approved by the Attorney General of Massachusetts on August 19, 1927.

Chats With YOUR Gas Man

A HEAT MESSAGE FROM MARS

True, Mars will never heat your home or your person as well as the better known heat-producing planet, the Sun. But, the temperature of the War God's planet does have a direct influence on the temperature in your home.

A special instrument, called a thermopile by the technically minded, is used by Professor Coblenz, of the United States Bureau of Standards, to measure the temperature of Mars. An adaptation of this thermopile is used by the American Gas Association Testing Laboratory in testing the efficiency of gas-fired radiant heaters.

No emphasis need be given the delicacy of this particular instrument. Called upon to measure accurately the heat of Mars, it enables the trained engineers at the Laboratory to check carefully the efficiency of the radiant heater before they admit it to the Blue Star Honor Roll.

When buying your radiant heater make sure it bears the Laboratory Seal—the Blue Star of Approval.

BOWDOIN SQ. THEATER

There comes to the Bowdoin Sq. Theater Monday, Wanda Hawley, the famous moving picture star who is well known to thousands of screen fans. She will appear in person in a comedy playlet entitled, "Squaring the Circle" in which Miss Hawley will be seen at her best. She is just as much at home on the stage as in the pictures. She will be assisted by J. Stuart Wilson and the playlet was written by M. Bosberg. It is the same as presented at the "Music Box Revue" for two seasons at New York. She is sure to receive a tremendous ovation at the Bowdoin. The picture features will offer Norma Shearer in "After Midnight," a story of young girls and night life in New York. Buck Jones will delight in "Good as Gold" and the Sennett comedy, "Crazy to Act" will also be seen together with two chapters edition of the Pathe News. Opportunity night comes Wednesday and bargain vaudeville hour starts on Friday night. Throughout the week five vaudeville acts will be viewed. Concert Sunday at 3. Free parking [illegible] to all Bowdoin patrons.

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. McKinnon of Pond street has been named Dorothy Fern.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Norton of 81 Washington street are the parents of a daughter, Nancy, born at the Winchester Hospital.

$12 IS MAXIMUM RATE

The telephone call over the greatest distance that it is possible to telephone within the boundaries of the United States would cost only $12 per the day rate or $9 by the night rate, for the initial three minute conversation.

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

The annual fall regatta will be held Saturday afternoon, Sept. 10, starting at 2 p. m. The races will be confined to novelty events, and will be open to all. The straight-away races, consisting of the single-singles, and tandem-singles, will be run over the quarter mile course, in canvas canoes, and the usual tail end hand paddle, hurry-scurry and tilting events will be held. The girls will again compete in a single-singles race, and it is hoped that one or two races for boys will be run.

During the past season there was little or no canoe racing interest shown on Mystic Lake. As no meets were held with the Medford Boat Club, a few of the Winchester paddlers entered into the outside meets. In the meet held at Canobie Lake, Salem, N. H., over Labor Day, they entered several of the races but failed to make a good showing.

Plans have been completed for the club dance to be held Saturday evening, Sept. 10. As the vacation season is nearly over a very good attendance is expected. This dance is for the club members and their friends. A subscription dance will be given on Saturday evening, Sept. 17.

Much interest is being shown in the coming tennis tournament, to decide the club's singles championship which starts on Sunday, Sept. 11. Eight or nine players have already entered their names, and before the entries close on Saturday evening, the list should contain 12 to 15 names. The tournament games will be played each week-end, until the championship is finally decided upon. Cups will be awarded to the winner and to the runner-up. Harry Gardner, Lars Sandberg, Hall Gamage, Dr. Blanchard, Ferd Hawley, Dr. Priest, Merrill Tucker and Robert Moffette are among those who are expected to make a strong bid for the honors. All tennis enthusiasts are urged to send in their entries to the Tennis Committee.

GRANADA THEATRE

"The Ten Modern Commandments" with Esther Ralston and Neil Hamilton as the stars, is the photoplay feature on the program the beautiful Granada Theater in Malden is offering the last three days of this week. The usual five act bill of vaudeville will also be presented today and Saturday.

They've gone and done it again, those two inimitable [illegible] Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton. In fact, their new picture, "Fireman, Save My Child," which will be shown at the Granada for three days starting next Monday, [illegible] their previous hits, "Behind the Front" and "We're in the Navy Now." This picture is not merely a string of "gags." It has a well defined plot with excruciating comedy situations that build and keep on building with each moment [illegible] bursts of laughter.

The Cole and Grace Revue will be the headliner on the vaudeville bill for the first half of next week. This is one of vaudeville's biggest attractions and combines with the photoplay, "Fireman Save My Child" in making one of the most entertaining programs the Granada has ever offered.

"Fancy Magic," starring Ben Lyon will be shown at the Granada for three days starting next week Thursday.

VIRGINIA'S 1ST TELEPHONE LINE WAS PLACED IN 1877

The first complete telephone line to be installed in the State of Virginia was between Fredericksburg and Falmouth. In 1877, a line extending from the office of the Chief Signal Officer of the army at Washington to Fort Whipple was constructed and about the same time, some other lines were built in Washington, but Fredericksburg lays claim to the distinction of having the first complete line operated in the State.

Dear H[illegible]

Yesterday [illegible] "Great Heat" [illegible] 110 degrees [illegible] We [illegible] at noon and the [illegible] 4 p. m. [illegible] Of course, [illegible]

[illegible]

I was [illegible] family [illegible] Sunday and suddenly the mother of the family screamed [illegible] all because she saw her little boy [illegible] the lawn in the sun with no hat [illegible] The father of the family sprang for the child as if the child had been standing in fire.

And speaking of the missionaries, I want to say a few words. There is a great deal said about them being somewhat responsible for the present chaos in China. The British particularly condemn them. Without deep inquiry, I have nothing to say about their effect in China. But I can tell you they are sincere folks, they have had to have remarkable courage and faith to live in China and to the officers and men of the Marblehead they have been true Christians in their hospitality. And I can say, too, that missionaries develop the most beautiful children I ever hope to encounter in this world. I attribute the discipline, sweetness, excellent education of these kiddies to the fact that a missionary mother and father can and do give more time to the molding of their children's characters. And unworthy would I be of my New England heritage if I did not express something else I feel and that is that the Christian atmosphere they breathe must surely play a big part in their surpassing beauty of soul which seem so apparent on each child's countenance. To the affection of these missionary kiddies I owe much of my contentment in China and every Saturday and Sunday I dwell among them.

Each day we inspect our great engines. They are still, passive, dead, cold. But they are in every part intact, ready, eager to devour the Pacific and once more let their propeller's churn American ocean. Rumors persist we shall leave here soon. We may go to Hongkong from there we do not know. We are truly [illegible] anticipating only our [illegible] to meals and bed.

[illegible] do I wonder what joys and [illegible] New England summer may [illegible] I have good drinking water, [illegible] where water is never safe [illegible] I have friends, adult and [illegible] juvenile in this very port and I [illegible] inestimable joy in the faith [illegible] I still have friends in America. Every cloud has a silver lining even in China.

I'm always wishing you may all be very well. I hope the little front porch is cool these days and [illegible] indeed shall I be when world misunderstandings let me sit on that porch once more.

Ever your sincere friend,

Harold

FACTS ABOUT THE TELEPHONE

It takes more than 380,000 people to operate the country's telephones.

New York City has nearly three times as many telephones today as it had in 1914.

There are over sixty million miles of telephone wire in the United States.

There are over twenty thousand telephone central offices in the United States.

Michigan has ten times as many telephones per hundred people as are found in Europe.

In 1895 the United States had one telephone for every 242 people. Now we have one telephone for every seven people.

Beloit, Wisconsin, has as many telephones as the whole country of Greece, although Greece has 250 times as many people as the City of Beloit.

In proportion to population, Seattle has over three times as many telephones as The Hague, Holland, the capital city of Queen Wilhelmina's realm.

TELEPHONE IMPROVEMENTS

Multitudes of new devices for the ordinary wire telephone system have been perfected and are now in general use throughout the country. And the work does not stop; for example, the two terminal instruments, the transmitter and receiver, which one always sees, are required in many forms in the telephone system. Not only are they necessary for subscribers' sets, but also in special forms for use by operators, by linemen, and in the studios of radio stations. Greater efficiency, durability, and fidelity of reproduction have already been obtained, and electrical and mechanical experiments to further improve these instruments are always being conducted.

One of the most outstanding telephone developments is that of multiconductor cable; this can be run through ducts and manholes underground or attached to poles overhead. Such a cable, only 2.5 8 inches in diameter, may contain over 1200 pairs of wires, for connecting telephones to a central office. Without this concentrated means of making connections it would be impossible to provide the present service in the densely populated portions of cities at anything like the present cost. Suitable cable is also used for connections between central offices and between towns. Cable has the great advantage of being immune against the ravages of sleet and wind.

Strive to Keep Cost Down

To keep down the cost of telephone service is of the greatest importance because the wide extension of telephone service requires that it be within the means of the average citizen. With the increase in complexity of the telephone plant as the total number of subscribers becomes greater and greater it is only by means of many improvements that the cost of service is kept down.

Great expenditures for heavy wire have been obviated through the use of loading, which is the insertion of inductance coils at intervals in a line, improving its electrical characteristics. Two other developments which have also saved large sums in the growth of the telephone plant are repeaters, by means of which speed is amplified by vacuum tubes, and phantom operation, which provides three conversations on only two pairs of wires. All of these improvements were brought into practical form, suitable for extensive application, by the continued efforts of the laboratory experts.

READY FOR SCHOOL?

"All aboard" for school. The suits, dresses, shoes and pencil boxes are all in readiness. The little fellow who is starting for the first time is eager and enthused over the prospects of this journey. Of course, he has no realization of its length or of the difficulties involved!

How about this train, that is ready to leave with the next shout of "all aboard?" The engineer of the railroad train knows that the engine is in top-notch condition because it had a careful looking over. He is sure that everything is in readiness for the start. Is the "body-engine" of your child in complete readiness? If you have not already done it, take him to your doctor for a thorough going over. See if his weight is above or under par; pay attention to his posture; find out if his vision is good; his hearing normal; and have the throat and teeth carefully examined. Attention to these essentials now may prevent a "bad smash-up" in that little engine! And remember that no child can enter a public school in Massachusetts who has not been vaccinated against smallpox.

Fourteen hundred children in this state were examined under the auspices of the Department of Public Health in the Well Child Conferences during the first six months of this year. Only 236 were without physical defects!

There is time to have the "engine" looked over in these last few days. Give your child his right to start with no handicaps. "All aboard" for school.

SOME STRANGE KINDS OF FISHES

One lungfish is worth a number of garfish if the recent trading by the New York and London aquariums afford a market indicator for odd fishes.

Lepidosiren paradox, the lungfish, who can take his drink of water or leave it alone, by terms of the trade, has moved to a New York Aquarium. When there is water in the Amazon swamps from which it came, the lungfish swims as other fish. When drought comes it burrows into a mud bank and waits patiently for the next freshet.

Fishes That Change Their Colors

Fishes like animals show remarkable adaptation to their environments, according to a communication to the National Geographic Society.

Groupers, rock fishes, and hinds have the power of undergoing complete color changes almost instantaneously. The color tone becomes lighter or darker and the markings become bold or fade and disappear. Such color changes can be seen to advantage in individuals kept in an aquarium.

The Swell-fishes have the power of suddenly inflating the body with water or air until they assume an approximately globular form several times the normal diameter, which must be disconcerting to any enemy about to seize one. The Porcupine-fish, in addition to doing this has the body everywhere covered with long, sharp spines which project in every direction like the quills of a Hedgehog. Many persons who are familiar with the inflated skin of Swell-fishes and Porcupine-fish used by the Japanese as picturesque lanterns will be surprised to learn that both are common in southern waters.

Most marine animals which swim, especially swiftly and continuously, have a forked tail-fin. This shape of tail avoids the space immediately behind the axis of the body where the stream-lines following the sides (of a moving fish) converge. A rounded or pointed tail which would occupy such area would be a drag.

And Then the Tails

Whales and Porpoises, though they move the tail up and down instead of from side to side, have a forked tail-fin, only it lies in a horizontal instead of a vertical plane. The wide ranging members of the mackerel family and other more or less related marine fishes have a forked tail-fin set on a firm, narrow base; and the freest swimming sharks (Mackerel sharks and the Man-eater) have acquired a tail of the same shape, though the ordinary shark tail is weak and unsymmetrical.

The Red Snapper comes from deeper water than other common snappers. There is a tendency for fishes which swim deep down under the blue or green sea and yet within the range of surface light penetration to be red in color. A great many are not, to be sure, but a larger proportion are red here than elsewhere, frequently a clear bright striking red all over.

It seems almost a pity that the light in which they live is so green that the color, red, must appear an intangible neutral gray! Perhaps it gives them a useful inconspicuousness down there, or perhaps it absorbs a maximum amount of the dim, strongly blue-green sunlight, which is in some way beneficial.

Shark is a Conservative

While evolution has been molding other more modern fishes into a great variety of forms to fit every niche in the infinitely varied but unchanging environment of tropical seas, the shark has always been much as we find him today.

It is not surprising, therefore, that there is a fish which owes its very remarkable structure and habits to the presence of sharks. This is the slender Shark Sucker which has the anterior portion of its body horizontally flattened, and a remarkable oval structure, with movable slats like those of a blind, on the top of its head. With this apparatus it attaches itself firmly at will to the shark's broad side and thus as a "dead-head" passenger, is transported through long stretches of ocean without any effort on its own part.

The Shark Sucker is boldly and very beautifully striped with black and white, but can change its color almost instantly to a dull, uniform gray matching the side of the shark to which it is clinging. It sometimes attaches itself also to other large fishes, such as the Tarpon, or to turtles.

KRASNOVODSK, TRANSCASPIA A REMNANT OF TSARDOM

Krasnovodsk, Transcapia, largest seaport on the eastern shore of the Caspian Sea, is reported to be slowly fading from the map, says a bulletin from the Washington D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

When the city was built by Russian Army engineers, more than half a century ago, it was destined to become the most important military post and commercial port in Asiatic Russia. But after a short period of prosperity, when it vied with Baku, Astrakhan and Persian ports on the Caspian it began to decline until it is now little more than a fishing village.

Seventy Feet Below Sea Level

In its early days the growth of Krasnovodsk was phenomenal, considering its location, continues the bulletin. It is spread out at the foot of bare, converging, sun-parched hills, 70 feet below sea level, with several hundred miles of desert sand at its back door. When its founders arrived there fresh water and grass were lacking. In less than 10 years wharves were built, water distilleries established and the population increased until Krasnovodsk earned the right to be called a Russian city.

Krasnovodsk became the gateway to central Asia for the Tsar's troops when they entered Turkestan. The road from Krasnovodsk to Samarkand is said to have been literally paved with the bones of soldiers of the Russian Army who perished from lack of water and food and disease and sunstroke.

Turkomans in their foot high sheepskin hats, Arabs in their tightly wound kaffeyehs and flowing robes and fez-bedecked Persians, all mingled with the Russians in the trading places.

Distributing Center for Turkestan

The road now is traversed by the Transcaspian Railway that skirts the southern edge of the Kara Kum Desert, nearly touching the Persian border for many miles, and then veering off northward to Samarkand and Tashkent, in the rich agricultural regions of Turkestan. A branch line runs south from Merv to Kushk Post near the Afghan border.

The removal of the railway terminus from Uzan Ada to Krasnovodsk gave the new city the aspect of a boom town. Soon it became the distributing center not only of Russian troops but of oil, grain and other commodities from Europe destined for Geok, Tepe, Askhabad, Bukhara and other important central Asiatic points along the railroad.

Later political conditions in the neighborhood of Krasnovodsk became impossible. Passengers and commercial shipments were delayed and the transshipment of commerce across the Caspian Sea from Baku became increasingly expensive and time consuming. This caused the shippers to look for new routes to central Asia and Turkestan via Samara and Orenburg, Russia, thence directly southeast to Tashkent, an all rail route.

Boats ply between Baku and Krasnovodsk, a ride of 16 to 18 hours, but the wharves are almost as deserted as the railroad station. The sea-going vessels that anchored in the harbor while Caspian trade was brisk, have been displaced by small fishing smacks, row boats and dilapidated barges.

WOMAN'S CHRISTIAN TEMPERANCE NOTES

Pledging their support to the nomination and election of dry candidates the National W. C. T. U. convention declared it would insist upon a declaration by the national convention of the political parties in favor of law enforcement and the maintenance and enforcement of the 18th amendment and the Volstead Act. Local members of the W. C. T. U. returning from the national convention at Minneapolis are encouraged by the declaration of Mrs Henry W. Peabody, president of the Woman's Law Enforcement Committee, that her organization reaching 10,000,000 women will back the W. C. T. U. stand on platforms and candidates. Increased encouragement comes also from the fact that a similar endorsement came from the National Women's Democratic Law Enforcement League in an unequivocal message signed by the president, Mrs. Jessie W. Nicholson.

In an address by Dr. Daniel A. Poling of New York City, president of the International Christian Endeavor Society, he congratulated the W. C. T. U. on its leadership in insisting on dry planks in the political party platforms; and said that the 10,000 young people who met in the Christian Endeavor Society convention at Cleveland had taken similar action. The statement from Mrs. Peabody followed immediately upon Mrs. Ella A. Boole's declaration of policy that the W. C. T. U. "Will work for dry planks in the political party platform." Commenting on this statement Mrs. Boole, National W. C. T. U. president said, "This means that the liquor traffic again has united opposition of the American women; it means that the women of the nation will join with us in our revolt against loose law enforcement and juggling by politicians with respect to law enforcement."

Law enforcement plans adopted by the W. C. T. U. include placing increased emphasis on scientific temperance instruction in schools and colleges; urging the teaching of the history of the prohibition of the liquor traffic, and stressing the patriotism of law enforcement.

Jan. 16 and 17, the anniversary of the adoption of prohibition, will be celebrated by every local union, with special meetings and banquets.

With rousing cheers, the W. C. T. U. placed the following plank in its platform: "We refuse to accept the Canadian plan of government sale as a substitute for prohibition. Under this plan the old fashioned bartender would reappear as a civic employe. Every claim for the Canadian plan as a solution of the liquor problem has been disproved by the official records of the Dominion and Provincial governments."

Another plank commends "writers and entertainers who eliminate from stories, plays and scenarios, the idea that drinking is essential to a good time," saying, "the average American family has nothing in common with the sort of life portrayed in many current novels and upon the screen and stage."

One of the features of the program was a pageant which announced for the first time the results of the membership drive, Jan. 16 to May 8, showing that 51,840 new members were gained in that period. Mrs. Frances P. Parks, retiring National Corresponding Secretary, predicted that before the close of the organization year, Oct. 31, that number would be 100,000.

SINAIA THE HOME OF RUMANIA'S BOY KING

Sinaia, whose historic Castle Pelesh has been recently set aside by the Rumanian Government as a country residence for the boy king, is a beautiful resort in the pine clad Carpathian Mountains and favorite summer gathering place of Balkan aristocracy, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Winding drives lead to snow white villas and modern hotels set against a background of forest and mountain. From their balconies and windows views of narrow valley and fir clad hill are unsurpassed. Gay, gypsylike Rumanian music floats from band stands, smart crowds gather in open-air restaurants, and far into the night the gaming rooms of the casino are crowded by the fashionable world of south-eastern Europe.

Resort of Recent Origin

This delightful valley in the Carpathians became popular less than 50 years ago, continues the bulletin, when it was chosen as a refuge from the torrid summers of Bucharest by young Prince Charles of Hohenzollern Sigmaringen, newly-chosen King of Rumania, and his wife Elizabeth of Neuwied, known to the literary world by her pen name of Carmen Sylva.

When the royal court first visited this mountain fastness there was no summer palace built, and they stopped for weeks at a time at the Orthodox Greek Monastery near Sinaia built by Prince Michael Cantacuzene in the 15th century. The walls of the monastery apartment set aside for royal use are and to be still covered with caricature sketches of well known court ladies, drawn by the queen.

So charmed were the new monarchs with the invigorating air and wild scenery of Sinaia that they set about the creation there of a summer court. King Charles supervised the erection of Castle Pelesh, the royal residence, on whose building, landscaping and furnishing he lavished millions. Pelesh is in the white stone-and-plaster, half-timbered, many-gabled German style, looking more like a resort hotel in the Bavarian Alps than a castle in the English sense of the word. It is perhaps more adequately described by the French term, chateau.

The building, however, is in harmony with its background of evergreens and mountain peaks, and stands in a wooded park of great beauty. Its many rooms contain priceless art treasures from Europe and the Orient collected by King Charles throughout a long lifetime and added to by his successors Ferdinand and Marie. The throne room and reception halls are of Aladdin-like splendor.

Court Life Simple

In spite of this gorgeous background court life has always been less formal at Sinaia than in Bucharest. It has been the custom of both Carmen Sylva and Queen Marie to wear native peasant costume while in residence.

It was at Sinaia that the royal family first heard the booming of the guns on the Hungarian frontier after Rumania's entry into the World War. The Transylvania frontier is a few miles away through the Carpathian passes.

Modern Summer Capital

Since the war Sinaia has become more popular than ever, not only among native aristocracy but with visitors from all eastern Europe. Rumania combines strains of Latin gaiety and gypsy romance which seem to meet in Sinaia. Rich owners of landed estates have been hard hit by agrarian reforms but many seem still able to maintain magnificent white villas at the summer capital, and their number is constantly being added to by those newly rich from post war development.

On Sinaia's tree-shaded promenades are seen costumes fresh from the Rue de la Paix. Gay youths in flannels play tennis with girls in embroidered blouses, their hair held in place by colorful gypsy scarves. Inviting bridle paths lead through the forest to mountain retreats of solemn grandeur. At the casino the wheel of fortune spins and each evening in the adjoining ballroom music plays far into the night.

This remote Carpathian Valley, in the shadow of the old Cantacuzene monastery, has seen during the last half century the surprising growth of one of Europe's gayest summer capitals. High upon the hillside above, embowered in gardens, lies the royal residence of Pelesh, built by the German monarch of a Latin country and redolent with the memory of an English Queen. Now its gorgeousness is the property of a boy of five.

Amendment to By-Laws

TOWN OF WINCHESTER, MASS.

Adopted at Town Meeting on March 14, 1927

VOTED, That Section 1 of Article 1 of the By-Laws is hereby amended by adding thereto the following:

But the meeting shall be adjourned to meet at forty-five minutes after seven o'clock in the afternoon of the following day for the consideration of all business except the election of such officers and the determination of such matters as by law are required to be elected or determined by ballot, so that said section will read as follows:

"Section 1. The Annual Town Meeting shall be held on the first Monday of March, but the meeting shall be adjourned to meet at forty-five minutes after seven o'clock in the afternoon of the following day for the consideration of all business except the election of such officers and the determination of such matters as by law are required to be elected or determined by ballot."

I hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of the amendment to Section 1 of Article 1 of the By-Laws adopted by the Town of Winchester, Mass., at an adjourned session of the Annual Town Meeting of March 7, 1927, held on March 14, 1927, and approved by the Attorney General of Massachusetts on August 19, 1927.

CADILLAC'S CROWNING ACHIEVEMENT

One more thrill for motor car enthusiasts has been held in store until the Fall. It is the introduction of the new Cadillac, coming at the close of a season which has been brim full of announcements of splended new cars, possessing greater beauty, improved performance and greater dollar-for-dollar value.

The new Cadillac is announced as the largest, most powerful and most luxurious Cadillac ever produced. The engine is bigger and more powerful, the chassis is longer, bodies are more spacious and their designs, colors and appointments are entirely new.

This Cadillac is pointed out as the crowning achievement of a quarter century of manufacture by an organization which has always produced cars of the highest grade. It is also the second major achievement of the company's silver anniversary year, following by just six months the introduction of the LaSalle, which has proved itself a truly fine car, with a sales record which has been phenomenal.

According to the announcement, which is made by John H. Bates, Inc., local distributors for Cadillac, the new car is produced for the ultra-exclusive class of owners who desire, irrespective of price, the finest automobile obtainable, with all of the prestige and satisfaction that go with ownership of a vehicle closely approaching motor car perfection.

In developing the body lines, the designers were evidently un-fettered by the past. The design conforms with the new vogue. The cars are low, long, fleet and well-unified. Added is an impression of strength which suggests a car of unlimited power and one that is a great traveler.

It is large in every dimension excepting height, distinguished in appearance and ultra luxurious. The chassis is more rugged and has been lengthened to a 140-inch wheelbase.

As to the power plant, the success which has attended 14 years of experience with the V-type, 90-degree eight cylinder engine, reconfirmed in the signal success of the LaSalle, has convinced this manufacturer of the correctness of its accepted principle of design.

The new engine is larger having a 341-inch piston displacement instead of the former 314, with an S. A. E. horsepower rating of 35.1, actually developing 90. This compares with the former 31.25 S. A. E. rating, actually more than 80. The new car is presented in 26 body styles—14 by Fisher and 12 by Fleetwood. There are four open Fisher bodies. All of the Fleetwoods are closed.

The body styles are outstanding examples of the modernistic trend, yet they possess great restraint and dignity. They reflect a sincere and successful effort on the part of the designers to create a line of bodies distinctive in their beauty, comfort, luxury and richness.

The unusually long wheelbase of 140 inches and the under slung? rear springs permit bodies which are marked by lines that are long, low and impressive. The well-bred air of the cars is carried out in beauty of line, balance and harmony.

From the handsome, distinctive radiator, deep slung in the chassis, creating a low, fleet and powerful appearance from the front, to the detail of the slat-covered gasoline tank in the rear, these bodies are a plainly evident departure from the past.

The radiator itself is of an entirely original design, deep and narrow, with its depth emphasied by vertical shutters which are operated thermostatically. Its base is a beautiful curve instead of the more usual straight line base and a large crank cap is let into its lower portion, emphasizing its depth.

Encased in a very narrow nickeled shell, at the top front of which is carried a Cadillac medallion with a black background, the radiator is surmounted by a new type radiator filler-cap built close to the shell, giving the effect of an extremely large filler opening.

The head-on appearance of the car is deeply impressive. Head-lamps are large—12 inches in diameter—of the bullet type, with a windsplit tapering to the apex. This device is duplicated in the bullet-type side lamps, which are mounted on the nickeled cowl band.

Headlamps are carried on horizontal brackets mounted on each fender, and their wiring is concealed in two vertical nickeled lamp standards connected by a horizontal monogram rod, adding materially to the head-on appearance.

The long wheelbase and the low, sweeping lines of the hood with its 30 high and narrow louvres are indicative of the great power and well-proportioned balance of body and hood that are outstanding characteristics.

Wide-sweeping one-piece fenders give fleet lines to the car as a whole and by their contour further emphasize the low-slung appearance. Running boards of rigid metal construction, covered with rubber matting, and a specially designed nickeled moulding of a rounded section, give the boards a smart finish.

A new feature is the battery box let into the front of the righthand dust shield, the cover of which forms a "kick-pad." Another "kick-pad" is located in the dust shield beneath the rear door, a step light being placed between. In the left side dust shield is a tool box with combination cover and kick-pad and a second kick-pad beneath the rear door.

Interiors are finished in a wide choice of mohair velvets of the finest quality and in broadcloth. Seat cushions in closed bodies are tufted and plaited over special form-fitting luxury type springs which are the last word in comfort. Open models are upholstered in soft, pliable leather.

Hardware of exquisite design in Butler silver finish is in keeping with the exacting taste shown in the whole interior fitting. Vanity case, foot rest, robe rails and assist cords are included where required. Special inlaid walnut paneling of new design adds further charm to the interiors.

The new instrument board is finished in black Duco with a narrow nickeled moulding. Arrangement of the instruments in individual assemblies instead of the more commonplace grouped assemblies lends a distinctive air to the driving compartment.

The instruments comprise: windshield wiper control; switch for instrument board lighting independent of switch on steering column; intake manifold temperature control; spark control; oil pressure gauge; button controling carburetor enriching device; speedometer; ammeter; electrically operated gasoline gauge; eight-day clock; ignition lock; motor-temperature indicator and combination inspection lamp and cigar lighter.

The steering wheel is of the new racing car type, of rubber composition, black finish, 19 inches in diameter. Its rim is of small cross-section and has a ribbed grip. In the hub are set controls for lighting, parking and throttle.

A feature of the new Cadillac is a simple device by which the driving seat can be easily adjusted forward or backward to obtain the greatest driving comfort. It can be moved forward so that even a very small woman may drive with an absence of strain and stretching.

In addition to side armrest, folding armrests are used in the center of the rear seat on all cars, open and closed, a feature which provides comfort appreciated by rear seat passengers on long journeys.

The rear lights of new design are placed on each rear fender. The tail light is mounted on the left fender and the stoplight on the right.

The projection of the gasoline tank filler outside the side frame member provides better accessibility.

The back view of the car is improved by the unique finish of the gasoline tank, which is fitted with a metal covering of a corrugated slat effect.

All bodies and hoods are finished in Duco.

The Cadillac closed body models are the two-pasesnger coupe; two-passenger convertible coupe; five-passenger coupe; five passenger sedan; five-passenger town sedan; seven-passenger sedan; five-passenger Imperial; seven-passenger Imperial; five-passenger Imperial cabriolet and seven-passenger Imperial cabriolet, all of which are being shown by John H. Bates, Inc., of Woburn, during the Style Salon, Sept. 8 to 18.

FAIRMOUNT PARK

Situated on the West Side of Winchester off of Cambridge Street nearly opposite Calumet Road. A tract of 20 lots of land varying in size from 7000 to 12,000 square feet in area. Every lot affords a beautiful panoramic view of the most attractive part of the town. In addition to the four houses already erected thereon, the Fairmount Associates have purchased five uncompleted houses adjoining their property at a mortgagees sale. This in order not only to conserve the high type of construction originally planned for this tract, but more particularly to control the disposition of these houses, in order to maintain the high class neighborhood to which we set out to create. These aforesaid five houses are nearing completion and will be offered to satisfactory parties at reasonable prices and possibly one or two of these houses may be obtained for rent.

CALUMET

CALUMET NOTES

The Club is quietly assuming an atmosphere of activity. Very soon now we shall be in full swing. The Clubhouse itself presents a very tidy and homelike appearance. Painting and renovation have brightened up the corners considerably. The house itself has been painted on the outside and touched up here and there on the inside; our carpets look like new, the pool and billiard tables have been put in first-class order and the bowling alleys resurfaced.

Quite a few attended the special meeting of members last Saturday evening. It was unanimously voted to report favorably the matter of suspension of the initiation fee for a brief period to the directors for action. Assuming that the directors will sent the action of the members, the membership committee has gone ahead with the canvass for new members. Chairman Richardson has a special committee besides the regular membership committee and they are busy at work assigning members to canvass for new ones. It is a great satisfaction to the committee to see the members evince such interest. We are out for a full membership of 325 in 30 days and by the way applications are being pasted on the board, it looks as though the goal will be reached before that time.

The big event will be the opening dinner and annual surprise Oct. 1. This will be a get-together dinner and new members are particularly urged to come and get acquainted.

Chairman Chase of the Entertainment Committee did yeoman service last year and his efforts were much appreciated by the members. This year he has even a better program outlined and the officers and directors feel that members will be pleased with the schedule. To this list will be added several events which the committee will work out later and inform members in due time. Special attention is called to the bowling for ladies and gentlemen which will take place once a month on the months preceeding the mixed bowling tournament. This innovation the committee believes will not only get the ladies in trim for the mixed event but will add greatly to the social side of the Club.

Following is the 1927-28 season of dates for Calumet Club activities:

LIEUTENANT SEWALL GUEST SPEAKER AT THE LEGION HOUSE LAST NIGHT

Following Business Meeting

Lieut. Sumner Sewall, World War Ace, and a former member of the 95th Aero Squadron was the speaker at the regular September meeting of the Post held last night at the Legion House, following a business meeting at which nominations for Post officers and Executive Committee were made. Comdr. Arthur S. Harris introduced the speaker.

Although Lieutenant Sewall has a marvellous war record, having brought down single-handed five enemy planes and two enemy balloons, for which he received honors from three of the Allied Armies, his talk was confined almost exclusively to the present day status of aviation and its improvements over wartime methods.

Lieutenant Sewall stated that the development of the Wright engine was one of the greatest improvements in aviation since the World War. Lieutenant Sewall held a record during the war because he was able to get 70 flying hours out of his Liberty motor. The Wright engine of today, he said, was good for 1000 or more flying hours at an average speed of 100 miles per hour. Another big step was the perfection of the electricity controlled compass which can be set so as to guide the pilot in a fixed direction without the constant fluctuations of the old ship compass. Radio control by radio beams sent from one point to another along a given course, is another feature which today is being rapidly developed. Under this method of control a plane which swerves from the path of the radio beam is soon brought back into its true course by the pilot, who receives a warning colored light on his instrument board.

Taking up commercial aviation, of which Lieutenant Sewall is particularly able to speak by reason of his position as Boston manager of the Colonial Air Transport Company, operating the mail and express planes between Boston and New York, he pointed out that their business had increased 400 per cent during the last six months. This, with the improved landing fields, the lighted course and the regularity of service, shows what can be done when commercial aviation fills an economic need for which a real demand exists. In this connection he remarked that the development of commercial aviation in this country without goverment subsidy was on a much finer basis than in Europe where about 70 per cent of the revenue is from government sources. While our development is naturally slower, it is founded on a basis of commercial competition which promotes efficiency.

Lieutenant Sewall thought that the loss of life in the trans-oceanic flights taught clearly the lesson that single-motored planes ought not to attempt such risks. While one may succeed, several others will meet with fatal failure. The development of twin-motored planes will result in a much greater factor of safety. It was interesting to note, he said that most of the successful ocean flyers were air mail-trained, and that several of the old army aviators who relied more on the haphazard methods used ten years ago instead of following strictly the reading of their navigating instruments, met with failure.

Sleet and fog when landing, are still the aviators' worst foes. When flying under normal conditions the planes are so highly developed today, Lieutenant Sewall said, that the pilot can leave the cockpit and without any guiding hand on the controls, the plane will maintain its onward course without swerving.

After competing his formal talk, Lieutenant Sewall answered the many questions of the Post members, until Commander Harris reluctantly called a halt for refreshments after 11 o'clock.

Following is a list of officers and executive committee as nominated at last night's meeting:

Commander Marshall J. England.
Vice Commander Richard Parkhurst.
Adjutant Wm S. Phippen
Treasurer Harry G. Bigelow.
Chaplain Vincent P. Clarke
Historian Theo Lawson
Executive Committee Daniel Lynch, George Young, A S Harris, E B Goldsmith, Andrew Anderson, G I LaDue, Newman Giles, J C Moynihan, Clifford Towner, Dr M J Quinn, Mac Wilde, A J Madden, R M Hamilton, G J Barbaro.

EMBLEM CLUB AFFAIRS

The first regular meeting of the fall season will be held in Lyceum Hall on Wednesday evening, Sept. 28, at 8:15 o'clock. Drill team rehearsal is scheduled for the same night at 7:15.

President Emily A. Scholl plans to hold a class initiation early in the season. Those who have candidates in view are urged to bring in all applications at this session. Application blanks may be obtained from the secretary, tel. Win. 1449-M

The Entertainment Committee will meet at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Annie M. Hanlon, Vice-President, 5 Cutting street, next Wednesday evening, Sept. 21. The year's social program will be under discussion and matters of importance will be brought before the general assembly. Any event that conflicts with with Elk activities should be omitted.

Rehearsals for the drill team have been progressing steadily all summer and what were once raw recruits are now finished products of the drillmaster's skill. And Mr. McDonough is justly proud of his "girls" as, without a doubt, the club will be after the initial performance, when, in military array with flags flying, they are due to make one grand sensation.

That each and every one of them has worked hard is evident. Two rehearsals were scheduled for this week, Wednesday night, and again this Friday night. There is one consolation, however, they won't have to go gunning for new fangled "reducing methods" to be in the mode this season. Most of them are trained down to mere shadows—let them tell it! But cheer up, girls. Only three more rehearsals are needed, according to Mr. McDonough and the first public exhibition will be staged in October.

The newly formed Emblem Club of Watertown will hold a class initiation Oct. 5. Report has it that Winchester will be asked to do the honors, but as yet no formal invitation has been sent. Watertown is now No. 6 in the National Order of Emblem.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

No cases were reported to the Board of Health for the week ending Thursday, Sept. 15.

Miss Marion DeLaurier, popular bookkeeper of the Puffer Manufacturing Company, is enjoying her annual vacation at The Weirs, N. H.

DR. ADELINE B. CHURCH

Dr. Adeline Barnard Church, wife of Dr. Benjamin T. Church of Brookline, died at the Homeopathic Hospital on Friday. She was 80 years of age and had been at the hospital for only a fortnight.

Dr. Church was widely known in Winchester, where she resided for nearly 40 years, during which time her husand was the leading physician of the town. She took her medical degree while residing here and for 16 years was a professor at the Boston University School of Medicine. For 12 years in succession she went to Europe as a lecturing physician. She married Dr. Benjamin T. Church in 1866. She was born in Chelsea, her parents being George L. and Adeline (Cook) Barnard. She and her husband moved to Brookline 10 years ago. She is survived by her husband and one step-sister, Dr. Belle S. Barnard of Boston.

The funeral services were held on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Mt. Auburn chapel and were conducted by Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the First Congregational Church of this town, which society Dr. Church attended during her residence here. The remains were cremated and will be interred in the family lot at Providence, R. I.

CLARENCE DeMAR, MARATHON RUNNER

The great Marathon runner, winner of the B. A. A. race for five times over large fields composed of the best runners in this country and Canada, has been secured to speak at the Baptist Church at 12 o'clock Sunday, Sept. 25, the occasion being the Rally Day service of the Bible School.

The subject upon which he will speak has not been announced, but all may be sure that there will be a message for each one who attends this service, as well as the privilege of seeing and meeting this remarkable man.

It may be news to some of our people in Winchester to know that Clarence DeMar has a fine class of young men which he teaches from Sunday to Sunday in the Bible School of the First Baptist Church of Melrose and that he has spoken in several of our churches with much interest to the young people.

The local school is opening its doors to all who are interested in this remarkable man, as well as to all its members and prospective members. A full house is expected.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED AT BRIDGE

A bridge was given Monday afternoon of this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. S. Barton of this town announcing the engagement of their daughter Miss Eliazbeth Barton to Mr. Stephen Barton Neiley, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Neiley of Myopia road, Winchester.

Miss Barton is a graduate of the Cambridge Haskell School.

Mr. Neiley is a graduate of the Phillips Andover Academy and also of the class of '22 of Technology. He is a member of the Phi Gamma Delta Fraternity.

An out of town paper states that reports are current that the Noonan School is over crowded and that Winchester school authorities have established two classes in grade one for the school. This condition, the paper states, was to be expected and it further states that it was the first to call attention of Winchester parents and citizens to this effect some months ago.

MARRY TOMORROW AT MARTHA'S VINEYARD

Franklin Knight Haven and Elizabeth Goodenow Carpenter Nuptials at Eight-thirty

A wedding of much interest to many Winchester friends will occur at the summer colony at Martha's Vinyard tomorrow evening, when Franklin Knight Haven, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Haven of 212 Main street, takes as his bride Miss Elizabeth Goodenow Carpenter, daughter of Mrs. Annie G. and the late Eugene Carpenter, formerly of Newton. The service is to be at the Christ Methodist Episcopal Church. It will be performed by the Rev. Charles B. Elder of the Unitarian Church of Vineyard Haven and Worcester at 8:30.

The affair will be the most important fall social event at the Vineyard. The best man will be the groom's brother, Roger W. Haven. Miss Clyde Carpenter, of New York City, sister of the bride, is to be maid of honor, with Mrs. John Todd of Rutland, Vt., cousin of the bride, matron. The bridesmaids are to be Miss Phyllis Strator and Miss Irene Strator of Brookline and Miss Janet McQuarrie and Mrs. Rosemary Hay of New York and Martha's Vinyard. Emily Fenno Carpenter, sister of the bride, and Mariam Phillips of Pawtucket, R. I., are to be ribbon girls. Master Harold W. McIntosh of Wellesley Hills will be the ring bearer and Jeanne Hay of Martha's Vineyard the flower girl. The ushers for the ceremony and for the reception which will follow at Mrs. Carpenter's Beach road bungalow, are Gilman W. Haven, the groom's brother, Edwin Earle of Derby Line, Vt., the groom's cousin, Benjamin Drisko of this town and Grenville B. Gerrish of Melrose Highlands.

A feature of the wedding costumes will be the bride's dress, which has been made from her aunt's Paris wedding gown. It is of ivory canton crepe, with hand embroidered applique and trimming, the train edged with the same. He veil, which was her great grandmother's and is over 150 years old, is of real chantilly lace, ivory colored with age. The maid of honor and the matron are to be dressed in a pale and deeper shade of yellow crepe, with the bridesmaids in nile green and orchid crepe. They will carry flowers which blend with their gowns. The flower girl will wear ruffled yellow flowered organdie and the ribbon girls green and orchid flowered organdie.

The couple are to be assisted in receiving at the reception by their parents, and the residence will be decorated with greenery and garden flowers. They are making their future home at 49 Hillcrest road, Reading. Mr. Haven, an M. I. T. man of '23, is associated with his father in the firm of H. M. Haven & A. T. Hopkins, Inc., engineers and architects, Boston. Miss Carpenter is a graduate of the Sea Pines School.

COMMITTEE OF SAFETY CHAPTER

The Committee of Safety Chapter, D. A. R., of Winchester will hold an all day outing on Monday, Sept. 19, at the summer home at North Weymouth of the Regent Mrs. Blanche K. Swan at which time the season's activities will be planned. The Chapter is wide awake and interested in the work of the D. A. R., namely Pariotic Education and looks forward to a winter of real accomplishments. Members planning to attend the outing please communicate with the Vice Regent, Mrs. Charles E. Corey in order that arrangements may be made for automobile transportation.

WON FROM ARLINGTON

Town Team the Best in 10-Inning Game

For the third time in succession the Winchester Town Team went over the regulation nine innings in reaching a decision last Saturday. In its game with the Middlesex Sportsmen's Association on Manchester Field it defeated the visitors 4 to 3 in the 10th inning when Flaherty cracked out a nice single and brought in Fitzgerald, who had reached third on another neat hit.

There was a good crowd at the game and the grade of ball was such as to satisfy everyone. Colucci held down the box for the local boys and Joe Donahue pitched a fine game for the Arlington visitors. Winchester scored one run in the first inning, Coates going home on a wild throw by Santos, the visitor's catcher, after Fitzgerald's third strike, which Santos failed to hold.

Middlesex tied up the score in the third inning when "Spike" O'Donnell, who filled in for the visitors in the absence of one of their players went home on a hit by Keefe. In the sixth inning Middlesex took the lead, scoring two runs. Winchester caught up to the extent of one run in its half of this inning, when, with "Fitz's" home run in the river, the score was tied. Flaherty's nice hit in the 10th closed the game.

Winchester will play Stoneham here tomorrow, and an equally good game is anticipated.

FLAHERTY DAY SATURDAY

On Saturday next Flaherty Day will be observed on Manchester Field. This day is so named in recognition of the good service John J. Flaherty, Jr., has rendered the Town through its days of baseball. "Flats," as he is called in sportsdom, has delivered the telling blow on several occasions in our ball games and last Saturday furnished a good example of his ability. With the scores three all, he delivered the blow that put Winchester ahead after an 11 inning struggle. This was the third overtime game since the organization of the team three weeks previously. As this may be the last game of this season, Manager Farrell trusts he will have a good crowd present and receive the support necessary and due in putting this event across.

IN APPRECIATION

To the Editor of the Star:

As Manager of the Winchester Town Team for the past four weeks, I wish to take this opportunity to thank all the baseball fans of the town for their co-operaion and support. I hope that next year I shall be able to put on a team that will equal that of this season.

James E. Farrell

P. S.—Watch the Star next week, for I may be able to produce the Midgets for a final game.

REV. CHARLES LEE HOFFMAN OF OHIO TO PREACH AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. Charles Lee Hoffman will preach next Sunday morning and evening at the Baptist Church. He is one of the younger preachers of the denomination that is giving great promise. He is a graduate of the University of New York with high honors and post-graduate of Gordon Bible College. His topics will be, morning: "The Kind of a Saviour Men Need"; evening: "The Abiding Glory of the Church."

DOUBLE WEDDING

Informal Ceremony Marks Marriage of Well Known Couples

Two well known couples of this town were married on Wednesday noon at simple double weddings, the groom of one wedding being the brother of the bride at the other. The contracting couples were Miss Elsie B. Enman and Dr. Mott A. Cummings, and Miss Helen Lothrop Cabot and Mr. Frank H. Enman. All are prominent and well known residents of Winchester, Dr. Cummings being a physician of many years' practice here and Mr. Enman a builder of note and a member of the Board of Assessors. Both of the brides are graduates of the local high school and prominent in Winchester's social circles and church work.

The ceremonies took place at the Enman residence on Highland avenue at 1 o'clock and were performed by Rev. Howard J. Chidley of the First Congregational Church. The affair was informal and the guests were limited to immediate relatives and a few close friends. Decorations of greenery and fall flowers adorned the rooms of the first floor and a buffet luncheon followed the weddings.

The newly married couples left at the conclusion of the luncheon for a wedding trip which they will take in company. They will make their future homes at 242 Highland avenue.

During the week past the two brides were honored by several luncheons and showers, a luncheon being given them in Boston by Miss Ethel Lovering at which 12 friends attended, a bridge and linen shower being given at the home of Miss Mabel Vinton by she and Mrs. Virginia Brooks and a dinner party given Saturday evening by Miss Helen Hall and Miss Edna Hawes at the Hartwell House, Lincoln, attended by ten intimate friends.

*Decrease is due primarily to the transfer of the Hill District pupils to the Wyman School to which district they belong. It is also due to the fact that only Mystic district pupils are attending the Mystic kindergarten.

†Increase is due primarily to the fact that the new building is serving a larger district. It also possesses a kindergarten which the old building did not have.

‡Increase is due primarily to the enrollment of Hill District pupils who formerly were in the Mystic School.

The schools continue to show an increase although not a striking one. The increase for all schools over 1926 is 5 per cent. The High School enrollment shows an increase of about 8 per cent. The Noonan School shows the greatest increase of about 14 per cent.

Our School Savings system will again be in operation this year beginning Tuesday. At the close of June the total amount of deposits in the school savings system was $30,732.72. This system has not been in operation quite three years. This shows, therefore, an average deposit of over $10,000 per year.

Messrs. Coleman Connolly, David Meskell of the Fire Department, John Davey and John Keady left Saturday for an automobile trip through Canada. While away they will visit St. Ann's shrine and will come home by way of Niagara Falls.

WINCHESTER GIRL SKIPPER FEATURES

Miss Eleanor Ives, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick M. Ives of Highland avenue, is one of the girl skippers featured this season in the series published by the Boston Herald. The Herald sketches Miss Ives as follows:

Gloucester, Sept. 9—Another of the Annisquam yachting girls is Miss Eleanor Ives, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Marly Ives of Winchester, who have a summer home on Norwood's Heights, Annisquam.

Yachting alone, however, does not claim the sole allegiance of Miss Ives. It would be unfair to expect so alert and active a young athlete to be "one track" in the line of sports. Tennis is her other love and the fair day that does not find her riding the wind on the blue expanse of the bay will discover her playing a fast set on the gravel courts.

Miss Ives' boat is the Catalena in the Cat class and the Catalena is sailed for the love of sailing. Of course prizes are not to be sneezed at but like all true sportsmen Miss Ives loves the game for itself alone. Whatever the outcome of the race this girl feels that she who has faced the salt spray over the triangular route on Ipswich Bay has gotten a glorious run for her money. The sweep of sunlit waters, the dazzling stretch of crystal sand and the blue Essex hills in the background create a picture not soon to be forgotten.

All the Ives family, seniors and juniors, take to the water. Mr. Ives, on occasion handling the tiller. Miss Alice Ives, another sister, is also a yachting enthusiast, although signing articles for another boat. A brother, Frederick M. Jr., occasionally invades this woman's navy, taking turns at the helm with his sister. In tennis the sisters excel at doubles, making a winning combination that has carried off trophies in several tournaments. Miss Ives is 14, tall, sunbrowned and agile. She is a graduate of the Buckingham private School at Cambridge and will enter Winsor, with Vassar as her objective.

Boys about town did a good [illegible] on [illegible] nights Wednesday, the Edison trea[illegible] man reporting that number of lights smashed on Dix, Pine, Wildwood, Willow, Curtis and Palmer streets, and on Woodside road.

Winchester Chapter 175, O. E. S. held their first fall meeting Monday evening in Masonic Apartments with a good attendance. A social and refreshments occupied the evening after the regular work.

SENTENCED FOR ENTERING UNFINISHED HOUSE

The Winchester police have been on the watch for thieves who have been plundering various residences about town in course of construction during recent weeks, and on Sunday evening Edward Votour of Somerville was taken into custody on Highland avenue after his car was found to contain a large roll of linoleum, a keg of plastic cement and some planed lumber. The value of the articles amounted to considerably over $100, and Votour is reported to admit that he took them from an unfinished house. In court Monday morning he received a 30-day sentence.

John McCarrio of Malden, who has two new houses under construction on Allen road, leading off Highland avenue, reported Sunday that both had been entered. The back door lock on one was broken and a cellar screen on the other was smashed, and four window shades were taken.

Flags on the Common and public buildings were flown at half mast the first of the week in respect to the memory of Alden W. Parks of Calumet road, Civil War Veteran. The funeral services were held on Tuesday.

ALDEN W. PARKS

Mrs. Edward E. Deal of Calumet road suffered the death of her father, Mr. Alden W. Parks, a resident of this town for the past four years, last Saturday night. Mr. Parks, who was 84 years of age, made his home with his daughter, coming to Winchester following the death of his wife, Mary Clayton Parks. He was a native of Newport, N. H., and a veteran of the Civil War, enlisting at Brattleboro, Vt., in Co. D, 16th Vermont Volunteers. At the battle of Gettysburg he was badly wounded. For more than 10 years he lived in Claremont, N. H., where he was past commander of the Major Jarvis Post, G. A. R. He leaves his daughter, one grandson, Elvin T. Deal, and a great-grandson.

Funeral services were held at the residence on Tuesday morning, and the remains were taken to Claremont for interment.

Cumbersome Bank Notes

Treasury and bank notes were not always in their present convenient form. The first traces of banking are provided by clay tablets from ancient Babylonia and Assyria. Four or five thousand years ago the Babylonians carried out transactions approximating to many practices of modern banking. Their "checks" and "notes" were made of clay, which was then hardened.

RESERVOIRS FULL

The abundant rain of the summer has resulted in high water in all Winchester reservoirs, Superintendent Dotten of the Water Department reporting them but six inches below the overflow level. Usually the reservoirs are from three to four feet under this mark at this season.

Mr. I. C. Young of 59 Parkway has gone to Mineola, N. Y., to attend the Junior League meeting of the Amateur Driving Club of which he is a member. Mr. Young shipped two of his horses, Mary V and True Girl, which he will race for trophies.

ARE YOU A CAREFUL DRIVER?

Chandler Dealer Gives Hints on the Driving of Motor Cars

"Everyone thinks he or she is a careful driver, but very few are really experts," says Mr. Walter H. Dotten, local Chandler distributor. "It's the little things that are frequently overlooked that sometimes count the most."

"Always drive your car as carefully as you want others to drive," said Mr. Dotten. "Careful driving not only protects your life and the lives of others, but also protects the life of your car."

Mr. Dotten's hints on driving motors are very interesting at a time when so much stress is being laid upon safe driving and numerous safety campaigns are being launched both locally and nationally.

Here are some of the things Mr. Dotten has to say:

The fundamentals of good driving are confidence, care and caution. The good driver is careful and cautious unconsciously from mere force of habit.

One of the most important points, yet one which very few motorists consider a vital requisite is the manner of holding the steering wheel. The wheel should be held firmly with the right hand grasping the wheel about one third of the distance from the bottom point on the right side, and the left hand similarly placed at a distance of about one-third from the bottom point on the left side. Good drivers always grasp the wheel from the bottom of the rim with the palms nearly up. This allows free, easy movement.

Turn the wheel with a steady motion. Avoid jerky steering and use regulation traffic signals.

In starting a car a careful driver does it with an even and quiet acceleration of the motor, dropping the clutch in with a smooth, velvet-like motion, and shifting into the various gear changes without clashing. The change from low to high should be accomplished in such a manner that the passengers in the car are hardly conscious that the change is taking place.

Low gear should be utilized whenever necessary. It is well to remember the law of mechanics: in order to gain speed you must sacrifice power; in order to gain power you must sacrifice speed. If a driver approaches a steep hill he needs all of the car's power. Do not try to make a hill on high when the motor is being strained as a result.

When descending a steep, tortuous grade, it is always good driving practice, not only to use the foot and emergency brake, but also to shift the car into low gear before the descent.

Driving rapidly over rough spots not only produces discomfort, but is unusually hard on tires.

Avoid skidding in wet weather. It is dangerous and causes excessive wear on tires. Apply the brakes slowly, remove the foot from the accelerator and do not disengage the clutch until the car has slowed down to about five miles per hour. This will result in a graceful stop even on slippery pavements.

Never pass another car on the right. Always sound your horn and pass on the left.

Many motorists who are otherwise careful drivers do not park their cars properly. Parking should be done by driving part way into the space and out by cutting the front wheels sharply to the left, and then backing into the parking space. Driving the car backward and forward into the space invariably brings the car close to the curb. Do not try to park by driving head-in.

In parking on a down grade always turn the wheel at an angle against the curb, as a safety measure. When it is necessary to park on an up grade, the front wheels should be turned outward and against the curb. As an additional precaution the careful driver sets the gear shift in low and pulls up the emergency brake.

GRANADA THEATRE

"Dance Magic" with Pauline Starke and Ben Lyon, is the title of the feature picture now playing at the beautiful Granada Theatre in Malden. "Dance Magic," is taken from the novel of the same name by Clarence Buddington Kelland. This story is jazzy in the extreme with the climax introduced in a baffling murder mystery. New York's colorful night life has been caught in this story of a girl who captures Broadway with her dancing. Peggy Miller, a former star of musical comedy, and her company head the vaudeville program for the last half of this week, presenting her creation called "Dance Diversions." Four other acts are offered in addition to this feature. The management of the Granada announces that the acts shown are selected by an expert vaudeville booker and will continue to be up to the high standard the public has learned to expect at the Granada.

"The Brute," with Monte Blue as the star, comes to the Granada for three days starting next Monday. Never has the West of pioneer days been more truly pictured than in this photoplay. Many of its scenes were taken in the grim Death Valley and its surrounding country. Clyde Cook, as the lucky miner, Oklahoma Red, is more fun than the proverbial barrel of monkeys. Monte Blue has never had a role more suited to his virile, he-man personality and every person who sees the picture is certain to thrill as the fast action unfolds. Lelia Hyams is very lovely as the dance hall heroine in this story of the West in gold rush days. The usual five act vaudeville bill, the Granada Symphony Orchestra and Roy Frazee's organ specialties are other colorful attractions on the bill for the first three days of next week.

A Chevrolet sedan owned by Alexander McKenzie of Thompson street and driven by his daughter, Isabel McKenzie, was in a collision at Pleasant and North Warren streets, Woburn, Monday night. Algot Ek of Woburn, driving a Ford coupe, was thrown through the windshield by the impact. Both cars were badly damaged.

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

Smiling skys and lightly rippling waters afforded all that was necessary to bring out a good crowd to watch the fall regatta at the Winchester Boat Club on last Saturday afternoon. When we have good, warm, sunny weather on either, a Saturday or a Sunday nowadays, it is something to mention. Saturday, Sept. 10 was a day!

The races were all interesting to watch as they were mainly of the "splash" or novelty type and also from the fact that two of them were girls' races.

The program opened up with the well known tail-end race. Lining up, seated away up in the bow of their canoes and with sterns high in the air, and each man and boat facing away from the finish [illegible]kers, ten paddlers swung their [illegible] around at the shot of the gun [illegible]eered as best they could for [illegible] of the course. They descr[illegible] circles and tail-spins but at [illegible] force must have kept their craft [illegible]irly straight for they finished in [illegible] following order: James Fitch, fi[illegible]; David Downer, second and Winthrop Palmer, third.

The next event the tandem single blade in canvas boats was hotly contested by a fairly even race between Winthrop Palmer and Ed Sandberg, against Philip Hight and David Downer. The Palmer-Sandberg combination won by about half a boat length with Merrill Tucker and Kenneth Pratt taking third place.

This was followed by the standing gunwhale-jumping race. In this contest skill in keeping ones balances along with the ability to keep the canoe straight and also to maintain headway is very essential. Those who get out in front of the field of starters, are most likely to win, for its tough taking the wash from the boat ahead. It's wonderful exercise for the legs! (try it sometime). Kenneth Pratt led in this race, but was closely pursued by Bradford Hill, the latter, although a youngster gives promise of being a comer in the watersports games. Philip Hight took third place. A number of spills amused the spectators during this race, for at least four of the dozen participants hit the water before the event was very far underway.

Much interest was aroused in the next race, the mixed-tandem as this was the first girls race on the bill of fare, and as Miss Mary Browne and her partner had proved the strongest combination in the past year it was safe to expect another win. Five teams lined up for the start: Miss Mary Brown and Ed Sandberg, Miss Lesley Brown and David Downer, Miss Carlene Murphy and Kenneth Pratt, Miss Janet Smith and Winthrop Palmer and lastly, but not least, "a dark horse" pair, Miss Blank and Mr. Merrill Tucker. At the gun, Mary Brown and Ed Sandberg took the lead and held it for about half the course with Carlene Murphy and "Ken" Pratt trailing. The other boats were left slightly behind, with the "dark horse" pair having some little trouble in their team work. Miss Blank was paddling the short, tight Scotch jump-stroke, while Merrill Tucker was more broad with the Australian plunge stroke. As smooth paddlers, they were rough specimens! At the half-way mark, the race developed into a contest between Mary Brown and Ed Sandberg and Carlene Murphy and Kenneth Pratt. Each tandem was working smoothly and they were neck and neck, but as each drew nearer to the finish, Miss Murphy's team picked up hard and fast, and drove their craft over the line slightly in advance of Mary Brown and Ed Sandberg. Miss Lesley Brown and David Downer were third. At about this point, a loud shout went up from the spectators, and a loud masculine voice was heard to utter: "Thats no way to treat a lady!" One of the canoes had gone over. It was the "dark horse's." Something in a pink creation was diving and reappearing like a porpoise. The "lady" turned over proved to be Phil Hight in disguise. "She" berated Merrill Tucker severely for upsetting her so carelessly, but those who happened to be looking at the time of the catastrophe, say that Mr. Tucker was catapaulted out, head over heels by the force of "Miss Blank," nee, Philip Hight as "she" upset.

The tandem hand paddle was won by David Downer and Philip Hight, the latter still appearing as a lady. James Fitch and Ferdinand Hawley were second and Win Palmer and Ed Sandberg pushed them hard for third place.

The hurry scurry, a 50-yard dash, a 50-yard swim and a 50-yard hand paddle, was close and interesting. Phil Hight led in the dash and the swim and looked good for the paddle but only took a third. Dave Downer won and James Fitch was second.

The girls' single blade race, was warmly contested but Miss Mary Brown, who paddles a nice, easy stroke and a very true course beat Miss Carlene Murphy by over a boat's length. Miss Murphy has a powerful stroke, much like a man, but she has not yet mastered the art of keeping a straight course. Could she have done that the out-come might have been different. Miss Lesley Brown was third in this race.

Something novel in club fours was next tried out. It was a standing race. Instead of being seated or kneeling, the paddlers all stood up. This made the boats very unsteady and tipsy. Two crews participated. The "Wets" and the "Drys" as they later turned out to be. The "W's" were captained by Ed Sandberg and they were Phil Hight, stroke; Win Palmer, 2; and Merrill Tucker, 3. The other outfit was: Dave Downer, stroke; Jim Fitch, 2; Ferd Hawley, 3 and Ken Pratt, helm. The two crews looked immense as they went out to the starting line. It appeared as though either or both would plunge into the water at the first large wave. They were off at a "flying" start—mostly water was flying though! It was a swell race while it lasted, but that wasn't for long. The half-way mark was reached with each crew wobbling and plunging forward side by side. At this point Capt. Sandberg of the "Wets" called for a raise of stroke from Phil Hight—that was the turning point—Phil started it—with an extra heave, he caught a crab and out he went, each of his team mates followed him in turn, very quickly. The "Drys" with no opponents forcing them, sauntered easily over the finish. But foolishly they turned back and went to the rescue of the other crew. No sooner had they reaced them when eight men instead of four were "all-wet!"

The tip-over race came next. Dave Downer won it. Ken Pratt was second and James Fitch crossed the line for third place.

The special novelty race. The "Blindfold" was not too successful! Each canoeist was blindfolded. On the dock each one had a second, who directed him by shouting signals. With 10 or 12 entries—the shouting was mixed and furious. Nevertheless, Dave Downer won; James Fitch was second and Phil Hight, third. Some of the sightless ones paddled over most of the cove in front of the club before reaching the finish.

Tilting closed the program of water sports. James Fitch, tilter and Ferd Hawley, paddler battled Dave Downer, tilter and Phil Hight, paddler. James Fitch and company won. Phil Hight tilter and Ed Sandberg paddler then took on Ken Pratt, tilter and Merrill Tucker, paddler. Phil Hight's combination won this heat. In the final was Fitch and Hawley against Hight and Sandberg. Messrs. Fitch and Hawley carried off the honors.

Alan Hovey was starter of the events. Fred Bates and "Doc" Blanchard were judges.

The summary:

Tandem Single Paddles Won by Winthrop Palmer and Edward Sandberg; Phillip Hight and David Downer, second, Merrill Tucker and Kenneth Pratt, third.

Tandem Hand Paddle Won by Phillip Hight and David Downer, James Fitch and Ferdinand Hawley, second; Winthrop Palmer and Edward Sandberg, third.

Mixed Tandem Won by Miss Carlene Murphy and Kenneth Pratt; Miss Mary Brown and Edward Sandberg, second; Miss Lesley Brown and David Downer, third.

Women's Single Paddle Won by Mrs. Mary Brown, Miss Carlene Murphy, second; Miss Lesley Brown, third.

Tail End Canoe Race Won by James Fitch, David Downer, second; Winthrop Palmer, third.

Standing Gunwale Won by Kenneth Pratt, Bradford Hill, second; Phillip Hight, third.

Tip Over Won by David Downer, Kenneth Pratt, second, James Fitch, third.

Blindfolded Won by David Downer; James Fitch, second, Philip Hight, third.

Hurry Skurry Won by David Downer, James Fitch, second, Phillip Hight, third.

Club Four Standing in Canvas Canoes Won by Aberjona Four (David Downer, stroke, James Fitch 2, Ferdinand Hawley 3, Kenneth Pratt, stern), Bacon's Pond Four (Phillip Hight, stroke, Winthrop Palmer 2, Edward Sandberg 3, Merrill Tucker, stern), second.

Tilting Tournament

Trial Heats James Fitch, tilter, and Ferdinand Hawley, paddler, beat David Downer, tilter, and Phillip Hight, paddler. Robert Hight, tilter, and Merrill Tucker, paddler, beat Kenneth Pratt, tilter, and Edward Sandberg, paddler.

Final Match Won by James Fitch and Ferdinand Hawley over Robert Hight and Merrill Tucker. Time, 20 minutes.

The dance Saturday evening was a splendid success. Over 50 couples atended, the music was great, and the weather was right, no moon to be sure, but a dandy breeze.

Next Saturday, Sept 17 there will be a subscription dance at the club. Same music! No reason why it shouldn't be bigger and better than last weeks.

The fall tennis tournament for the two special trophies, offered by an anonymous donor, could not get underway last week because of the "often" cloud bursts of last Sunday. They came at such intervals that the playing surface would be just dry enough when once again the sky would open! The committee will try to start the matches promptly at 2 p. m. next Saturday, weather permitting. More names have been added bringing the total entries now up to 16. There's still a chance fellows.

Also Saturday afternoon there are canoe races at Dedham. It is hoped that W. B. C. will have at least a representation of four paddlers.

"THE HAWK"—NEXT WEEK AT ST. JAMES THEATRE

"The Hawk," one of the most dramatic plays of the present era, will be presented next week by Keith Albee players at the St. James theatre. The play was selected particularly for J. Glynn McFarlane, new leading man. The Keith-Albee players is one of the few organizations in the country which could attempt the dramatic masterpiece.

The play is based on the French triangle drama, but has a series of unusual twists which has held audiences breathless whenever it has been presented. There is a snap and sparkle to the dialogue and a certain tingling suspense throughout the whole play.

It was first adapted from the French and presented in English by William Faversham, who scored one of his most notable successes in the smashing drama.

Briefly, the play deals with the adventures of a man and woman, who working together, fleece wealthy persons by clever gambling. Love enters and the women falls in love with the son of her hosts. Scene follows scene in dramatic succession as the young man finds he is being duped by the lure of the woman. Strong scenes lead up to a climax which is daring and breath-taking. It will be one of the hits of the season.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Discretion is probably a man's best friend, and he can have no worse one than folly.

Show me one man who is really lifting, and I can show you a dozen leaners.

Strip a man of his ambition and he becomes almost useless to himself and to others.

Good humor makes a sunny day, a good time for the daily grind.

Life's early struggles may add beauty to its closing days.

A friend is one who is glad when you win and sorry when you lose.

HANDICAP WILL NOT STOP NEWS

In days gone by, before our schools assumed the most important place in Winchester's governmental department and various educators took it upon themselves to correct and improve our educational system, the STAR was accustomed to keep its readers and Winchester residents informed regarding the items of interest pertaining to the various buildings attended by their children. With the importation of new system and personelle, wherein the newspaper was regarded as an "unwelcome necessity," if we may quote from an interview of the year 1918, school news and department activities were published only upon issued bulletins. This custom has been religiously followed to date, and as the bulletin last week, which we assume was issued in accordance with custom to various papers on the publication day of the STAR, failed to reach this office, assuming the STAR was included in the list of papers so favored, school news was conspicuous by its absence in the Winchester newspaper. The STAR regretted that it be classed as an "unwelcome necessity" in 1918, but very possibly it was rightly placed, as it has, in times past, taken active part in our school affairs. Not seeking to intrude upon what might be an advantageous development in our educational affairs, it has been content to allow other newspapers of the State to share to advantage Winchester school news. It regrets exceedingly that the advantage is so marked as at present, but assures its readers that it has no intention of neglecting Winchester school news, nevertheless.

M. C. W. G. NOTES

Plans are now in progress for a home social to be held at the home of Mrs. Mary McGrath, 607 Main street on Thursday evening, Sept. 29.

A very pleasant time is assured all who attend for the hostess of the evening has already endeared herself to her many friends with her charming personality and fine rendition of vocal numbers.

The dedication of the M. C. W. G. Ward at the Holy Ghost will be held Sunday afternoon, Oct. 2 at 2:30 o'clock. The committee has worked hard to make this day the "big day" for the members of the Guild and everybody is supposed to be present that possibly can. A very fine entertainment will be furnished and refreshments as usual. Further particulars will be printed in a later issue of the Star.

ST. DOMINICS' CIRCLE OUTING AT POINT OF PINES

The members and friends of St. Dominics' Circle met at the home of Mrs. Delia McHugh at Canal street on Tuesday, where Mrs. O'Leary's bus from Lexington was waiting to take the 30 members and friends for their first outing to the Point of Pines, where there was an invitation extended to all, to the summer home of Mrs. O'Leary. The party arrived at noon where the hostess and her friends had an elaborate dinner prepared, though all brought their own lunches. A wonderful day was enjoyed, some preferring to take a dive in the water; others enjoyed playing whist, where our President presented to the winners, prizes, using her usual tact trying that all members and their friends would have something to remember and we voted the best Sept. 13th in many years.

St. Dominics' Circle was organized over three years ago by our beloved founder and leader, the late Mrs. Alice Martin with its President, Mrs. Ella Fleming and our Financial Secretary, Mrs. Elizabeth McDonald, our charter member and officer.

THE INVITATION EXPLAINED

A certain gentleman of Winchester, whose identity is unknown, was puttering around in his garage the other evening. Along came a dapper stranger, "Good evening," said he, depositing a good-sized bundle in the corner, "this belongs to you." "Me," exclaimed the gentleman. "Yes, it's yours," said the visitor, "I hope it is all satisfactory." And he departed. The mystified gentleman investigated his prize package and found—well, it might not extinguish a fire, but it was wet. It seemed too good to keep, but everyone appeared satisfied, so that's why the invitations went out.

Officer William Cassidy of the local police force is spending a few days at Bretton Woods, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Drisko have returned to their home on Lloyd street after spending the summer at Harrington, Me.

Mr. Edward Martin of the Winchester Postoffice staff is enjoying his annual vacation, spending part of the time at Atlantic City.

Past Master Councillor Hubert N. Bernard of this town was the installing officer at the meeting of Middlesex Chapter, Order of DeMolay at the Reading Masonic apartments Monday night. Another Winchester boy was a member of the installing suite, Arnold C. Walker acting as marshall. Among the officers installed were Herbert T. Wadsworth, junior deacon and Arthur H. Downer, fourth preceptor. The installation ceremony was carried out in an impressive and dignified manner by Past Master Councillor Bernard and a pleasing feature of the ceremony was the presentation of a past master councillor's jewel to Herbert E. Mosher of Stoneham by "dad" Wilbur Sargent Locke of this town. After the installation there was a reception by the newly installed officers and dancing was enjoyed.

Regular and special teachers at the Wadleigh School to the number of 25 enjoyed the first outing of the school year yesterday afternoon and evening at the Russell Farm on Cambridge street when they had a steamed clam supper. Collector of Taxes Nathaniel M. Nichols and Mrs. Nichols were invited guests. An appetizing and bountiful repast of steamed clams and hot dogs was enjoyed, together with a number of special stunts by some of the talented attendants.

Mrs. Charles Johnson of Wilson street has returned from Pembroke where she has been visiting friends.

Francis E. Smith, Jr., of Wolcott road, won the finals in the senior singles class at the tennis tournament of the Essex Country Club, Manchester, last Saturday. He defeated as his final opponent William Porter, 11—9, 6—4.

Mrs. J. H. Dwinell has returned to her home on Main street after spending the summer at Annisquam.

Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Webster, who have been spending the summer at Groveville, Gorham, Me., expect to arrive home next week.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. H. Taylor of Bacon street leave today for a three weeks' trip through the Canadian Rockies to Seattle where they will attend the annual convention of the Investment Bankers of America. Mr. Taylor will report the doings of the meetings for the Boston Evening Transcript.

Messrs. George B. Hayward and John H. Powers announce their association in the practice of law at the Scollay Building, Boston.

Dr. F. R. Brown leaves this week to join his family who have been spending the summer in Danville, Quebec. They expect to close their summer home and return to Winchester towards the end of October.

Mr. Fred Brine of Atlanta, Ga., 26 years ago one of Winchester's popular young men, widely known on the bicycle track and in the hockey rink, was in town this week visiting his father, George R. Brine of Washington street.

Frederic Cobb of Lloyd street has entered Northeastern University.

Miss Lucy L. Wilcox, piano teacher of 131 Mt. Vernon street has resumed teaching for the fall season. Tel. Win. 0733-W.

Winchester boys returning to Norwich University, Northfield, Vt., this fall include Roger Sherman, Joseph Tansey and Clarence O'Donnell.

Fine new electric cars appeared on the Woburn-Medford line last week. They are much larger than the old cars and are equipped with the latest devices for service and safety.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Eustis of Stevens street returned to town Monday. They spent the past five months on the Pacific Coast. Both of these well known residents are looking fine and report they never felt better in their lives.

Mr. Kilbrith J. Barrows arrived home this week on the SS. United States from Denmark where he has been visiting with other college students for the past month.

TOLEDO: WHERE MOORISH INFLUENCES LINGER

Toledo, Spain, is cleaning and lighting its underground tunnels, miles of which have never been explored, so they may be easily accessible to tourists next year, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

The tunnels, dating back to Roman times are but one of the historic features of this ancient city, the date of whose founding is still a mystery. The venerable voice of legend, however, asserts that Hercules; Tubal, grandson of Noah; Jews, who fled from Nebuchadnezzar; and many others had a hand in shaping its early destiny.

Impregnable to Medieval War Engines

Toledo occupies the crest of a hill rising nearly 200 feet from the Tagus, continues the bulletin. It is 47 miles southwest of Madrid. When the catapult was the modern engine of war, it was almost impregnable. The Tagus formed an admirable moat on the south, east and west sides; and the neck of land on the north stretching toward a fertile plain, was protected by the plurality of walls that surrounded the city.

It is difficult to imagine that within less than two hours' train ride from the Spanish capital, there is a city with marked oriental appearance. The Puente de Alcantara, the principal gateway to Toledo on the east, is of Moorish design with massive high towers at each end. It was built in the 13th century.

From the time one steps upon this bridge, until the river is recrossed by way of the Puente de San Martin, dating back 50 years earlier than the Puente de Alcantara, the many relics and ruins of medieval days in Toledo give a flavor of Palestine and Arabia with a touch of French Gothic here and there.

High above the Alcantara, looms the Alcazar, a large rectangular stone structure that was once a castle, but is used now as a military school. It occupies the highest point of Toledo.

Had 200,000 Inhabitants

The road approaching the city from the bridge winds around the hill past the Hospital de Santa Cruz, a 15th century building, and then through a Moorish archway that was nearly 400 years old when Columbus discovered America. It leads to the public square which still retains its Moorish name—the Zocodover. The "square" is really a triangle with one slightly round side. A wall of balconied buildings surrounds it, pierced at frequent intervals by narrow cobblestone streets hardly wide enough for two Toledo donkey carts to pass. There are narrow sidewalks but few pedestrians use them.

In the heat of the day the inhabitants remain within their patios and balconies that may be seen through open doorways along the streets. Then the Zocodover is almost deserted. But toward evening, the promenaders throng the "square," shrill-voiced hawkers generously exercise their throats crying out the merits of their wares, and the beggars—and Toledo seems to have its share of them—ply their profession at the most profitable locations.

A few blocks away toward the middle of the city, the lofty but graceful tower of Toledo Cathedral rises above the housetops. Unfortunately there is no cathedral close. The narrow, winding streets, bordered by unattractive buildings do not permit a full view of the edifice. It is a splendid example of French Gothic architecture with carved monuments, stained glass and tracery work comparable with that of other European cathedrals. It covers about the same area as that of Cologne Cathedral and took 266 years to build. The foundation stone was laid in 1227.

Few blocks in the ancient city are without interesting relics dating back from 500 to more than 1000 years. In fact few modern improvements have been made since Philip II moved the capital from Toledo to Madrid more than 350 years ago. When it was at the height of its prosperity during the four centuries of Moorish occupation from 712 to 1085, Toledo boasted 200,000 inhabitants, and a tremendous trade in silk, wool and Toledo blades. Now there are less than 25,000 inhabitants with practically no industrial and commercial activity.

RAILROADLESS COUNTRIES OF THE WORLD

The steam engine is about to invade the only "railroadless" country of Europe, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society. For Albania is planning the construction of a 24 mile road from Durrazzo, on the Adriatic coast, to Tirana.

Thus Albania parts company with Afghanistan, Asir, Bhutan, Nepal, Oman and Yemen, in Asia, and Liberia on the west coast of Africa.

Liberia Lacks Funds

Liberia is probably the only one of the seven countries that would have a railroad if it could, continues the bulletin. The other six are voluntary adherents to a policy of "splendid isolation," and efforts to establish 20th century commercial facilities have met with disaster.

Largely due to the lack of funds, the little negro republic, which is about the size of Indiana, has hardly scratched the surface of its resources. For some 50 or 60 miles back of the coast, the land has been cleared and partly developed, but from that imaginary line inland there are dense forests and extremely primitive peoples. The President of Liberia visited the United States in 1921 to secure credit for his country, which has always been considered potentially one of the richest corners of Africa.

With the investment of American capital, notably the establishment of a great rubber plantation; and the development of the country by a progressive local administration, the thousands of negro porters who now carry huge loads of "freight" on their heads, will, perhaps, soon give way to more modern transportation.

Afghanistan Largest of Isolates

Afghanistan is the largest of these railroadless countries—about 11 times larger than Albania, yet no railroads or telegraph lines cross its border. The Amir has consistently objected to these facilities for fear of opening his domain to aliens who are no more welcome now than they were a century ago. Only a few foreigners, mostly British, have been allowed to enter the country for short sojourns. Foreign engineers and doctors whose services are badly needed, if allowed to cross the border by the grace of the Amir, are subject to surveillance. Ambassadors, ministers, and even missionaries, are unwelcome.

Camels and pack horses are depended upon almost entirely for transportation in Afghanistan, but it is not uncommon to see elephants and even wheelbarrows on the trails. Some of the caravans number more than 120,000 animals, loaded with skins, dried fruits, assorted gums, and spices.

To insure complete isolation, the few roads into the country are well guarded. The chief route lies through Khyber Pass, the largest gateway from India. It is open two days a week except in hot weather when it is available one day only. The Amir's agents scrutinize all who pass the gateway and even Moslem caravan guides are displaced by Afghans who proceed inland. From sun-down to sun-up, the pass is closed to all traffic.

Nepal's Door Has No Welcome Mat

Nepal and Bhutan lying among the peaks of the Himalayas; the former with Mount Everest, the highest peak in the world, along its border, have only slight hopes of extensive railroad transportation. To traverse or tunnel the Himalayas would be a herculean task.

While Bhutan displays some friendliness toward foreigners, Nepal is another country that is none too anxious for visitors. The roads piercing the border of Nepal are purposely kept in bad shape and built over unnecessarily difficult country. With the exception of the British Resident and a few other European officials, no one is allowed to visit the country without special permission from the Durbar. When permits are issued, visitors must travel by one particular route and they are not allowed to go beyond the Valley of Katmandu, a tract of country about 300 square miles. In consequence of this seclusion, the internal administration has remained almost entirely unaffected by modern influence.

Three Oases of Arabia

The "no trespassing" sign also isolates Yemen, Asir and Oman from progressive commercial development. These states are little more than oases on the rim of the Arabian peninsula, with their back doors opening into the great desert. Yemen and Asir border the Red Sea which, we are told, the children of Israel crossed dry-shod, and have existed there with little change since that time. Oman, surrounding the southern end of the peninsula, while yet backward, is beginning to awaken. Until recent years much of her 82,000 square miles has not even been explored and her mineral resources untouched, but a lively trade with India is now being developed.

Making the Best of Work

Do not look upon your work as a dull duty. If you choose you can make it interesting. Throw your heart into it, master its meaning, trace out the causes and previous history, consider it in all its bearings. You will get to love your work and if you do it with delight you will do it with ease. —Lord Avebury.

Important Life Rule

Best of all is it to preserve everything in a pure still heart and let there be for every pulse a thanksgiving, and for every breath a song. —Gesner

Chinese Philanthropy Odd

Quaint forms of philanthropy are evident in almost every part of China. Funds are maintained for transporting to his native province any man who dies away from home, another organization provides coffins for poor children, and another society sets up "drinking fountains" of tea or water for the thirsty coolies who are lowest in the scale of Chinese labor.

Faces of Crystal

Every crystal has a definite molecular structure and its outward form is bounded by a number of faces resulting from the regular arrangement of the particles of the substance which is undergoing solidification. Although the faces often develop unequally, the angles between them remain constant.

Origin of Unlucky 13

The origin of the anathema attaching to the number 13 has been traced to Scandinavian mythology, wherein there were twelve demigods until Loki, the sinister, intruded himself, making the unlucky thirteenth, says the Dearborn Independent.

He said this:

"Economy makes happy homes, and sound nations. Instill it deep."

Finish for Furniture

If an eggshell gloss is desired for furniture, provide a clean shoe brush, a saucer of light linseed oil and a cheesecloth bag of fine ground pumice stone. Dab the oil on the piece to be dulled, shake the pumice over it, and brush with long strokes the long way of the top panel or drawer front. Then wipe off the residue of the pumice and oil carefully with clean rags.

"Commonwealths"

A commonwealth is a state in which the law of the people is supreme. The United States is a federal commonwealth. There are several states which were sovereign before the federation known as the United States was formed and which have retained the title "commonwealth." These are Virginia, Pennsylvania, Kentucky and Massachusetts.

Only Little Sunlight

House plants require some direct sunlight, says Nature Magazine. While geraniums and the like thrive in a bright sunny window, ferns and palms prefer a shadier location, with only a little sunlight. Too hot a house is unhealthy for plants, but a sudden change of temperature is worst of all.

Ancients Overlooked Celery

Epicures of olden times while skillful in finding nice things for the table overlooked celery although it grew as a wild product in many countries and was plentiful, and the plant was brought into the market as a luxury still is considered one and the wild crop has not been used save in a small way.

Great "Teacher of Law"

Gamaliel, the grandson of Hillel, a reformer of the Pharisees, was himself a famous and liberal-minded Pharisee, and "teacher of the law." Among his pupils was Saul of Tarsus known later as Paul, and known today as St. Paul the Apostle to the Gentiles. In Acts 22:3, it is stated that before Saul became converted to Christianity he "sat at the feet of Gamaliel."

Nation's Many Divisions

Ancient Greece had no national flag since it was divided into many separate kingdoms. The standard of Athens bore a white war horse; that of the Corinthians, the winged horse; the Lacedemonians, the letter L; that of the Thracians, a death head; that of the Thessalonians, the immortal sacred horse Xanthes; that of the Messenians, the letter M.

Began Great Library

The first university library in Oxford was founded in 1320 by Thomas Cobham, bishop of Worcester. In 1598 Sir Thomas Bodley took upon himself the cost of making the university library "fitte & handsome with seates & shelves & deskes, and all that may be needed . . . being thoroughly perswaded that I could not busie myself to better purpose."

WOMAN'S CHRISTIAN TEMPERANCE NOTES

New York Bowery Past and Present

As late as 1898 the Bowery had 99 houses of entertainment of which only 14 were classed as respectable by the police. And there were six bar rooms to a block, making 140 bar rooms on a street less than a mile long. Some of the dives which dotted the Bowery before and after the Civil War have never been equalled, even by the prohibition speakeasies, for the frightful and deadly quality of their liquor. In many of the lower class places drinks were five cents each and no glasses or mugs were used. Barrels of fiery spirits stood on the shelves behind the bar, and poured their contents through lines of slender hose. The customer having deposited his nickel on the bar, took an end of the hose in his mouth and was entitled to all he could drink without breathing.

The most famous of the early beer-halls was the Atlantic Gardens. Upstairs and down it provided seats for more than 1000 and two four horse-drays working ten hours a day, were scarcely able to keep the customers supplied with beer fresh from the brewery. Low class thugs and hoodlums invaded these gardens and they became the resorts of gangsters and other criminals.

An indignant writer thus described it during the period of wildness that followed the Civil War: "To be seen in all its glory the Bowery must be visited on Sunday morning and at night. Early on Sunday morning the Bowery, for its entire length, is crowded. At night it is brilliantly illuminated and the drinking places are crowded by thousands of men, women and children. The lowest drinking places, Negro minstrels of the lowest order and theatricals, the most debasing, distinguish the pastimes of the Bowery. These places are jammed to suffocation on Sunday nights.

Since the adoption of the 18th amendment the Bowery presents a very different picture, not an open saloon is to be seen, and the street can muster only a bare dozen theatres, all devoted to burlesque or moving pictures, or to Yeddish, Italian or Chinese drama. The Bowery still holds a glamor that attracts out-of town tourists said the New York Times of July 5. According to the Times, so reliable an authority as the Police Department of New York City gives it a clean bill of health, declaring recently that its moral tone is high, and that unaccompanied man or woman is as safe at night on the Bowery as any other street in New York City.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

Adolph Menjou is rapidly acquiring a reputation in film circles for discovering new talent and for creating opportunities for unrecognized talent that have given them tremendous impetus up the ladder of fame. In his latest comedy drama, "Service for Ladies" arriving at the University Theatre for four days beginning Sunday, Menjou introduces a new leading woman in the person of Kathryn Carver. While Miss Carver isn't exactly new to films this is her first big opportunity. According to the critics who have seen her work she is achieving definite laurels for herself, indicative of the further successes so many Menjou heroines have won in the past.

On the same program is "The Lone Eagle" featuring Raymond Keane and Barbara Kent with a great cast supporting the leads. "The Lone Eagle" is a screen adaptation of the story, "The Winged Victor" written by Lieut. Ralph Blanchard.

For the last three days of the week the feature pictures are "The Cohens and Kelleys" and "Dearie." "The Cohens and Kelleys" is adapted from the great stage success "Two Blocks Away." Charlie Murray heads the cast, with George Sidney and Vera Gordon also featured. Others in the cast are Nat Carr, the brother of Alexander Carr, Kate Price, Jason Robards, Olive Hasbrouck, Bobby Gordon and Mickey Bennett. The story is a comedy drama of quick riches and the relations between Jewish and an Irish family on the East Side, New York. The Jewish family inherits a million dollars after having lived from the meager profits of a clothing store. Laughter and tears alternate for an unusual effect leading to a surprising climax.

"Dearie" starring Irene Rich is the jazzy up-to-the-minute story of a college boy and his gang and of the mother who sang in a Broadway cabaret to pay his way. In support of Irene Rich in this modern story of mother love are William Collier, Jr., as the son, Edna Murphy as his sweetheart, Douglas Gerrard, Anders Randolph, William Demarest, Richard Tucker, Arthur Rankin and David Mir.

BOWDOIN SQ. THEATRE

There will be another interesting picture and vaudeville program at the Bowdoin Sq. beginning Monday where the management will put forth as one of the top cards, Tom Mix assisted by Tony the wonder horse in "The Circus Ace," a story that deals with the career of Jane Raleigh, aeronaut and trapeze performer who is the star artist with a big circus. Tom sees the parachute drifting toward a stream and the girl falls into the water but Tom comes to the rescue of the girl. The part of Jane Raleigh is taken by Natalie Joyce. One of the big comedy hits of the year, "Adam and Evil" with Lew Cody and Aileen Pringle will furnish plenty of hilarity and this comedy team is considered unequalled in screenland. Charley Chase will be seen in "The Sting of Stings," and the Pathe News and five vaudeville acts will round out a clever bill. Thursday night full and complete details of the Dempsey-Tunney fight will be read from the stage. Opportunity night comes Wednesday with bargain vaudeville Friday night. Concert Sunday at 3. Free parking service to Bowdoin patrons.

SOMERVILLE PLAYERS SCORE HIT IN "LOOSE ANKLES"

Second Week of New Stock Company Finds Mid-Week Houses Large—Play Capably Acted—Some New Faces—"Alias the Deacon" Coming Next Week

"Loose Ankles" a farce comedy in three acts by Sam Janney; second week's offering by Viano's Somerville Players.

Cast of character:

Andy Barton	Frank Roberts
Gil Barry	Jack Talbot
Terry Francis	Robert Stodin
Betty Boott	Miss Franqui Colburn
Ann Harper	Miss Tabatha Goodwin
Anne	Miss Dorothy Dudgeon
Aunt Sarah	Miss Rita Davis
Major Ainsworth Ewing	J. H. Doyle
J. Fenelton Stokes	Lawrence Meredith
Aunt Katherine	Miss Maud Hull
Lt. Col. Haskins	Frank Cobetti

"Loose Ankles" is a jumble of comedy. No plot, no connected story; just hilarity. But it's lots of fun and well worth seeing. Janney must have written the piece after a bad "Blue Monday" to get even with himself for getting "in the dumps." That the leading stock organizations in the country picked the farce for their premiere performance means that directors know their audiences.

The company maintained the reputation it made in its first week. Jack Talbot, juvenile, had a chance to "show his stuff" and he came through nicely in a part which called for plenty of reserve.

Miss Rita Davis, as Aunt Sarah was also good in her delineation of the "dancing old maid." Miss Goodwin apparently likes comedy roles and knows how to handle them. She was ably assisted by Franqui Colburn. The rest of the cast put plenty of pep into their characterizations and kept the audience in a continual roar of laughter. Two new faces were seen on the stage. Lawrence Meredith, who essayed the role of a newspaper man, and Miss Maud Hull who played with Miss Davis as another "dancing old maid."

"Alias the Deacon" Next Week

For the week beginning Sept. 19, Director Doyle has selected "Alias the Deacon," a genuinely amusing play, written by the authors of "East Is West," and acclaimed by critics as a better show than "Turn to the Right." The play is in a prologue and three acts. It is in an extremely exciting prologue that we meet the most prominent of the characters that make the piece the mysterious and thoroughly entertaining story that it is. Frank Roberts, the popular and handsome leading man of the new company will be seen to mighty good advantage, portraying the role of a smooth speaking fellow who talks most correctly and who has an air about him despite his shabby get-up, who is called by the gang, and most appropriately, "The Deacon." "Alias the Deacon" ran for 250 consecutive nights at the Hudson theatre, New York. There are 16 characters in the play and each one has a part that will test his or her ability as a performer. Manager McPhee urges those who wish to see this show to make reservations early.

MAYFLOWER ADDS TO FALL SCHEDULE

Beginning Monday, Sept. 12, the big steamer Mayflower, owned and operated by the Nantasket Beach Steamboat Co., New England's only floating ballroom steamer, will sail six evenings a week.

Up to this time the Mayflower has sailed on only five evenings a week, but owing to the popularity of this moonlight sail on Boston harbor, the additional night has been added thus making it possible for pleasure seekers and dance lovers to take this trip any week day night, Monday to Saturday inclusive.

The Mayflower leaves Rowes Wharf at 8:30 p. m. and returns to Boston at 11:15 p. m., in ample time for subarbanites and out of town patrons to reach their homes at an early hour.

Mr. Frederick L. Lane, general manager of the Nantasket Beach Steamboat Co., has contracted for the remainder of the season with the "Seven Jolly Tars" orchestra.

The full crew of 60 men and women that are maintained on this big dancing steamer during the summer season will be kept on for the comfort and convenience of the Mayflower patrons, the balance of the season which is scheduled to close Christmas Day.

Many Believe King Charles Escaped Ax

On the [illegible] hundred and seventy-eighth anniversary of the death of King Charles I, the English monarch who lost his head in a literal sense, a crowd "of good souls with a defective sense of evidence," as the Manchester Guardian puts it, demonstrated at the foot of his statue in Charing Cross. Good humored English tolerance has set up a statue to this king a few hundred yards away from the statue of Oliver Cromwell. Lately, however, a theory has been advanced by some undervaluers of evidence, that the king was not executed at all. He was, they say, a Free Mason, and those who were to see that he was beheaded were Free Masons also. So they procured a substitute presumably a still more ardent Free Mason who undertook to take the place of Charles. The ex king, so these people argue, retired to Oxford and became Elias Asholme founder of a museum in the ancient university city. Just as the story goes around in England that Lord Kitchener was never drowned, nor even took passage on the ill-fated Hampshire, but retired from public life under an assumed name. The chief evidence in the King Charles story is that a dictionary says that Asholme of Oxford was "no ordinary man." So he must have been Charles I.—Pierre Van Paassen, in the Atlanta Constitution

"THE CACAO COAST" GETS ITS FIRST HARBOR: TAKORADI

Engineers are giving England's Gold Coast Colony its first good harbor. Two cement capped breakwaters are under construction at Takoradi, each of which is more than two miles long. Swarming in the stone quarries and along on the walls of stone jutting boldly into the Atlantic Ocean are 6000 native workers, supervised by 190 Englishmen.

At Takoradi England has staked its pounds, in part at least, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society, on the American glass of chocolate malted milk and the English cup of cocoa.

The Gold Coast Colony is the world's largest producer of cacao, which is manufactured into cocoa and chocolate. In one recent year the Colony shipped 54,000 tons of cacao, valued at $10,000,000 to the United States.

Gold Gives Way to Cacao

While the Gold Coast no longer puts its trust in gold, cacao has displaced the metal only within the last few years. For 400 years gold was the hope that glittered for white men on the Gold Coast. Gold mines built the railroad to Secondee, for which Takoradi is the port. In 1924 gold shipments reached more than $4,000,000, but the mines seem to be nearing exhaustion. A geological survey of the Gold Coast Colony in 1915 revealed other minerals which may themselves relegate gold to the background. Manganese and bauxite are important exports. The first is used in steel-making and the second for aluminum.

Of all the "coasts" on the Gulf of Guinea, the Gold Coast has been last to give up its legacy. There were four: "The Grain Coast," where Liberia is today; "The Ivory Coast," which has given its name to France's Ivory Coast Colony; then the "Gold Coast," which has become the "cacao coast," and finally "The Slave Coast," the littoral of present Dahomey and Nigeria. The elephants that supplied the Ivory Coast with ivory have disappeared, slavery has been suppressed in Nigeria since early in the 19th century, and it has been decades since Liberia sold grain in quantities.

Trading Stations of Nations Competed

Bound up in these names are much history and geography. Why should they be coasts? Why not real names for the mainland like Virginia, Maine or British Guiana? The answer is that for nearly 400 years coasts were all that Europeans knew of this part of Africa. The Portuguese came and built trading forts. The Dutch the French and the English followed. Sometimes rival trading stations were as close as eight miles to each other, as in the case of Dutch Elmina and English Castle Rock. Safe in their forts traders lived and waited for the tribesmen to bring gold, slaves and ivory. They did not dare penetrate a 200-mile barrier of tangled, tropical forest that stretches from the Gulf of Guinea shore to the edge of the Sahara Desert.

Finally, in the 19th century, the European nations began to consolidate their holdings in Africa. England took claim to 350 miles of the Gold Coast and ran the border lines (including territories) back 400 miles. Three districts compose the holding: first the Gold Coast Colony itself, second Ashanti territory and, deepest inland, the Northern Territories bordering the desert.

Kumasi, Scene of Human Sacrifices

The tropical forest has lost its terrors for Europeans. Two main railroad lines from two coast cities, Secondee and Accra, the capital, join at Kumasi, the old inland capital of the Ashanti tribes where human sacrifices were offered up less than 100 years ago. Altogether there are 100 miles of railroad in the Colony and 1000 miles of motor roads.

Not only has the European lost his fear of the tropical forest, but slowly he is putting it to work. Tropical forests will keep the new port busy, not gold. Now that the natives have discovered steady profits in cacao, it is difficult to turn their attention to other agricultural opportunities. Yet the production of palm nuts for palm oil is increasing, kola nuts are important, and "African mahogany" boosts the export figures by 250,000 pounds. With better transportation and port facilities at Takoradi more timber will get to market. Big logs had a vicious tendency to break away in the chronic bad seas so the Gold Coast shore is littered with battered derelict hulks of timbers that were intended for Europe.

Genius

A genius is a man who keeps on doing good work even after he has reputation enough to get by with sorry work.

Winchester Firms Respond to Safety Campaign Efforts

Winchester automobile dealers and garages have responded promptly to support the automobile safety campaign now under way in the State. Nearly to a unit have they made application and qualified to assist Winchester motorists in the testing of their equipment as required by the State Registrar.

In accordance with the provisions of the campaign automobile owners have until Sept. 22 to have their brakes, lights, horns and steering gear examined and tested, such tests being made the owner is issued a sticker bearing the number assigned the station making the test. This number must be displayed on the car, preferably on the rear window. Cars not bearing the "OK" sticker will be subject to stoppage and examination with entailing delay.

To show their hearty co-operation in making the roads safe for travel and in endorsement of the safety campaign, most of the dealers and garages in the State are conducting these tests free of charge, and here in Winchester drivers may have their cars examined at any of the following places:

PALERMO: A TROPICAL CITY FAR FROM THE TROPICS

Palermo, capital of Sicily, may become a free port, according to a decree recently approved by the Italian cabinet, empowering the government to declare 14 ports exempt from tariff regulations, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Palermo is on the northwestern coast of Sicily and its 12-mile, crescent-shaped harbor is busy with shipping, continues the bulletin. Inside the two long breakwaters that protect the port from the sea, huge black Italian trans-Atlantic liners lie at anchor awaiting their passengers, while hundreds of smaller craft, from weather beaten cargo boats to brightly colored pleasure craft, lazily float along or glide about over the smooth water like so many water beetles.

Once a Port of Phoenicians

Palermo has been an important maritime city for more than 3000 years. When the Phoenicians, one of the 15 peoples that have ruled the island, settled there, they called the city Panormos (all harbor). Then it occupied a small peninsula, shaped much like the State of Michigan, with a wide harbor nearly surrounding it. Later the silt from the inland mountains filled the harbor bed which now forms a part of the foundation of modern Palermo.

The trim, white ships of the steamship company that transports passengers from the Italian "boot" to Sicily, usually reach Palermo shortly after dawn, but Palermo appears wide awake. Hundreds of citizens already are on the dock shouting greetings to the newcomers or announcing their business as representative of this or that hotel.

In the Heart of the Lemon Belt

The pasesnger's first glance toward Palermo suggests the name La Felice (the happy) that it has long borne and rightly deserves. The compactly built city of more than 400,000 inhabitants resembles the playing field of an enormous natural athletic stadium with the suburban hills, dotted with palatial villas and citrus groves forming the elevated sides.

The stadium is the Conca d' Oro, or Golden Shell, the most fertile spot on the island, famous for its natural beauty. Here tropical growths flourish in brilliant tropical sunshine. Lemons, oranges and sumac form the major part of Palermo's exports. A large part of the lemon crop reaches United States markets. Only the dark-skinned Sicilians, wearing their stocking caps, a distinctive part of the peasant dress, keep the visitor from imagining himself in southern Florida or southern California, although Palermo is in about the same latitude as Richmond, Va.

Ordinary Carts Are Works of Art

Palermo owes its two main thoroughfares to the Spaniards. The Corso Vitorio Emmanuele, cuts through the center of the city from the sea to the green hills in the background. The Via Maqueda runs at right angles, intersecting it in mid-town.

These streets suggest carnival week. An easy-going, happy throng of natives crowds the narrow sidewalks while the individuals stroll leisurely along or stop to gaze at the alluring window displays in the handsome Palermo shops. Palermitans are never in a hurry.

In the street one sees every kind of conveyance from the street cleaning department's top-heavy cart, drawn by a tiny sympathy-provoking donkey, to the smartest trap of a London type. But none draw such attention as the Sicilian peasant carts that, in many respects, resemble our ordinary two-wheeled dump carts. Almost every inch of the exterior is painted with some religious, legendary, or historical theme. One panel may depict the Crucifixion or the Three Wise Men, and next to it a scene representing the discovery of America by Columbus, or the Sicilian Vespers. Even the wheels, axles, shafts, body posts and tailboards are neatly worked in various designs, while the accompanying horse is decorated with mirrors and two-foot plumes resembling large feather dusters. These elaborate vehicles are used both for business and pleasure. In the morning they are delivery wagons while in the afternoon, the owners of the carts fill them with their families and join the Via Maqueda parade.

A poverty-stricken Palermitan prince, baron or count will go without food to hire a carriage or feed a steed he is not able to own, to join the fashionable procession. When a noble cannot afford a private rig, he joins with another noble and purchases one. Since each noble must have his coat of arms emblazoned on the doors, these party rig owners solved this problem by each one providing his own doors. So when the tired horse returns to the palace with the prince, off come his doors and on go those of the duke or baron, who sedately rides off in his private equipage.

On the wide thoroughfares, and the thousands of crooked, alley-like side streets that are seldom more than a few blocks long one meets with hospitality and courtesy.

THE ALBANIAN-YUGOSLAV BORDER

Rough terrain, primitive peoples and a turbulent history, according to a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society mark the eastern and northern borders of Albania, where the interests of Italy and Yugoslavia clashed recently and for a time threw the chancelleries of Europe into fear of another Balkan War.

Jagged mountains, deep river gorges, rocks, and roadless country have helped to keep the Albanians, especially those of the north, in a primitive state of culture, says the bulletin. Such barriers have also helped to keep back the enemies of these wild highlanders, and have fortified in them their almost fanatical love of independence.

Albanians and Slavs Hereditary Enemies

Before the Christian era, the ancestors of the present Albanians occupied practically the whole of the peninsula north of Greece, to the Danube. They are in fact, the remnants of the oldest race in eastern Europe. The conquest and policing of the region by Rome did not displace these early inhabitants; but when the Slavs burst southward into the peninsula in the 7th century A. D., only those who lived in or fled to Albania kept their blood and customs unaltered by the newcomers. The Albanians therefore, have an hereditary enmity toward the Slavs, represented today by the new Yugoslav state.

It has been the fate of the Albanians to struggle constantly against some powerful neighbor. First it was Imperial Rome, next the Slavs, then Turkey. When Turkish power waned, Albania found Austria coveting her lands. Just before the World War, Austria had succeeded in placing a Germanic prince on the throne of the newly created Albanian state; but this arrangement did not last long. Since the World War Albania has found herself between two forces. On the east and north Yugoslavia has advanced her frontiers to Albania, and eyes her territory with interest; on the west, Italy, separated [illegible] the narrowest part of the Adriatic, has shown a desire to control Albania.

New Railways Since War

The eastern frontier of Albania, where, Italy has charged, the Yugoslavs have been making preparations of a supposedly military character, is much less isolated today than before the World War. Then the region had just been liberated from Turkey and had been [illegible]. Monastir, second among the cities of Turkish Macedonia, had railroad connections only southeastward to Salonika, the metropolis. Now a line also extends northward connecting with the trunk railway at old Serbia.

The region about the two large lakes, Ohrida and Presba, midway of the present Albanian-Yugoslav line, was also isolated. A new railway from Uskub and the heart of Yugoslavia beyond, reaches down to the city of Ohrida on the lake. This lake country of Yugoslavian borderland has both geographic and [illegible] interest. The claim has been put forth for Ohrida that it is "the clearest lake in the world." Fish may be plainly seen swimming about at a depth of 60 feet [illegible] forests cover the slopes of the surrounding hills.

Rome's Road to the East

By [illegible] of Ohrida ran one of the most famous of the old Roman roads, the Via Egnatia, the [illegible] Constantinople and the East. [illegible] parts of which [illegible] across Albania from the [illegible] of Durazzo, [illegible] and by way of Lake Ohrida, M[illegible] and Salonica [illegible] east.

Sergt. William H. Rogers of the local police department was the recipient of considerable publicity in Boston papers and radio news flashes over the week-end through his catching a small white rabbit Friday night. The sergeant saw the rabbit on Eaton street, it evidently having escaped from some back yard in the neighborhood. He chased it and took it to the police station to await its owner. Through the efforts of brother officers, one of the humorists on a Boston paper was tipped off to the "scoop," and a very thrilling and lurid story of interurban importance resulted.

Two severe thunder storms visited Winchester and this vicinity last Sunday afternoon and more than a few residents who sought to enjoy the bright sunshine following a rainy morning were caught in the downpour to the extent of considerable discomfort. There was considerable rain during the forenoon of the day, but clearing weather about 2 o'clock gave promise of a beautiful afternoon. This was soon followed by the first shower, which was of no great intensity. The second spell of sunshine seemed destined to remain, but just as quickly it was followed by a heavy shower. This shower caused some damage in Woburn, where two trees and two houses were struck by lightning.

The funeral of Mr. Patrick McGann of Woburn, a former Winchester resident, was held on Monday morning from the residence of Manlino G. Moffette, 3 Watson place. High mass of requiem was celebrated at St. Charles Church, Woburn, and the burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Montvale.

Mr. Samuel C. Wiswell, station master at the Winchester depot, is on a two months' leave of absence.

A unique feature of the weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club of Winchester at the Calumet Club yesterday noon was the visit of a class of first grade boys and girls of the Wyman School. Nine of the pupils, with their teacher, Miss Ethel W. Woodbury, were guests of the Rotarians. They entertained the members with an exhibition of their knowledge and gave an instructive half hour in the present methods employed in teaching. Their ability and knowledge displayed after but one week of school spoke volumes for our schools. Each little visitor, together with their teacher, received a momento of the visit.

FAIRMOUNT PARK

Situated on the West Side of Winchester off of Cambridge Street nearly opposite Calumet Road. A tract of 20 lots of land varying in size from 7000 to 12,000 square feet in area. Every lot affords a beautiful panoramic view of the most attractive part of the town. In addition to the four houses already erected thereon, the Fairmount Associates have purchased five unencumbered houses adjoining their property at a mortgagees sale. This in order not only to conserve the high type of construction originally planned for this tract, but more particularly to control the disposition of these houses, in order to maintain the high class neighborhood to which we set out to create. These aforesaid five houses are nearing completion and will be offered to satisfactory parties at reasonable prices and possibly one or two of these houses may be obtained for rent.

CLARENCE DeMAR AT BAPTIST RALLY DAY 12 M. NEXT SUNDAY

The Baptist Bible School is to have its Rally Day next Sunday at 12 o'clock with Clarence DeMar, the world famous distance runner, as chief speaker.

Although the meeting is primarily for the purpose of rallying the members of the school for a new year of work, a welcome is extended to all who are interested in seeing and hearing this great man, who has not only led to the field in the 25-mile run from Ashland to the B. A. A. Club House five times, but has won many other great races, and is still going strong.

During the present summer his name has been in the papers several times on account of his running events, one of the most remarkable being his run with a companion from home to the Young People's Christian Endeavor Convention held at Northfield, a distance of over 100 miles. The time was about 31 hours. The strenuous work of this summer indicates that Clarence is not through yet.

Many adjectives have been used in describing this man and his achievements. By combining them all one may get a very good idea of what this man is, but what a chance this is for Winchester to get the true measure of the man, when they can see him and hear his own message. This, although not announced, we have been assured will be worth hearing.

The rally is to be held in the auditorium of the church.

BASIL N. PERKINS

Basil N. Perkins, a resident of Winchester for a little more than a year, passed away Tuesday, Sept. 20, at his home, 146 Forest street, following an illness of nearly two years' duration.

Mr. Perkins was born at Cambridgeport 41 years ago, the son of Sumner N. and Annie (Hayden) Perkins. His early life was spent at Hudson, N. H., his education having been received in the public schools of Nashua, N. H., and at the Nashua Business College, from which he was graduated in 1908.

For a time following his graduation he taught at Nashua before teaching for four years in the Business College at Taunton. Later he was for two years a member of the faculty at Bryant & Stratton College at Providence, R. I. He had been a member of the teaching staff at the Boston Clerical School since 1919, making his home before coming to Winchester in West Somerville.

In 1912 he married Blanche Holmes who survives him with his parents, two brothers, John Perkins of Hudson, N. H., and Herbert Perkins of Derry, N. H., and a sister, Mrs. Mary Shepard of Hudson, N. H.

Funeral services were held this Friday afternoon at the late residence and were conducted by the Rev. H. W. Hook, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church. The interment was in Woodlawn Cemetery, Nashua, N. H.

Collector of Taxes Nathaniel M. Nichols and Mrs Nichols quietly observed their 35th wedding anniversary on Thursday. No feature was made of the event, but the couple received numerous congratulations from friends who were aware of the anniversary.

ANGELO GOVANNE

Angelo Govanne, aged 72, a widely known and universally respected citizen of Winchester for the past 25 years, passed away late Sunday afternoon, Sept. 18, at his home, 81 Canal street, following an illness of less than a week.

Mr. Govanne was born in Italy but as a young man came to this country, settling in Winchester where he had since remained. At the time he was striken he was employed by the Town's Highway Department, a pleasant personality having made him well liked not only by his associates but by many others throughout all sections of the town.

Surviving are his wife, Carmella, a son, Frederick, and five daughters, Mrs. Richard Brogna of North Woburn and the Misses Mary, Lena, Margaret and Lucy Govanne, all of Winchester. Two brothers, Michael Govanne of Stamford, Conn., and John Govanne living in Italy, also survive him with two sisters, Mrs. Evella Govanne of Boston and Mrs. Louise Colucci of this town.

Funeral services were held from the late residence Wednesday morning with a solemn high mass of requiem in St. Mary's Church at 9:30. Rev. Fr. John P. Sullivan was celebrant. Rev. Fr. George H. Quigley, deacon; and Rev. Fr. Nathaniel J. Merritt, sub-deacon. There was a large attendance and many beautiful flowers. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery, East Woburn.

LOUIS VERLIN

Louis Verlin, aged 68, of 12 Symmes road, passed away Sunday evening, Sept. 18, at the Brooks' Hospital in Brookline, following a short illness. His death was caused by pneumonia which developed after an operation.

Mr. Verlin came to this country at the age of 19 from Copenhagen, Denmark, where he was born. He first settled in Norwalk, Conn., where he made his home for about 40 years, being associated for 35 years as salesman and sales manager with the Bigelow Varnish Company of Newark, N. J.

In 1916 he came to Boston where he since that that time had engaged in the leather tanning and softening business with headquarters on Endicott street. He made his home in Winthrop until three years ago when he came to Winchester. He was a former member of the Calumet Club of this town.

Mr. Verlin was a widower and is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Weston Roberts of Pelham, N. Y., Mrs. David Fultz of Flatbush, N. Y., Miss Theresa Verlin of Winchester, and by three sons, Charles A. Verlin of Sarasota, Fla., Ralph C. Verlin of Little River, Fla., and Louis C. Verlin of Montreal, Canada.

Funeral services were conducted on Wednesday afternoon at the late residence by Mr. Frank Edgett, reader of the First Church of Christ Scientist, Winchester. The bearers included Charles Verlin of Sarasota, Fla., David Fultz of Flatbush, N. Y., Weston Roberts of Pelham, N. Y., Charles Jacobs of Winchester and George Robinson of Winthrop. The remains were cremated at Mt. Auburn Cemetery in Cambridge.

NEW TRAIN TIME SUNDAY

With the change from daylight time to standard time the fall and winter time on the steam railroad will go into effect. This year the changes are not numerous, although many of the trains are slightly altered, especially in running time, wherein several Boston bound trains have one or two minutes clipped from the present hour of arrival.

Inward trains will run in general as at present, although the two late trains, now leaving here at 10:49 and 11:12 p. m., will be discontinued. This makes the last train for Boston the 10:24 p. m. There are a few minor changes in departure also and several in arrival.

Outward trains have equally few changes. The train leaving Boston at 9 p. m. is to be discontinued and in its place will be one leaving at 8:30 p. m. The 5:01 p. m. inward Sunday train will also be discontinued, and the outward train leaving Boston at 8 p. m. is to leave at 7:15.

Commuters using the steam trains should note the changes, and convenient pocket size timetables that may be obtained of the following Winchester firms:

Franklin E. Barnes & Co.
Charles S. Adams.
E. H. Butterworth.
Edward T. Harrington Company.
M. J. Queenin.
Winchester Trust Company.

BOAT CLUB DANCES AND TENNIS

The Winchester Boat Club announces a dance for this Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, and during the afternoon the semi-finals and finals of the club singles tennis will be held. The playoff for the club tennis championship will take place Sunday morning at 10 o'clock.

A masquerade is announced for the evening of Saturday, Oct. 1, at 8 o'clock. There has been considerable agitation for such a party and it is expected that there will be many varied and beautiful costumes.

A quoit tournament is to be held at the club this fall, the preliminary rounds to start on Saturday, Oct 1, at 2 p. m.

Members and guests of the Rotary Club of Winchester greatly enjoyed the baritone solos by Dr. J. Churchill Hindes and the piano solos by Mr. Frank H. Knight at the weekly luncheon at the Calumet Club yesterday noon. There was a large attendance of members and visitors.

WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB OF WINCHESTER

The season for the Women's Republican Club will begin Oct. 5, at 2:30 p. m., in the Fortnightly Hall. There will be a regular meeting once a month, the first Wednesday, for the seven months beginning October, and to April, inclusive. There will be politically instructive, educational and social programs each afternoon.

Mrs. A. J. George, who spoke so interestingly in April at the annual meeting, will furnish the main feature for three of these afternoons. Her lectures will also be open to guests at a nominal fee. There will be an opportunity for questions after each lecture.

A question box, to which written questions may be submitted, will be in charge of Mrs. John H. Powers, chairman of education.

Mrs. Electa Sherman will conduct a class in Parliamentary Law early in January. It will be free to members and open to others for a small charge.

There has purposely been left much time, open for the benefit of timely subjects.

At the first meeting, Mrs. Frank Roe Batchelder, vice-chairman of the Republican State Committee, and Mrs. Alonzo Woodside, former president and founder of the Women's Republican Club of Winchester, will be the speakers. Mrs. Batchelder will explain the work of the State Committee, and Mrs. Woodside will give us "Some Political Observations from Abroad."

These are a few of the plans for the winter's work. We are starting the year with an active membership of over 200, and wish to extend a cordial invitation to all Republican Women of Winchester to join our ranks.

Mrs. Willard Bradley, 3 Blackhorse terrace, tel. 0865-W, is chairman of membership, and will be glad to receive any applications.

UNITARIAN NOTES

The Pastor's subject for his sermon next Sunday will be, "The Sculptors." In addition to the regular music by the quartet, Mrs. Livingstone, violinist and Mrs. Weaver, 'cellist will assist.

The Sunday School Rally Day will be held on Sunday, Oct. 2 at 12 o'clock. This will be the first opportunity for the scholars to meet Miss S. F. Jones who comes to the church in the capacity of director of young people's activities. Miss Jones is a graduate of the School of Religious Education at Boston University and she comes to this church after a varied experience in supervising and directing the work of the young people in other parishes.

Mr. C. H. Watkins, former president of the Men's Club has been invited to address the convention of the Unitarian Laymen's League at Lenox on Saturday, Sept. 2. His subject will be, "The Development of a Suburban Chapter." Mr. E. H. Kenerson, president of the Men's Club for the coming year will attend the convention as a delegate.

On Oct. 5 there will be a special meeting of the church at which time will be decided the question as to whether we shall have a Parish House or not. This is possibly one of the most important meetings which the Society has ever had and a record attendance is expected. The meeting is called for 8 o'clock, but supper, prepared and served by "Bill" Wood and his committee from the Men's Club will be at 6:30. Tickets for the supper should be purchased not later than Monday, Oct. 3.

ARRESTS FOLLOWED FIGHT ON WATER STREET

Patrick Connolly of 29 Richardson street, Woburn, Harold Hanlon of 22 Webster street, Arlington and Patrick Sherry of 50 Harriett street, Brighton, were arrested by the local police shortly after 11:15 last Sunday night following a disturbance on Water street.

Headquarters was notified that a fight was in progress there and Patrolmen John Regan and Henry Dempsey were sent in the police car with Patrolman James Farrell to investigate.

The altercation had attracted a large crowd and it was with some difficulty that the police were able to get their men. Connolly and Hanlon put up a hard fight before they were finally arrested and locked up, charged with drunkenness and disturbing the peace.

Sherry was found to be in a dazed condition and was taken for treatment to the office of Dr. M. J. Quinn who found it necessary to take five stiches to close a wound in his head. The former was subsequently arrested by Officer Farrell and appeared in the District Court at Woburn with Connolly and Hanlon Monday morning. The last two named were fined $15 each for drunkenness and disturbing the peace. Sherry paid $5 on the second count.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

Marriage intentions have been filed with the Town Clerk as follows:

Francis Miller of 9 Arthur street and Margaret Jane Love of 55 Lowell street, Woburn.

Arthur Dower Davis of 17 Park avenue, Arlington and Althea Fogg of 83 Brookside avenue.

Curtis Holbrook Caldwell of 27 Central street and Girvan Donald Skilling of 29 Lloyd street.

Ernest Arthur Tutein, Jr., of 53 Wildwood street and Ruth Frances Hamilton Clarkson of 60 Fenway, Boston.

Charles Reuel Carter of 165 Main street and Eda Godlu of 13 Madison avenue.

GET A COMPASS, MATE!

It may come to that, though you can't prove it by us. At all events we'll gamble that George Pendleton of 66 Elmont street, West Medford, won't do any more navigating by dead reckoning after leaving his stranded automobile to go in search for the all necessary gasoline.

Mr. Pendleton, it seems, came to Winchester Tuesday evening in his machine to make a call, accompanied by his wife and two children. The visit over, he started for home, intending to make the trip by way of Arlington.

He had gone but a short distance toward his destination when his motor gave an asthmatic wheeze or two and died, dead beyond the shadow of a doubt. Just a cursory examination disclosed the cause to be an empty gasoline tank. This was at 9 o'clock.

In his extremity there came to Mr. Pendleton a friendly motorist who volunteered to take the former to the nearest filling station. Availing himself of the opportunity offered the irate gentleman from West Medford departed, leaving friend wife and the kiddies firmly intrenched in the dormant auto.

Arriving at the gasoline station Mr. Pendleton procured a quantity of the precious fluid, making a trifling deposit of $5 as a guarantee of good faith in the matter of returning the container and funnel. Filling station men may have their weaknesses but few of them are so altruistic as to trust strangers during the evening, or any other time for that matter, with perfectly good gas cans and funnels. It just isn't done. Try it, and be convinced.

But to return to Mr. Pendleton. Leaving the filling station he was successful in getting a ride back over the route he thought he had traveled when he left his parked car with the friendly motorist. After following a winding road, full of diverse turnings and twistings he suddenly found himself in Medford square.

He was now sure of his course. His machine was in Winchester. Chartering a taxi he hastened thither at all speed, arriving in Winchester square flushed with achievement. His car he knew was just a short distance from the center on Church street. Things were looking better every minute.

With boyant step and a lilt in his heart he started to rejoin his family, but as he walked along he saw nothing which resembled his parked machine. He plugged along but without results. The can of gas had assuredly doubled in weight since he left the filling station.

In desperation he explored side streets but without results. A deadly fear took possession of him. Had some one stolen his machine? If so, what had happened to his wife and family? The thought was distinctly not pleasant.

Probably Mr. Pendleton in all his life was never more glad to see a policeman than was the case at 11:15 p. m., following his heart-breaking search, when he came upon officer John F. Dempsey of the local department. The former's story was quickly told and officer Dempsey was soon in touch with Lieutenant Harrold at headquarters. The latter notified surrounding cities and towns of the machine's disappearance and sent officers Henry Dempsey and John Hogan to assist their brother patrolman in his attempt to locate Mr. Pendleton's family, if they were in Winchester.

The town was thoroughly scoured but to no avail. Neither car nor any trace of it could be found. The frantic husband and father could not recall where he had gotten the gasoline nor what route he had taken to reach the filling station. The situation seemed hopeless.

At 12:50 Wednesday morning local headquarters was notified by Sergt. John Duffy of the Arlington police that Mr. Pendleton's car and family had been located on Falmouth road off Mystic street in that town. When discovered by the Arlington police Mrs. Pendleton was in a highly nervous state over the failure of her husband to return from his trip after gasoline. The latter had simply gotten his idea of direction badly jangled. We were unable to learn whether the reunion of the Pendleton family was a happy one or whether he got his $5 back for the gasoline can and funnel. [Editor's Note. Others may avoid similar trouble by the purchase of one of the complete road maps of New England, sold at the Star Office.

W. H. S. NOTES

The following members of the Senior and Junior Classes were awarded Cum Laude pins at assembly Tuesday morning:

Seniors

Alice Bigley	Elizabeth Noyes
Mary Brown	Ronald Olmstead
Esther Conant	Dorothy Parsons
Jean Davis	John Robinson
Dorothy Friend	Ruth Tompkins
Ganhild Nelson	Mary Tucci

Juniors

Elizabeth Advance	Marjorie Grant
Hazel Ayer	Thomas Lynch
Grace Boyle	Helen MacKinnon
Margaret Bradlee	Gladys McMillan
Marion Connolly	Virginia Merrill
Marjorie French	Annie Nelson
Francis Gaffney	Ruth Snodgrass
Deborah Gilbert

The present enrollment makes it impossible to have assemblies of the entire student body. The enrollment up to Sept. 22 had reached the number of 522 which is 52 more than that for the corresponding date a year ago and about 100 more than it was three years ago this month when the present Senior Class were freshmen.

BUILDING PERMITS GRANTED

The Building Commissioner has granted permits for week ending Thursday, Sept. 22 as follows:

Geo. I. Crowe, West Medford; new dwelling on Lot A. Madison avenue, West.

HIGH SCHOOL OPENS FOOTBALL SEASON TOMORROW

Winchester High School's 1927 football team swings into action for the first time this season tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock when its gridiron warriors will meet Stoneham High at Stoneham. Considerable rivalry between the two schools has been developed in recent years and the resulting game makes a good attraction with which to open the local schedule.

Two years ago Stoneham upset the local applecart by winning a close battle on its home grounds after Winchester had played Medford about even the previous Saturday. Last season Winchester won rather an easy victory on Manchester Field, making tomorrow's battle loom as rather of a rubber engagement.

On paper Winchester should be the favorite to win. It has all but a veteran eleven, well drilled in sound football under Coach Wendell D. Mansfield who is starting his third season at the local institution.

Most of those who will be in Winchester's lineup tomorrow afternoon saw service against the boys from the Hockey Town a year ago and Stoneham's showing against Malden last Saturday does not lead one to suppose it will be stronger than last season.

Coach Mansfield has announced on the eve of the battle that several of his players are not in the best of shape, having sustained minor injuries during the scrimmages of this week. Lynch, Simonds, McNeil, Ghirardini, Franklin and Blank are all nursing bruises or strains, of one sort of another, but it is expected that Ghirardini will be the only one unable to see service against Stoneham.

This will make it possible to send an experienced, rugged team onto the field tomorrow. Coach Mansfield has announced his tentative starting lineup as follows: ends, "Barnie" Murphy and "Livin" McNeil or "Herb" Ross; tackles, "Archa" Amico and "Bunker" Swain or Francis McHugh; guards, "Pete" Coss and "Bo" Franklin or "Bill" Lynch; center, "Nuttsy" Amico; quarterback, "Arbie" Taylor; halfbacks, Captain "Hennie" Knowlton and Ray Halwartz; fullback, "Ronnie" Simonds or "Olio" Lee.

WINCHESTER GIRL SHOWERED IN ARLINGTON

Miss Althea Fogg was pleasantly surprised last Monday evening at a shower given in her honor at the home of Mrs. R. L. Goodwin of Alpine street, Arlington Heights. About 40 of her friends from Arlington were present. She went over to Arlington to attend a meeting of the T. T. C. girls of the Arlington Heights Baptist Church. On arriving somewhat late she was greeted at the door by a chorus of voices singing a clever little song about showers. The house was very prettily decorated in pink and white and blue and white with white wedding bells hanging from the chandeliers. A huge table in the center of the room was piled high with mysterious looking packages. When she recovered from her surprise she opened the packages and found that they contained many beautiful and useful gifts.

This shower is the third one given in honor of her approaching marriage to Mr. Arthur D. Davis of Arlington. Mr. Davis is the son of Rev. and Mrs. R. J. Davis of Arlington Heights. He is a graduate of the Salem High School and Colgate University and has attended Newton Theological Seminary. Miss Fogg is a well known Winchester girl and a graduate of the Winchester High School.

The first shower tendered her was at the home of Miss C. Beatrix Wienbold of Adams street, Medford Hillside on Tuesday evening, Sept. 6. It was a very cleverly arranged surprise and was attended by many of her Christian Endeavor friends. She received many useful gifts.

The second shower was held at the home of Miss Anna Saunders of Cross street, Winchester, last Friday evening. Many friends from the surrounding towns were there to offer her their best wishes for her future happiness. She also received many lovely gifts at this shower.

FOOD FAIR HERE

Visit Fells Market Friday and Saturday

Winchester is to have its own Food Fair this season. Visit the fine new store of the well known Fells Market on South Main street this Friday and Saturday and see what wonderful things are now offered for the household right here in town. It is well worth a visit to see the new quarters of this big market, now one of the best equipped in town. In addition the thrifty housewife may see and sample many of the excellent products which are stocked. New wrinkles will be shown and dainty and appetizing receipts given out. Do not fail to call at the Fells Market. You will regret it if you do. It is keeping open house to Winchester people and their friends.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Nora Catherine Leary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Leary of 26 Park street, Arlington, to Edward Kidder of Winchester.

"Art" French of this town, varsity halfback and track star at Harvard, is expected to report in uniform for football practice on Soldiers' Field the first of the week. French underwent an operation for a knee injury Sept. 10 but was able to leave the hospital the middle of last week

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Coleman Connolly of the Star force with Fireman David Meskell, John Keady and John Davy returned Sunday from a week's motor trip through Canada, the White Mountains and New York. All claim the old "Flivver" ran like an eight-day clock.

Efforts are being made by a group of interested citizens to improve the condition of the roadway at Wedgemere Station and a letter to the Metropolitan District Commission has been written by Town Moderator, George B. Hayward, asking that steps be taken to remedy conditions there. At Mr. Hayward's suggestion the Board of Selectmen has informed the Commission of its own desire to co-operate in any way possible in the project.

Selectman Joseph W. Worthen of Glen road suffered the death of his father, Prof. Thomas W. D. Worthen, formerly for nearly 40 years a member of the faculty at Dartmouth College and prominently identified with New Hampshire politics, who died Wednesday morning at Middletown Springs, Vt. The elder Worthen was graduated from Dartmouth in 1872 as a Phi Beta Kappa member and received the degree of A. M. in 1875. In 1874 he became tutor in Mathematics at Dartmouth, in 1878, instructor; assistant professor, 1883; and full professor in 1893. He became professor emeritus in 1911 when he was retired at the age of 66. Prof. Worthen is to be buried in the college cemetery at Hanover, N. H., with committal services this Friday at 2:30.

Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Newton are back in town again after spending the summer at Falmouth.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Murdoch of Hillside avenue are on a motor trip to Vermont and Canada.

A Chrysler roadster driven by Mrs. Eunice Clowes of Congress street, Millenocket, Me., and a Buick sedan, operated by Gaetano A. Pennelle of 12 Trull street, Somerville were in collision at 7:35 last evening on Main street at the junction of Water street. The Chrysler was headed south on Main street while the Buick was coming from Swanton street onto Main to enter Water street. Both cars were damaged but no one was injured.

Mrs. Chas. E. Corey of the Parkway is visiting at Kittery, Me.

Kilbreth J. Barrows of this town was a member of the party of 109 American college and preparatory school students who returned from Denmark after an extended visit Sept. 13. The party left the United States July 23 on the Scandinavian-American Liner Hellig-Olav, returning to Hoboken on the S.S. United States. One New York paper referred to the young men as "ambassadors" to Scandinavia.

WINCHESTER MAN WON PRIZE FOR CAREFUL DRIVING

Charles A. Woolley of 5 Fells road was the recipient on Wednesday of one of the $5 gold pieces which a Boston daily is giving to courteous drivers of motor vehicles wherever its representative may locate them in greater Boston. Mr. Woolley was "spotted" in Maverick Square, East Boston, when the newspaper man had been for some time waiting the advent of a motorist eligible for his prize. The Winchester man came to a full stop in order that a woman handicapped by lameness might have plenty of time to cross a busy street. He was rewarded on the spot. Mr. Woolley has been driving since 1900 and never has had an accident. The driver of the prizes has yet to bestow one upon a woman driver, though he has by no means given up hope.

JUNIOR GIRLS' DOUBLES AT WINCHESTER OCT. 1

Tennis is not going to be abolished for the year for some time, as there is to be a junior girls' doubles tournament, with a consolation division in which one set will suffice at the Winchester Country Club Oct. 1. Entries close Sept. 30 with Augustus J. Boyden, 6 Central street, Winchester.

The younger boys and girls, not 15 years of age, will hold competitions in singles and mixed doubles at the Longwood Cricket Club courts, Chestnut Hill, Saturday, Oct. 8. The matches will be one set. Entries may be made with Mrs. Nathaniel W. Niles, 157 Middlesex road, Chestnut Hill.

BOWDOIN SQUARE THEATRE

At the Bowdoin Square Theatre beginning Monday, Sept. 26, the management at the popular Bowdoin Square Theatre will put forth the first run Boston feature, Fred Thomson and his wonder horse Silver King in one of the big hits of the screen entitled, "Arizona Nights" which is a great outdoors story and presented by Joseph P. Kennedy, a Boston man. In this offering Mr. Thomson, presents a theme and drama dealing with pioneer days in which over 1000 Indians take part and it will be truly enjoyed by young America as well as the grown-ups. Another big feature will be the William Fox offering, "Upstream" in which the main roles are taken by Nancy Nash, Raymond Hitchcock and Francis Ford. It deals with a pretty romance of Broadway life. Still another picture on the triple program will be, "Alaskan Adventures," a story of two explorers in the Arctic region, Lloyd Hamilton in "Peaceful Oscar" and the Pathe News together with five vaudeville acts will round out the bill. Opportunity night comes Wednesday with the usual barrain vaudeville on Friday night. Concert Sunday at 3.

Free parking service to Bowdoin patrons.

The regular fall and winter bowling tournament will start this week at the Calumet Club on Monday evening, Oct. 17. Entries will close on Oct. 5. The largest number of teams ever engaged in a tournament at the club is anticipated.

Collector of Taxes Nichols states that the tax bills for this year will go out on Wednesday, Oct. 5.

POLICE RECOVER CAR REPORTED STOLEN

A Chevrolet coach, reported to the police at 3:10 a. m. Thursday as having been stolen from the garage of Patrick Allen at 52 Loring avenue was recovered by officer Mark Kelley in the center at 3:25 the same morning.

Mr. Allen telephoned headquarters that his garage had been broken into and the machine stolen, all officers being notified to keep a sharp lookout for the car.

Officer Kelley noticed the Chevrolet approaching the center from the direction of Medford and stopping the machine placed its operator under arrest. A second young man, a passenger in the car, was also arrested.

At the station house the operator gave his name as James Allen and stated that he was a younger brother of Patrick Allen and that he was a part owner of the car. He was booked on a charge of larceny as was his companion who seemed badly frightened and who gave the name of Joseph Pelletier of Suncook, N. H. The latter claimed he knew nothing of either Allen or the machine but had accepted a ride from Medford square forth.

Both young men appeared in the District Court at Woburn Thursday morning. Pelletier was found not guilty and was discharged after reiterating the story told the police at the time of his arrest. James Allen was found guilty of larceny and was given one month in the House of Correction with sentence suspended for one year.

Fireman John Flaherty, driver of Combination A, begins his annual vacation today.

UNFORTUNATE

Arthur W. Hall of Newton appeared in the District Court at Woburn this morning to answer charges preferred against him by officer John F. Dempsey of the police who arrested him Saturday evening while Hall was driving a Lincoln sedan on Church street near Bacon street.

Officer Dempsey felt that the latter was driving at an excessive rate of speed as the Lincoln approached Bacon street and signalled Hall to stop. The young man, after looking around at the patrolman, decided to keep on going. He did so.

Close behind the Lincoln was a Packard roadster, also driven by a young man. Flagging the Packard officer Dempsey ordered its driver to catch the flying Lincoln. Almost immediately the speed of the powerful roadster fell off and the sedan seemed destined to make a getaway.

Reminding the driver that it was perfectly all right to "step on it" in a good cause seemed to have little effect, the young man being unable to get better than 25 miles out of the Packard.

Suggesting that in the event of losing the driver of the Lincoln the patrolman might feel called upon to arrest his unwilling taximan seemed to revive the latter's interest in the chase. At once the Packard began to do its stuff and was soon beside the Lincoln whose driver promptly gave up the race.

After booking Hall officer Dempsey departed, but not before he heard enough of the conversation between the operators of the two machines to make him rather certain that the two were brothers or close personal friends traveling together. Just as he was getting out of earshot he heard the young man who was piloting the Packard growl disgustedly, "Aw what could I do? He was gonna pinch me."

FIRST OF WEEK LISTS SEVERAL MOTOR MISHAPS

After a week-end exceptionally free from automobile accidents despite heavy traffic through town from the began Monday morning at 11 o'clock when a Star sedan driven by Mrs. Minnie Nelson of 717 Main street, Franklin, N. H., skidded while headed north on Highland avenue, striking an electric light pole and smashing the left side of the machine. Two ladies who were riding with Mrs. Nelson in the sedan were cut about the face and head by flying glass. They were treated by Dr. R. L. Emery who found they were not seriously injured.

At 2:30 Monday afternoon as William C. Bailey of 34 Franklin street, Woburn, was driving his Cadillac sedan south along Main street at the junction of Hemingway street, the car was in collision with a 3½ ton Pierce-Arrow truck owned by the Town of Winchester and operated by Edward Duncan of 56 Pine Grove Park street, the latter headed north. The truck was only slightly damaged but the Cadillac was battered about the fenders, running board and rear wheel. Neither operator was hurt.

Wednesday morning at 8:35 a Hudson coach, owned by the Alton Rubber Company of 79 Sudbury street, Boston, and driven by Lawrence N. Barry of 8 Century street, West Medford, while going north on Highland avenue was inedllision with a Reo truck which was turning onto Highland avenue from Prospect street extension. The truck was the property of Fred Schneider of 372 Salem street, Woburn, and was being operated by his son, Fred D. Schneider of the same address. Both machines were damaged but no injuries were reported.

SENTENCED FOR DRIVING UNINSURED CAR

A Winchester young man was sentenced Thursday morning by Judge Nash in the District Court at Woburn for operating an automobile which was both unregistered and uninsured.

State Inspector of Motor Vehicles Bailey reported the defendant to the police after the young man had cut out in front of the inspector's machine on Swanton street at White street on Sept. 16. Stopping the driver Mr. Bailey found that the car was unregistered and had not been insured.

The Winchester police summoned the defendant into court and after two continuances he was finally found guilty Thursday morning. The charge of driving an unregistered car was filed. On the charge of driving a car without having the vehicle insured he was given one month in the House of Correction with sentence suspended for one year.

Robert Dotten, 12-year-old son of Superintendent Harry W. Dotten of the Water Department, had his clothing badly torn by a collie dog while riding his bicycle on Highland avenue near Park avenue Wednesday afternoon. The animal was owned by James Murray of Elm street.

TOWN TEAM SWAMPED STONEHAM

Closed Home Season With a Win On Flaherty Day

Winchester Town Team closed its home baseball season on Manchester Field last Saturday afternoon when it completely outclassed the Stoneham Town Team in a long drawn out game, the score being 11—3.

The occasion was designated as Flaherty Day in honor of John J. Flaherty, Jr., of Oak street, former high school athletic star and for the past two seasons a member of the St. Mary's and Town Baseball teams.

A committee including George T. Davidson, Chairman of the Park Board; Manager James E. Farrell of the Town Team, Selectman Thomas F. Fallon, Fred H. Scholl, George W. Tilley, John Hanlon and Richard McAdams had been at work on the arrangements and when "Flats" came to bat in the first inning Mr. Davidson on behalf of the committee, presented the popular left fielder with a purse of gold while his mother, Mrs. Mary A. Flaherty, was given a handsome bouquet of cut flowers. Members of both the Winchester and Stoneham teams stood with bared heads while the presentation was made and Flaherty was given a real hand from the crowd on the sidelines.

Following the ceremony "Flats" took his cut at the apple, coming up with the cushions loaded and one away. By all the laws of baseball he should have fanned, but after twice attempting to sacrifice he belted one on the nose to Thornton who pegged out Hevey at the plate.

The Game

For four innings the "Townies" and Stoneham battled on very even terms, the contest looking like anyone's ball game. "Lefty" Wheeler, chunky southpaw, was on the mound for the visitors while the venerable "Steve" Colucci, late manager of the North Woburn Club and former Tufts right hander, hurled for Winchester.

Both pitchers were hit hard but Colucci was the steadier and the harder to hit when hits meant tallies. Wheeler weakened perceptably in the 5th and thereafter was constantly in trouble. Stoneham played errorless ball afield while Winchester chucked four miscues into the matinee. Few of the locals' errors, however, counted in the scoring and in the main Colucci was given good support.

There were several fielding gems during the battle, chief among them being a peach of a throw to the platter from deep center field by "Harpy" Fitzgerald in the 8th. "Nigger" White was on second when Wheeler laced the ball into center for a clean single. White, who is no truck horse, naturally figured to score on the blow but he had hardly turned third when "Fitzy" literally shot the ball on one long hop to "Mex" Kelley at the plate almost in time to catch "Nigger" off third. No better heave has ever been made on Manchester Field, both direction and speed being perfect. In addition to this bit of sharpshooting all Fitzgerald did was hang out two triples and a single in three trips to the pan, not bad for one afternoon's playing.

Both Flaherty and Walden, rival left fielders, turned in circus catches, the former making a great running catch at the running track in the 2nd inning off Walden which saved a run. In the sixth the last named robbed Fitzgerald of a sure homer by making a splendid one handed catch off the big boy's long drive to far left center. "Mex" Kelley, "Jomma" Dolan and Ralph Hatch played great defensive ball for the locals while "Nigger" White and Cogan were in the game every minute for the visitors.

Stoneham drew first blood in the 2nd. With one away Doucette doubled to center and made third when Flaherty and Fitzgerald got mixed up over the throw-in. Muzzy laid it down and when Colucci threw wide of the plate Doucette scored and the batter made second. White singled to right and Muzzy was caught at the plate, Cummings to Dolan to Kelley. Coates threw out Wheeler.

Winchester came right back in the 3rd. With one away Hevey singled to center. Kelley fanned but Fitzgerald tripled to far right center, sending "Jackie" home. Flaherty belted a clean hit over second to score "Fitz" before Hatch popped to Doucette.

White opened the 5th for Stoneham with a single to right and was safe at second when Coates mussed up Wheeler's attempted sacrifice. Both runners advanced when Quinlan beat out a bit to Colucci and the sacks were jammed. Cogan rapped to Colucci and White was forced at the plate but Fitzpatrick's fly to Flaherty scored Wheeler. Thornton singled past Hevey counting Quinlan before Walden rolled out to Hatch.

The way Wheeler was going made Stoneham's lead look big, but the locals had a real punch left in their war clubs. In Winchester's half of the 5th with one out Kelley doubled to center and made third when Fitzgerald bounced a single off Thornton's shoulder. "Fitz" moved up while Cogan was throwing out Flaherty, Kelley holding third. Hatch singled to left, counting Kelley and Fitzgerald and making 2nd on the throw-in. "Jomma" Dolan's mighty triple to far center scored Hatch and "Punk" Cumming's bingle, which got away from Fitzpatrick for a triple, counted Dolan. Muzzey took Colucci's hoist in right field.

This sewed up the game but Winchester made it unanimous in the 8th. Colucci doubled to right with one out. Wheeler then hit Coates and Hevey to fill the bases before passing Kelley to force in a run. Fitzgerald then smote one into the long grass across the running track at the old swing standards for a triple, clearing the bases. Flaherty's long sacrifice fly scored "Harpy." Hatch hoisted to Cogan.

Colucci set Stoneham down in order in the 9th and the game was over, perhaps too one sided to be very interesting yet showing a lot of good baseball during the matinee.

WINCHESTER GIRLS START HOCKEY WORK

Candidates for Winchester High School girls' field hockey team reported on Tuesday to Coach Priscilla Wheeler for the first work-out in preparation for the fall campaign.

Eight letter players are available for this year's eleven together with several others with more or less experience, making the outlook on the whole encouraging. An entire forward line of veterans built around the star all interscholastic wing, "Dot" McKenzie should give this year's outfit a more potent punch than its predecessors, but the loss of "Dot" Bond and Cecile de Coriolis, star fullbacks, will make heroic measures necessary if the team is not to suffer defensively. Captain Marie Merrill and Louise Packer are experienced half-backs while Anna Dolan won her letter at goal last season. In addition to "Dot" McKenzie, who is starting her third season as a regular, the other letter forwards are Theresa Colucci, "Sunny" Davis, Virginia Merrill and Frances Pettengell. The eleven is being managed by Ruth Woodbury with "Peggy" Bradlee as assistant.

The complete list of candidates follows:

TRIPLE CRASH ON MAIN STREET BRIDGE

Three automobiles were in collision at 1:45 last Friday afternoon at the bridge on Main street over the Aberjona River near the Mystic Valley Parkway. The accident occurred when John Grantonio of 19 Heath street, Everett, in attempting to swing his Maxwell touring car which he had left parked on the right hand side of the bridge out into the thoroughfare, collided with a Dodge sedan owned by James McLaughlin of 17 Center street, Burlington and driven by his son, Robert, of the same address. The force of the collision threw the Maxwell against a Nash voture, the property of R. M. Kimball of the Nash Sales Company of Main street. All three machines were more or less damaged but no one was injured.

Sleepy Flower

Investigators have discovered that the magnolia cannot be kept awake by means of artificial light. The investigators were surprised when the flower, set in a room flooded with electric light, closed its petals when natural darkness arrived to open again only with the arrival of daylight.

BIG SQUAD OUT FOR HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL

One of the biggest football squads in the history of the Winchester High School has been hard at work for three weeks under the direction of Faculty Coach Wendell D. Mansfield preparing for the opening game of the 1927 season which is to be played tomorrow afternoon with Stoneham High at Stoneham.

Prospects at the local school are unusually bright this fall, 11 letter men being available for the team together with several others having more or less experience. Of last year's crack eleven, considered by most close followers of football as the outstanding team in the Mystic Valley League, only three regulars are missing. "Spike" O'Donnell, end; Herbert Nelson, tackle; and Charles Doherty, guard; were graduated last June along with Lemert Clark, Richard Murphy, Edward Fleming, Walter Drohan and Marvin Brown, first string substitutes. All will be missed, especially O'Donnell and Nelson who were very steady dependable performers.

The veterans available as a nucleus for the coming season include Captain "Hennie" Knowlton, Ray Halwartz, "Ronnie" Simonds, "Arbie" Taylor and "Jerry" Ghirardini, backs; and "Archa" and "Nuttsy" Amico, "Bo" Franklin, "Livin" McNeil, "Barnie" Murphy and "Bill" Lynch, linemen. Seldom has the school had a better looking squad of seasoned material.

In the matter of good replacements Coach Mansfield is not so well fixed as a year ago, but some of the new comers to the squad are showing much promise and there are several players who got into a number of the games a year ago. Among those who are pushing the regulars for their jobs are Blank, Callahan, Coss, Derby, Dowd, Gibson, Horn, L. Knowlton, Kendrick, Kerrigan, Lee, Newman, Ross, Swain and Rondina.

Assisting Coach Mansfield with the development of the team are Raymond V. Hayward of the School Faculty a former Wesleyan athlete, and Frank Black, ex-high school and Dean Academy lineman. The new stands have been set in position on either side of the gridiron and by the end of the week the goal posts will be in place.

Winchester assuredly must be figured as having a good chance to annex the Mystic Valley League flag this season with a team of veterans built around real stars like "Hennie" Knowlton and "Acha" Amico. The boys will have to hustle all the time to realize their ambition and it has been rather discouraging to see some of the letter men showing a distinct tendency to loaf during practice. Such tactics will ruin even the best of clubs and will not long be condoned by Coach Mansfield who is strong for the hustling player, even though inexperienced. He has announced that the team is wide open, which is at it should be. The letter men should be first choice for their old jobs only if they are fighting. Loafing never won a championship yet.

This year's football team has a fine chance to wipe out several black marks against local school athletics and the boys should give everything they have all the time in an effort to make good. Anything less than their best will receive scant support from local sports followers who are fed up on the swelled-headed type of athletic pretender.

The complete list of candidates for the 1927 team is as follows:

W. Abbott	H. Knowlton*
H. Ambrose	L. Knowlton
"Arca" Amico*	P. Kendrick
Gnazio Amico*	N. Kerrigan

WOBURN WEDDING OF INTEREST HERE

Many in Winchester were interested to learn of the wedding which took place at Woburn Tuesday evening when Miss Pearl Florence Sudsbury, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Slater of 639 Main street, that city, became the bride of Stuart Halbert Somerville, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Somerville of 14 Wyman street, Woburn. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents by Rev. James Ainsley of the Woburn Methodist Episcopal Church.

The young couple were attended by Miss Lydia McLean of Moncton, N. B., and Warner Danforth of Woburn. Everett Sudsbury of Nashua, N. H., and Gordon Sudsbury of Antrim, N. H., brothers of the bride, were ushers. Following a reception which was held immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Somerville left upon a wedding trip. Upon their return they are to make their home at 21 Hart place, Woburn.

The bride has many friends in Winchester where she has ben for some time employed as bookkeeper at the Central Garage. Last Saturday morning when she arrived at her office her fellow workers at the garage presented her with a handsome piano lamp as a wedding gift.

Orange and Tangerine

An orange is the large globose fruit of the rutaceous tree, Citrus aurantium. The tangerine is an orange much like the mandarin, but of deeper color and higher flavor. It is said to have been produced in America from the mandarin.

DR. JOHNSON TO PREACH AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. Herbert S. Johnson, D.D. of Boston will be the preacher next Sunday morning and evening at the Baptist Church. His morning topic will be, "The Burden Which Carries You." and his evening topic will be, "Your Grandfather's Grandfather." Miss Flora MacDonald, Gospel Soloist will sing at both services.

Fish Killed by Cold

We can fish cold-blooded but they dislike extreme cold as much as a boy dislikes an icy bath. They actually die of cold; millions of tile fish across the Atlantic were killed by chilly currents and fish brought up by Scott's men in the Antarctic from water with a temperature of 30 degrees, froze to death as they reached the air, where the temperature was 70 degrees colder.

M. C. W. G. NOTES

Next Thursday evening which is our regular social evening for this month is to take the form of a home social, which seems to be the popular form of entertainment "these times" and should prove especially so with none other than our able Organist, Mary H. McGrath as hostess for the evening at her home on Main street. Many fine favors are to be given in the course of the evening and the many friends of Mrs. McGrath will be assured of a very pleasant evening.

Watch the next issue of the Star for announcement of the exercises to be held on Oct. 2 at the dedication of the new wing at the Holy Ghost Hospital.

Winchester names are beginning to appear in the football writeups here and there throughout the realms of the great intercollegiate sport. "Jim" Fitzgerald and "Bud" Melly are working out with the Tufts varsity while "Ty" Sherman, "Joe" Tansey and "Lead" O'Donnell have donned moleskins at Norwich. "Art" French has not yet reported for the Harvard team due to a leg injury but Dana Kelley is at present running first choice for varsity quarterback at Cambridge. "Clint" Mason is not eligible at Williams though he has returned to the Berkshires' college to get his degree.

A Cadillac coupe, driven by Elmer A. Anderson of 195 Forest street and a Buick coach, driven by John R. Green of 43 Park street, Malden, were in collision Wednesday afternoon at the junction of Washington street and Montvale avenue, East Woburn. Both cars were badly damaged the Buick crashing into the building occupied by the Darkee Shoe Company after colliding with the Cadillac. Two women who were riding with Mr. Green in the Buick were badly cut by flying glass and the latter was also severely shaken up. They were taken to the Choate Memorial Hospital where they were found to be painfully but not seriously injured. Mr. Anderson was not reported as hurt.

DR. S. B. SNOW IS NEW UNITARIAN WORKER

Former King's Chapel Minister Becomes Field Secretary

The Rev. Dr. Sydney Bruce Snow, associate minister at King's Chapel from 1912 to 1920 entered on new duties this week as a field secretary of the American Unitarian Association. Dr. Snow will assist in the work of the association's New York office and take over considerable field work in addition to helping with some of the detail work of Unitarian headquarters at 25 Beacon street, Boston.

Dr. and Mrs. Snow, who was Miss Marguerite Kennedy, and their two daughters, have spent the last year in European travel. Dr. Snow is a native of Winchester, and was graduated from Harvard in 1900 and from Harvard Divinity School in 1906. Between the two dates he served an apprenticeship in newspaper work, in the office of the Boston Transcript. His pastorates have been in Palo Alto, Cal.; Concord, N. H.; King's Chapel and Montreal.

Dr. Snow resigned from King's Chapel to sail on a commission for the relief of Transylvania sent out by the American Unitarian churches. Last spring he was a delegate from the American Unitarian Association to the annual Whit-Week meetings of the British and Foreign Unitarian Association in London and preached the annual sermon there.

ST. JAMES THEATRE

"What's Your Husband Doing?" a farce comedy by George Hobart with a laugh in every other line of it, will be presented next week at the St. James Theatre.

It is a frivolous piece, but so full of mix-ups and odd situations that the dialogue is sparkling. Two husbands, lawyers, and their feminine clients, convince their wives that the lawyer husbands are not paying attention to business only. As a matter of fact, the husbands are perfectly innocent of any wrong-doing.

The wives, on the other hand, are found in a road-house under such circumstances that the husbands have grounds for believing that all is not as it should be.

To further complicate the already complex situation there is a raid by some blundering constables, who add much to the general mix-up. As a climax, one of the husbands, in his official capacity as a justice of the peace, has the opportunity to pass sentence on his wife. The scenes are laid in the office of the lawyers, in a Boston Post Road roadhouse and in the Westchester jail.

The leading roles will be taken by J. Glynn McFarlane, Ruth King, Mary Hill, Edith Speare, Flora Maud Gade, Charles Schofield, Frank Charlton, Day Manson and John Winthrop. There will be matinees Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

The capabilities of the company need no explaining to any of this audience, but we can tell you that the dialogue between Schofield and McFarlane is something you will laugh about as long as you remember the play.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

As a result of a recent decision of the Council of Woburn, the members will receive a raise of $200 each on their yearly salary despite the fact that when the vote on the increase was taken it was thought to have been lost. Eight members of the City Council favored the measure and believing that 10 votes were necessary the acting president of the council ruled that the measure had failed to pass. An examination of the charter however revealed the fact that only a majority of the Council is necessary for passage and it was found that the eight votes constitute a majority.

Many Winchester people were interested to learn of the splendid record which the Red Cross Volunteer Motor Corps is making in its efforts to be of service in the campaign which is being waged against the dread infantile paralysis which is again cropping up here and there about Boston and elsewhere. Since the founding of the corps 10 years ago its members have been active in transporting victims of the disease to and from the Children's Hospital where the Harvard Infantile Paralysis Commission conducts one of its largest aftertreatment clinics. Mrs. Bowen Tufts of this town is captain of the Motor Corps of the Boston Metropolitan Chapter and last year her drivers transported 1,221 patients to and from hospitals and dispensaries in Boston, making 7058 calls. One hundred and fifty women can be called on for service in the corps.

Having received repeated requests for information as to how the town stood in the matter of infantile paralysis which is making rather alarming appearances in many parts of Massachusetts, we visited the office of the Board of Health last night. There we were informed that Winchester had not had a case of infantile paralysis reported since the first of August last past. There is apparently little cause for alarm at present.

Mr. and Mrs. John F. O'Brien of Water street are the parents of a son, born last Saturday at the Winchester Hospital.

Miss Gertrude Mawn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Mawn of 23 Shepard court, is reported as recovering from a serious operation which she underwent this week in the Winchester Hospital.

Town Clerk Mabel W. Stinson is enjoying a two weeks' vacation at Sugar Hill, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick T. Walsh of Oxford street are enjoying a motor trip to Niagara Falls.

Fred DeLong, aged 24, of Woburn, whose mangled body was found on the Boston & Maine tracks just north of the Harrison avenue bridge in that city early Sunday morning, was well known in this town, he having often worked with his father, James A. DeLong, as a gardener in the Symmes corner section. It is thought that the young man was killed when he attempted to jump from a train after being carried by his station.

STEAMBOATS INVADE CHINA'S MOST REMOTE PROVINCE

Kuldzha, outpost of Chinese Turkestan recently connected by Ili River steamers with Asiatic Russia, is a growing center of trade on the roof of the world, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society. The new river port lies on the Central Asian plateau north of the Tien Shan mountains and south of the Altai Range. Across this upland ran the ancient caravan route from Eastern Europe to China, followed by Marco Polo on his famous journey to the Orient in the 13th century. Along the highway lies the bed of the projected Turkestan-Siberian railway.

On Shortest Route Across Asia

Kuldzha is the last frontier settlement of importance in China's most western province, Sinkiang, better known as Chinese Turkestan. It lies on the Ili River about 50 miles above the point where this great stream enters Asiatic Russia, eventually to lose itself in Lake Balkash. The new Ili River steamboat line thus forms a water route between Chinese and Russian Turkestan.

Overland trade routes lie several hundred miles to the south, through Andizhan and Tashkent on the Russian side to Kashgar and Yarkand over the Chinese border. This was the route followed by Marco Polo, whose descriptions of the country in his famous "Travels" are being corroborated by modern discoveries. The great Venetian himself merely followed a trail long beaten smooth by the silk caravans from China on their way to trade with European merchants at Constantinople.

Between this land route and the Ili River to the north are many low mountain passes through some of which engineers state will lie the future shortest transcontinental railway from Calais to Peking. A Russian railroad already has penetrated to within 150 miles of the Ili. Headwaters of this river and its tributaries tap the rich Chinese region of Sungaria.

Women Go Unveiled

Kuldzha was built by the Chinese on the sight of the ancient Sungarian capital, and, like all frontier towns, has had a chequered career. It was held for a time by Russians, and still has many Russian inhabitants. Chinese make up the merchant and official classes. The bulk of the population, estimated at over 12,000, is composed of a mixture of races of Central Asia, of Turkish and Mongolian strains. They are Mohammedan in religion and two large Mohammedan mosques in the Chinese style of architecture are outstanding buildings of the city.

Due to Chinese influence, or to the fact that the country was at one time Buddhist, women of Kuldzha are to a large extent unveiled and enjoy great freedom. Their gaily colored costumes give a cheerful note to the drab monotony of a city of mud walled, mud roofed houses, intersected by streets that are veritable quagmires of mud and filth. Chinese officialdom lives in an old walled Chinese town. Sanitary conditions as known in the west are nonexistent.

The chief foreign element is Russian. Trade in foreign goods is carried on by Russian merchants who obtain brick tea, paper, skins, and grain in return. Another chief article of commerce are the horns of the wapiti, a deer whose antlers when ground to a powder are highly prized by the Chinese as "medicine." Big game hunters from America and Europe have experienced difficulty in persuading the natives that [illegible] they bring so highly [illegible] for this purpose when carried back to New York or London.

Mecca of Big Game Hunters

The valley of the Tekes River, a tributary of the Ili, is a noted big game country and has been visited recently by expeditions of American hunters and naturalists in search of the Ovis Poli, or Marco Polo sheep, a giant mountain variety first described to an incredulous public by the doughty Venetian. The route by caravan from Kashmir in Northern India sometimes followed by expeditions to Chinese Turkestan is more hazardous and difficult than the present Russian approach via Ili River and Kuldzha.

Before steamers were introduced on the Ili boats were ferried across by swimming horses, which often died of exhaustion and freezing in the icy waters, leaving many [illegible] because of transport difficulties. Sungaria was [illegible] and it was [illegible] from this region in Central Asia that the fabled, medieval empire of the Kingdom of Prester John originated. It is to such a once isolated land of fable that the traveler now rides on the deck of a modern river steamboat.

OSAKA: JAPAN'S PITTSBURGH AND FALL RIVER

Osaka, Japanese seaport whose city fathers are planning a 20-mile subway, is a flourishing industrial center of over 2,000,000 population, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society. "This Pittsburgh of Japan lies at the head of Osaka Bay on the great south coastal plain which also includes Kobe and Kyoto. It is one of the teeming manufacturing districts of the world, comparing in concentration of industry to Belgium or the English midlands.

Canals Give Dutch Aspect

Osaka's chief temple is sacred to the turtle, indicative perhaps of the low lying situation of the city. Several small streams and numerous wide canals intersecting each other at right angles give the appearance of a Dutch landscape. Some of the inhabitants designate their water-logged metropolis the Venice of Japan, but moist climate and low grey tiled houses smack more strongly of Holland than of Italy. Above all countless chimneys belch volumes of black smoke into the atmosphere and streams are fouled with filth from thousands of factories. Only in the darkness of a summer evening from the deck of one of the myriad of lantern lighted "coolness boats" do Osaka's industrial waters hint of the Grand Canal.

Iron works, shipyards, cotton mills, and sugar refineries give employment to thousands of men and women. Much of the crockery ware, lacquer, cloth and articles of silk, ivory, bone, and bamboo, with which Japanese merchants compete in the world's markets originates in Osaka. Osaka's Board of Trade has a powerful influence, and the rice exchange is said to rival Chicago's famous wheat pits in general wildness of atmosphere.

Center for Big League Wrestling

In Osaka are the head offices of one of Japan's largest shipping firms whose lines run to the coasts of China and Chosen (Korea) and whose ships are to be seen at every Oriental harbor from Vladivostok to Singapore as well as at San Francisco and Seattle. Though the Osakans are building mammoth harbor works of their own, much of their trade still goes through the neighboring seaport of Kobe, on the same bay. Kobe is a smaller city but had the advantage of an earlier and larger foreign settlement and a roadstead less obstructed by sand bars. The region's an important missionary center, there being numerous [illegible] in the neighborhood. It lies at one end of the far-famed scenic fairyland known as the Inland Sea.

While the world at large knows Osaka as a manufacturing and shipping city of first magnitude, in Japanese eyes it has another significance of scarcely less importance. Together with Tokyo it is the seat of Japanese big-league wrestling, where the champions of the eastern and western parts of the empire meet for a fight to the finish before crowds which would do credit to Madison Square.

Medieval Castle Wreathed in Smoke

Japanese wrestlers are giants, over six feet in height and weighing from 200 to 300 pounds. They fight naked save for their tight wrestler's belt, and go for a quick throw, rather than play for time. They wear their hair in a topknot, and squatting opposite each other at the beginning of a match give the appearance of a couple of giant bullfrogs. Many pairs of contestants will meet in one afternoon's entertainment. National interest in the great matches runs high, only to be compared in America with enthusiasm for big league baseball or prize fighting. The sport has been fostered by the highest patronage in the land for generations and a well-known wrestler receives a wide ovation. Especially is he a hero with the geisha, in whose social class he is placed.

Osaka castle's a romantic link with older days before the call of industrialism drew thither almost overnight countless thousands of busy toilers. The castle dates from feudal times, and its walls are impressive in their gigantic masonry, still retaining the artistic lines of old Japan. Interior buildings were destroyed by a revolutionary fire. The great shell of the ancient stronghold dominates from its heights the flat monotony of the present industrial city, smoke from whose countless chimneys rises like a kind of incense around this feudal reminder of Japan's earlier days.

Making Life Interesting

A woman whose quarrels in the house were complained of by her landlady in a police court, exclaimed: "If I didn't quarrel with my husband he would think I had gone soft."

Riches Have Wings

Riches oftentimes, if nobody takes them away, take to themselves wings and fly away; and, truly, many a time the undue sparing of them is but letting their wings grow, which makes them ready to fly away.—Leighton.

FOOD ON THE FARM

"Yes, he is very thin, but he sure gets good food 'cause we live on a farm" might have been the response of any of the 500 mothers recently attending the Well Child Pre-School Conferences in the rural districts of the State.

The general trend of the conversation dealing with the nutritional history is about as follows—"Milk—oh, yes, we have cows and we keep a quart out every day for cooking and for the three children to drink. Further discussion usually adds more astonishing facts. For instance, the nutritionist hears that the child on the farm must have fried potatoes, doughnuts and coffee for his breakfast, that he needs meat at least twice a day, and that home-made bread is always made with white flour.

With these facts before her the nutritionist attempts tactfully to enlighten the mother, who, in the majority of cases, is intensely interested and most eager to learn. Soon she is quite willing to see the relation of poor quality food to undernourishment, the significance of eating for teeth and the importance of regular habits and systematic routine in running the body machine.

"Farm food" is hardly synonymous with "good food," but continual education along nutritional lines will, in time, make it so.

NATION WIDE INTEREST IN $50,000 PRIZE CONTEST FOR LAUNDRY LETTERS

This week the paper carries an announcement by the New England Laundries, Inc. of their part in the big nation wide letter writing contest that is being sponsored by the Laundryowners' National Association.

The chance to win a share in $50,000 with an additional chance at 12,000 other valuable awards sounds like real money in the family purse. The subject is "Why the Laundry Should Do My Washing."

The first prize is $10,000; 2nd, $5,000; 3rd, $2,000; 4th, $1,250; 5th, $1,000; 6th, $700; 7th, $500; 8th, $400; 9th, $250; 10th, $100. In addition to these national prizes, the 10 best essays in each of the 48 States and in Canada will win prizes as follows: 1st, $225; 2nd, $125; 3rd, $100; 4th, $50; 5th, $35; 6th, $25; 7th, $20; 8th, $10; 9th, $5; 10th, $5.

The contest begins Oct. 1 and closes at midnight Dec. 1. Letters should be addressed to Competition Judges, Century Building, Indianapolis, Ind. Letters should be limited to 300 words.

The New England Laundries, Inc., hope to have the distinction of numbering some of their customers among the prize winners, and will be glad to help any of our readers, whether customers or not, giving them full information about the details of the contest.

MISS YETTER SURPRISED

Miss Jane Yetter of 42 Sheridan circle, daughter of Mrs. Catherine Yetter, was tendered a surprise party last Friday evening at her home by a group of girl friends, the arrangements being in charge of Miss Mary Dolan of Border street and Miss Elizabeth Powers of Main street.

Miss Yetter, who is to enter the training school at the Winchester Hospital, was presented with a purse of gold on behalf of the gathering by Miss Dolan. About 75 guests were present.

During the evening vocal selections were rendered by Miss Mae O'Connell, Miss Catherine Yetter and Miss Hilda Shea with Miss Margaret Kerrigan of Woburn as accompanist. Dainty refreshments were served.

GRANADA THEATER

Adolph Menjou in his new screen hit "Service for Ladies" is the attraction now playing at the Granada Theater in Malden. In "Service for Ladies" Menjou is once more in Paris which serves so perfect a background for his portrayals, but his heroine is an American girl, who, meeting him outside the hotel where he is employed, considers his dress the mark of a gentleman of her own class. He does not disillusion her and the succeeding complications supply Menjou with a high speed light comedy plot that gives him another excellent opportunity for one of his deft characterization which have made him so popular in the film world. Winter sports in the Swiss Alps, including a tobaggan ride down the swiftest slide in the world and a spectacular ice carnival provide the backgrounds for a part of this picture which Menjou declares is the best he has ever made. Kathryn Carver, the future Mrs. Menjou, plays opposite the star. The usual five-act program of vaudeville will also be offered at the Granada today and Saturday.

Thomas Meighan, the star who never fails to pack the house, comes to the Granada for three days starting next Monday in his new picture, "We're All Gamblers." It's a great story. It shows the star as a youngster at the start—a waif on a New York dock who is picked up by a policeman and taken in by a kindly woman as her son. By the time he reaches manhood he is a contender for the heavyweight championship, a celebrity who stirs the interest of an aristocratic woman. The early scenes of the fight, an auto accident and scenes of East Side life are tense and exciting. The night club's New Year celebration brings about a thrilling climax to one of the most thoroughly entertaining films in which Thomas Meighan has appeared. Marietta Miller and Cullen Landis appear in support of the star. The regular five act bill of big time vaudeville will also be shown the first half of next week.

Howard Smith of Ridge street, a member of the baseball and basketball teams at the Winchester High School for the past two seasons, left on Monday for Hanover, N. H., where he is enrolled in the freshman class at Dartmouth.

HEBREWS OBSERVED MEMORIAL SUNDAY

It is estimated by the police that about 15,000 automobiles and more than 30,000 people passed through Winchester last Sunday when Jewish residents of the entire district attended Memorial services in the 27 cemeteries of the Montvale section of Woburn. These services are held yearly in connection with the Feast of Yom Kippur and attract Hebrews to cemeteries containing the remains of their loved ones all over the world.

Chief of Police William R. McIntosh made special provisions to handle the unusual motor traffic which the visitation always entails and the men of his department kept things moving smoothly throughout the day. Chief McIntosh reported that not so many are reaching the cemeteries through Winchester as formerly and that there was a noticeable falling off of those who make the trip in trucks. Many motorists who heretofore went to Montvale through town now go via the Fellsways, others reaching the cemeteries through Woburn center and Montvale avenue.

The local police details comprised Sergt. William H. Rogers and Patrolman James Farrell at the cemeteries and the following traffic squad: Officer John Regan, Washington and Forest streets; Officer John Hogan, Swanton and Washington streets; Officer Henry Dempsey at the Catholic Church; Officer John Dempsey at the intersection of Washington and Mt. Vernon streets and Officer John Noonan in the sentry box in the square. Sergt. Thomas Cassidy was also in the center and Motorcycle Officer Edward O'Connell patrolled Washington street during the rush hours.

Only two accidents were reported to the police. David Robinovitz of Elm street, Chelsea, was struck and knocked down on Washington street near the Montvale Cemetery by a Hudson coach operated by Harry B. Koritz of 1258 Blue Hill avenue, Dorchester. Robinovitz was rendered unconscious and was taken in a passing automobile by Officer Farrell to the Winchester Hospital where his injuries were treated. He was at first thought to have been badly hurt, but later reports were more reassuring and he was not thought to be in any danger the first of the week.

The second accident took place on Highland avenue at Mt. Vernon street when a Nash sedan driven by H. S. Kimball of Elizabeth, N. J., collided with a "Boston" taxi driven by S. Shane of Boston. Both machines were damaged but no one was hurt.

WINCHESTER BOYS ON MAINE PREP SCHOOL GRID SQUAD

Three Winchester boys, former well known high school athletes, are among the squad of candidates for the football team reporting this fall at East Maine Conference Seminary, Bucksport, Me. Francis Tansey, Charles Cassidy and Flavio Rolli are the local players who will strive for fame on the Bucksport gridiron, and all are expected to be retained upon the varsity squad.

"Charlie" Cassidy played a first string tackle at Conference a year ago and is a favorite for his old position despite stern competition. The big boy was one of the smoothest working linemen in the Mystic Valley League ranks when representing Winchester two years ago and was good last fall.

Tansey, who is best known as a crack southpaw pitcher is a candidate for football at Conference for the first time this fall, though he was the mainstay of the school's pitching staff last spring. He was a sweet running back while a member of Winchester's last championship eleven in 1922. He is trying out for an end position where his basketball experience should stand him in excellent stead.

"Wop" Rolli, the last of the trio, is a candidate for quarterback and will probably be retained as a regular signal barker. He is very fast and is a dangerous open field runner. He got plenty of backfield experience while in high school and at Higgins a year ago.

The Bucksport eleven is being coached this year by Krum ex Springfield College star, and its schedule lists games with Kents Hill School, Coburn Academy and the freshman teams of Bowdoin, Maine and Colby.

BAD NEWS TRAVELS FAST

The truth may be stranger than fiction but it is much slower getting to its destination. We offer the following in support of our contention.

Tuesday about noon time several people entered the Star Office to learn the identity of the little boy who had been run over in or near the center. The exact spot varied with the individual as did the extent of the child's injuries, the latter fluctuating from serious to fatal, according to the number of tongues which had spread the bad news.

Finding no policeman in the traffic box we felt that there might be something in the story and hastened to Headquarters where we were informed that Robert, the small son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Foley of 36 Middlesex street, had run from the sidewalk in front of the Town Hall against the fender of a passing automobile and had been knocked down.

The little boy had been picked up and as a precautionary measure taken to the hospital where he was examined by Dr. R. W. Sheehy. No injuries being found he had been taken to his home. With a sigh of relief we returned to our speculation as to the outcome of the race in the National League. You just can't beat "old kid" Rumor.

Miss Katherine Carlisle of this town, one of the finest girl athletes developed at the local high school in recent years, returned to Wheaton College Tuesday. During her high school days "Kay" won letters in field hockey, basketball and tennis, and last year continued her athletic success at college.

Fastest Four in America Proves Its Claim to Title

Dodge Averages 67.35 miles per hour in Beating All Other Fours in Atlantic City A. A. A. Race

The Atlantic City (N.J.) Speedway Association, without Dodge Brothers instigation or knowledge, bought a Dodge Brothers Four and entered it in a Labor Day race for Four cylinder stock cars. Four cars of other makes also competed. All were strictly stock cars as required by the rules of the association.

The race was for 25 miles—to determine which was "The Fastest Four in America."

The Dodge won.

Its average speed for the entire race, from a standing start, was 67.35 miles per hour (officially timed by A. A. A.).

Generous confirmation, to say the least, of the modest claim of "Mile-a-minute Performance!"

Even more remarkable than the speed, however, is the fact that the car had been driven only 10 days and yet was able to withstand this difficult test without once stopping.

Thus the race not only offers conclusive proof of the Dodge's superiority in speed, but stands also as a glowing tribute to the rugged materials and excellent workmanship that go to make it—

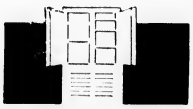
ELECTRICITY—
Ready to Serve You!



Refrigeration—Electricity in your home puts the enjoyment of electrical refrigeration at your service. This pure, dry cold keeps food fresh for days at a time, freezes dainty desserts, and supplies cubes of ice for beverages.

Ironing—You can have an electric iron ready to serve you at an instant's notice, when your home is wired for electricity. Iron what you want, when you wish to, and do it in the economical way—electrically.

Washing—Electric washing and ironing machines have made "Blue Monday" a thing of the past in the American home. Their convenience, ease of operation and economy are a blessing to the housewife whose home is wired for electricity.

Cleaning—The electric vacuum cleaner is making housework more rapidly and easily accomplished in thousands of homes which are wired for electricity. With all its attachments the cleaner is, in reality, a servant that costs very little.

Ventilation—Everybody realizes how enjoyable an electric fan is during hot weather. You can have fans, too, to keep you cool and comfortable, and give you plenty of fresh, pure, health-giving air—at a very small cost.

Electricity means more today than merely illumination. It furnishes comfort and convenience that make the home more enjoyable and household duties more quickly and easily accomplished.

Think of being able to "plug in" to a handy "convenience outlet"—and have the pleasures of electrical refrigeration, cooking and labor-saving devices ready to serve you at an instant's notice. Electricity is yours to use—at a small cost.

That's why you should investigate home wiring—and learn about the new economical rate for electrical refrigeration and cooking.

Electricity is waiting to serve you—to increase your enjoyment of life—to make your property more valuable.

Have a Contractor Wire Your Home

GET in touch with your local Electrical Contractor. Tell him what you want and he will show you just how reasonably your house can be wired—how he will install new wiring—or increase your present installations to accommodate any new services you desire. He will tell you how it is possible, in many cases, to purchase your wiring and fixtures on easy monthly payments. He knows his job and he will help you in every way he can to get your share of electricity's benefits. Why not make it a point to see him today—before it slips your mind?

Cooking—The advantages of cooking by electricity are many. Smoke, soot, flame, and ashes are avoided, and dishes are prepared more quickly, with less effort. Electric Ranges are efficient, simple to operate, and economical in power consumption.

Illumination—More artistic and better illumination is yours when your house is wired. Hundreds of attractive lamps are awaiting your choice. Their cost is small—the beauty and comfort they bring to your home is great, indeed.

Convenience Outlets enable you to attach your electric appliances where most convenient. When your house is properly equipped with these handy little plates, your appliances will work for you wherever you desire to "plug them in."

At Breakfast—Electric percolators, toasters, waffle irons, and other appliances which function right at the table, make breakfast a delight in the home which has electricity. All of these devices are convenient, serviceable, and economical.

Light—In every corner, just where you want it. Down cellar, or in dark closets, an electric light will rob the dark of its danger. When your home is wired, you can have every nook and corner flooded with light to use when you need it.

THE EDISON ELECTRIC ILLUMINATING COMPANY OF BOSTON

DISABLED VETERANS WELFARE GROUP

The Disabled Veterans Welfare Group of Winchester met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William Breen on the Parkway.

Reports of the summer activities were read by the secretary, Mrs. Ivan C. Cove. These showed that regular weekly visits had been made to the West Roxbury Hospital throughout the summer at which time fruit, candy and cigarettes were always carried to the boys. A picnic had been given at the residence of Mrs. Burton L. Gale at Nahant in August; an outing had been provided at Franklin Park and under the direction of Mrs. George Dutting nine of the boys who are pathetically invalided were taken to Lowes State Theatre. As these boys had not attended a theatre in four and six years their pleasure in this entertainment may well be imagained.

During the summer months frequent motor trips were made possible for small groups of men through the courtesy of several members of the group.

Mrs. Miller reported that her mother was busy making afghans and that she had five completed ones on hand.

Mrs. Charles Forey reported that she had solicited materials from G. A. R. chapters throughout the State and that she had received donations of yarns from 40 chapters. She brought several attractive afghans to to the meeting that the ladies might see the possibilities to be found in bits of discarded worsteds, old sweaters, scarfs and the like.

Plans were perfected for a luncheon bridge to be held at the home of Mrs. Ernest Dudley Chase, 3 Lakeview terrace on Wednesday, Oct. 19, at 1 o'clock, the proceeds to be used to carry on the work through the winter.

Mrs. Dutting, the treasurer, reported that $25 had been donated to the West Roxbury Hospital for their athletic fund.

Following the business meeting tea was served by the hostess assisted by Mesdames E. Hawes Kelly, Hollis Riddle, R. K. Miller, George Dutting, Margaret Carlisle, Florence Kerrison, Mae R. Hoey, F. B. Cole.

Mrs. Walter W. Chamberlin and Mrs. Mae R. Hoey poured.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

Next week at the University is a banner week with Thomas Meighan in his new picture, "We're All Gamblers" and Douglas McLean in "Soft Cushions." These two pictures are on the same program for four days beginning Sunday. "We're All Gamblers" is Meighan's greatest since his famous "The Miracle Man." Douglas McLean needs no introduction to a University audience.

For the last three days of the week the program is equally strong with Betty Compson and Kenneth Harlan in the screen version of the famous Broadway stage hit, "Cheating Cheaters" and Tom Mix in, "The Circus Ace." "Cheating Cheaters" is a clever mixture of tense drama and highly hilarious fun. It is a story of two bands of "high hat" crooks bent on cheating each other. "The Circus Ace" is Tom Mix as his best with his famous side partner "Tony," the wonder horse. The show is continuous, 2-10:30 daily and 3 to 10:30 on Sunday.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Rowe who have been summering at Saco, Me., returned to town this week.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Ives and family have opened their house on Highland avenue after spending the summer at Annisquam.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lewis of Maxwell road returned Monday from a two weeks' motor trip to Maine.

Superintendent Harry Dotten of the Water Department reports an interesting sight which he saw last Sunday afternoon while at the gate house at the Town's water system in the Fells. Shortly before the storm broke about 25 wild geese alighted in the reservoir, apparently having been driven inland by the threatening weather. The big birds evinced the keenest pleasure in the fresh water, ducking and splashing about for some time before making off up the pond. Mr. Dotten was obliged to make considerable noise while at the gate house but the geese were unusually fearless, remaining in his immediate neighborhood, though fully conscious of his presence, until they had finished their swim.

Mr. and Mrs. William K. Denison of Fletcher street have returned from Peterboro, N. H.

Mrs. E. B. Page arrived home this week from Castine, Me.

Mrs. F. L. Ripley has returned to her home on Wedgemere avenue after spending the summer at Marblehead.

DAYLIGHT SAVING ENDS SUNDAY

Daylight saving ends on Sunday morning for another year, and a return to Eastern standard time will become effective. Clocks should be moved back one hour Saturday night, although according to clock makers, clocks should be stopped for one hour rather than moved back. A new train schedule will go into effect on the change of time. A list of places where new timetables may be secured is printed elsewhere.

Miss Nellie Lahan will have a Fall and Winter opening of Millinery and dresses at the Boston Millinery Shop, 372 Main street, Stoneham, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week, Sept. 29, 30 and Oct. 1. Ladies are cordially invited to attend.

MIDDLESEX, SS. PROBATE COURT

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin and all other persons interested in the estate of George S. Eddy late of Winchester in said County, deceased.

WHEREAS a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Joseph [illegible] Eddy and Eleanor F. Reed who pray that letters testamentary may be issued to them, the executors therein named, without giving a surety on their official bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge in said County of Middlesex, on the third day of October A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioners are hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in The Winchester Star a newspaper published in Winchester the last publication to be one day, at least, before said Court, and by mailing post-paid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, JOHN C. LEGGAT, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this tenth day of September in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven.

Insects Resist Fumigation

A great variation has been found in the resistance of different species of insects to carbon disulphide fumigation. In a saturated atmosphere of disulphide at about 90 degrees Fahrenheit, a bumblebee will die in a few seconds, while the saw-toothed grain beetle will live two hours.

FAIRMOUNT PARK

Situated on the West Side of Winchester off of Cambridge Street nearly opposite Calumet Road. A tract of 20 lots of land varying in size from 7000 to 12,000 square feet in area. Every lot affords a beautiful panoramic view of the most attractive part of the town. In addition to the four houses already erected thereon, the Fairmount Associates have purchased five uncompleted houses adjoining their property at a mortgagees sale. This in order not only to conserve the high type of construction originally planned for this tract, but more particularly to control the disposition of these houses, in order to maintain the high class neighborhood to which we set out to create. These aforesaid five houses are nearing completion and will be offered to satisfactory parties at reasonable prices and possibly one or two of these houses may be obtained for rent.

JAMES WRIGHT CAMERON

James Wright Cameron, numbered among Winchester's residents of longest standing, died last Friday evening at the Winchester Hospital after a two weeks' illness.

Mr. Cameron was born in Dalhousie, N. B., 79 years ago, the son of William and Sarah Little (Wright) Cameron. As a child his parents came to Winchester and the deceased had since made his home here, winning during an active lifetime the respect and liking of a host of friends. Mr. Cameron was deeply interested in the work of the First Congregational Society and for some 20 years served as a member of the Board of Deacons of that church. He was also a member of Aberjona Council, Royal Arcanum.

About eight years ago he retired from active business and had lately made his home with his daughter, Mrs. Henry W. Laman, at 7 Kenwin road. Aside from Mrs. Laman his only survivor is a son, Arthur H. Cameron of this town.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon from the late residence and were conducted by Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the First Congregational Church. Rev. John H. Whitley, pastor of the Second Congregational Church, also spoke briefly of Mr. Cameron's life and work in the community. The hymns, "Abide With Me" and "Safe in the Arms of Jesus," were sung by Mrs. Helen Edlefson Barr. Arthur W. Hale, Franklin E. Barnes, Frank E. Rowe and Edward A. Bigelow, all of Winchester, were bearers. Interment was in the family lot at Wildwood Cemetery.

MARGARET THERESA BREEN

Margaret Theresa Breen, wife of John J. Breen of 35 Irving street, died shortly after midnight Monday morning at her home, following an illness of eight weeks.

Mrs. Breen was a native of Ireland, but came to this country as a young girl. For the past 30 years she had made her home in Winchester, enjoying a wide circle of acquaintances and friends.

In 1896 she was married in Arlington to John J. Breen who survives her with two daughters, Margaret Theresa Breen and Mary Agnes Breen, and two sons, James Joseph Breen and Patrick M. Breen, all of Winchester. A sister, Mrs. Katherine Guthrie of Jamaica Plain, and a brother, Daniel Barry of Brookline, also survive.

Funeral services were held from the late residence on Thursday morning with a solemn requiem high mass in St. Mary's Church at 9 o'clock. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

WEDDING ANNOUNCED

Miss Ruth Frances Hamilton Clarkson of 60 Fenway, Boston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Clarkson, and Ernest Arthur Tutein, Jr. of this town, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Arthur Tutein of Wildwood street, were united in marriage Saturday, Sept. 24, in the Unitarian Church by the pastor, Rev. George Hale Reed, according to returns filed at the Town Hall.

Mr. Michael J. Connolly of Clark street spent the week-end at the Weirs.

Miss Mary DeLoriea of Sheridan circle was the guest of her sister at the Weirs over the week-end.

C. D. OF A. NOTES

The "show" which was to have been held on the second meeting night in October has been postponed until the second meeting in November. This has been arranged because our director is unable to take charge of the show because of illness in her family.

Instead of the show in October we will have the annual roll call and harvest supper. This meeting will be for members only.

In the very near future Sister Mollie Maguire will entertain at bridge, the proceeds to be added to the Christmas fund of the charity committee. She will be assisted by Sister Anne Poland.

At the regular meeting on next Thursday evening the Court will decide on the details of the course which it is to sponsor under the direction of the State Department of University Extension. Two very attractive courses are offered for our consideration, one in interior decorating and one in applied art, which covers the making and decorating of handkerchiefs, scarfs, pillows, fire screens, lamp shades, wall decorations, etc. Miss Betsy McCausland, who gives this course, is favorably known to many of us who have taken courses under her supervision and we look forward to a most profitable six weeks of work. It is anticipated, too, that this course will be open to non-members of the Court as so many were disappointed last year at being unable to take the course under Miss Bustin. Those who enter this course will have their projects completed in time for Christmas. The charge will be $2 or $3 and application blanks may be had of Grand Regent Minnie O'Connor or P. G. R. Elizabeth C. McDonald.

We will be delighted to welcome at our fall meetings two or our sisters who have been enjoying vacations, Sister Katharine O'Connor at Stoughton and Sister Mollie Maguire at Derry, N. H.

Congratulations are being extended this week to Sister Josephine O'Brien of Water street who is at the Winchester Hospital where she and the new arrival, John Jr., are doing well.

FALL RALLY OF UNIVERSITY WOMEN

An open meeting of all University Women will be held on Saturday, Oct. 8 at 3 p. m. at Bertram Hall, Radcliffe College. The speakers will be Miss Ada Comstock, President of Radcliffe and Miss Mary E. Motley, President of Mt. Holyoke College. A large attendance is desired. Tea will be served and an opportunity given to inspect the new dormitories. All college women are welcome whether members of the Boston Branch or not. For further information call Winchester 0201.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

Marriage intentions have been filed with the Town Clerk this week as follows:

Daniel Joseph Sullivan of 33 Sanford street, Melrose, and Catherine Veronica Dirrane of 58 Yale street.

Paul Joseph Powers of 2 Watson place and Emerence Mabel Morin of 18 Marlboro street, Malden.

Daniel Doherty of 19 Winter street, Arlington, and Rose Ann McDevitt of 246 Highland avenue.

WINCHESTER ELKS TO HOLD OUTING AND FIELD DAY

Plans are practically completed for the big outing and field day which Winchester Lodge of Elks is to hold at Martin's Grove, Billerica, on Sunday, Oct. 9. This being the first of such affairs which the local body has sponsored, no effort has been spared by the committee in arranging to make it a real red letter day in the lives of the Winchester "Bills."

A big program of sports will be run off, commencing at 11 o'clock in the morning. Included are candle, bag, pipe, 3-legged, fat men's, sack, shoe, potato and nipple races and quoit contests as well as a 50-yard dash, relay race for married and single men, tug-o-war and ball game. Worth while prizes for first and second place winners are available and from the way the entries are pouring in large fields are assured.

Chief Steward Everett Hambly and his famous board of "stews" are making what they refuse to regard as rash promises. They are promising steamed clams for all with a bang-up clam chowder at 2 p. m. and a continuous buffet lunch, table d'hote service.

Judging by the advance interest in the affair nearly the entire membership of the lodge will attend the outing, which will be held on the following Sunday should the weather prove unfavorable on Oct. 9. Buses are to leave the center at 10 a. m. for those who desire transportation, returning at 5 p. m. The party is to be exclusively for Elks with P.E.R. Fred Clement and Dr. J. H. O'Connor, secretary, heading the committee in charge of the arrangements.

WINCHESTER NURSES TO BE GUESTS OF BOSTON ELKS

Members of the nursing staff at the Winchester Hospital, through the courtesy of P. E. R. Fred Clement, have been extended an invitation to participate in "Appreciation Night" which the Boston Lodge of Elks is sponsoring in its new three million dollar home on the evening of Thursday, Oct. 6, from 8 until 12 o'clock, for nurses attached to hospitals in Boston and greater Boston.

"Appreciation Night" was conceived by Boston Lodge, as a testimonial, and to make some slight return for the services rendered its members by nurses in the many hospitals throughout the district. The festivities are to take place in the big ball room of the Elks' Home where a splendid entertainment will precede dancing to the strain of a 10-piece orchestra. Each nurse receiving a ticket will be privileged to bring an escort and will be presented with a handsome souvenir of the occasion.

P. E. R. Clement, while visiting Boston Lodge recently, learned of "Appreciation Night" and bespoke an invitation for the local nurses. The Visiting Sick Committee of the in-town body was more than glad to have the Winchester girls as their guests. The whole affair promises to be very much worth while and is just another indication of the Elks' desire to spread a ray of sunshine wherever possible.

UNITARIAN NOTES

At the Sunday morning service the pastor, Mr. Reed, will preach. His subject will be, "Something to Draw With."

The Sunday School will begin its fall term on next Sunday. It will be Rally Sunday and everyone who has been or is now connected with the School is urged to be present. This will also be the first opportunity for the young people to greet Miss Jones who is acting this year as Director of young people's activities.

The special meeting of the Church Society which will be held next Wednesday evening is, in some respects, the most important meeting which the church has held in recent years. At that time it will be decided whether the society will make the necessary plans for a Parish House. Needless to say a very large attendance is desired. The meeting will be at 8 o'clock, but at 6:30 the Men's Club will serve a supper. Tickets for this supper, which should be purchased before next Monday, may be obtained from Mr. Wm. B. Wood or from Mr. George B. Cumings.

WINCHESTER GIRLS PLAY AT WELLESLEY

Winchester High School girls' field hockey team will open its schedule this afternoon when it will play Wellesley High School at Wellesley. In response to a request from the Wellesley management Coach Priscilla Wheeler will take two full teams to the college town, each to play a half of the game.

The local stating lineup will include Grace Boyle, cf; Esther Mills, ri; Deborah Gilbert, rw; Ruth Humphrey, li; Nancy Bradley, lw; Edith Dinneen, chb; Helen Wells, rhb; Grunhild Nelson, lhb; Barbara Guild, rfb; Helen Wilde, lfb; Barbara Kibbee, g; Mary Cutter, Dot Johnson and Frances Rhodes, subs.

Starting the second half will be a team containing the veteran letter players of a year ago as follows: Jean Davis, cf; Frances Pettingell, ri; Dot McKenzie, rw; Virginia Merrill, li; Theresa Colucii, lw; Captain Marie Merrill, chb; Mary Reed, rhb; Louise Packer, lhb; Caroline Nichols, rfb; Joy Adriance, lfb; Anna Dolan, g; Helen Graves, Mary Whittaker and Priscilla Jones, subs.

Jurors from the Superior Court visited the center Wednesday noon to view conditions at the railroad crossing in connection with a suit brought against the Boston & Maine by a former Winchester woman. The latter is said to claim damages for injuries received as a result of striking one of the crossing gates due to alleged improper lighting.

FRANK A. CUTTING

Frank Alexis Cutting, aged 72, prominent among the older residents of the town, and at the height of his career one of the leading New England dealers in tan bark, died Saturday night, Sept. 24, at his home, 91 Mystic Valley Parkway, after a brief illness. He had been for some years in failing health but had continued his attention to business and had been at his Boston office two weeks before his death.

Mr. Cutting was born at Washington, N. H., Aug. 16, 1855, the son of Alexis C. and Esther R. (Hill) Cutting. He attended school at Lebanon, N. H., and continued his education in the local schools, coming to Winchester with his parents when 16 years of age. The Cutting homstead was the house on Washington street now occupied by Winchester Post, American Legion.

With his father Mr. Cutting grew up in the business of buying and selling tan bark to leather tanneries throughout the Mystic Valley and in other sections of the State. Their plant in those days was on the site of what is now the town playground, Manchester Field. When 20 years old he went to Canada where he remained for nine years as a shipper of hemlock bark. Later he became a lumber operator in St. Lawrence County, Northern New York, and continued to do a thriving bark business until the general adoption of chemicals in the tanning of leather. During much of his life in Winchester he made his home on Oak Knoll near Symmes corner.

Although his opportunity was scant, due to business pressure, Mr. Cutting nevertheless served the town as a member of several committees, but was perhaps most widely known through his long association with the Winchester Trust Company. He was an incorporator and vice president of the old Middlesex County National Bank, under which name the local institution commenced business June 1, 1897. When Hon. Lewis Parkhurst resigned as president in June, 1900, Mr. Cutting succeeded him, continuing until the national bank closed its doors June 30, 1913, to become the Winchester Trust Company on the next day. He continued to serve the trust company as president and director until 1922 when he resigned. He was a life member and past president of the Calumet Club, a member of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, Boston City Club and of the New York State Forestry Association. His fraternal affliations included membership in William Parkman Lodge of Masons of this town.

June 8, 1881, at Waterloo, Quebec, Mr. Cutting married Anna Mary Shaw, who died in 1915. He is survived by three daughters. Mrs. Clifford O. Mason, Mrs. Clinton K. Seymour and Mrs. Rufus C. Clark, all of Winchester; by two sons, Spencer A. Cutting of North Lawrence, N. Y., and Robert H. Cutting of Rome, N. Y., and by 13 grandchildren. A sister, Mrs. George B. Cole of Winchester, also survives him.

Simple funeral services were conducted at the late residence Tuesday afternoon by the Rev. George Hale Reed, pastor of the Unitarian Church. Spencer A. Cutting and Robert H. Cutting, sons of the deceased; George W. Blanchard of Portland, Me., a brother-in-law; Sidney C. Blanchard, a nephew, and two son-in-laws, Rufus C. Clark and Clifford O. Mason served as bearers. Burial was in Wildwood Cemetery.

MANY GRADUATES OF LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL TO ATTEND COLLEGES

Twenty-one members of last year's senior class at the Winchester High School have matriculated at 14 colleges and universities scattered throughout New England and New York State, according to an announcement made public by Principal Wade L. Grindle this week. While this number is not so great as that of the graduating class a year ago, which was exceptional, it is considered very good for a high school of Winchester's size. It is significant that once again no pupil recommended by the school as capable of doing college work failed of admittance through scholastic deficiency.

Three of last June's graduates made notable records in their entrance examinations at Harvard. Richard Hildreth, who was admitted under the old plan, was awarded highest honors in mathematics and honors in physics. Charles Smith and Daniel Dennett, who entered under the new plan, were also honor men. Smith won highest honors in Latin and Physics and honors in United States history, while Dennett had honors in English, Latin, European History and Physics.

The complete list of pupils entering college with their institutions follows: Edward Berry, Norwich University; Frederic Cobb, Northeastern University; Daniel Dennett, Harvard College; Richard Dow, Colby College; Frederick Hamerstrom, Dartmouth College; Richard Hildreth, Harvard College; Ruth Hollins, Boston University; Virginia Hurd, Simmons College; Nelson Latremore, Boston University; Elizabeth Livingstone, University of Maine; William Martin, Colby College; Doris McElwain, Boston University; Anna Pistorino, College of New Rochelle; Charles Smith, Harvard College; Howard Smith, Dartmouth College; Thad Smith, Dartmouth College; Avard Walker, Aurora College; William Walker, Cornell University—College of Engineering; Florence Watters, Skidmore College; Robert Williams, Amherst; Elizabeth Woodbury, Brown University.

Mr. F. Percyval Lewis has started his taking of the annual school census.

ANGIE V. MEEK

Angie V Meek, wife of Charles E Meek and a former widely known Winchester girl, passed away Wednesday morning at her home, 49 Alpine street, Arlington, following an illness of more than a year.

Mrs. Meek was born in Winchester 33 years ago, the daughter of Police Lieutenant and Mrs. John A. Harrold. She was educated in the public schools and for a time following her graduation was employed in Thompson's Spa, Boston, where she became a universal favorite with its many patrons. Later she entered, and was graduated from the training school for nurses at the Winchester Hospital, having been a member of its alumnae association.

Besides her husband and parents, Mrs. Meek is survived by a son, Warren; a step-daughter, Eleanor; by four sisters, Mrs. John Sullivan and Mrs. Charles Farrar of Winchester, Mrs. William Nostrum of Arlington and Mrs. Charles Ekert of New York City, and by three brothers, John F., Charles J. and Norman Harrold, all of Winchester.

Funeral services were held this Friday morning from the late residence, followed by a solemn high mass of requiem in St. Mary's Church, Winchester. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

WINCHESTER TO MEET READING TOMORROW

Winchester High will play its first home football game of the 1927 season tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock when it will meet Reading High School on Manchester Field.

Coach Mansfield has been working his charges hard all week, following their easy victory over Stoneham last Saturday, expecting a much more severe test from the husky Reading eleven. Reading had an off day last Saturday and its players were all on the Stoneham sidelines with a view of getting a line on the local plays. They saw little which could benefit them since Coach Mansfield's boys were pretty much under wraps at Pomeworth street, winning in large measure by taking full advantage of their opponent's mistakes

Tomorrow's game should prove interesting as it will mark the first football engagement with Reading in many years, at least. The writer never recalls a meeting of the two schools upon the gridiron. The visitors were beaten by Medford in their only game of the season but in defeat looked rugged enough to give Winchester plenty of trouble.

Coach Mansfield has announced his tentative lineup for tomorrow as follows: ends, B. Murphy and McNeil or Ross; tackles, A. Amico and Swain; guards, Lynch and Coss; center, G. Amico; quarterback, Taylor; halfbacks, Ghirardini and Captain Knowlton; fullback, Simonds.

WINCHESTER SCRUBS TO PLAY NEWTON

Groups C and D of the high school football squad will play the Newton High School intermediates next Friday afternoon, Oct. 7, on Manchester Field at 3 o'clock. Coach Mansfield has one of the largest squads in the history of the school playing football this fall and means to give everyone a chance to get the experience which comes from actual competition with real opposition. Many of the new men at high school are showing unusual promise and with a chance to get the "feel" of the game should be able to fill the many gaps which graduation will cause on his season's varsity.

A CHANCE TO VISIT OUR RESERVOIRS

The Winchester Water and Sewer Board, through the courtesy of the Metropolitan District Commission, are pleased to extend a most cordial invitation to the inhabitants of Winchester to make a tour of inspection, by automobile, of the domestic water supply of our town.

This last spring practically completed the setting of 300,000 evergreen trees during the past nine years.

It is well worth the trip to note the great advantage in sanitation, conservation and preservation of this remarkable water supply.

This invitation is for Saturday, Oct. 15, between 1 and 5 p. m. entering via Mt. Vernon street and the Parkway and following direction as noted by signs, etc. Men of the Water Department will act as guides.

ORGAN RECITAL AT FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Sunday at 5 O'clock

Mr. Clair Leonard, the organist of the First Congregational Church will give an organ recital Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

Canzona in D Minor . . . Bach
Chorale in A Minor . . . Franck
Choralim Provisationen . . . Karg-Elert
"Jesu, Hilf Siegen"
"Nach Einer Prüfung"
Finale From Concerto X . . . Handel

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. George Thomas Burnham of this town have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Bertha Palmer Burnham to Guy S. Chamberlaine of New York City, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Metcalf Chamberlaine of Newark, N. J. Miss Burnham and her fiance attended the New England Conservatory of Music. The wedding will take place in the spring.

Tea, under the direction of Mrs. J. Harper Blaisdell.

Members are cordially invited to bring guests.

POLITICAL OBSERVATIONS FROM ABROAD

Mrs. Alonzo Woodside, who recently returned from a year's study at the Royal Frederick University of Oslo, Norway, has been asked to speak at the opening meeting of the Women's Republican Club of Winchester next Wednesday afternoon.

From first-hand information she will briefly tell why the Prohibition Amendment was defeated in Norway, which action occurred during her stay there; and also touch on the "Reds" situation in Europe from a short-range view.

Among the many advantages Mrs. Woodside enjoyed while abroad as a Fellow of the American-Scandinavian Foundation University Exchange was the use of a press ticket to all sessions of Parliament. She also acted as a special press correspondent at the International Chamber of Commerce Convention.

"GO-TO-CHURCH SUNDAY"

Next Sunday is to be observed as "Go-to-Church" Sunday at the First Baptist Church in accordance with the suggestion of the Greater Boston Federation of Churches. In fact, it is to be quite generally observed as such througout the United States.

Rev. Herbert S. Johnson, D.D. of Boston, considered one of the foremost preachers in America, and who is supplying the church, will be the preacher at both services. His morning topic will be, "The Tyranny of the Ten Commandments" which will be a very appropriate theme for these times. His evening topic will be, "The Graveyard in Plymouth, Vermont" which is an address resulting from a visit to the Coolidge family burial lot in Plymouth, Vermont. There will be special music at both the morning and evening services.

It is hoped that every member of the church and congregation and many others who have no church home in Winchester will take advantage of this special Sunday with its special services.

BAPTIST SUNDAY SCHOOL ADDRESSED BY CLARENCE DeMAR

The Sunday School of the First Baptist Church held its Rally Day last Sunday, and was addressed by Clarence DeMar, noted Marathon runner of Melrose.

He chose for his topic, "The Christian Race," and showed quite clearly the striking similarity between a Marathon race and the Christian race. He gave many incidents to illustrate his points and so made his address very interesting to the children and others. He said that many shoe-manufacturers have wanted to make him presents of running shoes, but when he would see them, he would find that they were altogether too heavy, and would have to decline them, for in running, a runner sets aside everything that encumbers him. He also said that a runner gives his whole mind to the business of running and not to those on the side lines. Thus a Christian lays aside all encumbering sins and with mind and heart set on one purpose goes forth in the race of life. There was a large attendance.

OPENING DINNER AT CALUMET

President Walter Brown and his assistants are in readiness to start things at the Calumet Club Saturday night of this week, with a dinner at 6:30 by caterer Fitzgerald of Malden.

Each member is expected to bring a guest and judging by what happened last season, these guests are just as apt as not to either join the club outright or at least become boosters for the organization.

A year ago those present swallowed hook, line and sinker the eminent Scotch newspaper representative, over here in the interest of education and enlightenment on American ways and customs. It was a much discussed dinner and the entertainment committee pulled a nifty, if any one ever did.

While the Scotchman will absolutely not appear this year, there's to be a blank, exponent and explanation artist by the name of Guess Who, famous in the annals of why hair grows on some faces and not on others. This gentleman has the happy faculty of throwing everyone off their guard and does not sell razors or shaving soap of any kind whatsoever.

Speaking of button hooks, Walter Brown told a Star reporter that the speaker of the evening was well known to Charlie Lane and the chances are would unfold an interesting story of why Charlie can catch fish and Doctor Chidley miss them.

All this and more follows the dinner which won't be below Calumet standards for excellence and plenteousness. Then when the laughter subsides, guests and members will enjoy free of charge bowling, billiards, pool, card playing and the other indoor sports.

MILLER—LOVE

Miss Margaret Love, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Love of Woburn, and Francis Miller of this town, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Miller of Arthur street, were quietly united in marriage last Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Scott, 55 Lowell street, Woburn, by the Rev. Luther L. Weller, rector of Trinity Episcopal Church, that city.

The bride wore a gown of navy crepe back satin with picture hat to match and carried a bouquet of bride's roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss May Love of Woburn, who was gowned in navy georgette with picture hat to match and carried Columbia roses. Mr. Miller had for his best man Thomas Cassidy of Woburn.

Following the ceremony the wedding party motored to Boston where a wedding supper was served at a hotel. Upon their return from a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Miller are to make their home at 55 Lowell street, Woburn.

WINCHESTER YOUNG WOMAN ACCEPTS POSITION WITH ENGLISH FIRM

Miss Dorothy M. Pendleton of this town, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Pendleton of Cambridge street, has accepted a position in the educational department of Harrods in England and is to sail on the S.S. Laconia for London, Sunday, Oct. 2. Miss Pendleton formerly held a responsible position with the Boston firm of William Filene's Sons and for the past two years has been at "The Hub" in Baltimore, Md.

Chief of Police William R. McIntosh is enjoying a vacation trip to Baltimore and Washington.

VISITED WINCHESTER IN CROSS COUNTRY JAUNT

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Winn of Euclid avenue had as their guests last Friday and Saturday George Shattuck of Beverly Hills, Cal., and William Guthrie of Hollywood, Cal., recent graduates of a college in California, who following their commencement left on a motor tour of the United States and Canada, the trip being a graduation present to young Shattuck from his father, Forest Shattuck, a former Winchester boy who will be remembered by many of the older residents of the town.

Young Shattuck and his chum, Guthrie, left Los Angeles June 20 for the Canadian Northwest and Lake Louise, returning to Chicago and thence to Montreal, Toronto and Quebec. Motoring down through Maine, the boys arrived in Winchester, Friday, stopping with Mr. Frank Winn, a close personal friend of Forest Shattuck.

Mr. Winn conducted his young guests about town, showing them many points of interest, including the splendid water system, seen while enjoying a tour of inspection of the Fells.

The young travellers left town Saturday for New York from where they will head for Washington, D. C., and Miami, Fla., returning to California by way of Texas and the Grand Canyon.

Forest Shattuck, father of George Shattuck, following his graduation from the Winchester High School and Massachusetts Institute of Technology became an engineer with the Solvay Process. For a time he was stationed at Detroit, Mich. Later he retired and removed to California where he is said to have prospered in the real estate business. His friends in town will be glad to learn of him again, even though a bit indirectly.

WINCHESTER CO-OPERATIVE BANK

NEW LEGION HEAD KNOWN HERE

Edward Elwell Spafford, elected national commander of the American Legion at its Paris convention last Friday and the first naval man to head the veterans' organization, is the brother of Mrs. F. C. Locke of Winthrop street, making his election double interesting to residents of this town.

Commander Spafford, a Vermonter, is a graduate of Annapolis and had risen to the rank of Lieutenant Commander in the Navy before resigning his commission in 1911. At the outbreak of the war he re-inlisted and commanded a destroyer overseas, his war record winning for him the distinguished service medal. He was in command of a destroyer which torpedoed and sunk a German U-boat in the strait of Otranto in the Mediterranean. During his previous service in the navy he was cited for having saved a member of the crew of the old cruiser Washington, now the Seattle, after the man had fallen overboard during a bad gale off Cape Hatteras.

The new commander was elected to head the New York state department of the Legion in 1922 and subsequently served as chairman of the national naval affairs committee. He was endorsed as a candidate for national commander by the New York department last year.

Mrs. Edgar Sherman, who has been visiting with her two children in Winchester, returned yesterday to her home in Charlotte, N. C. Mr. Sherman, who had also been in town, returned to Charlotte two weeks ago.

THE FORTNIGHTLY NEWS

The Rhythmic dancing class under the direction of Mrs. H. T. West begins the first Wednesday in November. Will anyone wishing to join please give her name to some member of the Art Committee as soon as possible.

If any of the Fortnightly members are going through Cambridge, it will be well worth while for them to go to the New Fogg Museum and see especially the Morgan Collection.

The Art Committee is sponsoring a class in Art for boys, under the direction of Mr. Kristjan Magnusson. There will be sketching in the Fells and also work in Mr. Magnusson's studio on Highland avenue. Anyone interested may telephone Mrs. H. T. West Win. 1172 and receive full particulars.

THE WESTERN MISSIONARAY SOCIETY MEETING

The opening meeting of the Western Missionary Society of the First Congregational Church will be held in the small vestry on Thursday, Oct. 6 from 10 to 1. As alterations to the kitchen make it impossible to prepare a luncheon, the ladies are requested to bring a box lunch. Hot coffee will be served. Members are urged to attend as this is the only sewing meeting before the Bazaar on Nov. 10 and 11. Please return any work taken home in June.

Mrs. Dwight W. Cooke (Katherine Fiske) and daughters of Merchantville, N. J., has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Fred A. Bradford of Cambridge street.

WOMAN'S CHRISTIAN TEMPERANCE UNION NOTES

The following paragrapa has been sent to the World League Against Alcoholism by Rev. J. G. Waggoner of the Walnut Street Church of Christ, Canton, Ill.:

"I have just returned home from a three weeks' visit to New York City. I traveled freely from 126th street to Staten Island, including Brooklyn and Coney Island, and did not see but one drunken man. He was in a resident section and about 50 people gathered round him before the police gathered him in. A drunken man must be quite a curiosity in our metropolis. Yet some people try to make themselves and others believe there is as much drunkenness now as before the days of prohibition."

Mrs. Ella A. Boole, national president of the W. C. T. U., at the recent national convention, stated that the national organization would insist on prohibition planks in every political platform.

It is gratifying to note that U. S. Senator Simeon D. Fess, of Ohio, said in a recent interview "That the Republican Party, in his opinion, will go on record at its national convention next year for absolute enforcement of the Volstead Act, and that it will be one of the principal planks in its platform." He feels that the vast majority of the American people want prohibition enforced. All of these demands for modification of the Volstead Act will simply lead to stricter enforcement.

President Coolidge is for absolute enforcement of the prohibition laws. He always has been, but he is for enforcement of all laws and for that reason has not felt that he should take any decided stand for one law over another.

THOMAS J. SMYTHERMAN

Thomas J. Smytherman, aged 78, a former well known resident of this town, passed away Monday morning in Providence, R. I., following an illness of some duration. During his residence in Winchester he was widely known as the proprietor of a grocery store on Swanton street. He left town about 10 years ago and had since made his home in Providence. His wife, Mrs. Margaret Smytherman of Providence, a brother, Lawrence J. Smytherman; and a granddaughter, Mrs. Alexander Hendrickson, both of Winchester, survive him.

Following Mr. Smytherman's death the body was brought to Winchester where funeral services were held Thursday morning from Mrs. Hendrickson's home on Water street. There was a solemn requiem high mass in St. Mary's Church at 10 o'clock. Interment was in Old Calvary, Boston.

St. Mary's School Alumnae are to hold a formal reception and dance on the evening of Thursday, Oct. 13, in Waterfield Hall.

WINCHESTER OUTCLASSED STONEHAM IN FOOTBALL OPENER

Winchester High School opened its 1927 football season auspiciously last Saturday afternoon at Stoneham, when it defeated Stoneham High School on the Pomworth Street grounds, 31—0. The game was by no means as one sided as the figures would seem to indicate and the locals were able to run up their big score by everlastingly playing for the breaks and taking advantage of their opponents mistakes.

Stoneham had a big, rugged team which seemed just a bit stale. Possibly its players were showing the effects of their first game drubbing at the hands of Malden. At all events they were never able to sustain an offensive drive for any length of time and appeared woefully weak against the few passes which Winchester tried during the four periods.

Perhaps this is not to be wondered at since Coach Mansfield's boys showed a couple of overhead thrusts that were corkers, perfectly executed from faked end runs which had the opposition completely fooled. "Archie" Taylor and "Hennie" Knowlton did the throwing with the veteran end, "Barnie" Murphy on the receiving end. In neither case was Murphy threatened by either the Stoneham wing or safety back, and the resulting touchdowns came so easily as to seem mere routine plays.

In the matter of yardage gained through the line the teams were very evenly matched. If anything, Stoneham outrushed the locals, though they were never able to threaten the Winchester goal line. The two Amico boys, "Archa" and "Nuttsey" were in every play, the former blocking two Stoneham punts and the latter one. Not the least encouraging of the game's many features was the work of several of the new players who have yet to earn their letters. Especially good was the game shown at fullback by "Olio" Lee, a freshman, who was very fast into the line and did some good kicking. "Lookie" Knowlton at quarter showed much promise. Francis McHugh and "Herb" Ross were newcomers on the rushline who seemed to know what it was all about.

The day was much too warm for fast football and the game was rather a long drawn out affair. On the whole, however, Winchester's showing was good enough, yet not so good as to give the boys any particular license to let down. The locals' running game was not even fair and defensively the line let Therons and Hamlin through on several occasions for consistent gains. A big crowd viewed the battle and came away with the idea that Coach Mansfield is going to have a club which will take a lot of beating in the race for the Mystic Valley League gonfalon.

The Game

Stoneham kicked off to Winchester, the ball going short to L. Knowlton who ran to Winchester's 35 yard line. In three line bucks Ghirardini and Lee made first down, but here Stoneham braced and three tries at tackle were piled up without gain. Lee kicked but Stoneham was offside on the play and the ball brought back and given to Winchester at midfield, first down. Again the local backs were unable to penetrate the Stoneham frontier and Lee punted, this time high and outside at the Stoneham 45 yard line. At once the heavy Stoneham backs got going and in two rushes Theron and Hamlin ripped off a first down on the Winchester 45 yard marker. On the next play Stoneham fumbled and Ghirardini recovered the ball, running to the Stoneham 25 yard line before being downed. The big back, who has been able to practice only a few days because of illness, was very leg weary and Halwartz was sent in for him, following his dash. Apparently something was sour in the line on the play in question for the ball was brought back and put in play by Stoneham. Ross broke through to nail Theron for a 2 yard loss. A lateral pass made 3 yards and Stoneham recovered its own fumble. After Knowlton had knocked down an attempted forward pass, Theron knifed through the line for a first down on the Winchester 35 yard line as the period ended.

Following a linebuck Stoneham completed a forward pass for a gain of 5 yards, but another forward failed and a lateral pass netted only a yard. Electing to rush on 4th down Stoneham lost the ball at the Winchester 27 yard line. An eleven containing many of the squad's letter men had gone in for Winchester with the new quarter and the veterans were not long in working the ball into a scoring position. After Halwartz and Simonds had failed to make much yardage through the line H. Knowlton punted to midfield. Two rushes netted Stoneham 5 yards before Knowlton knocked down an attempted pass. Stoneham was then penalized 5 yards for stalling and kicked short to Knowlton on the Winchester 35 yard line. "Henny" reversed his field and ran to the Stoneham 5 yard line before he was finally tacked from behind. Here the Stoneham line braced nicely and Winchester needed its full quota of downs before Knowlton plowed over behind "Acha" Amico for the touchdown. The try for goal failed, and Stoneham kicked off to the Winchester 45 yard line as the half ended.

Amico kicked off to start the third period and booted the ball across the goal line. The leather struck a Stoneham man in transit and "Livin" McNeil and Ray Halwartz, who were down the field fast, fell on the ball for a touchdown. The try at goal failed. Amico kicked off and Stoneham returned the ball to its own 40 yard line. Here the home team waked up a bit more and tore off a couple of first downs in quick succession taking the ball to the Winchester 40 yard line. Its advantage was short lived for on the next play it lost 15 yards for holding and was forced to punt, Knowlton running the ball back to the Stoneham side of midfield. At this point Taylor ran far out to the right and shot a pretty forward pass to Murphy who received the ball on the Stoneham 15 yard stripe and ran for a touchdown. Amico kicked the goal. McHugh went in for Swain and received the Stoneham kickoff, running the ball to midfield. Knowlton and Simonds made 6 yards through the line but Winchester was penalized 5 yards for stalling and Knowlton kicked short to Stoneham's 40 yard line. L. Knowlton went in for Taylor who was hurt and Stoneham made first down at midfield as the quarter ended.

After two short gains through the line G. Amico broke through to block a Stoneham punt and recovered the ball on the Stoneham 37 yard line. After some ineffective rushing A. Amico blocked a Stoneham punt and Murphy recovered for Winchester on the Stoneham 20 yard marker. Again Winchester took to the air and with H. Knowlton passing repeated its previous forward, Murphy running about 5 yards for the score. The try at goal failed and a flock of substitutes went in for Winchester. Amico kicked across the Stoneham goal line and play was resumed at the 20 yard marker. Stoneham elected to punt and once again A. Amico crashed through to block the kick and this time to fall on the ball for a touchdown. The try for goal failed. Winchester kicked off to the Stoneham 26 yard line and after an ineffective linebuck Stoneham punted across midfield. Bates got 3 yards at tackle, but Stoneham intercepted a pass and Winchester was penalized 15 yards for holding, the ball being at midfield. Again Coach Mansfield rushed substitutes into the fray and Stoneham kicked short to Dowd at Winchester's 40 yard line. Ghirardini got two yards off tackle and Lee, 3 at center. Dowd lost a yard at end and Lee got off a nice spiral to the Stoneham 25 yard line. An incompleted pass and Stoneham kicked to its own 32 yard line as the game ended.

WINCHESTER BOY IN CHARGE OF HARVARD FRESHMEN

"Art" French, Junior, Wins Distinction—Usually Senior Post

Until the members of the Harvard class of 1931 are sufficiently acquainted with the college and with each other to pick their own leaders and to manage their own affairs, the executive control of the class will rest in the hands of A. E. French, '29. This is the first time that a junior has ever been in charge of Harvard freshman affairs, the position having always been held by seniors in the past.

The incoming freshman class has for a number of years been under the official guidance of the Student Council until the election of freshman officers, and the Student Council has been accustomed to entrust this guidance to some prominent and properly qualified upperclassman. The latter's chief duties are connected with the holding of dormitory and class elections, the affairs of the class demanding executive attention being few in the first half of the year. The dormitory committees, elected two or three weeks before the end of the football season, will help French in taking care of freshman affairs until the election of the regular class officers and the appointment of the executive committee in February.

French was president of his freshman class two years ago and last spring was one of the three sophomores elected to the Student Council. He was one of the first string performers in last year's University backfield. Although counted on as a regular halfback this year, he has been unable to join the squad as yet because of an infected knee which may keep him out of active play for several weeks. He is also a track man of note, having held first rank among the 1929 sprinters two years ago and last year being rated as one of the university's best broad jumpers. He was kept out of the intercollegiates and the Oxford-Cambridge meet last summer, however, by a leg injury.

A TIP FOR LOCAL PASTORS

At least one regular church attendant has been made as a result of Gene Tunney's victory over Jack Dempsey.

Rev. Samuel Sutcliffe, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal Church, New Britain, Conn., expected the Marine to win and was willing to back his expectations with money. Harry Blews, proprietor of a New Britain refreshment parlor, expected Dempsey to win, and had the time to back his opinions. So an agreement was reached.

If Dempsey won, the minister was to spend at least five cents each day for 365 days in the refreshment parlor, while if Tunney won, Blews was to attend Mr. Sutcliffe's church each Sunday for 52 weeks.

Blews started paying his debt last Sunday morning.—[Exchange.

APPOINTMENT OF WINCHESTER WOMAN ANNOUNCED

Mrs. Herbert W. Kelley of Willow street, has just been named an associate member of the Board of Directors of the Church Home Society, the agency of the Episcopal Church in Massachusetts for the care of children and young people, with executive offices at 41 Mt. Vernon street, Boston.

The appointee will act as representative of the Society here, notify it of cases of need in families which are connected with the Episcopal Church, and make suggestions in regard to foster homes, the basics on which all the society's children are cared for when it is not possible to care for them in their own homes.

The society is an organization for rescuing children who are either homeless or worse than homeless, often taking them from disreputable or undesirable homes and placing them in its own foster homes. It looks after their welfare and education and oversees their growth until they can become wage-earners and not a liability to the community. It also takes an interest in the boy or girl in need of friendship and guidance coming to their first employment in the big city, and in the friendless, unmarried mother and her baby.

Last year the society helped 417 children: 229 through advice and assistance and 188 by placement and supervision in foster homes. The average number cared for per month was 130.

For many years Bishop Lawrence was president of this society which was a pioneer in Boston in introducing routine psychiatric examinations to determine the mental capacity of the children and thereby decide how best to spend its funds on their education and care. Through its advanced standards the society, founded in 1855, today has a national reputation among child caring agencies. Bishop Charles Lewis Slattery is honorary president and Miss Katharine P. Hewins, who recently completed a national study of children's agencies for the Federal Children's Bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor, is general secretary.

FOR WORTHY BOYS

Hillside School, which has been located at Greenwich Village, Mass. for 27 years, will move in October to a beautiful 309-acre farm at Marlboro, where an enlarged school house, new dormitories, etc., will enable the school to care for, at very moderate cost, about 15 more boys who are orphans or who, for other reasons, cannot be properly trained or educated at home.

Up to the present time the school has been able to care for about 50 boys each year, and the object of the school is to train the boys—eight to 15 years of age—to be useful citizens, capable of earning their own living, on graduation. They are taken through the grammar school grades, and are taught practical farming of all sorts, including not only the raising of various crops, but also dairying, poultry raising and kindred farm branches.

Mr. Franklin P. Shumway, president of the trustees, 453 Washington street, Boston, will be glad to receive applications for admission to the school or send full information to anyone interested in assisting homeless or other worthy boys to become self-respecting and self-supporting men.

MEDAL PLAY IN TWO CLASSES AT COUNTRY CLUB

The fine weather of last Saturday attracted a good sized field of golfers to the Winchester Country Club where golf tournaments, 18 holes, medal play, full handicap, were played in two classes.

S. E. Newman won the Class A play with a card of 80—68, three strokes under F. F. Nazro who finished second. The class B title went to W. F. Smart with 89—71. W. R. Walker, E. B. Goldsmith and F. A. Tibbetts tied for second with net 72s.

GIRLS FIELD HOCKEY SCHEDULE IS DRAWN

Miss Barbara Goss of Melrose presided at a meeting last week of the coaches and captains of the teams represented at the Interscholastic Girls' Field Hockey League. A schedule of the games for both the northern and southern divisions was mapped out. An invitation was extended to Concord to join the group in place of the Woburn team, which has dropped out of the league this year. No definite word has come from Concord, but it is believed an acceptance will be received shortly.

The league schedule follows:

Northern Division

Oct.
18—Swampscott at Winthrop.
27—Winthrop at Winchester
28—Melrose at Swampscott

Nov.
4—Melrose at Winthrop.
Swampscott at Winchester.
11—Winchester at Melrose

Southern Division

Oct.
11—Wellesley at Lexington.
21—Stoneham at Dedham
Lexington at Arlington.
26—Dedham at Wellesley
28—Arlington at Stoneham.

Nov.
2—Dedham at Arlington
4—Stoneham at Lexington
8—Arlington at Wellesley
10—Lexington at Dedham
11—Wellesley at Stoneham.

Roger Bacon's Error

Columbus was misled into discovering America by the false reasoning of Roger Bacon, who thought that there was only a small ocean between Europe and eastern Asia.

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

The tennis tournament to determine the club's singles champion, was ended last Sunday, with Lars J. Sandberg winning the first honors. Hall B. Gamage was defeated by Sandberg in the finals after passing successfully through the preliminary matches. Thirteen players entered the tournament and throughout the three week-ends of playing some very good tennis was displayed.

In the early rounds, Charles A. Gleason, Jr., entering a club tournament for the first time, defeated Dr. Emerson C. Priest, 7—5, 2—6, 8—6. His showing was very creditable indeed as he was pitted against a strong and more experienced player. In another year it seems quite likely that he will make an even stronger bid for the honors. Gleason was defeated in his second set by Lars Sandberg, who is undoubtedly the best player the club has had in a number of years.

The match between Harry Gardner and Ferdinand Hawley also deserves special mention. In this, Hawley was the victor by the scores of 4—6, 6—4, 8—6. The two players are evenly matched and their three sets were very closely contested.

The finals, played between Sandberg and Gamage, proved to be an interesting contest. In the first set, Gamage was the winner by the score of 9—7. Both players showed real skill but Gamage was the steadier. In the second set, the tables were turned. Sandberg settling down to a nearly perfect game, winning a love set. He also took the two following sets, both having the score of 6—3.

A resume of the tournament is as follows:

First Round

Winthrop A. Palmer vs Lars J. Sandberg, won by Sandberg, 6—1, 6—1
Charles A. Gleanson, Jr., vs Dr. Emerson C. Priest, won by Gleason, 7—5, 2—6, 8—6
Harry Gardner vs Ferdinand Hawley, won by Hawley, 4—6, 6—4, 8—6.
Hall B. Gamage vs Warren, won by Gamage, 8—6, 6—2.
Jerome Foster vs Harold Meyer, won by Foster, 3—6, 9—7, 6—3

Second Round

Charles A. Gleason, Jr., vs Lars J. Sandberg, won by Sandberg, 6—1, 6—2.
Dr. F. Milne Blanchard vs H. Wray Rohrman, won by Blanchard, 6—2, 6—3.
Hall B. Gamage vs Ferdinand Hawley, won by Gamage, 7—5, 6—4.
Jerome Foster vs Francis C. Randlett, won by Randlett, 2—6, 7—5, 6—2.

Third Round

Lars J. Sandberg vs Dr. Blanchard, won by Sandberg, 6—1, 6—0.
Hall B. Gamage vs Francis C. Randlett, won by Gamage, 6—4, 3—6, 6—3.

Finals

Lars J. Sandberg vs Hall B. Gamage, won by Sandberg, 7—9, 6—0, 6—3, 6—3

A dance was held at the club house last Saturday evening, which was well attended and a costume party is to be given Saturday evening, Oct. 1.

THREE MOTOR ACCIDENTS OVER WEEK-END

Three motor accidents, no one of which was serious, were reported to the police over the past week-end.

At 5:45 last Saturday afternoon as Eleanor W. Pinkham of 105 Church street was driving an H. C. S. touring car west through the center across the railroad tracks the machine was in collision with a bicycle ridden by Tony Guzzo of 23 Olive street. Guzzo who was crossing Main street to enter Common street at the time of the accident was uninjured.

Sunday morning while services were in progress at St. Mary's Church a Ford sedan being driven westerly on Washington street by Joseph W. Stern of 255 Normalcy street, Roxbury, collided with a Chevrolet coach, in charge of Henry J. Moynihan of Winchester place, which was parked on the right side of the roadway. The accident was caused when Stern was unable to stop his machine soon enough to avoid hitting a car preceding him which had been halted by officer James Donaghey of the police force who was on traffic duty at the church. In swinging his car to the right he struck Moynihan's machine which had its left rear mudguard bent. No one was injured.

At 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon Thomas F. O'Connor of 113 Cleveland avenue, Melrose reported at police headquarters that his Ford touring car had been in collision at the junction of Church and Bacon streets with a machine driven by Frederick Lohs of 103 Bow street, Arlington. No damage was reported and no one was hurt.

TELEPHONE BILLS TO BE DATED THE 15th, HEREAFTER

Winchester telephone bills will henceforth be dated the 15th of the month, and will be received by subscribers a few days later.

The plan is carefully explained in the leaflet "Between Ourselves," which comes with the bills and with which all telephone subscribers are familiar. Manager Andrews is particularly anxious that Winchester subscribers shall read this leaflet, now in the mails; and suggests that any subscriber, who remains at all in doubt as to how the new billing plan applies to himself, get in touch with the business office of the company for a fuller explanation.

Besides assuring greater promptness and accuracy, Manager Andrews expects the new plan will make the bills more easily understood.

Formerly, all bills were dated the last day of the month. Not a few subscribers have taken it for granted that all items were brought up to that date. This was not so. Exchange service items, being known in advance, could be entered up to the date of the bill; but toll calls and measured service charges were brought up only to the 20th of the month. It was physically impossible to enter them to a later date and still render bills promptly. In future there will be no such chance for misunderstanding, because each telephone bill will bring every item squarely up to the date it bears.

This will be done by "staggering" the bills into six periods, one-sixth being sent out as of the 5th, and other sixths as of the 10th, 15th, 20th, 25th and 31st.

There is nothing particularly novel about the idea. As Manager Andrews points out, most gas and electric light companies send out their bills at intervals depending, not on the calendar, but on the dates when meters are read.

Wax Finish for Floors

Although the wax will act as a filler if applied directly to the oak floor, it is best to use a paste filler slightly colored as a basis for the wax finish. Slightly colored paste filler tends to equalize the variation in color between various pieces of flooring and results in a more beautiful floor.

Appropriate Nickname

The nickname given West Virginians, "Sang-diggers," came from one of the most common occupations of pioneer days—that of digging ginseng for trade.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

You can't change the past, but you can ruin a perfectly good present by worrying over the future.

A woman may be as old as she looks, but is seldom as young as she acts.

The more a man is heard the less others will hear of him.

It is not position, but disposition that makes a life of worth.

Difficulties do not come to us to hinder our course, but to bring out our strength and develop our energy.

Think only of yourself if you desire others to forget you.

Clarence DeMar, champion Marathoner and one of the finest long distance runners in the history of track athletics, spoke before a good sized audience, containing many young people, at the rally day service held by the First Baptist Sunday School last Sunday. It was no new experience for the Olympic athlete, himself a Sunday School teacher and deeply interested in the Christian development of young people. He brought his young hearers a message and his words were listened to with a respect which many a better equipped speaker might well have striven for in vain. It is a fact that the successful athlete has a tremendous appeal not only for the youth of the land but for nearly everyone. He is master in a field which all can appreciate and understand. There are few limits to what he may accomplish, if he cares to capitalize his athletic skill. Too often, perhaps, the star athlete does not choose to better either himself or others, but when he does offer helpful advice he generally does not lack for a heedful audience. It is interesting to learn that Gene Tunney, heavyweight champion pugilist, is contemplating a lecture tour which is to embrace Y. M. C. A. halls and K. of C. Councils. His message is for boys and it is safe to say that a clean life will be the meat of his remarks. The good which men like Tunney and DeMar can accomplish is incalculable, especially in work with boys. Their advice on clean living and playing the game is no different than that offered by doctors, ministers and educators generally and perhaps not nearly so well given. Yet in the case of the athlete it is convincing. The growing boy is apt to look upon one giving good advice as more or less of a sissy. None would care challenge Tunney as such, nor can the courage and stamina of DeMar be questioned. They are leaders and the things which helped to make them such will be adopted without question by both boys and girls who are essentially hero worshipers. DeMar and Tunney are credits to the games which have made them great. It is splendid that they should want to help others to be better sportsmen and citizens.

A TRIBUTE

It is with a feeling of deep regret that the Winchester Hospital Alumnae notes the passing of Mrs. Charles Meek (nee Angie V. Harrold) on Sept. 28 at Arlington Heights.

Mrs. Meek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Harrold, made her home in this town the greater part of her life, graduating from the Winchester Hospital Training School in 1923.

She was one of the finest nurses that ever graduated from this school representing as she did, the highest ideals of nursing, embodying those of service, cheerfulness, self-sacrifice and responsibility.

Mrs. Meek was truly a born nurse; always an indefagitable worker, ready and willing to participate in anything she was called upon to do at all times earned for her a splendid reputation as a competent and efficient worker.

Her cheerfulness and pleasing personality helped bring happiness to everyone she came in contact with—patients and fellow workers equally. During her long illness which, she undoubtedly knew would prove a losing battle, her remarkable strength of character manifested itself. Her courage was undaunted and she faced the situation bravely.

The members of the Winchester Hospital Alumnae have indeed lost an esteemed and loyal member.

J. W. Johnson,
Pres. W. H. A. A.

FORESTERS ANNOUNCE OFFICERS

Winchester Court, M. C. O. F., announced this week the election of the following officers for the coming season:

C. R. Thomas F. Fallon.
V. C. R. Catherine Rossley.
Financial Secretary James Callahan.
Recording Secretary Mary Hanoon.
Senior Conductor Mary Mawn.
Junior Conductor Mrs. R. A. Murray.
Outside Sentinel Mary J. Mooney.
Inside Sentinel Katherine J. Fallon.
Delegates David J. Meskell, John McCarron, Isabelle McKenzie, Catherine Rossley.

Motorcycle officer Edward O'Connell and traffic officer John Noonan started their annual vacation this week. During the absence of the former officer John F. Dempsey is riding the department's machine. It must seem like old times for "Jawn" who covered plenty of miles astride a motor while serving in the State Constabulary.

Members of the Winchester Fire Department went through a snappy ladder drill in the rear of the Central Station Monday evening to keep the men accustomed to the night work which may come at any time. Tuesday the hose lines were pressure tested to guard against leaky couplings and weak spots in the fabric.

Officer John Noonan took into custody last Friday noon a Charlestown man whom he found lecturing to an interested group of high school pupils near the corner of the Parkway and Main street. The authorities while having no desire to curtail free speech felt that the bottle of "hair tonic" which was discovered upon the person of the alleged lecturer was just a bit too high in alcohol content to permit his being left longer at large.

Cards are out for the wedding of Miss Girvan D. Skilling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Skilling of Lloyd street, and Curtis Caldwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Caldwell, which is to take place on this Saturday evening at the home of Miss Skilling's parents.

During the absence from duty of Chief of Police William R. McIntosh, Lieut. John A. Harrold is acting chief of the department.

We are now carrying the well known "Spad" golf balls at 65c, 3 for $1.75. Wilson the Stationer.

FLORENCE CRITTENTON LEAGUE

A board meeting of the Florence Crittenton League was held Wednesday morning, Sept. 28 at the home of the President, Mrs. F. C. Alexander, Lakeview road, where the coming events of the year were discussed and arranged for. At 1 o'clock a luncheon was served by Mrs. Alexander and after a social time the meeting was resumed.

A calendar giving the dates of meetings and the speakers will soon be sent to each member and it is earnestly hoped that all meetings be well attended. Special stress is put on the sewing meetings which are held alternate months and as there is much to be done large attendance is desired. Meetings begin at 10 o'clock, members bringing box luncheon. Coffee will be served.

The December meeting which is to be held in Unitarian Hall is of special interest. Emma Fall Schofield, Assistant, Att'y. General, a speaker of great ability is to talk on "Broken Homes." Each member is urged to attend and invite a guest so that there may be a large gathering to greet Mrs. Schofield.

Members are asked to save their rummage for a sale to be held later on in the year.

Information regarding date and when to send things will be given later. Please keep this in mind to save for this sale.

Anyone having books that they have read and would like to pass on to others may send to Mrs. W. Holbrook Lowell, 4 Lakeview road. These are to be sold for a small sum before each regular meeting and the proceeds used for funds for Winchester Room at the Crittenton Home.

A large membership for this very worthy Society is much desired and each member is asked to speak to at least one person who will become a member.

The officers for this year are as follows:

President Mrs F. C. Alexander.
Vice President Mrs W Holbrook Lowell.
Corresponding Secretary Mrs S. H. Taylor.
Recording Secretary Mrs R. R. Gage.
Treasurer Mrs. W H Balcke.
Director for 3 Years—Mrs D W Estabrook.
Director for 2 Years Mrs C. W. Jones.
Director for 1 Year Mrs R. C. Miller.

SCHOOL DEPARTMENT NOTES

The evening schools will open at the Lincoln School on Monday, Oct. 17. The evening school will be continued for 20 weeks and will offer two classes Americanization for those who desire to learn to read and write the English language and for those desiring preparation looking forward to obtaining citizenship papers. There will also be a class in the common academic subjects for those pupils who for some reason or other left school early.

The School Department is interested in helping people obtain further education either by courses offered in the evening school or by assisting in the placement of pupils elsewhere. There has never been a sufficient number of pupils to warrant the opening of the High School in the evening for several courses. The Department, however, can be of assistance in placing individual pupils in Boston or in nearby communities where there is sufficient demand for several types of courses. The Superintendent of Schools will be glad to confer with anyone desiring increased educational opportunities in the evening.

A very interesting booklet has been received by the George Washington School from the Imegasaki Junior Red Cross, Niigataken, Japan. The letter accompanying the interesting booklet is as follows:

To Our American Friends Across the Ocean:

Dear Friends:

To initiate our acquaintance with our unknown friends in America, we are sending just a few drawings and compositions of our students. May you receive them, although humble, with the same affection as that with which we send them.

Like all foreign students, we have studied about your country in Geography, but we would like to hear from you telling us more about it. We hope that you will write to us very soon, and tell us something about your country.

With our good wishes.

Sincerely yours,
The Imegasaki Junior Red Cross
Nigata Prefecture, Japan

This booklet was sent in reply to a very interesting booklet sent by the George Washington School describing the school and the Town of Winchester. The School Department consider of great importance this interchange of material between our own pupils and pupils of foreign countries. The projects themselves not only motivate the regular school work, but a spirit of understanding and sympathy with other peoples is being developed.

A TRIBUTE

To the Editor of the Star:

I would pay my slight tribute to a kindly considerate soul that has just passed on.

A year ago I came to reside next door to Louis Verlin and without standing on ceremony or waiting for an introduction, I shall never forget his cheery "good evening neighbor," or "good morning," which began immediately.

His was a generous nature—the fruit and vegetables of his garden he wished others to have a taste of.

While some of us feel inclined at times to shoo the children of the neighborhood, with their noisy games away from our premises, not so Louis Verlin and they seemed to make a rendezvous and be welcome on his land.

Even the birds were remembered by him.

From my bedroom window, it was interesting to see birds of all sizes enjoying the feast of bread crumbs and other foods that Mr. Verlin had set before them on the roof of his garage.

Those who knew Louis Verlin, even though slightly miss him and realize that his life was an example of those virtues of service and friendliness that we who linger yet a little may well endeavor to emulate.

M. C. W. G. NOTES

Last evening a very pleasant party was enjoyed by the members and their friends at the home of Organist Mary McGrath. Her charming personality lent much to her role as hostess and her vocal selections rendered as a grand finale left nothing more to be given by way of entertainment.

Most impressive and significant exercises will be held at the Holy Ghost Hospital in Cambridge on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock when the new Cancer Wing, so-called, is to be dedicated. The Guilds of the Massachusetts Catholic Women take an especial pride and interest in this institution and while many other sources have lent their aid we feel we have helped in our small way toward the good work and we belive our members and their friends will want to be among those present on Sunday afternoon. This new Cancer Wing will in a measure fill the growing needs, or rather the past need, for such an institution and should be regarded as a praiseworthy addition in our community. We all are aware of the good work which the Hospital has carried on for many years, rendering its aid modestly to those in need, and we know they will continue to help humanity in an even greater measure through the medium of this new Cancer Wing.

Incidentally there are 20 beds in this new wing, each bearing the name of a branch or the M. C. W. G.

The sympathy of the Guild is extended to sisters Agnes Harrold and May Sullivan in the loss of their daughter and sister.

What is Back of Your Savings Account?

An institution that pays you interest or dividends on your savings account, must use your money in order to produce the earnings.

How the money is used is important TO YOU.

Co-operative Banks produce earning by lending funds for home building and home buying, under first mortgage security. These loans must be reduced by the regular monthly payments of borrowers, so that the safety of each loan is constantly increasing.

The exceptional safety of this plan is proved by the excellent record of every cooperative bank in the State of Massachusetts.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our sincere thanks to our friends and neighbors for the beautiful flowers and the sympathy shown us during our recent bereavement.

JOHN J. BREEN and FAMILY

A WILD GOOSE CHASE

There is a similarity between the two words but Priv. Edwin S. Steinwedle, U. S. A., felt that there was sufficient difference to have prevented his making a needless trip to Winchester when his real destination was Winchendon.

Steinwedle's trouble started when his Ford touring car was stolen last week from his barracks at Fort Andrews, as he states, by another soldier, Priv. Henry Marion, attached to Fort Revere.

The former was notified Tuesday by the police of Station 6 in Boston that his machine had figured in an accident in Winchester on the previous day, so to Winchester Steinwedle came on Wednesday, seeking information and the whereabouts of his automobile.

After some little delay it was found that Steinwedle had been given the wrong steer. His car or what was left of it was at Winchendon, not Winchester, and the disgruntled soldier departed thither, doubtless feeling fortunate that he had not been directed to Winchester, Va. by the law at Station 6.

SOMERVILLE THEATRE

"Ghost Train" Proving Popular

We are turning them away at every performance of "The Ghost Train," a mystery melodrama in three acts by Arnold Ridley.

The cast of characters is as follows:

Richard Winthrop	Frank Coletti
Elsie Winthrop	Miss Dorothy Dudgeon
Saul Hodgkin	Howard Brown
Charles Murdock	Jack Talbot
Peggy Murdock	Miss Franqui Colburn
Miss Bourne	Miss Rita Davis
Teddie Deakin	Frank Roberts
Julia Price	Miss Tabatha Goodwin
Herbert Price	Robert Studin
John Sterling	Henry Crossen
Jackson	J. H. Doyle

There are several outstanding characters in "The Ghost Train," two of which are those of "Teddie Deacon, a seeming willy-willy-Englishman who furnishes much of the comedy and mystery of the piece, and "Miss Bonine," an excitable spinster who imbibes a bit too freely of the contents of "Teddie's" flask. Those who witnessed the work of Frank Roberts and Miss Rita Davis in these two parts were given an agreeable surprise. Many in the audience who saw the E. E. Clive production in Boston last year, expressed the opinion that as "Teddy," Roberts gave a more finished delineation of the character than did Clive himself. He was certainly immense. Miss Davis's portrayal of the English spinster kept the audience in a continual roar. The scene in which she partakes of the "forbidden fluid" was screamingly funny and was admirably acted.

Howard Brown made his first appearance with the company in the role of Saul Hodgkin, station master at Clear Vale Junction. He handled the action of his part very acceptably, and will be a welcome addition to the organization.

Miss Tabatha Goodwin had a difficult role in the part of "Julia Price." Her work in the thrilling climax of the last act was all that could be desired.

Frank Coletti, as "Richard Winthrop" and Dorothy Dudgeon as his wife, "Elsie," handle their parts excellently, as do Jack Talbot and Miss Franqui Colburn in the characters of newlyweds.

Robert Studin and Henry Crossen help out in the mystery of the play and Director Doyle has a minor part as the sheriff. All three are always good.

"No, No, Nanette," Next Week

The first musical comedy of the season will be presented next week and Director Doyle has chosen the tuneful and mirthful "No, No, Nanette," a world-famous work which has had phenomenal success in 18 countries. The cast will be augmented by the Somerville Players' own chorus of dancing beauties. Gertrude De Mont, the charming wife of Manager Doyle and an old favorite here, will be seen in the comedy role of "Pauline." Lucy Petter, nationally known radio prima donna, will be another luminary in the already brilliant galaxy of stars and Charlotte McAvoy, who was in the original New York cast will be seen in her old role of "Winnie from Washington."

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

"Beau Geste" which has been described as the world's greatest melodrama will be the outstanding feature picture at the University Theatre for four days beginning Sunday. Based on the famous story of the French Foreign Legion by Percival C. Wren, with Ronald Colman in the title role supported by such artists as Alice Joy, Neil Hamilton, Noah Beery, Mary Brian and others, this magnificent production takes first rank among the screen successes of the season. In French, "Beau Geste" means "the beautiful gesture" Applied to the picture, it refers to Michael Geste's great sacrifice to save his aunt after she has sold the priceless "Blue Water" saphire and feels that upon her husband's return he will, sooner or later, discover the fake which has replaced it. Michael steals the imitation and lights out for the Legion—and oblivion. His two younger brothers, Digby and John, not willing to let "Beau" have all the fun and pleasure of doing a little favor for their aunt, bolt, too. And thereby hangs the tale! Playing Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday at the University Theatre, Harvard Square.

For the last three days of the week the pictures are "The Country Doctor" and Rin-Tin Tin in "Tracked by the Police." "The Country Doctor" is one of the best rural picture dramas produced since "Way Down East." The star is Rudolph Schildkraut who plays the faithful old family physician. He is supported by Junior Coghlan, Virginia Bradford and other noted players.

HE BET ON DEMPSEY!

At 1 a. m. last Friday morning Officer Henry Dempsey of the police came upon a man trundling a wheelbarrow laden with vegetables along Cambridge street. Thinking that the man might not be entirely above suspicion the patrolman questioned him. The man refused to answer but finally by the use of high signs of various kinds convinced the policeman that he would write an explanation of his nocturnal toil. By the light of Officer Dempsey's bullseye the perspiring individual inscribed the following: "I bet on Dempsey. I lost and must wheel this barrow of vegetables from Billerica Center to Central Square, Cambridge, without speaking to anyone." The man had started immediately after the fight and doubtless thought his journey longer than the count Tunney took in the much talked of 7th.

Self-Improvement

There are few pleasures to be compared with that sense of growing self-mastery—of increased purposefulness and effectiveness in our daily lives which is the reward of frequently thwarting and contradicting our lower selves.—Dean Inge.

GRANADA THEATRE

"Rolled Stockings," Paramount's "youth" picture has everything—a thrilling college crew race, some exciting automobile scenes, snappy comedy, a good love story and pep. It is healthy youth at their best and will be the attraction the beautiful Granada Theater in Malden will offer for the rest of this week. It is happy entertainment by a snappy crowd of youngsters. James Hall and Richard Arlen, hardly along in their twenties, typical college undergraduates, have the principal male roles; Louise Brooks, brunette beauty, who has scored a hit in several pictures this season, is the heroine; and the vamp is played by blonde Nancy Phillips. Relieving the dramatic moments of the story is a policeman (El Brendel) who blusters and threatens the young violators of the town ordinances, but whose heart remains in the right place. It is one of the best comedy characterizations he has done since entering pictures. James Hall and Richard Arlen play the parts of brothers who fall for the same girl, who, in this case, is Louise Brooks. The regular five act vaudeville bill will also be presented today and Saturday.

"The Climbers," an adaption of the stage success by Clyde Fitch, with a remarkable cast that includes Irene Rich, Forrest Stanley, Myrna Loy, Nigel Barie, Flobelle Fairbanks and Anders Randolph, is coming to the Granada for three days starting next Monday. "The Climbers" is a historic melodrama of the Court of King Ferdinand VII of Spain. Later the scenes change to America. The story is vital and thrilling and suffused with a glow of life and a glamor which goes with all pictures in which Miss Rich appears. No one who likes red-blooded, out-in-the-open, shooting, hard-riding drama will care to miss seeing "The Climbers." The five-act bill of vaudeville, together with the Granada Symphony Orchestra and Roy Frazee, organist, will also be presented the first three days of next week.

BOWDOIN SQ. THEATRE

Plenty of bright and sparkling comedy will be found at the Bowdoin Monday where the management will offer a bill of picture and vaudeville excellence. The Warner Brothers present Syd Chaplin, the famous screen comedian in "The Missing Link," one of the biggest screams in filmland in which the famous funmaker will have a role which will keep the audience in a merry mood. Mr. Chaplin is now considered a comedian of rare ability and a real rival of the famous Charlie. Another picture offering of worth will be the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer feature entitled "California," which is founded on Peter B. Kyne's story of adventure. It unfolds the story of a handsome Spanish beauty who held a man in her power. It is truly a romance of outdoor life with the big roles taken by Tim McCoy and Dorothy Sebastian. Hal Roach will offer "Sugar Daddies" with Stan Laurel and the Pathe News together with five vaudeville specialties will round out a most attractive program. World series returns will be given beginning Wednesday. Wednesday is opportunity night with bargain vaudeville every Friday night. Concert Sunday at 3 comprising pictures and vaudeville. Free parking service to all Bowdoin patrons.

ST. JAMES THEATER

"The Mystery Ship" Will be the Attraction Next Week

A shot in the dark—a hair-raising scream—and two solid hours of mystery, leavened by flashes of humor—such is the background of "The Mystery Ship" which will be given next week by the Keith-Albee stock company at the St. James Theatre. The leading roles will be taken by J. Glynn McFarlane and Ruth King, leading man and woman of the company.

The play was written by Edgar M. Schoenberg and Milton Silver and was first produced in the Garrick Theater in New York. It was the sensation of the season, for it is full of gruesome chills, yet has a full quota of humor to relieve the suspense.

The murder occurs before the curtain goes up and for the next three acts the whole play revolves around the hunt for the murderer, and the motive. No one could escape, for the whole action takes place on the steamship Monogolia, two days out of New York for Southampton.

There are unexpected twists in the drama, hair-raising screams and many laughs before the mystery is solved. The solution is quite unexpected and comes as a shock to the audience. In turn every member of the passenger list is suspected and with reason, but the final twists which lead to the solution come with breath-taking suddenness. The play moves with speed throughout and holds the audience spellbound.

PIRAEUS: GATEWAY OF ATHENS

In an effort to develop the commerce of Greece, the government has decided to declare a free zone in the port of Piraeus, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Piraeus occupies a peninsula that extends two miles out into the Gulf of Aegina. It is the chief port and chief distributing center of Greece, but it is perhaps better known as the seaport of Athens. Piraeus' proximity to the capital causes the seaport to lose its individual prestige, although it is a separate and important municipality, rivaling Athens in size, if not in history.

Hums With Industry and Trade

While Athens has been the stronghold of the aristocratic and conservative element in Greece, the citizens of Piraeus have been devoted to industry and trade. Many of the nearly 100,000 inhabitants are employed in the numerous flour, cotton and weaving mills, engineering and ship-repairing works, and tanning and needle factories. But the principal business of the city is shipping.

Piraeus really has three natural harbors, the largest one on the northwest side of the peninsula being the important anchorage of vessels of deep draft while the other two on the southeast are less valuable basins for small craft.

The larger harbor is the finest in Greece. It is protected from the sea by long breakwaters built so close together that hardly more than one vessel can enter the harbor at a time. Once inside, one sees a broad expanse of water as smooth as a lake, surrounded by a wide quay that is almost invisible from approaching steamers, due to the presence of hundreds of small craft that are docked there.

Piraeus ranks close to Marseille, Naples and Genoa in commercial importance in the Mediterranean. The large ocean-going vessels plying between eastern and western Europe make it a port of call while Piraeus is an important stop for smaller coastwise craft that are able to use the narrow Corinth Canal connecting the Gulf of Corinth with the Gulf of Aegina. The 4-mile waterway that was opened the latter part of the last century completely severs Greece, making a through waterway from the Aegean to the Ionian Sea and Mediterranean. The eastern mouth of the canal is less than 50 miles from Piraeus.

First Planned by Hippodamus

Athens, the destination of nearly all passengers who land at Piraeus who are not trade-bent, is about five miles northeast of the peninsula. Tourists usually stop to enjoy the bustle of the commercial activity of the city and are impressed with the wide streets and numerous parks in such an ancient city. But, unfortunately, they find little evidence of the plan of Hippodamus of Miletus who originally planned Piraeus and who later laid out Rhodes. Several times in its early history Piraeus fell before invaders, some of whom left it in ruins.

It takes only 20 minutes to make the run to the Acropolis by electric tram but tourists often prefer to make the journey in an hour's delightful drive, the carriage road following one of the old walls built by Pericles that connected the ancient naval base with the famed center of Attic culture.

Once Disappeared from Map

Piraeus owes its beginning to Themistocles, "big navy advocate" of the Athenians, nearly 500 years before the Christian era. He urged the Athenians to remove the naval base from the unprotected shores of the Bay of Phaleron where it was open to the attack of the Persians and hostile inhabitants of the Aegina Island, to the peninsula. He was unsuccessful until 10 years later a rich vein of silver was unearthed at Laurium (now Ergasteria) that placed a large sum of money at the disposal of the state. Themistocles induced the state to spend the new riches to increase the navy and, with 200 boats, he routed the Persians at Salamis. His victory justified his policies and Piraeus was made the new base of Athenian sea power. Later Themistocles went so far as to attempt to persuade the state to desert Athens for the seaport.

Piraeus was completely destroyed by Sulla, the Roman general in 86 B. C., and began to decay. For centuries its name even disappeared from the map and in its place appeared "Porto Leoni" a fishers' village, which derived its name from a figure of a lion that stood there until the Venetians took it away in the 17th century. It was not until Greece threw off the yoke of the Turks and Athens was again made the capital of New Greece in 1834 that Piraeus again lifted its head and challenged European seaport cities.

Twice in recent years Piraeus has been in the spotlight. In 1916 the Allies towed the battleships of Greece's modern navy out of the port of Piraeus to prepare them for action, and five years ago, the port city was the haven of thousands of Christians and Moslems from Asia Minor, who made up history's greatest trek.

CAPE VERDE ISLANDS

Once Land of Volcanoes, Now Busy Trading Posts

The Cape Verde Islands, famous as one of the stopping places of Vasco da Gama during his epoch making voyage to India, and more recently in the spotlight as a landing place for transatlantic flyers, has developed its trade to a point where the State Department has announced the establishment of a new consulate on the Island of Sao Vincent (St. Vincent), says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

St. Vincent is one of the 14 islands of the Cape Verde group which form a crescent about 300 miles west of Dakar, the easternmost city on the African continent. Porto Grande, capital of St. Vincent and one of the few large port towns in the islands, is the probable location of the new office. Porto Grande is built in a well protected location with high mountains at its back and in front the massive heights of the Island of St. Anthony almost shutting in a wide, deep harbor from the sea.

Largest Island Smaller Than Los Angeles

The 14 islands could be placed on the State of Rhode Island and only a few rugged edges would extend over the borders, continues the bulletin. Sao Thiago (St. Jago), the largest of the Cape Verdes, is slightly smaller in area than the city of Los Angeles, while the smallest island is measured by square yards.

The Governor General, appointed by the Portuguese government resides at Porto Praia on St. Jago, a city of about 3500 inhabitants, most of whom are negroes. Porto Praia rivals Porto Grande in commercial importance. Unlike the St. Vincent capital, which is built from tidewater up the mountainside, Porto Praia occupies a tableland about 100 feet above the water's edge, with three roads approaching it from red painted docks. It was at St. Jago that Vasco da Gamma stopped before sailing around the Cape of Good Hope.

Fresh Water a Luxury

All the larger islands are inhabited, the majority of the population being quartered in compactly built villages and towns built in small recesses in the steep mountainsides, overlooking the sea. But it is in the interior of the larger islands that one finds the real native life of the Cape Verdes. It is said that the ancestors of these people of the interior once lived along the seashore. But for a hundred years after Spain took control of the islands, the Cape Verdes were plundered by pirates. During this period the inhabitants fled to the valleys from which they seldom emerged except to trade. Most of these valley people are black but one often notes Portuguese features. They speak a poor quality Portuguese which is difficult for the European to understand.

Like Greenland, the name Cape Verde, Africa, and in good English means "Green Cape" but there is little on the islands to suggest that the Cape Verdes deserve to be called "Cape Green Islands." Here and there along the shore and in a few interior valleys are patches of fertile land, but rocks and sand claim the greater portion of the area. Fresh water has always been a luxury, lack of which has caused serious famines in the past.

That the natives make the best of their barren islands is indicated by the fact that they produce indigo, coffee, castor beans, fruits, tobacco, poultry, potatoes and yams. Salt is also an important product. Many of the inhabitants who are not employed in agriculture or shipping, are good fishermen and adept in making rum, curing fish and manufacturing straw hats and seats.

Once Slave Station

When the islands were discovered more than 500 years ago by two Portuguese sea captains, they were devoid of human life. The only excitement was the occasional overflowing of a volcanic crater. The latest eruption occurred in 1680.

For more than 200 years, the Cape Verdes bilt up a flourishing trade and became Portugal's principal outpost of trade with Africa. Until the middle of the last century the natives reaped a harvest from the African slave trade. This probably accounts for the majority of negroes in the present population of about 140,000. Those inhabitants who are not black are Portuguese or of mixed blood.

In the early days when New England was famous as a whaling center, many of the crews of the whalers were recruited in the Cape Verdes. Those who did not return to the islands settled in southeastern Massachusetts in the vicinity of New Bedford. "Bravoes," the name by which they are sometimes known, comes from the name of the island from which most of the recruits migrated—Brava, the southwesternmost island of the Cape Verde group.

Nothing approaches them—the Darwin cobalt high speed steel razor blade. Wilson the Stationer.

A New Plan For

Telephone Bills

A new plan for billing telephone service will be put in practice NEXT MONTH in this territory. Briefly, it is this:

Instead of sending out all bills at the end of each month, the work will be split up into periods. Six batches of bills will be sent out: dated respectively the 5th, 10th, 15th, 20th, 25th and the last day of the month.

WINCHESTER SUBSCRIBERS

will be billed as of the 15th

How the new plan will work in your case is explained carefully in "Between Ourselves," our monthly talk with subscribers. You will find it enclosed with the September 30 bills—last under the old plan—now in the mails. In the interest of good mutual understanding, we ask you to read this folder, and to note especially the way the various items of your telephone service are to be brought up—all even—to the new billing date.

FAIRMOUNT PARK

Situated on the West Side of Winchester off of Cambridge Street nearly opposite Calumet Road. A tract of 20 lots of land varying in size from 7000 to 12,000 square feet in area. Every lot affords a beautiful panoramic view of the most attractive part of the town. In addition to the four houses already erected thereon, the Fairmount Associates have purchased five uncompleted houses adjoining their property at a mortgagees sale. This in order not only to conserve the high type of construction originally planned for this tract, but more particularly to control the disposition of these houses, in order to maintain the high class neighborhood to which we set out to create. These aforesaid five houses are nearing completion and will be offered to satisfactory parties at reasonable prices and possibly one or two of these houses may be obtained for rent.
